OUT OF THE SOLID ROCK.

Dixie Farmers are Hewing a Canal For Seven Miles.

Stupendous Work for a Few People—How the Desert is Made to Bloom as a Garden.

VIRGIN CITY, Utah,
April 7, 1896.

To the Editor:

Thinking that a few words in support of Utah's garden spot, and a description of one of the latest enterprises would be in order, and possibly interesting to your readers, I now take the liberty of writing.

I am sure that the value of the southern part of our State is underestimated by a great many of the people in the metropolitan district of the State. They look upon Dixie as [illegible] at the remaining portions. But this is not the case, for right here [illegible] we are only waiting [illegible].

[illegible]

...is being worked upon. It is ...

[illegible] it the most horrible that was ever seen... completed with [illegible].

On this canal you have illustrated what is called faithful work. From [illegible] the [illegible] may be seen extending the [illegible] work that is being accomplished. To one not acquainted with this kind of work the project would seem to be almost an impossibility. But already the rougher portion of the canal is completed and ready to be turned by the water.

The people who are doing this work are farmers who have suffered more from a lack of water [illegible] the Virgin, and are [illegible]. The people of Virgin City, Rockville and Toquerville, with a few of the outside [illegible], are the ones [illegible], and it is only by their long experience and untiring faith that they will be enabled to reach the goal in view. The valley that is always [illegible] them, and [illegible] the beautiful [illegible] waters of the Virgin. The key that will unlock this treasure is [illegible], and work is what will turn the key and let them see the [illegible].

This spot of land, measuring 2,000 acres, is one of the most beautiful [illegible] upon which [illegible] little that Dixie can ever [illegible]. Here the people will [illegible] with [illegible] persons [illegible] as soon as the farmers are compelled to tend their farms to [illegible] winter. [illegible] only snow, and [illegible] time is left for more [illegible].

The [illegible] which have so long overshadowed Dixie and its [illegible] will soon be dispersed away by the [illegible] of the [illegible]. What a [illegible] means this will be to the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the soil! The railroad will be the means of raising Dixie from her lowly position and raising her up to the level of the remainder of the State. The fruit and [illegible] and the fruits and vegetables of Washington county have been waiting for years to be shipped to the places where they would do more good, and these will go a long way in helping to support a railroad.

In those who are laboring for the construction of this railroad, I say, do not stop, but go on and thereby help to more fully develop the resources of our new State.

Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless today had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hinson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.
