| R. M. Allison, Jr. | 50 |
| Geo. H. Mateson | 100 |
| N. C. Flygare | 50 |
| J. W. F. Volker | 50 |
| Charles W. Nibley | 100 |
| Charles H. Kircher | 100 |
| Charles A. Henry | 50 |
| Wm. J. Shealy | 100 |
| [illegible] S. Joyce | 50 |

The officers elected for the ensuing year are Thos. D. Dee, president; R. M. Allison, Jr., vice president; Geo. H. Mateson, secretary; H. R. Spencer, treasurer; and these gentlemen with David Eccles, J. W. F. Volker and N. C. Flygare, form the board of directors. The corporation has bought out the old Ogden City Railway Company and will make almost an entirely new system of it. The overhead wiring will all be new and the road bed will undergo a general overhauling and be placed in good condition. A new lot of cars have already been ordered from the east, to be built after the very latest vestibule improvements but it may possibly be many days before the new cars will arrive, but they are being rushed through as quickly as possible. The new company intend putting in a system that will be a credit to the city, and to give the public every possible accommodation. The gentlemen who are at the head of the concern are all known to be thorough business men and energetic citizens whose interests are here and who are very desirous of seeing Ogden grow and prosper.

BRIGHAM CITY.

Commendable Efforts for Sweet Charity—Local News Notes.

Special Correspondence.

Brigham, Boxelder Co., May 17.—Believing in the truism that charity should begin at home, a number of Brigham's citizens have begun a movement to raise a fund for Mrs. A. McDonald of this city, whose husband was killed some months ago while working at a mine near Three Mile. The plan is that a baseball game will be played, between a nine picked from the business men, and one composed of farmers. Tickets for admission to witness the game are being sold and a ready response is being met with.

The telephone company is busy putting in a local exchange system in this city. Large telephone poles are being planted in the middle of the streets and many citizens are loudly objecting to them. They certainly do not add to the beauty of the street and they have in the past proved a danger to drivers, especially in the night, when the streets are dark. The objection to the poles should be long and loud enough to compel their removal to the side.

According to County Assessor Jensen's statement the valuations in the county have increased $150,000 this year. The real estate of the county is valued at $2,275,950, and the personal property at $564,640. This does not include the railroads, telegraph or telephone lines.

Our Stake quarterly conference convenes in the Brigham Tabernacle next Sunday and Monday. The Sunday following will be a conjoint conference of the Stake Y. M. and Y. L. M. I. associations.

PAYSON.

DEATH OF JAMES MANWILL.

"Modified Smallpox" Still Prevalent but Causes Little Alarm.

Special Correspondence.

Payson, Utah Co., May 17.—James B. Manwille, an old resident of this place, died of a complication of abdominal troubles at 2 o'clock today. He was sixty-two years of age and was a faithful worker in the Church since he was a young man. A wife and three grown up children are now left of the family. Mr. Manwille was an honest, industrious man, highly respected by all the citizens here. And as he was a very strong, robust man until a month ago, when this complication arose, his death was quite unexpected.

George Todd was taken to Salt Lake City this week to a hospital to be operated on for a serious case of hernia. Mr. Todd has the sympathy of his many friends here who wish for his early recovery.

New cases of "modified smallpoox" are constantly breaking out here. All these cases have been so mild that little attention is now paid to them.

Sarah Manwille and Joseph Rust were married here last evening at the home of the bride's mother.

Mrs. Eliza McClellan and her mother, Mrs. John Diern, returned last Tuesday from a visit to Mexico.

The eighth grade of the public schools went to Spanish Fork today to take the county examination for graduation.

They were married at Manti April 27, 1898, and since that time, according to the evidence, have had many family quarrels and the plaintiff alleges cruelty. # THE CAMPAIGN SOON HERE.

Programs Arranged for the Big Conventions.

WILL BE ORATORY GALORE.

Senators Wolcott and Lodge Will Open the Ball at Philadelphia—Populist Plans.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, May 13, 1900.—The fact that there is little or no opposition to the program provided for the different national conventions makes it quite easy for the managers long in advance to arrange for the presiding officers and speeches which are to be made. It is well understood that the conventions are to be devoted largely to oratorical efforts in order to set the pace for the campaign succeeding. The Republicans have their program pretty well arranged. It is well understood now that Senator Wolcott of Colorado will be the temporary chairman and that Senator Lodge of Massachusetts will be the permanent chairman. This will insure as a beginning two excellent addresses, as the men selected are among the best orators in the Senate and, in fact, stand at the head of able speakers in the country. Senator Wolcott, beyond all question, is one of the most pleasing talkers in the Senate, and Senator Lodge has a fine delivery and chooses his words and sentences with the judgment of a born orator. There is also likely to be a speech from Senator Depew either in nominating or seconding the nomination of President McKinley. There has been some suggestion that Senator Beveridge of Indiana will also make a speech, but that has not yet been definitely determined. As McKinley was nominated four years ago by Senator Foraker, it is not likely that the Ohio senator will make the nominating speech this year.

IN THE POPULIST CONVENTION.

The Populists have also been arranging for their convention, which occurs at Sioux Falls, S. D., May 15. Speeches will be made by two and perhaps three senators. Chairman Butler will call the convention to order and deliver a speech, and the man he names for the temporary chairman will also make an address. There has been a suggestion that this should be either Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota or Senator Harris of Kansas. By the way, only four years ago Pettigrew attended the Republican national convention as a delegate from South Dakota and a month or two later attended the Populist convention, not as a delegate, but as an onlooker. I remember that the South Dakota delegation paraded the Populist convention with a banner inscribed, "South Dakota is the only State with two Populist United States senators." It is doubtful, owing to the fact that Senator Kyle has acted with the Republican party since, that the same claim will now be made. Senator Allen of Nebraska is very likely to place Bryan in nomination at the Populist convention. It will be observed that in both the Populist and the Republican conventions at least there will be a number of senatorial orators.

IN THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Although it has not been definitely decided, there is a possibility that senators will also be heard in the Democratic convention, and possibly one will be selected for either the temporary or permanent chairman. Among those who possess ability for such places and who are recognized good talkers are Culberson of Texas, Daniel of Virginia and Tillman of South Carolina, and, of course, a speech will be made by Jones of Arkansas, in calling the convention to order, and possibly in the nominating speeches some other senators will be heard. Very few members of the House have been selected for any of the conventions as most of these representatives are candidates for re-election either on the Republican or Democratic tickets in their respective congressional districts, and in order to avoid competition with other prominent men they usually refrain from being selected as delegates. There is some suggestion that Champ Clark of Missouri will be sent to the convention at Kansas City, as he is a picturesque talker and could make a good speech in seconding the nomination of Bryan.

Mr. Ball's He

MR BALL'S HEADGEAR.

Representative Ball is one of the men from Texas, and, in fact, one of the few men from the south who wear silk hats. He is seen nearly every day in the shining headgear and also with a dressy frock coat. The frock coat is not incompatible with the South, because many of the senators and representatives from that section wear this garment. But the headpiece of the average southern congressman is a soft, black hat, with a broad brim commonly called the "slouch" hat. "How do you make that silk hat go with your constituents?" I asked Mr. Ball. "Oh, that's all right," he replied. "I wear this headpiece in Texas just as I do here and get along all right. It was not a great while ago that I had been up to Houston and afterwards went to one of the rural districts, thirty or forty miles from the railroad. I wore my silk hat just as I do here, and in reply to a question from one of my constituents I told him that I had been brought up to wear my best clothes when I went to visit people and that I did not want to wear any better clothes in Houston than I did when I came out too see the farmers of my district. That is the way I felt about it, and they understood it, so you see the silk hat goes in Texas in spite of some of the reports that we hear on the subject."
