LOWER PRICES ON EXCHANGE

Tintic List Suffered a Reaction From the Rally of a Few Days Ago.

IRON BLOSSOM REMAINS FIRM.

Seven Troughs Weakens—Call for Ohio Copper—Closing Quotations and Sales.

There was a lowering of prices again today on the local exchange. Beginning with Lower Mammoth, the Tintic list lost all the way down the line. May Day, Uncle Sam Consolidated, Beck Tunnel, Black Jack and Crown Point suffered, with Iron Blossom the only one holding its own. The support given the market towards the close of last week and again yesterday seems to have vanished for the time being and stocks were left to shift for themselves. Trading was brisk, however, and there was a readiness displayed to take them as offered, but at down figures. Seven Troughs weakened somewhat, while South Columbus was only in slight demand at 85 cents.

With the exception of Ohio Copper, the unlisted stocks were not attractive. But there was considerable inquiry for Ohio, and several lots could have been bought at $2.50. Sales were made at $2.51½ and $2.49.

The closing quotations and sales were:

REFUSED THE ORE.

Goldfield Buyers Would Not Accept Great Western Product.

Two carloads of ore from the Great Western Mining and Milling company's ground were received here Friday, says the Goldfield Tribune, but they have not been unloaded as neither of the samplers could or would give any definite promise as to the time the ore could be sampled or when payment would be made. In all probability the ore will be forwarded to one of the smelters by the company and when a settlement will be made is not known even after the ore is sampled. This is the fourth shipment from the mine and it looks as though it had passed through the prospect stage and become a mine.

The values run principally in silver. The property is 30 miles south of town on the northwest side of Gold Mountain, at Lime Point. The ore was hauled to cuprite for shipment here. In the 100 or bottom level the ore body has widened to seven feet.

THE MENDAH STRIKE.

Find at Pioche an Important One—The Nevada-Utah.

The stockholders and management of the Mendah-Nevada Mining company are feeling very jubilant these days. The cause of the elation is a new and very rich strike made in the drift being run from the 700 foot level of the main shaft, or what is known as the Navy drift.

Manager Cook was in town the other day, and states that the extent of the strike is at least six feet, and for the entire width shipping ore can be taken out. Many strikes of this character have been encountered in the upper workings but this latest strike is of particular importance for the reason that it determines that the ore shoot on the Mendah continues for great depth, and that the ore found increases in value as well as quantity as depth is attained.

Much interest is manifested by the many property holders in the Highland district. It has been worked to a greater depth than any other property in that section and it is the means of determining as to the ore occurrences in relation as to whether or not they attain depth.

The Nevada-Utah corporation will in the immediate future erect some large ore bins near the old site close to the proposed junction of the Caliente-Pioche railroad and the present narrow gage road running to Jack Rabbit. It is the intention to run all ores from the Jack Rabbit district to this point on the narrow gage and then transfer to the other road. It is expected that an immense tonnage will be shipped from outlying districts as soon as the railroad is in a position to handle freight.

One of the latest corporations to commence working in Pioche is the Ohio-Nevada Mining company. This corporation has but recently been formed and has taken over some of the choicest properties in the district, which are situate southwest of town and immediately adjoining the Nevada-Utah properties. They are retimbering an old shaft on the property and about 100 feet of this work has already been finished.

IN OLD MEXICO.

"Bert" Holden of U. S. Mining Co. on Inspection Trip.

A. F. Holden, of the United States Smelting Refining & Mining Co., accompanied by W. H. Coolidge, general attorney for the same company, has been examining the Pachuca properties of the Real del Monte company, which is owned by the United States Smelting, Refining & Milling Co.

When asked as to the purpose of his visit, says a Mexico City dispatch, Mr. Holden said that it was merely one of inspection. The 200-ton mill at Loreto, which has been working for some time, will be visited, as will the 200-ton mill at Guerrero, on the other side of the hill from Loreto, which is expected to be in operation by the first of the year.

SLOWING DOWN PROGRAM AT ELY

Col. Wall Visits McDonald Ely And Talks of Camp Conditions.

NEVADA CON. CLOSES MINE.

Giroux Consolidated Trims Its Forces—Cumberland Ely Going Ahead.

Col. E. A. Wall returned from a trip to Ely, Nev., this morning, where he went several days ago with David Keith and Thomas Kearns to make an inspection of mining properties in which they are interested. They visited the McDonald-Ely property, and, Col. Wall states, found the strike made recently in that property to be of a character most encouraging to them. The find was made on the 350-level of the Golden Anchor shaft and a cross-cut run through the ore body encountered proved it to have a width of 22 feet.

"The ore carries a good deal of iron," said the colonel, "and considerable copper. While I do not pretend to say that it is all pay ore, yet at the same time it looks good. I think with a little more work the McDonald-Ely will show up all right."

Ely is rather quiet now, Col. Wall reports, as a result of the closing of so many of the mines. Like in nearly every other western mining camp during the past few weeks, retrenchment has been the order of the day, and men are let out by the scores. Last Saturday the Nevada Consolidated shut down its mine tight; the boarding house was closed and outside of the few men required to take care of the property during the season of inactivity, not very much is going on there. While construction work at the new Steptoe smelter, in which the Nevada Consolidated is interested, is going ahead, it is only with a reduced force. However the expenditure of money at this time for development purposes is not absolutely essential for the well being of the Nevada Consolidated, for, Col. Wall explains, anywhere from six to eight years' supply of ore has been blocked out; hence he considers the decision to shut down during this period of financial stringency as a move in the right direction. The Giroux Consolidated has reduced its working force to 47 men and this has been the program at other mines all over the camp. Cumberland Ely is one of the few exceptions. This company is more fortunate than some others by having a large fund of available cash on hand. According to a statement made recently George Gunn, who promoted it, the company has something like $2,000,000 to draw on for development and improvement purposes. If the Cumberland Ely keeps work going through the winter the situation at Ely will not be so bad.

THE COPPER MARKET.

Comment on Yesterday's Advance in Price of Metal.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The Record-Herald says: "The copper metal market took on signs of real life yesterday. A large volume of business was done, foreigners being the largest buyers, but domestic consumers also showing an active interest in the market, some of them revealing an eagerness to cover their wants. Sales were reported at various prices. It can be said that Lake copper sold as high as 14 cents and Electrolytic as high as 13⅞ cents, which prices are fully 2 cents higher than the lowest. It is estimated that October sales of copper amount to close to 100,000,000 pounds. China took about 10,000,000 pounds yesterday and one copper selling agency reported sales of 18,000,000 pounds to Europe. London cabled quotations which showed sensational advances over there."

COPPER IS MOVING.

D. C. Jackling of Utah Copper Sees Light Ahead.

General Manager D. C. Jackling of the Utah Copepr company believes the low price in the market price of copper has been reached and that a gradual improvement is scheduled. "I am of the opinion," said Mr. Jackling today, "that the surplus copper is moving and that it will soon be out of the way, the result of which will be a betterment of conditions. The big sales of metal reported yesterday indicate that consumers have come into the market again in earnest. The fact is many of them have practically exhausted their stocks of copper on hand and must begin buying agsin."

THE KEMPTON CASE.

Complete Opinion of Supreme Court is Received by Attorneys.

The opinion of the United States supreme court in the case of Leonidas M. Lawson vs. United States Mining company was received in its complete form yesterday by attorneys interested for both sides. Although his name does not appear of record, Col. E. A. Wall was the principal plaintiff.

Suit was originally brought by the United States company against Wall and others to quiet title to certain ore bodies underneath the surface of claims of the United States company. Wall and associates claimed, however, that the ore bodies belonged to a vein the apex of which was within the mining claims known as the Kempton and Ashland, owned by them.

The United States company replied to this claim that if the ore bodies in question belonged to such a vein, it was a broad vein, and the width of the apex was partly within the Old Gordan and Mountain Gem claims, belonging to that company, and partly within the claims of Wall and associates; that the locations of the Old Jordan and Mountain Gem claims were older than those of the Kempton and Ashland, although the latter had been first patented. The United States company, therefore, claimed that the older locations would take the entire vein on its dip outside the limits of their claims, even though part of it was in the Wall claims which had the older patent; in other words, that date fo location, not date of patent, controlled as to extra lateral rights.

The case was tried before Judge Riner of the Wyoming district, Judge Marshall having been disqualified. Judge Riner rendered a decree in favor of Wall and against the United States company, from which decision appeal was taken by the mining company to the circuit court of appeals for the Eighth district. That court reversed Judge Riner's decision, holding in favor of the United States company's contentions, namely, that the vein consisted of a belt of broken, shattered and mineralized limestone lying between walls of quarzite, and that the so-called Kempton vein was an ore body lying within the limestone lode and was not a separate and distinct vein; that the Old Jordan and Mountain Gem claims were located on part of the width of this broad lode; that they were older locations, and therefore took the entire lode on its dip outside their vertical boundaries.

The case was then carried to the supreme court of the United States on a writ of certiorari, where it was argued and submitted to the court about one year ago. That court has just handed down a unanimous opinion affirming the decision of the circuit court of appeals and sustaining the contentions of the United States Mining company in every particular.

The case was carried through the entire4 ong legal battle by Senator Sutherland and Judge W. H. Dickson as attorneys for the mining company, while Col. Wall and associates were represented by Judge C. C. Dey, Ogden Hiles and Charles J. Hughes.

ACTIVITY IN OIL FIELD.

Another Producing Well May Be Reported in Few Days.

There is no letting up in activity in the Virgin river oil district. Pat Hollohan, superintendent of the Virgin River Oil and Development company's properties, returned south last night after a brief business trip here to purchase supplies. From him it was learned that 21 rigs have been shipped into the field from various points and that four out of this number are in operation. The second well being bored by his company was down 450 feet the day he left and unless something has happened to delay progress, it should be down 700 feet by this time. He says he expects to report another producing well when he gets back to the scene of operations.

SALT LAKE BANKS IN LINE.

Exportation of Currency to Outside Cities Will Not be Permitted.

At this morning's meeting of the Salt Lake Clearing House association, it was decided to fall into line with San Francisco, Denver, Omaha, Chicago and New York, and forbid any exportation of currency, gold or bills from the Salt Lake banks to outside points, and to make clearing house certificates, the same as so much cash in settlement of balances between the banks. By the former rule, if any intermountain bank outside of this city finds itself in need of cash, it must not call on Salt Lake banks with the expectation of receiving currency. The rules for home protection are now so strict in the great money centers, that if, for instance, a Salt Lake bank has a balance in its favor with an Omaha or Denver bank, and calls on it for money, there is no compulsion on the part of the Omaha or Denver bank to respond. A draft, cashier's check or some other acknowledgment will be obtainable, but not the currency.

The Salt Lake clearing house also decided that depositors hereafter can only draw out $100 per day, or $200 per week, as obtains in other cities, as a safeguard against possible runs on banks due to unfounded reports that are often sprung at times of financial excitement. To prevent possible hardship, a bank is allowed a certain amount of leeway in the matter of discretion in observing this rule.

It is worthy of note that Salt Lake is the last of all the cities in the country to take the action mentioned.

MARKET STILL RATHER SHAKEY

Coppers Opened Stronger but Heavy Liquidation Caused Prices to Decline Sharply.

NO MONEY IN LOAN CROWD.

Stocks Freely Sold and Some Big Declines Scored—Rallies in Spots—Bonds Were Irregular.

New York, Oct. 29.—Opening prices of stocks showed irregular changes from last night's closing. Some sharp declines were mingled with fractional advances. Canadian Pacific broke 2½, Southern Pacific preferred 3, American Smelting 1, and Union Pacific and Great Northern preferred ¾. Northern Pacific rose 1, and Reading and Texas and Pacific ¾.

Special stocks showed strength for an interval this morning, notably the copper stocks, and Northern Pacific. Heavy liquidation, however, including New York Central and Pennsylvania weakened the entire market and prices declined sharply. The two point rise in Northern Pacific was cancelled and a similar gain in Anaconda was cut in two.

General Chemical sold at a decline of 12 points, Canadian Pacific 6¼, Pennsylvania 4, New York Central 3¼, Brooklyn Transit 2¾, St. Paul 2¼, Union Pacific, Wisconsin Central preferred and American Smelting 2, Great Northern preferred, Louisville and Nashville, Interborough-Met. preferred and Pressed Steel Car preferred 1½, Westinghouse Electric 1¼, and Reading, Missouri Pacific, U. S. Steel, Atchison and American Car preferred 1. Both Pennsylvania and New York Central sold materially below the previous low points of the year.

There was a dearth of money in the loan crowd on the stock exchange and stocks were sold out without much regard to prices. Some of the resulting declines were Canadian Pacific 9¼, Norfolk & Western preferred 8, Pennsylvania 4⅞, Union Pacific 4⅝, New York Central 3¾, St. Paul 3⅝, Great Northern preferred and Western Union 3, Missouri Pacific 2⅞, Sugar 2⅝, American Smelting 2¾, Southern Pacific 2¼, and a long list of stocks from 1 to 2.

There were rallies in spots at noon. Bonds were irregular.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The wheat market was nervous at the opening today although the undercurrent seemed to be in favor of higher prices. The chief bullish factor was the advance of one pence at Liverpool. The weak condition of the stock market in the early trading caused buyers to hold off somewhat.

December wheat opened ¼ to ½ higher at 98 to 98⅛, sold at 97⅞, and then advanced to 98⅝.

The prediction of rain throughout the corn belt caused a strong market in the corn pit. December corn opened unchanged to 1⅛ cents higher at 57¼ to 57⅜, and sold at 57¾.

The oats market opened strong on light offerings, and a good demand from shorts. The wet weather, which may delay the movement in the Northwest, was also a bullish factor. Dec. oats opened ⅛ to ¾ higher at 49¾ to 49⅞, and sold up to 50⅝.

The provision market was fairly steady. January pork was 5c lower at 14.62½. Lard and ribs were each off shade at 8.50 and 7.62½ respectively.
