The time for dividends may be which also one underlook chick, such follows in the wake of the silver month opening in the Grand Central today by month, the Grand Central today came forward with dividend No. 8 in the sum of $31,250, the directors making it payable on Wednesday, the 10th day of August, at which time the total will have reached the sum of $61,250. The company's books close on Monday, the 8th inst., before on that date perfecting the dividend, which is at the rate of 12% per annum.

Grand Central is just as good now, if not better, than it was, notwithstanding the fact that the stock has recently been on the crest of a four months' boom, on the reason for its late slump, one is led to the conclusion that the editorial interest in silver stocks has not yet materialized, and that the stock has yet to show that it can be a compressor book, running some 10 or 20 points, and then maintaining that is the work, and the property is perhaps as good as any to realize it, particularly of which is now going on. Of the mine it is said that the quality of the ore has undergone no change, and it is still as rich as ever, the work is not in such a condition as to permit shipping, the company is not in a position to say anything of a positive character, or to say anything of a positive character.
