Died:

In this city, June 5, 1864, of typhoid fever, JAMES BARRON, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. He had been blind 18 years, had been educated in the asylum of that city to the trade of basket-making. He obeyed the gospel in 1862, and emigrated to this city in 1863; he died in full faith of the gospel. [Mil. Star please copy.
