"King Asso, a Merry Monarch," Coming to the Theatre.

A GREAT WEEK AT WONDERLAND.

A Lecture on the Sol-fa System.—Miscellaneous Paragraphs.

RIGA.

The audience at the Theatre last night at the second performance of "Lo Canion," was rather smaller than that of the previous evening. The performance had all the characteristics before noticed in these columns.

"GOSSIP."

The engagement of Mlle. Riga and her company closes tonight with the French comedy. A brief resume of the plot is given as follows: "A French family (the Chalcédoix), have invited some guests to a dinner party. Among them is a Comtesse de Fin who is of relative proportion and who relates a bit of scandal about a certain Count Jobelisants, not knowing that one of the listeners is that lady's husband. The Count Demanda requests Madam de Fin to give the name of the man concerned in the escapade. This she refuses and he begins a state of persecution following her everywhere, and wanting her to fill every where, and wanting her to fill every where, and wanting her with the question, "Its name, Madam." Complications arise on all sides, the situations become hilariously funny, causing the end of amusement." Riga's dresses in this piece are said to be exquisite.

"THE MERRY MONARCH."

Next week at the Theatre will be devoted to merriment, when Francis Wilson and his excellent comic opera company present the new operetta "The Merry Monarch" for five evenings, commencing on Monday.

The story of this play is founded upon an idea upon which centers all the fun of the opera. This idea is that King Asso IV and Lazzuli, a peddler of jewelry, were born under the same star, and that one must die within twenty-four hours after the demise of the other. Asso is an Indian monarch of limited endowed, and his unchecked proclivities lead him, at the introduction, in search of a victim for execution on the annual fete day, in accordance with a custom of his country and to please his people. The difficulty lies in the finding of a victim, but he at last encounters Lazuli, whom he believes to be treacherous attempting to steal and strikes into striking him. He is about to have Lazuli publicly killed, when the court astrologer notes faith with his information that the peddler's death must be followed speedily by that of the sovereign. Lazuli is released at once, and from that moment the Asso's solicitude for the peddler's safety is most amusing and hilarious. He encourages Lazuli to elope with Lilita, and Lilita's guardian orders soldiers to pursue the elopers and shoot down the ward's seducer. Asso's terror when he learns of Lazuli's danger is most ludicrous, as he is relief when he learns that the peddler has escaped unharmed. Lazuli is allowed to wed the princess, despite the discovery that she has been bought on by Harrison, her guardian and the envoy extraordinary, to marry the merry monarch. Furthermore Asso announces that Lazuli is to be his heir, adding quaintly it is an asset. "What does to matter, since he is to die first?"

The subjects of the opera was derived in part from a French source and is the work of Conover Goodwin of Boston. The original music was composed by Louis Chalotier, but it has been reconstructed by Woodson Morse. The orchestra is directed by Signor A. De Novellis.

A LECTURE ON MUSIC.

Prof. A. C. Smyth has been invited to deliver a lecture to the members of the Teachers' Institute, at the next meeting of that organization, on Saturday May 28th, at 11 a. m., in the Tab Tabernacle. The purpose of his lecture is to demonstrate the advantages of the Tonic Sol-fa system for imparting instruction in vocal music to school children, showing how easily it can be comprehended by teachers, and how easily it may be taught to pupils. A general invitation to attend the meeting is extended to all interested in the subject of vocal music and public school instruction. The system has produced almost an entire revolution in the method of teaching vocal music in England; it is taught in nearly all the public schools there, and it has enabled millions of people in that country to sing understandingly from the Tonic Sol-fa notation.

WONDERLAND.

The "paper king" still places the visitors with his truly wonderful and pretty work in tissue paper. Among the new attractions in the curio hall is a gentleman who claims to weigh 600 pounds and the "champion" harmonica player. But the great attraction this week is the comic opera company in the theatorium. It is a really strong company, commanding some excellent voices and very respectable talent. The appreciation of the public of this new nature is plainly shown in the fact that large crowds have to be refused admission, unable to obtain seats. Wonderland has become a popular pleasure resort in our city.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Alexander Salvini announces that his Belgrade presentation of the acting version of "Cavalleria Rusticana" will take place at the Boston theatre May 23rd. Madame Patti has announced her intention to be present, and will come from New York for her specially at the head of a party of friends to witness the play, which she is to present at her theatre in Wales on her return home. Salvini and Manager W. M. Wilkinson, who will be in London in June, expect to be present at the Pali performance at Canjoy, New castle, and it is not at all unlikely that Salvini will on that occasion play Turiddu to the Santuzza of the great songstress.

It may seem odd that the opera season in London should be in the height of summer, while on this side of the ocean it is in the depth of winter. But it is a convenient arrangement, as it affords first class singers constant employment and remunerative salaries.

A Michigan genius, it is said, has invented a machine which works on the principle of the typewriter, whereby musical composers are to be saved the laborious work of transferring their off-shoots to paper by means of pen and ink. The machine much resembles an ordinary typewriter, only, instead of letters the keyboard contains representations of music notes. So we may soon see long-haired composers sitting beside a rapidly-writing—the operator, of course, not the machine—humming into her willing ear melodies which she dishes off at so much per measure.

Mr. S. G. Fleishman, a talented young composer and pianist, a pupil of Urban and Moskowski in Berlin for nine years, who was attacked with stage fright the night of his recital in San Francisco, disappeared mysteriously, and was later found in the cellar of his lodgings, in the Gulf and in a demented condition. He is now reported to be much better, and the doctors now hope for a speedy cure. A pianist, says the New York Tribune, is something like a racehorse—his nerves are strung up to the highest pitch and a trifle sometimes unsettles them. Nearly all the great virtuosi who played here last season complained of nervousness. All expect to play in Paris next week, who would not acknowledge that he was a bit discomposed, even on the night of his debut at the new Music Hall.

John L. Sullivan tells of sending a farce-comedy company out secretly, as he wants to try the humorous. Robert Wilbur says he is tired of comic opera, and wants to go in the legitimate. J. K. and Marion have entertained their devotees at New Rochelle. "Manola Villa," the Gilmore, the popular press agent for Charles Frohman's attraction and a half dozen other shows, will manage the "Black Pearl" next season. Maude Harrison is to retire from A. M. Palmer's company at the end of this season. She has been on the stage nigh on to twenty years, but never wishes for a 'star' other manager than Mr. Palmer.—F.

Sir Augustus Harris is said to have discovered a new soprano at Carlsbad, Germany, where he has been taking a water for the benefit of his health. Her name is Springhan Spring. She is a Dane who has studied under Mme. Arda de Paldi.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

The Proposed Wool Growers' Exhibit Will be an Important Feature.

The following correspondence, received at this office from Mr. Edward A. Greene, United States Department of Agriculture, Philadelphia, Pa., will be read with interest by the wool growers in this inter-mountain region:

"The Agricultural Department will exhibit at the Columbian Exposition between three and four thousand wool samples from all parts of the world. They will cover all classes of wool, from the highest to the lowest. Special attention has been given to the selection of samples of wool that compete with our home grown wools. Have you received such a special agent of the Treasury Department, sent abroad for the purpose of procuring samples for custom house standard?

"The department is desirous of obtaining the American samples, direct from the growers, so that comparisons will be made with wools of the same character, grown in different parts of the country. The samples will be placed in glass jars labeled with the grower's name and address, also with description of the sheep and wool. Assistant Secretary Willits is giving wool and sheep special attention, as he is desirous of furthering the interests of this great industry. With this view he has requested Hon. John T. Rich to make a report to accompany the exhibition.

"Mr. Rich will, when the collection is completed, examine the samples comparatively, and being a practical sheep breeder of long experience, his report will be of great value.

"Each sample should be about one pound in weight and be taken from the body of the fleece. Bags for the same and blank invoices are furnished by the department.

"Samples can be mailed without payment of postage.

Should you desire to have your clip represented, please address for particulars. EDWARD A. GREENE,

Phila., Pa., or
JOHN T. RICH,
Ella, Lapeer Co., Mich."

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., April 1, 1892.

SIR: The Secretary of Agriculture, recognizing the importance of the sheep industry of the United States, has expressed a desire that there be made at the Columbian Exposition an exhibit of the wools of the world.

The collection of samples will be more complete, it is believed, than ever before shown and will be of great value, giving as it is proposed the characteristics of wools from the highest type of sheep to the very lowest; also showing in a comprehensive way the modifications and effects of climate upon standard varieties and the adaptability of varieties to special localities. Mr. Edward A. Greene, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Hon. John T. Rich, of Ella, Mich., have been appointed by the Department to collect and classify these samples.

The wools of each State will be arranged so as to show completely all grades and shades of wools of that State. The Department is desirous of accompanying each sample with all information possible, and has therefore decided to obtain the samples from the growers. The department has prepared blanks to be filled up by contributors. Any special information not asked for on the blanks may be given by letter.

Samples of each quality must not be less than 1 lb or more than 3 lb. Sooty, hairy, or muddy wool will not be exhibited.

The samples will be placed in glass jars, which will be labeled with the grower's name and address, together with a description of the sheep and quality of the wool.

All samples must be sent to Mr. Edward A. Greene, 248 Front street, Philadelphia, Pa., who will, upon application, furnish small bags, in which the wool may be sent by mail free, and to whom all correspondence should be addressed. Where more samples are received than are necessary, the best representative samples will be exhibited. A circular will be sent by Mr. Greene giving details of what is wanted, also the manner of selecting, reporting, and sending the samples.

We should be glad to obtain samples of wool grown by you. If you are interested in sheep please inform Mr. Greene, using the inclosed envelope.

Yours respectfully,
EDWIN WILLITS,
Assistant Secretary and Representative.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

United States Department of Agriculture, Office of Committee on Wool Exhibit, Philadelphia, Pa., April 1, 1892.

Dear Sir—The circular of Hon. Edwin Willits, assistant secretary of agriculture, advises you of the action of the department in regard to the exhibition of wool samples at the World's Columbian Exposition.

It is the desire that the exhibit shall cover all qualities of wool raised in the United States, therefore it is not necessary that the sheep shall be a blooded animal to entitle the wool to exhibition, but that the samples shall be fair ones of the wool produced by the sheep.

The department has allotted a very desirable space for wool. The samples will be placed in glass jars, properly labeled with the grower's name, including the grower's name and address. The exhibit is divided for a sample of each quality in the fleece.

If you desire, I shall be pleased to receive samples of your clip and will, upon application, furnish bags for them. Each bag holds the proper quantity for one sample. The bags can be sent to me filled, by mail without postage.

Sooty, muddy, or hairy wools will not be accepted. Shirts or bellies should not be included in the samples.

Desiring that the samples shall include as many clips as possible, I suggest that not over two of any one clip shall be sent, and in no case over one of the same quality of wool.

A limited number of fleeces will be exhibited, but they must be from registered sheep. Particulars can be obtained from me. In writing please inform me of the maximum number of samples you can send, so that I may send you the proper number of bags.

Very respectfully,
EDWARD A. GREENE,
Chairman, Committee on Wool Exhibit.

PETITION TO CONGRESS

With Reference to Minerals on the Uncompahgre Reservation.

The following resolutions have been unanimously adopted by the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce:

Whereas, We have been informed by the Hon. John T. Caine our representative in Congress, that certain bills are pending in Congress for the purpose of separating from the Uncompahgre Ute Indian reservation certain portions thereof worthless for the use of said Indians, but valuable for the class of capitalists sometimes known as Uncarats or villainies, as well as for coal, copper and other minerals, to the end that the wealth and industries of our state, out of these value or deposits may be utilized by the citizens of our Territory and country.

And whereas, We are deeply interested in the development of all these interests, and the prosperity and industrial success of the citizens of this Territory as well as of our common country.

And whereas, We have examined H. R. 6. Report No. 1076 in the House of Representatives, January 5, 1892, read twice and referred to the committee on Indian affairs, and ordered to be printed, and April 16, 1892, reported with amendments, committed to the committee of the whole and ordered to be printed; being the bill of Mr. Townsend as amended and reported by the committee.

And Whereas, Certain of the citizens of Utah have heretofore made certain petitions and memorials, backed by good bills, and in ignorance of the fact that said claims located by them were within said reservation, exclusive of all of which is now on file with said committee on Indian affairs.

Now Therefore, Be it resolved by this Chamber of Commerce that we do respectfully petition Congress as follows, to wit:

First—To strike out of said bill as reported back to the whole House, the following words in line 10, line 11 and line, to wit: "When the same shall have been assented to by two-thirds of the adult male members of the Uncompahgre and Indians resident upon the said reservation, to be ascertained by three commissioners to be appointed by the President of the United States," and the words in lines 18, 19 and 20, to wit: "after paying the costs of the three commissioners hereinbefore provided for;" because said Indians have no vested rights in the lands of said reservation, and the terms thereof mentioned in said bill, is useless and worthless to them in their present condition, and the proposed sale of three sections of the part of the reservation mentioned in said bill should not be left to the spoiled and corrupted minds of said Indians, who are subject to be influenced by men whose interest it is to preserve a section of open said exploit minerals by preventing those mineral lands falling into the hands of other persons than themselves. And that said bill, as reported with the parts aforesaid stricken out, may be passed, to the end that those who have, or as aforesaid, located claims, may be protected and the resolve of the mineral lands may be thrown open to prospecting and location under the existing mineral laws of the United States.

Second—That Congress will refuse to commence or pass any bill, putting up said mineral lands, at auction, to the highest bidder, for the following reasons:

First—Because it is contrary to the past and present policy of the government as to mineral lands.

Second—Because it would discriminate in favor of the rich against the poor.

Third—Because it would be to the interest of a few men able and willing to monopolize the mineral in question, to the detriment of those who would enter into competition with them.

Fourth—Because it would ignore and destroy the prior rights of good men, who have, in good faith located claims upon the lands in question.

Resolved, That we request the Honorable John T. Caine, the Delegate in Congress from Utah, present this our petition to Congress.

JOHN W. DONNELLAN, President.
S. W. SEARS, Secretary.

Quite Breezy.

Last night was a terror to the residents of the northeast bench particularly. A detached fragment of an Eastern cyclone or kutrican swept over the Wasatch and smote the residences in that neighborhood with a power which made frame buildings yield perceptibly and rack and reel like a Keeley candidate. Brick structures of course fared better, but the unnoticed diagnosis of the storm being made in the cracks and settling of dazzlebat even in them; those who were lodged in the second story of the wooden houses did not do much sleeping, for the gale began at dark and gradually increased its unpleasantness till daylight. We hear of no casualties, notwithstanding, which is as surprising as it is gratifying.

"Comrades in Arms."

Prof. C. J. Thomas requests the members of the Harmony Glee Club, Twenty-first Ward Glee Club, Union Glee Club, and others who desire to join in competing for the Y. M. M. I. A. $250 prize, to meet in the Tabernacle at the close of services tomorrow afternoon, for a first rehearsal of "Comrades in Arms." All are desired to bring copies of the piece with them, if possible.

A Welsh Epitaph.

(Hardy Gossip.)

The following epitaph is reproduced from a tombstone in the cemetery in Llwandiffwelli: "Here rests in hope of a joyful resurrection the outlaw son of George Hattough, Watkinsmoor, whose abilities in that line were an honor to his profession. Enlisted for the regular service and plundered the enemies of all the actions of his life. Honest, honest, honest, he never cheated anybody and he never cheated the law. He had the art of disposing of his time in such a way that he never went wrong except when he was going to persons who did not know his key and even then was easily set right again. He departed this life Nov. 7, 1841, wound up in the hope of being taken in hand by his Maker, to be thoroughly cleaned, regulated and repaired and set agoing in the world to come."

Tries Cuticura, Relieved by the First Application and Battery Cured in Five Weeks.

About eighteen months ago a small spot appeared on my back; it resembled a tiny scald, and I thought it would disappear in a few days, but it spread and spread, in fact it no sooner cleared up entirely than another would appear on some other part of my body. My nights were spent in scratching until the blood would come, and in a manner I would not, if I could, describe to any one, but I spread with all that I can stand my entire health. My suffering was intense, and I was nervous, irritable, and could not sleep consecutively, and it became almost impossible for me to attend to my business properly, and for two months I was completely prostrated by the disease. I consulted many of my friends, who recommended many remedies, but I found no relief. I was advised to try Cuticura, and I can say that I was very much surprised at the result. After using the Cuticura Soap and the Cuticura Ointment according to your directions for about two or three weeks, when I was so much improved that I felt like a new man, I continued the treatment for a few weeks longer, and after the suffering I had through, I was in a condition to resume my business. I am now well and hearty, and would recommend it to any person who may be troubled with any skin disease, or blood disease, or humor of any kind. JOHN T. BRIGGS, of Briggs Brothers, Wholesale, Rich.
