NEWS OF THE MINES.

The Week on 'Change Opens in Fairly Good Condition.

TRADING IN UNLISTED STOCKS.

Pollock's Return from the Coast—Mercur Cyanide Shipments—Mining Notes of Interest.

The opening of the week on 'change found stocks generally in good condition, and while no business whatever was done in the listed stocks, the unlisted class met with some trading and succeeded in making transfers to a total of 4,260 shares for which buyers paid $451.75.

Anchor and Ajax were practically at a standstill, the latter falling a little in the bidding. Dalton-Rock was not so strong as on Saturday, the best bid being $0.75, while holders made the stock an offering at $7.50. Daly and Daly West made slight advances in the bidding, but neither moved the brokers to transfers. Dalton and Lark fell a trifle as did also Four Aces, which scored its best bid at 15 cents and was an offering at 21 cents. Mercur and Mammoth were about stationary, while Sunshine advanced to 76 cents in the bidding and could have been purchased at 90 cents.

Northern Light was the first of the stocks to record transfers. It sold at 93 and 95 cents—the former a slight decline from Saturday. Swansea was held high in the offerings, being on the market at no less than $5, while the best bid was but $2.25. The Ben Hur stock figured in the trading, 1,000 shares selling at 11½ cents. South Swansea ran up to a bid of $1.80, but holders demanded $1.90 for the stock and stubbornly refused to let it go under that figure. Sunbeam gained an eighth of a cent in the bidding and was an offering at 1½ cents. Little Pittsburg and Richmond Anaconda gave their portion to the day's trading.

The closing figures were as follows:

POLLOCK'S RETURN.

What the Salt Lake Man Thinks of Mining in California.

James A. Pollock one of Salt Lake's most prominent stock brokers, returned from the coast Saturday evening looking healthy and with a beaming countenance suggestive of a successful visit.

Mr. Pollock left here about a month ago and he spent the time in San Francisco, Los Angeles and the great mining district of Tuolumne and Calaveras counties. Of the latter he speaks in the highest praise. "Why," said the gentleman to a NEWS reporter today, "it's the greatest mining country I ever saw. Not a city there but that strikes of great magnitude are recorded along the Mother Lode, and the district is filled with mining men from far and near, whose together with the great number of employes there, keeps an still life in the place, school-ess in the use. Money mining camps. There are millions of dollars worth of ore in sight, and while California's ore production for '96 exceeded that of '95, by twenty-five per cent, I feel certain from the present condition of affairs that the production of '97 will be still heavier. The country is a state formation, so to speak, in the mining world."

Mr. Pollock did not visit the Bonanza district which is creating so much excitement at the present time, due to information he received from reliable and conservative men, leads him to the belief that the district is not what it is cracked up to be. It appears to be mostly a rich strike from the surface down, and while there is ore to be found, and it is largely gold ore, it is developed spots. The thing to be a surface deposit, but it has not yet been demonstrated.

Having the opportunity the News man asked Mr. Pollock if he had negotiated any for mining deals while away. The answer was, "Well—not for publication." This would readily lead one to believe that James had been head and ears in business while away, although he doesn't care to give out the particulars. The gentleman says he has greatly enjoyed the trip, but is glad to be once more home again.

CYANIDE SHIPMENT.

The Mercur People Turn and Another Set Loose in Germany.

Messrs. Dorr and Heinrich of the Mercur company returned from the mine last evening bringing with them a $20,000 shipment of cyanides, which will be sent direct to the Hulsche Gold and Silver Anstalt at Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany. Tony report the property in good shape and in condition to produce dividends for an indefinite period.

THE CUMBERLAND.

Annual Meeting Held and Officers Chosen—Things in Good Shape.

The Cumberland Mining company met last Thursday and issued its annual report. It also elected the following gentlemen as officers for the ensuing year: Wm. Taylor, president and treasurer; S. V. Shelp, John A. Lowrence, T. J. Anderson, Oscar E. Lawrence, Hugh J. Mitchell, Peter A. Lawrence, directors, and George R. Emery, secretary.

The superintendent, Oscar E. Lawrence rendered his report for the past year and everything was reported in excellent condition. The company has about 50 tons of good ore ready for shipment. The shaft is now down to the depth of 250 feet and will be sunk 250 feet more during the present year. Drifting will also be done on three different veins of ore. Everything looks at a wide or the future greatness of the Cumberland—a property which is located in Park City, near the famous Silver King.

TWO NEW STRIKES.

The Park Record Tells of A Couple of Sensational Discoveries.

If all the facts were obtainable the record would give an interesting account of a sensational mineral discovery made within the past two weeks by C. W. Thompson of this city. The gentleman had been absent from town for several weeks on a prospecting trip, and returned Thursday afternoon. He brought with him a bucket of the finest looking ore that has ever come to the writer's notice, and it was taken from surface workings. A specimen weighing about seventy pounds testified plainly enough that the ledge from which it came is a large one. Returns from assays have not as yet been handed in, but unquestionably the rock (lime spar) carries values to the ton running into the hundreds. It is a super-silver-gold proposition, and will also show a good deal of gold. The discoverer will not delay the locating of the find, except in so far that it is in Utah and within a radius of a hundred miles of Park City. The ore is on exhibition at the store of Frank Andrews, who is interested in the discovery, together with C. W. Thompson, Hans Christensen, Gus Holmgren, W. H. Grace, all of Park City, G. C. Kidder of Salt Lake and Will Carlson (cousin of Ogden).

About two years ago Henry Stalings and associates located a group of claims in Beaver Creek canyon, about three miles east of Kamas. A tunnel was started through which to prospect their ground, and was driven into the mountain quite a distance without disclosing anything to speak of, except now and then the finding of streaking of pieces of galena. Last week however, the men were treated to a sensational experience by the cutting of a three-foot vein of fine looking carbonate ore in the face of the tunnel. J. W. Larsen, the Record's informant, says that the matter is being kept very quiet, that all the ground in the adjacent hills may be located before the strike becomes generally known.

Bingham Bullets Twice.

James A. Eliott, interest in the Alamo, ore in a fine body of ore which carries a 3-foot pay streak averaging $10 gold, several ounces silver and a small per cent of copper.

Under a new directory, with Thos. Weir as manager and superintendent, the old Badger mine in Brooklyn camp is to be put in shape for early active production next summer. The ore is of good shipping grade, and with a fair market should give the company a sizable return.

The drawback at the Winnamuck on account of bad air has at length been overcome. The trouble in the working connection was made at the 140 level between the upraise from the 200 and winze from working tunnel, and a big draft is the result.

Superintendent Joe Bush last week started a force of half a dozen men to work on the Cleopatra group, in Spring gulch. This property is a big entity, consisting of five claims, has just punched its notice of application for patent.

An estimate gives over 300 feet of sinking ground now practically proven to below the working tunnel of the Winnemuck mine. In places there are six feet of ore running 50 ounces silver, 40 to 60 per cent lead and an average of 14 per cent copper underwhile a good streak is rich in ruby silver and runs up in the hundreds. There are about 500 tons high-grade shipping ore on the dump, but it is said that according to stipulation mine will not be worked until the smelting bill is settled. There is no doubt whatever that it will be consummated, and we understand the limit of the bond is some time this fall.

Beaver Creek Mines.

Heber Stalings came down from the Beaver Creek mines Sunday, says the Coalville Times. He reports that he is down 50 feet on the King mine, following ore all the way. The shaft is being well timbered as River, while fine specimens have been found in this property of silver and lead ore, have assays of $70 have been returned from the mill.

The Queen's Baby, another mine of the group, has been worked on to a considerable extent. Two shafts were sunk and abandoned and the third was started, which drove down directly on top of a true fissure vein, which at a depth of fifteen feet is over ten feet wide. The Queen Company has been interested in this claim, and the owners are more than pleased with the outlook.

On the Silver Queen, adjoining the group, a shaft of twelve feet in solid ore has been driven. This latter claim is owned principally by Coalville people.

Mr. Stalings came down to get track iron, a whim and other supplies, and will return after a short visit to the mines. The company has ten men at work on its claims.

The sections near the Devil's Slide are being worked. On the Imperial and Great Western claims a contract has been let to drive 100 feet and Gomer and Thomas Thomas are now working on it. The prospects down there warrant pushing the work along, as good rock has been encountered.

Dice and Spurs.

A Yest correspondent of the Bingham City Bugler says: "Chas. Yest has struck a good lead on his mining claim, and Mr. Kimball brought in some good specimens of ore; says he has found a good vein."

Park Valley in Box Elder county promises to come to the front shortly with some rich mining strikes.

Mr. Charles Crismon of the Utah and Galena mining companies is at present engaged in his home with pneumonia.

Correspondence from Mount Nebo to the Nephi Republic reports the Nebo mining prospects doing well and the prospects are that the mines will be completed and ready for business in a month or more. A man named Joseph Jaques is said to have a mine which carries a vein running high in silver and gold. He has a three-inch vein.

Price Advocate: A rich strike of sinnabrite has recently been made in the Gunnison mountains by Ced Isaac parties. A find of lithograph stone was also made in the Cedar mountains by the same parties. We understand that a lawsuit is on with Salt Lake capitalists to begin work in the very near future.

HERE FROM DENVER.

Sergeant McNeill Arrives to Take Back Ernest Schroeder.

Sergeant John G. McNeill of the Denver police department is in the city, having come here armed with requisition papers for the custody of Ernest Schroeder, the accomplished German musician wanted in that city for larceny and arrested by Captain Kelinger several days ago. Mr. McNeill expects to return with his charge on the morning train.

This is the gentleman's first visit to Salt Lake and he is well pleased with the appearance of our city. He says he has no idea that Schroeder will be able to satisfactorily adjust matters when he arrives in Denver, as he has many friends among the musical people there who will be largely willing to come to his rescue. The man's downfall is the result of gambling and it is the first time he has been arrested, that is so far as the Denver officers know.

Mr. McNeill is an old friend in the police department business. He has been city marshal of Highlands, Colo., for a period of ten years. The latter place is now incorporated in the boundaries of Denver, and upon its being swallowed up by the Colorado metropolis, Mr. McNeill was made a sergeant in the police department.

Mr. Schroeder will stay in the city jail, he has refused to submit to prison fare and has sent out for short orders whenever he felt hungry. The prisoner is a man of culture and refinement, and his imprisonment in a dungeon like unto the city jail has grated on the man's nerves so much that he intimated that life was not worth living. When he gets into the city of his friends he will be allowed to make a home and be surrounded with more pleasant environments.

Surprise Party.

The employes of E. C. M. I., with their usual generosity and thoughtfulness, arranged an agreeable surprise on Friday, the 15th inst. Miss Martha Merritt, who has had the management of the millinery department for the last twelve months, being compelled to sever her relations with the firm on account of ill health, about twenty-five employes proceeded to her apartments at the Tabernacle house. After arranging a supper, they informed her of the purpose. Mr. John Alford made a neat speech on behalf of the company and presented her with a beautiful down quilt as a token of their esteem. The rest of the evening was spent in singing, recitations and expressions of good will toward her. WM. M. BROWN.

A Miserable Wretch.

Mathias Dutch was one of the principal figures in the police court today, the miserable wretch having been picked up on the streets by an officer and taken to jail more as a matter of charity than anything else. "Dutch" is in a stage of collapse through his incessant use of morphine, and the doctors say it will only be a matter of a short time until the end comes to him, through use of the drug.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDWARDS, Rag street, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "I feel it my duty to make a statement of the great benefit I have received from Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have been troubled with pain across the small of my back, and my kidneys were in a very bad condition. I had to get up from my seat every time I wanted to turn in my chair, and was very much troubled with dizziness. I had also a very bad taste in my mouth, and my appetite was very poor. I felt very tired and had no ambition. I had been in the R. R. business for 30 years, and had contracted a bad case of kidney disease. I had tried many remedies before I used Dodd's Kidney Pills, but they did me no good. I was induced to try Dodd's Kidney Pills by seeing a testimonial in the paper, and I am very glad I did so. They have cured me, and I can now do my work with ease and comfort." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Albany, N. Y.

SET FOR TOMORROW.

First Vote for U. S. Senator Will be Taken at 4 P. M. by the House.

THE ARIZONA BOUNDARY BILL

Passes Both Houses of the Legislature—Bills Up Surrogates from Lexington.

SENATE.

After the opening exercises, Hon. R. C. Chambers was sworn in.

The report of the railroad committee favoring amendments to the present law in the interest of the Oregon Short Line, was adopted. The bill came up on second reading and Nebeker spoke in favor of it. It then passed to its third reading, and was passed. Whitaker only voting against it.

The Arizona boundary joint resolution came up in the committee's favorable report, and after a debate, passed.

HOUSE.

Immediately after the reading of minutes this afternoon, Kenner presented the following bill:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Jan. 18, 1897.

Mr. Speaker: Your committee on elections to whom was referred H. B. 5, on election of a U. S. Senator, respectfully recommend that said resolution be not adopted for the reason that such election is provided for by act of Congress, U. S. Revised Statutes, chapter 11, sec. 14 and 15.

Even if it were a proper subject for legislation by this body, the provisions of the resolution could not be complied with, for the reason that section 3 of article IV of the State Constitution provides that all elections shall be by secret ballot.

Your committee recommend the adoption of the following:

Resolved, that the House proceed to vote as provided by said law of the United States for a senator therein; that each member as his name is called shall arise and in a distinct voice announce his preference for a senator; that the secretary shall record his seat; that each man voting is sworn on his own ballot; that the ballots and tally sheets be allowed on the floor of the House, and that no one other than a member be allowed to vote; that no one may vote for anyone with a member, and that, on the announcement of the result, the House shall thereupon adjourn till the following day at 11 o'clock.

KENNER, Chairman.

The resolution was amended by substituting the name of 4 instead of 3 o'clock, which it was adopted.

Rodgers introduced a petition from citizens of Sanpete county, asking legislation to protect them from the loss in banks. Committee on judiciary.

Rees, from the public lands committee, reported favorably on the memorial relating to the acquirement by this State of that tract of country lying north of the Colorado river, he was weighing, Mr. Rees, Mr. Shaw, Kenner and others spoke in favor of the resolution, giving strong reason in support of it. The report of the committee was adopted. It provides for a commission to negotiate with the Arizona legislature.

The following bills were introduced:

By Rees: H. B. 19, relating to the bee industry.

By Dotson: H. B. 20, exempt mortgages from taxation.

By Cox of the Kent: H. B. 21, offering a bounty on bears and wild animals.

By Keetner: H. B. 22, regulating the practice of medicine.

On motion the House ordered all bills now on second reading to be passed to their third reading and referred to appropriate committees.

The Arizona boundary joint resolution, the passage of which was urged by the public lands committee, came up on their reading, and passed.

Kenner made the point that the Arizona legislature had no power to cede any of the lands in that territory. Rees replied that the resolution only sought to obtain the consent of that body, in order to be the initial action by Congress.

AN OLD TIMER'S VIEWS.

Place Hunting Is, He Avers, a Matter of Life Necessity.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 19, 1897.

To the Editor:

In your issue of Friday, the 15th inst., I noticed an editorial headed, "An office-seeking mania." In the second paragraph you say, "An office-seeking mania is spreading over the State and the old rule long practiced in Utah is being abolished," and men go about in droves seeking places, "for every vacancy there is a clamoring crowd." I will here say for one class of place a clamoring crowd is sent of, because only one class have been seeking rest capable of filling such places. I mean office work in general, and that is exposed by those that have had the better chance of schooling, and the hard working mine men not apply. When in Utah, and Salt Lake in particular, men have sought the office, it was generally this class that was sought, unless it was an office where only glory was the pay, and then the class you call the "clamoring crowd" was always the place with easy little trouble. You make direct reference to county commissioners and suggest they give the "clamoring crowd" a chance.

Now, Mr. Editor, who are seeking places at the hands of our county commissioners at the present time? Why, as a general rule a hungry crowd of poor men, at least the most of them—some the most do not know where the next flour is coming from, or where to get a place to cover the feet of their little ones, or a little coal to keep them warm; but "poverty is no bad and too honest to shout." I am one that has made application for a place in the mounted brigade, a gift of the commissioners of Salt Lake county, and think I built not to unnecessarily out of place or seeking. Thirty-seven years ago I made my advent into this city with all I owed in a handcart, and two few weeks of weary travel. My first night here I made my bed just about where I am sitting to help keep clean. I find it to be just that many that had employment in the city and county building and grounds have not yet long enough in Utah to have they got places to show the same or number of days as I was located on.

The only reason I can assign that so many are clamoring for places at present is that there is so many out of employment, and not because they want to lean out of the public crib. I, the many years that have long resided here, that have been on hand, by no out or by day, to do anything in a public way for the public good, am only asking to extend a little longer where they were spent their best days, and have been unfortunate in not having a competency by dint of a time like these we are passing through.

Let me ask you in connection to cast the mantle of charity around the "clamoring crowd" any hope the time may soon come the times may change and that for the better, that the idle and hungry crowd may soon find work to do, to get the opportunity of working for an honest living and that peace and plenty may abound, that the heart of the mourner may be relieved of its sorrow, that a happy change has come to her and her children, and that we may be able to say, and that we may be sent out of our public crib, and when that welcome time does come, it may result in the city or county officer passing the last or the "clamoring crowd." Yours most respectfully,

AN OLD TIMER.

Notarial commissions were today issued to Isaac A. Clayton of Salt Lake and Joseph Coe of Sanpete county.

The Morris Case.

The trial of J. R. Morris was resumed this morning before Judge Hilton and the jury. Some witnesses were called on the stand by the defense to show that Martin Hayman's reputation for truth and veracity was bad, and Judge Rolfe then called Mr. Stanton for the purpose of rebutting the testimony of the defense. Considerable time was spent by the attorneys discussing the admissibility of the testimony of Mr. Stanton.

Judge Rolfe stated that he wanted the case finished by tomorrow night at the latest.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tabernacle Tonight—Ellen Beach Yaw, the lady who possesses a voice with such a phenomenal range that she has set the world talking of it, will make her appearance at the Tabernacle tonight in concert, at which time she will render a number of songs that have already brought her fame, chief among which is the Swiss Echo song, which will bring out the highest note that has ever been reached by the human voice in song. She will be assisted by Maximilian Dick, violinist, Georgine Von Zay, pianist, and the Tabernacle choir.

On account of the Sunday concert meeting, no Bible class of Eld Willard Done's Bible class will be held this evening.

The Bubonic Plague.

The fact that two cases of bubonic plague have developed in London is a reminder that Eastern epidemics frequently girdle the earth in running their course, as did its grippe. Which was first heard from in Russia. Which spread on two sides to invade by the bubonic plague, which is it "black death" which in 1665 killed 100,000 Englishmen.

In all violent outbreaks of bubonic plague rats seem first to be seized, as their death to great numbers always preceded by afew days correspondingly ravages among human beings. The swarming rats, trying to escape from the plague, which is it "black death" which in 1665 killed 100,000 Englishmen.

The feature of the disease is the sudden onset of attack. The first symptom is usually a chill. Then follows great nervousness, with fever, the whole temperature to from 100 to 107 degrees. Headache, thirst, and intense pain in the upper part of the abdomen follow. Stinky perspiration exudes from the pores and then follow the glandular swellings from which the disease takes its name. These occur to the groin and neck or under the armpits. The more of them there are the less dangerous the attack. Dark spots appear upon the skin of the victim just before death.

An eminent Japanese bacteriologist who studied in Europe under Koch has discovered the microbe of "black death," and his discovery was confirmed by Professor Gerlin, formerly attached to the Pasteur Laboratory, in Paris. The bacillus is short, thick and very of a color, and, when inoculated on guinea pigs, kills them in twenty-four hours.
