AMONG ENGLAND'S RELICS.

Some Interesting Experiences of an Observing Missionary.

Elder Deseret News

I left my home in Hender on November 12th, 1890, on a mission to England with a number of other brethren. On arriving here I was appointed to labor in the British Conference under the direction of President Charles W. Symons. I spent the first month in Cheltenham, tracting when the weather was not too cold. The following two months I was appointed to labor with Elder Henry Moyle in the little, old-fashioned town of Cirencester. Cirencester is an interesting town. In some of the little narrow streets the second story of the small buildings projects out into the street nearly four feet. The old church that stands near the market place dates back, it is said, to the conquest. There is a beautiful park, seven miles long one way, containing 3000 acres, which is free to visitors. It has its historical points of interest. One part of this park is devoted to raising deer. Alfred Hall occupies another secluded part, surrounded by dense forests of timber, principally beech.

On March 1 Elder Moyle was called to the headquarters of the conference and I was appointed to labor with Elder J. J. Walker, with whom I have labored ever since in Nailsworth and adjacent villages, distributing tracts and holding conversations where we got an opportunity. We also distributed a number of tracts in Tetbury. This also is a very old-fashioned place, about two miles from which is the residence of Oliver Cromwell, standing out in bold relief. During May last there was a sale of all the old relics of the place. The estate was sold, and all the armors and rusty swords were disposed of, and now I am told they adorn a museum in London. Two of the rude cannons are still on the lawn. They are mounted on thick oaken plank set up edgewise, the lower sides of which have long since decayed.

We visited the spot where Oliver Cromwell used to take his morning bath. It was made like a vault down in the earth about eight or ten feet deep with steps to go down. The sides are built of stone and the top surrounded with an arch and covered with earth. The most of the arch is gone. The water is used now for dairy purposes. It is a nice clear spring and being isolated from the public it is in a good state of cleanliness.

Not far from this spot are the remains of the bulwarks built by Cromwell from which he fired his cannon at his favorite castle and took off the top, the remains of which still stand, but occupied only as lumber rooms to the farm house adjacent.

There are quite a number of interesting places in this county, prominent among which is the Gloucester cathedral. The architecture is something grand with its many columns and arches. The east window is 85 feet high, made of stained glass. It is said this cathedral was built about the year 1250, but it has had some additions since that date. The tower is considered unsafe for visitors. The entrance is expensive and a guide is furnished to describe and explain the various parts.

While distributing tracts in Tetbury a Baptist minister challenged my companion to a debate upon the principles of the Gospel, or what was essential to salvation. At the appointed time there were about 300 people in the Baptist chapel to hear the debate. The minister opened it with a long harangue on the evil practices of the Latter-day Saints. My companion replied at the same length, taking the Bible for his guide and almost utterly ignoring the minister's reticule and calumny, and so neptutered him that he actually turned pale.

The Church of England ministers generally give the Elders a wide berth. There are very few indeed who will listen to our testimony. The majority of the people say they are saved and they are astonished when we tell them that we are not sure of being saved unless we keep the commandments of God. They hardly ever ask an Elder into their houses. It is a perfectly free country, and if a man has nothing to eat he is welcome to starve, if he has nothing with which to buy food. I have reference to those who are not united with the Saints. A great deal of prejudice could be removed if many of the Saints, who have emigrated to Zion, would write to their friends still in this country, as they all say that after people get to Utah they can neither write nor get away from there. People are so prone to believe the enlarged exaggerations of our enemies. They will swallow Jarman's stories with a relish, and all the talking we can do will not remove the prejudice.

The News is a welcome visitor and when subscribers have read them they should send them to the Elders, as anything that savors of Utah is always welcome.

Ever praying for the cause of truth, I remain your brother,

R. A. JONES.

BANQUET TO GEOLOGISTS.

A Notable Gathering at the Knutsford Hotel Last Night.

At the Knutsford Hotel last evening a complimentary dinner was given to the distinguished geological party, now on a visit to this city, by Prof. L. E. and Mrs. Holden. It was a most noteworthy gathering, and covers were laid for 140 guests. The tables were arranged to represent a hollow square, with a centre-piece table. Everything was in black and white. It was eight o'clock when the company took their seats. In the centre of the main division at the south end of the hall sat Prof. Holden, on his right being Mrs. Mary Caroline Hughes, of Cambridge, England. Further on was Senator William M. Stewart, of Nevada, Judge C. S. Zane and Governor A. L. Thomas with their ladies. To the left of Mrs. Holden was seated Prof. Dr. Von Zittel, of Munich, Judge Goodwin and Mayor Scott, also with their respective ladies.

Appended is a copy of the menu:

Green Turtle, Sauterne. Consommee Royal. Celery. Olives.
Roast Tom Turkey, Cranberry Sauce.
Chicken Pie, Mushroom Sauce.
Sweetbreads, Peas.
Spring Lamb, Mint Sauce, Cucumbers.
Stuffed Olives. Potatoes. Tomatoes.
Fresh Asparagus, Dressing.
Fine Duck, Sagely.
Sarsaparilla Cream. Lettuce, Mayonnaise.
Charlotte Russe. Cakes. Macaroons.
Pineapple Ice Cream. Fruit. Cake.
Edam Cheese. Crackers. Café Noir.

Mr. C. C. Goodwin officiated as toastmaster.

Governor Thomas, in eloquent terms, gave the address of welcome, and Senator Stewart (Nevada) followed with some remarks complimentary to the distinguished guests. In the course of his subsequent observations he said this century had been marked in one respect—the subjugation of the forces of nature and making them to do the bidding of men and rendering human freedom possible. The young of today know all which a half century of work has developed. Knowledge had cost millions, but it in turn had paid for the outlay. The progress in the sciences was especially to be noted—such those men would be able to at least tell where mineral could not be found and than a caring would be made. The gathering of so large a number of men, united in nature, from all parts of the old world demonstrated how thoroughly knowledge was distributed. The speaker was pleased to add his greeting to that of Utah.

Professor T. McKenny Hughes said that what impressed him was that every thing in America is enormous, the distances are enormous, the progress of this city has been enormous. He had seen a block or system of railway lines and told they were built yesterday, and when he painted to the possibilities so enormous we say tomorrow. "Your growth in mines, in universities, museums and all departments of learning has been enormous. You have sometimes seen that are beautiful, your hotel is enormous and elegant and your hospitality is elegant and enormous."

Prof. L. D. Harlow said I am indeed glad to have the honor of entertaining this body of people, and to gather with my other Salt Lake friends whom then the resources and wonders of this region. To such men we are indebted for progress in the branches of business. We are glad to welcome them as helpers of our material growth. I thank them for coming here, and I am glad to hold little their hands and thus them by the hand.

Prof. G. F. Barker, of Philadelphia, said he knew no one of this body, and especially as a geologist, but as a brother on. It was not a time to fully discuss our relations, but the great phenomena they had recently witnessed especially up in the National Park caused him to believe they had discovered some things, and one was that nature could be found at a lower heat than rocks. They come from the rocks in compact mass, because they had studied the igneous action. Most of all, they had observed how sociology as well as geology is developed, and were grateful for the opportunity to study this formation. There were mysterious connections to study, just as they were between the great and smaller systems. But after all human nature is the great study and we come here not to break rocks but to discover Mr. and Prof. Holden.

Prof. Dr. Von Zittel, of Munich, expressed surprise, and regret that he could not speak fluently in English, in that event his tongue would be full of nice things. The impressions were had were too dispelled—no desert, but a garden, and where only the family life nobody might have been presented, a magnificent city, modern and complete, is shown, full of promise, and all are astonished. Our trip shows not only moralists and hikes, but also society as found in Europe, and here all are at home. Such things would last in the memory for ever.

The remainder of the time was pleasantly spent, and the guests were delighted with their entertainment.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!

RELIEF AT NOW.

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled some years with Gravel in the kidneys and have tried a great many remedies, but have not found any thing to relieve me like Kidney Tea, it is a great blessing to me, I recommend it to all who suffer as I do. I cannot say too much in its favor. It has done me more good than all the medicine I have taken for years. I would advise all who suffer as I do to give it a trial, and I feel sure they will be benefited as I am. I will gladly recommend it to any one who may write me. I have taken two bottles and am now well and able to do my work. I was almost impossible for me to do any thing, or to get on my feet sometimes. When I had the Gravel bad I was lame, and could not walk. I cannot say too much for the Kidney Tea, as it has done me so much good. Yours truly,

G. A. TUPPER,

WHAT IS A GUARANTEE?

Many merchants and salesmen are in the habit of indiscriminately "guaranteeing" their wares with no thought of being called upon to make the "guarantee" good. It is a pernicious and foolish custom more respected in the breach than in the observance.

A guarantee, to have any value, should be made with knowledge of the meaning of the word and a set purpose to carry out the terms of the guarantee. On this footing the makers instruct us to warrant, and we replace any tool found imperfect in use.

We have used our best judgment, acquired by a considerable experience, in selecting the following items for our stock and sell them to our customers with an absolute guarantee that if they do not prove to be all that we represent them, we will refund the purchase money in full.

"Jewel" Steel Range. A finished article, perfectly proportioned, made of the best material. Don't fail to see it. It will pay you.

"Quick Meal" No Generator, Evaporating. Light it as you do your gas burner. No smell. No danger. No complication. Every objection to the use of a Gasoline Stove done away with. Think of the discomfort caused in Summer by enabling the heat of a big Kitchen Range.

"Superior" Cooks and Ranges. Superior as bakers. Superior in economy of fuel. Superior in design. Superior in construction. Superior in everything that goes to make a perfect cooking apparatus.

The "Peerless Refrigerator." An ice saver. A Health preserver. Cellular stone lined. What is that? Investigate it. It will more than repay you.

Our stock of Builders' Hardware, House Furnishings, Garden Hose, Lawn Sprinklers, Lawn Mowers, etc., is complete in every detail.
