EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Financial Situation Discussed by the Council in Secret Session.

$1,000 FOR FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

Mrs. Bailey Bail's Pledge—An Appropriation for Veterans Vetoed—A Short Open Session.

The City Council held an executive session of two hours last night, at which the National situation was pretty well discussed. The first matter was the reading of the city attorney's report, wherein he held that the Council had no authority to pass a resolution making warrants receivable by the treasurer in payment of obligations due the city.

This was followed by the reading of the following report from Treasurer May:

To the Honorable Members of the City Council:

Gentlemen—I respectfully report the following to you on the 20th inst. your body passed a resolution providing that the city treasurer "receive warrants for licenses, fines, and all other obligations due the city." I have to call your attention to the accompanying opinion from the city attorney and to say that as he says in one paragraph of that so the time the city bonds were issued "that for the purpose of paying the interest thereon as the same shall become due, the amount of $——, or so much thereof as may therein necessary is hereby appropriated annually," and that the city treasurer is obliged to provide for the payment of the same also as the opinion states, that the payments of interest on the public debt can only be accomplished by collecting the revenue in money.

Our overdraft at the bank is $5,901.71.

The interest to be paid August 15 is $12,500.

Total, $18,401.71.

The amount on deposit on special tax account subject to the order of the Council is $5,000.

As you observe if the special deposit of $5,000 could be applied against the overdraft it would leave it $0,901.71, but as it can't be done it leaves it as above. I therefore respectfully recommend that under the circumstances that you rescind your former action making warrants receivable.

Respectfully,

J. L. MAY, Treasurer.

By way of explanation attention is called to the fact that after the bank failure there was not sufficient cash in the treasury to meet the interest on bonds. An overdraft was made on Wells, Fargo's bank for something like $12,000 and as fast as the money has flowed into the city coffers, the treasurer turned it over to the bank, so that the above figures represent the amount still due on the overdraft. The item of $5,000 was a deposit of the Salt Lake Brewing company for the construction of a sewer on Fifth South street.

The trouble commenced when the Council passed a resolution to receive warrants in payment of obligations. Of course, these made more warrants issued in then money. The idea seemed to be to prevent this it was contended that if warrants issued on the water rent, the attorney and assessor, the license commissioner, which had sold the law, of selling rights by not paying the money back promptly.

Councilman Dole explained how the Russian commission was to Bailey Dody when they were in Denver and in arrd the money. We in Kay passed the warrant resolution he stated simply and moved them at making it advisable to pay back the money in case of, you the speaker thought if that resolution was not rescinded Mr. Dodly might not be so willing to loan them again.

There was another feature of the transaction and that was that the commission had no right to obtain that loan in the back without authority from the Council and under the proviso and circumstances there was nothing to prevent any taxpayer from getting out an injunction prohibiting the city from paying that money back. Nothing was in events and the only thing to do was now to rescind the former resolution so that the bank might get the money.

Councilman Callister rose in favor of rescinding the resolution as the Mr. Bonney. The latter spoke at great length and very earnestly. He thought the other members to stand by the finance committee, rescind the resolution and see that Mr. Dodly gets his money before the matter wound become public property and result in an injunction against the treasurer.

Molloy and Dahl followed in the same strain.

O'Meara paid his respect to the city attorney's opinion and scorned the latter unmercifully. In the first place, he said, his language was an insult to the Council and he almost favored his resignation. He read from the charter conferring the powers upon the City Council and held that if upon the contrary the Council had fair power to manage the city's financial affairs. In a word he held the opinion that the attorney for giving the opinion to the gentlemen if he had been submitted to the Council. He favored rescinding the resolution.

Hooks thought it was only a question whether the Council would stand by the action of the finance committee in getting the money from Mr. Dodly. He contended that it was an urgent case. The money had to be sent away, and the latter any meeting of the Council could be held. The members could now endorse the commission's action.

After some further discussion the motion to rescind the resolution was passed by a non-mono vote. Lynch, Hayward and Shaw voted against.

When the matter had been disposed of O'Meara brought up the matter of appropriating something to help along the fire chiefs' convention, and made a motion that $1,000 be appropriated out of the Mayor's contingent fund. As all knew there was no money, but some bank would cash the warrant until there was money.

Councilman Dole seconded the motion and spoke in favor of making the appropriation, as did Dahl and Molloy. The latter called attention to the fact that the Council had taken official action inviting the chiefs to come. The private subscriptions were not successful and the money was needed to make a creditable showing.

Mr. Bonney opposed any appropriation. The convention, he said, would be a benefit to some of the merchants and hotels.

O'Meara explained that the Council had no authority to appropriate money for such purposes, but it could be done by using the Mayor draw the warrant on his contingent fund and the Council could afterwards replace the amount.

The discussion went on at great length and when the question on making the appropriation was called for the ayes were: Allen, Burkle, Dale, Dodd, Le Fisher, Morris, Molloy, O'Meara, Wormser and Newell.

Callister and Bonney voted against it.

IN OPEN SESSION.

Prior to the executive session the Council held an open session of about an hour at which the following business was transacted:

Miss Ellen Harley sent in a claim for $7,500 damages for injuries received by falling on the sidewalk at the corner of Second South and Third West streets some time last May. Accompanying the claim was a certificate signed by Doctors Anderson and Fisher that permanent insomnia was threatened as a result of the fall.

The board of education petitioned for sewer connection with the Franklin and Hammer schools.

The Utah Tanning company petitioned for the privilege of connecting with the sewer for the purpose of carrying the liquids from the tannery. Heretofore the liquid has been allowed to run down the ditches in that vicinity and that fact has been a source of much trouble to the health department.

Mayor Goodwin vetoed the appropriation of $910.42 to Contractor Wilkens, which was under at the session of the Council, for the reason that the contract provided that the payment amounting to $969.25 for sewer pipe should be deducted from the final estimate and not the second partial estimate as this was done the appropriation should have been $1,700.16 instead of $910. The veto was sustained.

A communication from the city engineer notified the council that Waterworks Superintendent Wilson had filed his bond of $5,000, with James Hagberg and Jno. E. Dooney as sureties.

Assistant City Attorney Hampshire submitted an opinion as to whether or not the county could rent quarters at the joint building without the consent of the city. The opinion was that either party, under the contract for the construction of the joint building, on rent of square of rooms in the building without the consent of the other parties thereto. But in spite of this fact, the attorney says the city is not entitled to half of the rent which the county now receives from tenants, as the original agreement between the city and county was to the effect that they should each occupy a portion of the building, but the county violated the contract by leasing rooms within the city's control.

The city attorney stated that an opinion took the city may some time counts.

J. J. Starbuck was granted a lease to the Deseret Works mills for a term of five years for $750.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

[illegible]

Shortly after 9 o'clock last evening, fire broke out in the oil mill of Mason & Co. on Fourth West between First South and South Temple streets. The blaze was a big one and illuminated the skies for miles around, causing hundreds of people to flock to the scene of the conflagration and creating no small amount of excitement.

The fire had apparently gained good headway before it was discovered and the frame structure was nearly totally destroyed when the department arrived. The cops, however, did good work while on the scene and prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings in the immediate vicinity.

The mill was at present owned by Langton, Nott & Co., and was used for the storage of disused lumber, window sashes, doors, etc., and the loss will aggregate about $2,000, on which there is an insurance of $1,000.
