A MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP, THAT THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R. R.

IS THE GREAT CONNECTING LINK BETWEEN THE EAST AND THE WEST.

Its main line runs from Chicago to Council Bluffs and Omaha, passing through Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Geneseo, Moline, Rock Island, Davenport, West Liberty, Iowa City, Marengo, Brooklyn, Grinnell, and Des Moines, (the capital of Iowa) with branches from Bureau Junction to Peoria; Milton Junction to Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Eldon, Belknap, Centreville, Princeton, Trenton, Gallatin, Cameron, Leavenworth and Atchison; Washington to Sigourney, Oskaloosa and Knoxville; Keokuk to Farmington, Bonaparte, Bentonsport, Independence, Eldon, Ottumwa, Eddyville, Oskaloosa, Pella, Monroe, and Des Moines; Des Moines to Indianola and Winterset; Atlantic to Audubon and Avoca to Harlan. This is positively the only railroad which owns, controls and operates a through line between Chicago and Kansas.

This Company owns and operates Sleeping Cars, which are inferior to none, and give you a double berth between Chicago and Council Bluffs, Leavenworth, or Atchison for Two Dollars and Fifty Cents; and a section for Five Dollars, while all other lines charge between the same points, Three Dollars for a double berth, and Six Dollars for a section.

What will please you most will be the pleasure of enjoying your meals, while passing over the beautiful prairies of Illinois and Iowa, in one of our magnificent Dining and Restaurant Cars that accompany all through Express Trains. You get an entire meal, as good as is served in any first-class hotel, for Twenty-five cents; or you can order what you like, and pay for what you get.

Appreciating the fact that a majority of the people prefer separate apartments for different purposes, and the enormous passenger business of this line warranting it, we are pleased to announce that this Company runs its PALACE SLEEPING CARS for Sleeping purposes, and its PALACE DINING CARS for Eating purposes. One other great feature of our Palace Cars is a SMOKING SALOON where You can enjoy your "Havana" at all hours of the day.

Magnificent Iron Bridges span the Mississippi and Missouri rivers at all points crossed by this line, and Gunsters are provided at Council Bluffs, Leavenworth and Atchison, connections being made in Union depots.

THE PRINCIPAL R. R. CONNECTIONS OF THIS GREAT THROUGH LINE ARE AS FOLLOWS:

At CHICAGO, with all diverging lines for the East and South.

At ENGLEWOOD, with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago R. Rds.

At WASHINGTON HEIGHTS, with Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis R. R.

EVENING NEWS.

Friday, January 23, 1880.

Correspondence.

Juab County Y. M. M. I. A.

NEPHI, Juab Co., Utah, Jan. 20th, 1880.

Editors Deseret News:

On the 18th inst., in the Nephi Tabernacle, at 7 o'clock p. m., the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association of the Juab County Stake of Zion met, President Thos. Crawley presiding.

After singing and prayer, the reports of the different branches were then read by Thomas H. G. Parkes, secretary pro tem., which show that this Association is prospering, that their meetings are well attended, and appropriate subjects are duly given out to lecture and debate upon, many of which are handled with zeal and ability; that their meetings are becoming more and more interesting, and the young people are gradually losing all diffidence about expressing their ideas, and lecturing or debating upon subjects assigned to them; that this Association has been a great benefit to those who have attended its meetings.

Members, E. Shepard, of Mona, James Jenkins, of Nephi, and Wm. Tunbridge, of Levan, addressed the meeting, making remarks appropriate to the occasion, and expressing themselves well pleased with the congenial and energetic spirit of their co-laborers.

At the solicitation of President Crawley, Elder K. H. Brown addressed the young people, giving them good instruction and encouraging them to go on in their good work.

Meeting was then adjourned.
Benediction by J. G. Bigler.

Yours respectfully,
A NEPHITE.

Undressing Little Ned.

"Where is 'Whisky Bill,' who used to drive that old white horse in front of a twenty-five-cent express wagon?" repeated the man in surprise.

"Yes."

"Well, it's a curious case," he slowly continued. "We all thought he'd gone to the dogs, for sure, for he was drinking a pint a day; but a few months ago he braced him right up, stopped drinking, and now I hear he is in good business, and saving money. It beats all, for the last time I saw him he seemed half under ground."

When you go home at night and find that all is well with your flesh and blood, do you go to sleep reasoning that the rest of the world must care for itself? Do you ever shut your eyes and call up the hundreds of faces you have met during the day and wonder if the paleness of death will cover any of them before the morrow? When you have once been attracted to a face, even if it be a stranger's, do you let it drop from memory with your dreams, or do you call it up again as night comes down, and hope it may lose none of its brightness in the whirling mists of time?

So "Whisky Bill" was hunted down. An inquiry here and there finally traced him to a little, brown cottage on a by-street. He sat on the step in the twilight, a burly, broad-shouldered man of 50, and in the house three or four children gathered around the lamp to look over a picture-book.

"Yes, they used to call me 'Whisky Bill,' down town," he replied as he moved along and made room, "but it is weeks since I heard the name. No wonder they think me dead, for I've not set eyes on the old crowd for months, and I don't want to for months to come."

"They tell me you have quit drinking. One could see that by your face."

"I hope so; I haven't touched a drop since February. Before that I was half drunk day in and day out, and more of a brute than a man. I don't mind saying that my wife's death set me thinking, but I didn't stop my liquor. God forgive me, but I was drunk when she died, half-drunk at the grave, and I meant to go on a regular spree that night. I was low down, sir, but I was no better than a brute those days."

"And so you left your motherless children home and went out and got drunk?"

"No, I said I meant to, but I didn't. The poor things were crying all day, and after coming home from the burial I thought to get 'em tucked away in bed before I went out. Drunk or sober, I never struck one of them a blow, and they never ran from me when I staggered home. There's four of 'em in there, and the youngest isn't four years yet. I got the older ones in bed all right, and then came little Ned. He had cried himself to sleep, and he called for mother as soon as I woke him. Until that night I never had that boy on my knee. To say nothing of putting him to bed, and you can guess these big fingers made slow work with the hooks and buttons. Every minute he kept saying mother didn't do that way and mother done that way, and the big children were hiding their heads under the quilt to drown their sobs. When I had his clothes off and his nightgown on, I was ashamed to put him down, and when the oldest saw tears in my eyes and jumped out of bed to put her arms around my neck I dropped the name of 'Whisky Bill,' right then and forever."

"And little Ned?"

"Mebbe I'd have weakened but for him," replied the man, as he wiped his eyes. "After I got the child's nightgown on, what did he do but kneel right down beside me and wait for me to say the Lord's Prayer to him! Why, sir, you might have knocked me down with a feather. There I was, mother and father to him, and I could not say four words of that prayer to save my life! He waited and waited for me to begin, as his mother always had, and the big children were waiting, and when I took him in my arms and kissed him, I called heaven to witness that my life should change from that hour. And so it did, sir, and I've been trying hard to lead a sober, honest life. God helping me, no one shall call me 'Whisky Bill' again."

The four children, little Ned in his night-gown, came out for a good-night kiss, and the boy nestled in his father's arms for a moment, and said:

"God-night pa—good-night everybody in the world—good-night ma, up in heaven—and don't put out the light till we go to sleep!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Brakeman's Presence of Mind.

Medina, Jan. 1.—This afternoon, as the eastward-bound way freight was about to leave this station, a brakeman named Perer Gersbacher came near losing his life. The locomotive was backing down some cars to be coupled to the train, and the brakeman started to make the coupling. While stepping on the track his right foot caught in the guard rail, and he was unable to extricate it. The cars were backing down upon him. If he threw his body outward, as most persons in his position would have done, both legs would have been severed undoubtedly near the body. Gerbacher threw himself down between the rails, face upward, and as the car approached he watched his opportunity, and just as it reached him seized the brake rod and hung on with a death-like grasp. The effect was that his right foot was crushed by the wheel, and his hold on the rod pulled the injured foot from the boot. The other brakeman, by hallowing and signalling, soon stopped the locomotive. The brakeman's presence of mind saved his life. He is married and lives at Syracuse. His foot is badly crushed, its smaller bones and toes being so severely injured that partial amputation may have to be resorted to.—Correspondence of the Rochester Democrat.

A woman who can write a letter without two-thirds of her tongue protruding from her mouth, is fitted for a letter world than this.

A young lady who had been married a little over a year, wrote to her matter-of-fact old father, saying. "We have the dearest little cottage in the world, ornamented with the most charming little creepers you ever saw." The old man read the letter and exclaimed, "Twins!"

When you see a young man in gorgeous apparel, walking about the street with his arms hanging in curves from his body like the wings of an overheated turkey on a summer's day, it isn't because he is in pain. It is because he has been "abroad," and that's the only thing he learned.

A Louisville critic, in describing Mary Anderson, asks: "Can you imagine some drifting cloud of evening crystallized in mystic limpidness into that image of the maker that we call humanity—pellucid, it within with azure fire?" If you cannot imagine such a cloud, you may see the azure fire and things by simply eating a cold mince pie before going to bed.—Norristown Herald.

Swallowing POISON

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Fœtid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS OF CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infections Poison, and one-fourth of living men and Women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

The Promoter and Perfector of Assimilation.

The Reformer and Vitalizer of the Blood.

The Producer and Invigorator of Nerve and Muscle.

The Builder and Supporter of Brain Power.

Fellows' Compound Syrup is composed of Ingredients identical with those which constitute Healthy Blood, Muscle and Nerve and Brain Substance, while life itself is directly dependent upon some of them.

By its union with the blood and its effect upon the muscles, reestablishing the one and toning the other, it is capable of effecting the following results:

It will displace or wash out tuberculous matter, and thus cure Consumption.

By increasing Nervous and Muscular Vigor, it will cure Dyspepsia, feeble or interrupted action of the Heart and Palpitation, Weakness of Intellect caused by grief, worry, overtax or irregular habits, Bronchitis—Acute or Chronic, Congestion of the Lungs, even in the most alarming stages.

It cures Asthma, Loss of Voice, Neuralgia, St. Vitus Dance, Epileptic Fits, Whooping Cough, Nervousness, and is a most wonderful adjunct to other remedies in sustaining life during the process of Diphtheria.

Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name, no other preparation is a substitute for this under any circumstances.

Look out for the name and address J. L. FELLOWS, St. John, N. B. on the yellow wrapper in water-mark, which is seen by holding the paper before the light.

Price, $1.50 per Bottle, six for $7.50.

Sold by all Druggists.
