

held at the Grand on Thursday of this week. It was a case where everybody apparently wanted to go and It was a case where there was plenty of opposition. There were printed ballets, written ballots, white ballots and colored ballots; ballots called good and ballots called bad. There were accusations of packing the primaries and charges and countercharges so numerous that particularization would be tedous. The names of those who were chosen as delegates will be found in another part of this paper. What the managers of the three mayoralty candidates said today is found below:

NOT ON FIRST BALLOT.

F. C. Loofbourow-Our plans carried out well, Mr. Knox will be the strong-est man in the convention, which is manamount to saying that he will be pominated. No, it will not be a first ballot fight. That is all I have to say.

LOOKS GOOD TO WENGER.

D. H. Wenger-The outlook is very encouraging, indeed. At the close of the primaries last night we counted on a sum tatal of 267 votes. Since then we learn total of 26 votes. Since then we learn that another delegation is ours, giving us 12 more and making our strength in the convention 279 vot-With such a showing and unless of relculations go amiss, we expect i beninate Mr. W. F. James on the first ballot.

ON THE SECOND BALLOT.

Elmer B. Jones-We will go into the convention with 215 votes for Mr. Odell and on the second hallot we expect to see him nominated. We have thor-oughly envased the situation and cel that the outlook is most encourag-

He has discovered that there are in Salt Lake certain Knights of the Road who are per-fectly willing to "show" any of their victims who say, "show me." Mr. Hughes' experience happened Saturday night, but was not made public until last night. He was on his way home on Ninth East street when he was on Ninth East street when he was suddenly confronted by a couple of tough looking individuals, armed with guns, and was greeted with the order der: "Throw up your hands." Hughes thought it was a good joke. "You will have to show me," he said. Then he was "shown," but in a way that he least expected. Railroads Decide on Less Than One Fare To Next Year's Exposition.

On the 1st day of October there was held a meeting of the general passen-ger agents at St. Louis, of the Missouri river-Colorado roads, the Rio Grande, Colorado and Southern and the Mid-land, who met with the representatives of the roads running into Colorado and discussed the rates to be advertised for the coming St. Louis Exposition. Maj. S. K. Hooper, general passenger agent of the Rio Grande headed a committee which agreed upon a schedule which will probably be adopted. It provides for low rates, less than one fare, from St. Louis to all Colorado common points. Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, the Colorado roads making low rates from all points in that state to Utah points. The roads interested in these rates will erect a house in the fair grounds at St. Louis for ad on the fair grounds at St. Louis for ad-vertising the two states and the excur-sions, all individual advertising being done just the same. COAL LANDS CASES.

That of O'Donnell vs Nielson Was On for Hearing Yesterday.

Another one of the series of coal land cases was heard before Reg-ister Hobbs and Receiver Smith of the land office yesterday. The case is entitled O'Donnell vs Nilson and in-volves 160 acres of land adjacent to that in controversy in the case of Dair vs Davis which occupied the attention of the land office officials all last week. As in that case, so in this, Frank Beane appears as the attorney for the protest and Bird & Braffett for the defendant. The hearing lasted nearly all day. Edward J. O'Donnell was placed upon the witness stand and in reply to Mr. Beane stated that he resided in Salt Lake and was an undertaker and had filed the application for the land in question. He said he went down there, looked the ground over and picked up some coal, came back, went to the land office and filed his claim. the street intersection on his bicycli unmindful of the approaching car. A As the car swung around the curve, the upper part of the car fender, or mask as it is called, struck Mr. Bloomfield's blke, knocking him onto the track. The bicycle went under the car and was smashed, but the drop part of the fender, picked the rider up and carried him along safely until the car was stopped. He was removed from his uncomfortable position, suffering noth-ing severer than bruises sustained by being knocked over on to the stone pavement. Mr. Bloomfield continued to his place of business, but had to return home for treatment.

Bonnie Young Scot Who Bumped Up Against Two Bunco Steerers.

A young Scotch tourist stopping at the Kenyon, was stopped on State street yesterday afternoon, by a bunco steerer who pretended to be a stranger and wanted some information. He then expressed a desire to attend an afternoon entertainment, but sadly remarked his ack of the necessary to buy tickets. However, he had friends in a room near by who he rather guessed had some spare cash, and invited the tourist to accompany him. The young Scotchman was persuaded, and went. By the merest chance, of course, two young mer were there toying with the cards, and and the other two were cordially invited to "take a friendly hand." The young Scotchman was persuaded again, and the first thing he knew he was a loser by some three guineas. Then his eyes began to open, and he quickly found an opportunity to pull out, and get away. He thinks he can find a way to make the gamblers return him his good Scotch gold.
