DESERET EVENING NEWS.

5 O'clock -EDITION.-

TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 153. THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1893. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVI.

THE DAY'S RECORD.

An Unconfirmed Rumor About the Murder of Mormon Elders.

A NOTABLE WEDDING IN BERLIN.

Chicago News.—Briggs's Case in the Hands of the Committee.—A Family Feud.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 1.—For some time Etowah, Bibb and St. Clair counties have been the scene of an active Mormon proposition, conducted by Elders Dee F. Latimer, Nicholas W. Miller, A. M. Brother and Alonzo Brinkerhoff. They were to conduct a meeting near Pinchney, but were ordered to leave by the Indignant citizens. A recent convert, named Battles, offered the Elders anyone to his house. The mob went to the house and demanded that he surrender the Mormons. These escaped through the back door. The regulators followed and Battles was soon heard in a distance. The departing of the mob, apparently satisfied with its work, and the failure of the Elders to re-appear, is held as convincing evidence that they have been done away with.

Followed Henry Villard.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The retirement of Henry Villard from the presidency of the North American company has been followed by the resignation of Private Secretary Chas. A. Spoffer, as director. E. D. Barlow, a friend of C. W. Wetmore, the new president, takes the place of Spoffer. The successor to Villard as director is not yet named.

BARB PROSPECTS.

Hundreds of Men Thrown out of Employment.

KOKOMO, Ind., June 1.—The Diamond Plate Glass company, this city, employing 800 men, was closed indefinitely. The branch plant at Elwood has also closed, throwing 600 men out of work. An official of the company said: We have more than $600,000 worth of glass on hand and the market is utterly demoralized. The threatening financial situation has paralyzed new construction, and the menacing attitude of Congress on the tariff adds to the uncertainty. We will wait until the cloud of uncertainty drifts away. Five of the ten plate glass industries in this country have closed down and the other five are preparing to close at once.

SIDEWIN STRIKE.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., June 1.—The miners' strike went into effect this morning. The Brighton mine at Bartlett is the only one running. The miners will probably close it this afternoon. It will throw seven or eight hundred men out of work. It is a strike in sympathy with the one in southern Kansas.

WEDDED IN BERLIN.

Miss Mary Phelps to Dr. Von Rathenberg.

BERLIN, June 1.—The wedding of Mary Phelps, daughter of William Walter Phelps, New Jersey, to Dr. Von Rathenberg, secretary in the department of the interior, occurred this morning in the yellow room of the American legation. Only twenty-four guests were present, including Chancellor Caprivi and other notables in official and private life. A wedding breakfast followed and later the young couple attended an opera with friends. Many beautiful presents were sent the bride by political and social friends in America, including Whitelaw Reid, Joseph Pulitzer, ex-Speaker Reed, Mrs. Blaine and Mark Twain.

A STEAMER FOUNDERED.

PANAMA, June 1.—The steamer Zaragoza has foundered in a whirlpool off Mantequeros on the night of May 11th near Massaqua, Colombia. Five bodies were recovered. It is believed that the rest of the passengers and the crew sank with the steamer and went down the river.

SENSATIONAL ARREST.

A Relative of Queen Victoria Charged with Fraud.

VIENNA, June 1.—A sensation was caused in military circles at the court of Count Oliver Wallis, a staff officer, who claims to be a relative of Queen Victoria, on the charge of defrauding brother officers and embezzling the regimental funds.

IN A RAILWAY SALE.

What Was Bought for the Trifling Sum of $2.

MONTREAL, June 1.—Lee Stanton, the English painter, bought for $2 at a railway sale of unclaimed baggage a valise containing $107,000 worth of golden shoes of the Wheeler Gas Improving company, Chicago. The valise belonged to Louis Sallenstadt, of Naperville, Ills., who died at Brockville, Ont., in the fall of 1891, of the effects of drink. A large amount of money and jewelry which he is known to have had before his death is missing. They are believed to be robbed.

THE COMMITTEE.

Hitchcock and Ellison Nominated to Condemn Briggs.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—On concluding the Presbyterian general assembly the moderator announced the names of the committee to formulate the minutes expressing the sense of the assembly as to the vote taken upon the appeal from New York presbytery in the Briggs case. Rev. Thomas A. Hoyt, Philadelphia, was made the chairman. The other members are as follows:

Ministers—H. W. Congdon, Nebraska; W. W. Hardin, Nebraska; J. J. Lucas, Indiana; G. D. Baker, Pennsylvania; E. P. Windlan, Indiana; Thomas Dowling, Iowa.

Elders—John Hancock, Baltimore; Thomas Hidenguai, Ohio; David Jackson, California; E. T. Green, New Jersey; J. A. Corry, Kentucky; E. D. Bonbon, Pennsylvania.

The committee retired and the assembly at a quarter to four, running the legislative business as a morning.

The committee to fix Briggs's sentence is understood to have agreed to recommend suspension. It will be left out of the minutes of the afternoon session. It is said judge relaxed to make any compromise.

The assembly adopted the resolutions of the committee on overtures, affirming the deliverance of the assembly of 1892 on the inspiration of the scriptures. Dissents were then taken.

The committee on theological seminaries presented a report on Union seminary, of which Briggs is one of the faculty, disavowing all responsibility for its teachings and declining to express any further regards from it, until it is brought into harmony with the church.

MORMON SUPERSEDED.

The general assembly this afternoon adopted the report of the committee suspending Professor Briggs from the ministry of the Presbyterian church.

PLANKINTON BANK FAILS.

The Withdrawal of Large Deposits Was Cause of It.

Sensational Rumors Regarding the Transactions of F. A. Lappen with the Bank.

MILWAUKEE, June 1.—The Plankinton bank has failed.

The bank opened at the usual hour, but five minutes later William Plankinton, the vice-president, appeared and at once the following notice was posted and the doors closed: Owing to the failure of our efforts to reorganize the bank and the continual withdrawal of deposits we have thought it best for the interest of all depositors and stockholders to close the bank.

There was no rush nor run on the bank of late. Since the share two weeks ago, however, the large deposits who did not take part in the run at that time have been steadily withdrawing their accounts and transferring them to other banks. The suspension is largely due to the failure of F. A. Lappen & Co., and the Lappen Furniture company, two weeks ago, with liabilities that will probably amount to three quarters of a million. The Lappen firm, so far as claims are received, owe the Plankinton bank $375,000 in Lappen personal notes, which are considered practically worthless. How Lappen succeeded in placing the bank in the position it finds itself is a mystery. He received loan after loan at $10,000 each even after rumors came out that Lappen was not exactly sound. Many personal rumors are in circulation regarding the matter. The capital stock of the bank is $200,000.

The condition of the bank at the time of the closing cannot be learned. It is believed the showing will not be satisfactory. The opinion prevails that Plankinton will personally see all claims paid.

Late this afternoon the bank made an assignment. The court appointed Wm. Plankinton as assignee who immediately gave a million six hundred thousand dollar bond with Congressman John Vietsch, David Ferguson, Vice President Pabst, Henry Pabst and Marine Insurance Bank, and Charles Ray, president of the National Exchange Bank, as sureties.

OUT OF THE EARTH.

Another Mine Near Eureka Reported to be a Rich Find.

ITS OWNERS FEELING JUBILANT.

The Bullion-Beck Output Quite Large.—Business Men Tired of the Strike.

E. A. Harvey, a stockholder Bullion-Beck mine at Eureka, in company with several others, made a location of a mining claim about two weeks ago, and already feel that they are owners of one of the richest mines in Utah. Its situation is just below the Eureka, toward the Mammoth, in the dist. The owners state that great boulders, several tons in weight, are on top of the ledge. These are claimed to average $20 in gold and 50 ounces in silver. Some of the assays have shown $100 in gold to the ton. A number of samples have been brought to town and are now in the hands of the assayers. Harvey and his associates are greatly elated over their prospects of being owners of a property which they think will not be second to either the Bullion-Beck or Mammoth.

Bishop George Walton, who has had considerable experience in mining matters, has been down to Tintic for a few days. He says that reports that there is a slight difference among the miners at Eureka, showing that there is yet considerable feeling over the strike by the union miners. He states that the business men of the town are getting very tired of the way things are going. The action of "the rather," as they now term those who have organized the Eureka miners and disturbances, is thoroughly comprehended. Owing to the boycott which has been instituted by the union, none of the Bullion-Beck money is spent in the town, and the business men consequently feel the burden severely. Just how the matter can be settled does not seem clear to them at present, but a settled conviction is being arrived at that those who have instigated and participated in lawless acts and demonstrations against the mine operators and employes have pursued a very unfortunate course for the town.

Mr. Walton also has something to say of the Bullion-Beck output. He recalls when the mine was being run by the old crew in December, was shut down in January and February, and reopened with a new force in March, as the old employes refused to come in. He says that in April there was taken out of the mine eighteen hundred tons of ore that in the preceding December, with the old shifts hoisted at work. During May there was shipped from the mine 2000 tons of good ore, and the outlook now is almost double as good as it was in March.

SAN JUAN CONFERENCE.

BLUFF, Utah, May 30th, 1893.—The quarterly conference of the San Juan Stake of Zion was held at Moab on Saturday and Sunday, May 20th and 21st, 1893.

There were present at the opening of the conference President F. A. Hammond and counselor Wm. Halls of the Stake presidency, members of the High Council and Bishops of all the wards in the Stake except Burnham, N. M. Elder Brigham Young arrived from Salt Lake on Saturday evening in time to attend the Y. L. M. I. Association, and was with us through the remainder of the conference.

The usual business of hearing reports from the wards and sustaining the general and local authorities of the Church was attended to.

The Bishops reported the Saints of the various wards to be in a prosperous condition generally, the spirit of brotherly love and forgiveness being more prevalent now than at any previous time.

The speakers were Elders Young, Hammond, Halls, Jens Nielsen, R. H. Stewart, F. J. Jones and Lee Halls, J. B. Decker, John Allen, Moses Peterson and H. J. Nielsen, the last named acompanying missionary to the United States. The spirit of God was poured out upon the conference and the Saints were instructed in their duties and were especially exhorted to cultivate a spirit of love and to forgive each other their trespasses.

The Y. L. M. I. A. held their conference Saturday evening and the Primary Association on Monday forenoon, profitable programs being rendered and timely instructions given.

GERMAN NOBILITY.

Distinguished Foreigners who are Expected to Arrive in Salt Lake Soon.

Regarding the Count and Countess Pfister of Berlin, Germany, who are expected to arrive in Salt Lake within the next few days, the Denver News of May 31st says: They were yesterday guests of Dr. and Mrs. John Eisner. They came with letters of introduction from Senator and Mrs. Warren of Cheyenne, Wyo., whom they have just been visiting. The countess was a delegate to the women's congress, but they found the journey too fatiguing to permit a condition that they will spend a month in travel before attending more of it. They are on their way to Colorado Springs and the west. The Count of Pfister, who travels in very close indeed, but it is so tempered with modern ease that its antiquity is not at once perceptible.

The countess paints pictures, and exhibits frequently in the Paris salons under the name of Countess Boehm. She is member of her title as an artist that of her title as a countess, and is extremely interested in all the themes that are occupying the attention of her most progressive American sisters. The guests spent Sunday in active sightseeing with the best hosted hostess, visiting the principal points of interest and taking in the Tabor and Broadway in the evening. They leave for Manitou this morning.

A SPEAR FAMILY.

Frederick Spear died at East Corinth, Vt., in 1819. He had buried his first wife and married to his second Abigail, who was the widow of a man named Wordworth, and whose maiden name was Fox. She survived him, and she and her two daughters, Chester or Chelsea, and Katherine Spear, became Latter-by Saints. The daughters lived some time in Boston, where, in 1840, Chester married Daniel Cowan, Jr. Her left arm, however, on account of his intemperate habits, and the two sisters are said to have gone to Nauvoo, Ills. It is only that one of them married Edward L. Page, who had toured as a missionary in New England. It appears the widow Abigail and her two daughters, after the expulsion from Nauvoo, planned to come to Utah and stopped at Greenville, Ills., and sent with them from there a daughter of Cheney Spear, who was adopted by the widow Abigail, being the son of Frederick Spear by his first wife. It is also mentioned that Chester (Spear) Cowan took with her her three-year-old daughter. It is not clear that the family lived in Nauvoo proper, but it seems evident that they gathered with the people in Illinois, and that they went to Utah. In consideration of the widow Abigail, either of her daughters or Edward L. Page, is very much desired by a gentleman in the east who is compiling a genealogy of the family. Any person having any knowledge of either of the above named individuals will confer a favor by communicating with H. F. Cummings, Jr., Box 695, Salt Lake City, Utah.

WONDERLAND.

Today the Ideal Opera company will appear in the old favorite opera Mikado—presented in elaborate form, and with Bert Havens the popular tenor in the character of Nanki-poo and Miss Moore as Yum Yum.

With these favorites in the leading roles, supported by the excellent company and capable chorus, a fine production is assured.

The Cow Boy Convention has proved to be a drawing and interesting feature and will be continued for another week in the Curio Hall.

On Wednesday, June 7th, the ladies will be remembered by a souvenir, the management presenting to each lady attending a Japanese basket tray.

TODAY'S PROBATE.

Judge Blair made the following orders in the probate court this morning:

Estate of Peter O. Thomsen, deceased. Saturday, the 24th inst., set for hearing final account and petition for distribution. Hearing on citation dismissed.

Estate of O. D. Hovey, deceased. Hearing on citation continued till Saturday, June 24th.

Estate of Hyman Hyde, continued till June 14th.

ABOUT TO COME OUT.

The following convicts will emerge from Marshal Benton's castle during the present month, upon the expiration of their sentences:

June 1—Lee Glen, sent from the First district on March 15, 1892, eighteen months, for assault with intent to kill mortally barn.

June 4—H. H. Talbot, sent from the First district on March 4, 1891, three years for grand larceny.

June 11—Robert Swift, sent from the Fourth district on March 4, 1893, four months, for fornication.

June 13—H. S. Wright, sent from the Third district on January 5, 1893, six months, for unlawful cohabitation.

June 18—W. H. Walers, sent from the Fourth district on March 8, 1893, four months, for unlawful cohabitation.

June 19—Ed Kelley, sent from the First district on March 20, 1891, three years, for grand larceny.

WERE GLAD TO SETTLE UP.

Sanger & Lent, of Circus Notoriety, Act a Shabby Part with Their Helpers.

Between twenty and thirty unfortunate fellows who have been traveling around the Territory with or for Sanger & Lent's circus in various outcoffeeate capacities, were left in the lurch upon reaching Salt Lake, and last night sought the friendly aid of Sheriff McQueen in their financial straits. Their promised remuneration was at the rate of about $30 per head per month, and the work required of them was of the menial kind. But even when they had earned their miserable pittance they could not get it, and when the members of the well-nigh starved and semi-clothed crew waited upon the sheriff and poured their pitiful tale of deviltry and hard luck into his ear, that unauthority was filled with compassion. He at once suggested legal proceedings against the circus firm, attachment papers were drawn up and served by Mr. McQueen's deputies. The last the latter heard of the proprietors of the circus, they were in Ogden, and the sheriff and his deputies were of the opinion that they will spend a month in travel before attempting more of it. They are on their way to Colorado Springs and the west. The Board of Health of Ogden is very close indeed, but it is so tempered with modern ease that its antiquity is not at once perceptible.

JUDGE ZANE'S COURT

A Jury After Deliberating For Into the Night Cannot Agree.

ALLEGED FRAUDULENT PLANS

Matters on a Small Scale.—Court Notes on Various Matters.—The Parley's Canyon Conduit Case.

The glorious uncertainty which attends the deliberations of juries was again exemplified in the Third district court this morning. For two whole days three or four attorneys labored hard in the interests of their respective clients on the trial of the case of Tom Ferguson vs George Nicholson; a mass of testimony was taken, legal oratory reached a high flight, and when Chief Justice Zane had charged the jurors late yesterday afternoon he instructed them to bring in a sealed verdict. The twelve discussed the pros and cons until midnight, when it became evident that an agreement was out of the question, and when court opened today the foreman announced that they could not agree upon a verdict.

Judge Zane, having regard to so much wasted time, discharged them with some show of reluctance.

The facts of the case appeared in the NEWS of Monday. Plaintiff claimed that the defendant was indebted to him in the sum of about $600, alleged to have been paid out by Ferguson while acting as Nicholson's agent, but the agency was absolutely denied.

FRAUDULENT MISREPRESENTATIONS ALLEGED.

A jury was empaneled just prior to the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon to try the action brought by I. F. Dalton (for whom Attorneys S. H. Lewis & Gunter appeared) against A. M. Musser. The defendant was represented by Attorney Baldwin.

The hearing began this morning. On the side of the plaintiff it is claimed that Mr. Musser is indebted to him in the sum of $1500 on an assigned promissory note, executed June 5, 1891. Defendant admits the execution of the note, but alleges that it was secured from him by fraudulent representations. The note was given for the purchase of 2500 shares of stock in the Dalton Gold Milling and Mining company, but defendant avers that its worth was greatly exaggerated by plaintiff. Therefore he prays that the suit be dismissed and that the plaintiff be ordered to return to him sixty shares in the People's Equitable Company and two shares in the Central Hotel company, which are held as security for the payment of the note in question.

Both sides seem received upon making an energetic fight, and when the court adjourned at noon the prospects were that the case will consume the balance of the day, at least.

GENERAL.

In the matter of the estate of Mathew Condon, the suit was dismissed on motion of Judge Judd, for the respondents.

Martha Turner vs Wells, Fargo & Company, three other cases. The motion of the intervenor to retax costs was denied and an exception taken.

Lillian Trimmer vs Blackhurst Bros. Motion to dissolve injunction was set for hearing on Saturday, the 10th inst.

WILL BE A LONG AFFAIR.

Hebrew P. L. Williams took another turn at the Parley's Canyon conduit litigation this morning.

COURT NOTES.

For the last few days business in the courts has been abnormally quiet.

Tomorrow (that is if the civil list is concluded, and the last case is now on trial), Judge Zane will turn his attention to several criminal cases.

It is understood that Marshal Brigham will enter upon the duties of his office on or about July 1st. Until then, the present retiring marshal will hold to the reins.

Who is to be the next chief justice and who the next clerk of the Third district court are now among the questions heard round the Dooly building. There is lots of speculation.

There is a general hope expressed among habitues of the Dooly building that, at least, one faithful old servant will be retained on the new Marshal's staff when the present "shaking up" takes place. The individual in question answers to the name of Dan Swaim, who is an adept at the clerical work in which he has been so long engaged there.

A second-hand dealer of State street, named John F. Johnson, was to have a preliminary hearing in Commissioner Cummings's court this afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. K. I. Knudsen and wife were the people chiefly "disturbed," and they brought the complaint. When defendant was arrested last evening he entered into his own recognizance to appear today, after pleading not guilty.

Two young girls named Lizzie Gardner and Jennie Rogers, awaiting trial on a charge of fornication, have been released from the penitentiary, on the application of District Attorney Judd. It seems ladies representing the Women's Rescue Mission in this city have promised to take the girls into the home, the latter being anxious to enter there.

Runaway on West Temple.

There was a lively runaway on West Temple street about 10 o'clock this morning. The mishap consisted of a scrub horse and a road cart. The animal started near the postoffice and dashed southward at a high rate of speed and continued the run for nearly a block, when collided with a street car pole ended the runaway. The cart was badly wrecked and the harness broken in several places.
