THE CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

Cases to Take Place in the Third Division Court This Week.

The criminal calendar for the present term of the Third Division court is now published, and the settings are as follows: It is possible, however, that a change may be made in the dates for the hearing of some of the cases:

FEBRUARY 29.

The People vs. John Doe Fisher, grand larceny.
United States vs. D. H. Murray, forgery.
United States vs. Luther Dalrymple, polygamy.

MARCH 1.

United States vs. Tom Smarting, adultery.
United States vs. Thomas McBride, polygamy.
United States vs. Epenetus J. Nash, adultery.

MARCH 2.

The People vs. W. H. Barnes, grand larceny.
The People vs. Hugh Rennie, assault with intent to rape.
The People vs. G. C. Clements, embezzlement.

MARCH 3.

The People vs. F. F. Raymond, malicious injury.
The People vs. William Wilson, grand larceny.
The People vs. Albert Kemp, robbery.

MARCH 4.

The People vs. Stephen Dunbridge et al., grand larceny.
The People vs. William Hill, bigamy.
The People vs. C. H. Whitmarsh, larceny.

MARCH 7.

The People vs. E. D. Passmore, perjury (charged to his premises).
The People vs. David Kirkpatrick, robbery.
The People vs. F. P. Holland et al., robbery.
The People vs. Charles Thiele, selling liquor on Sunday.

MARCH 8.

The People vs. Charles Pooll, assault.
The People vs. Cherrie Murphy, grand larceny.
The People vs. J. J. Cushman, grand larceny.

MARCH 9.

United States vs. Thomas P. Page, polygamy.
United States vs. Thomas McCarty, polygamy.
The People vs. Robert Forrester, perjury.

MARCH 10.

The People vs. Rio Grande Western Railway Co., maintaining a nuisance.
The People vs. Wm. Sweeney and Wm. Wood, maintaining a nuisance.
The People vs. George Parrish, keeping goods for sale having contraband trade mark.

MARCH 11.

The People vs. Geo. Johnson and S. W. Driggs, jr., larceny.
The People vs. Joseph Demaline, selling a deadly weapon.

MARCH 14.

The People vs. W. W. Wolf, rape.
The People vs. W. L. Chipman, assault with a deadly weapon.
The People vs. W. L. Chipman, assault with intent to murder.

MARCH 15.

The People vs. Alonzo McMillan, embezzlement.
The People vs. W. J. Hickey, assault to murder.
The People vs. John Ferguson, burglary.

MARCH 16.

The People vs. William Daggett, assault with intent to commit a felony.
The People vs. William Daggett, abortion.
The People vs. George McCann, embezzlement.
The People vs. Alonzo Helms and Annie Helms, larceny.

MARCH 17.

The People vs. Timothy Hobart, assault.
The People vs. Frank Wolf, robbery, three cases.

MARCH 18.

The People vs. Phillip Farley, robbery.
The People vs. A. Hilton and W. T. Stephens, maintaining public nuisance.
The People vs. Charles Hynds, gambling.

MARCH 21.

The People vs. Harvey Hynds et al., gaming.
The People vs. Henry Wagner, selling liquor on Sunday.
The People vs. William Schmidt, misdemeanor.

MARCH 22.

The People vs. Emma Whitney, keeping a house of ill-fame.
The People vs. Joseph Richards, gaming.
The People vs. James Dixon.

UTAH LEGISLATURE.

COUNCIL.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

H. F. No. 60 (relating), "An act to amend section 2116, Compiled Laws of 1888," failed to third reading.

C. F. No. 45, referring to the right-of-way of canals through premises.

It was discussed at some length, but was down to conflict with the constitution of the United States. It was finally, on motion of Peters, referred to the committee on judiciary, for its action in making such changes as will be needful to place the bill in conformity with the constitution.

C. F. No. 55, amending section 3047, Compiled Laws.

A communication was received from the House forwarding C. F. No. 15, a bill to provide for the lease of the Deseret University, and H. F. No. 19, for the protection of discharged soldiers, both of which had passed that body. Council concurred in the amendments and bills passed as amended.

C. F. 57, "A bill for an act regulating the use of attorneys, clerks of district courts, commissioners and justices of the peace," came up on its second reading. An amendment was made by Peters which made the fees of a justice $2 per day except where there were more than two cases, and then for each case $2.50. On motion of the commissioners the bill was lost, as Bailey had voted in the negative and Peters was in consequence only able to vote affirmatively, thereby defeating the problem. As a majority of the whole house is required to secure the passage of an act, the bill was not passed.

Adjourned at 5 p.m. until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

REAL LIFE IN DIXIE.

VIRGINIANS ARE NOT SURPASSED AS PEERLESS RIDERS.

Where the Dashing Cavalry Leaders of the Civil War Received Their Wonderful Skill as Horsemen—Reminiscences—Why Southern Women Are Graceful.

The bold and daring horsemanship displayed by the Lees and Jackson, Stuarts and Mosby and others who were the leading spirits of the Confederacy speaks stirring volumes. The Civil war, called the wonder and admiration of the world, has shown to everybody the fact that the Virginians are by nature the best equipped and finest riders on American soil.

Turner Ashby, the flower of the Virginia troopers, who was cut off in the prime of manhood, was perhaps the finest type of courage and manly grace in that branch of the Confederate service, and his name today is a synonym for chivalry to the south. As a people the Virginians have inherited an aptitude for the saddle, and it is a common thing to see a group of physical culture men so easy and so at home in their as their own charming ancestors inherited hospitality. The youth of the Old Dominion who can sit a saddle in a fine chase, cross a fine horse in a tournament and take a fine fall hard is a couple rare enough to the respect of the fellows and fetch a prize from upon the court of the fairest girl in his neighborhood.

Nowhere in the south today can be seen more spontaneous exuberance of the horse than by young men and young women of the Virginia hills, and some of the finest specimens of the Virginia hills are to be found in the mountains of a little town called Warrenton, in Fauquier, Va., situated among the foothills of the Blue Ridge range of mountains in the midst of a beautiful pastoral region, which is thickly dotted with the homes and largely inhabited by the F. F. V.'s of the old regime and their descendants, who have descended from the historic and social distinctions accompanied by the best of their ancestors, and are possessed of those delightful manners and customs which formerly prevailed among them and rendered southern life so unique and enjoyable.

A Gay and Festive Exercise.

Here it was that Ashby and Mosby were reared and had their home, and the town made the occasion country of bell and dale of Afton and vicinity. The scenes of those days dwelt upon by the veterans of those days are those of a gay and festive exercise, which the young people of Virginia.

The railroad at Manassas and Bull Run were fought only twenty miles away, where the gallant boy soldier, Quincy Morris, met his end at Gen. Hooker's splendid assault, which was repulsed by the F. F. V.'s of the old regime and their descendants, who were recruited