SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

INSTANTLY RELIEVES.

6,000 FEET ABOVE THE SEA.

The following testimonials are from Messrs. J. G. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col., large and influential druggists. They report unprecedentedly large sales and universal satisfaction. No other disease is so alarmingly prevalent in that region. They speak of the following gentlemen as among their best citizens:

SORELY AFFLICTED.

J. G. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col.: Gentlemen,—Prompted by a fellow-feeling for those afflicted with Catarrh, I wish to add my testimony in behalf of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been sorely afflicted with this fearful disease for four years, and have tried every known remedy without avail, until I bought a bottle of the above CURE from you, which gave me almost instant relief. It being a comprehensive and as well an efficient remedy, I believe it to be all that is claimed for it, a Radical Cure for Catarrh.

Very truly yours, WM. AMETIVE,
Denver, Sept. 25, 1876. with Jepson, Bliss & Co.

GREATLY AFFLICTED.

Messrs. J. G. Bosworth & Co., Denver: Gentlemen,—I take pleasure in recommending SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH to all who are afflicted with this disease. I was greatly afflicted with it for a long time, and tried it with the benefits of the above CURE. About a year afterwards I was again taken with Catarrh quite severely, and immediately sent for another bottle, which fixed me all right, giving me relief from the first dose. I am confident that this remedy will do all that is claimed for it, and upon my own and others' proven success in its introduction, I am very truly yours,

A. W. SMITH, of Smith & Bolt.
Denver, Oct. 4, 1877.

TRIED EVERYTHING.

Messrs. J. G. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col.: Gentlemen,—I have used SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, and it has given perfect satisfaction. I have tried almost everything, and it is the only thing that has given me relief, therefore take pleasure in recommending its use to all afflicted with Catarrh of any kind, and offer this as my testimony to its benefit.

Very truly, W. S. DECKER
Denver, Oct. 1, 1877.

REV. J. H. WIGGIN SAYS:

One of the best remedies for Catarrh, say the best remedy we have found in a lifetime of suffering, is SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. It is not unpleasant to take through the nostrils, and there comes with each bottle a small glass tube for use in inhalation. It clears the head and throat so thoroughly that, taken each morning on rising, there are no unpleasant secretions and no disagreeable hacking during the entire day, but an unprecedented clearness of voice and respiratory organs.—Rev. J. H. Wiggin, in Dorchester Union, Boston.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Correspondence.

Something about French Newspapers—In what respects they are Inferior—The Yell of the Newsboy Silent in Paris—A very Small Number of Children—Decreasing Population, Cause and Effect.

PARIS, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

A few days since I bought an illustrated French journal, and before I had half done reading it my hands were black from the imperfect, filthy ink with which it was printed. In quality of paper and typography the French papers are far inferior to ours. Certainly not in Paris, and it may be presumed, not in France, is there a newspaper that, in material and mechanism, will compare with hundreds that are printed in the cities and towns of the United States. The same inferiority may be seen in the French circulars and business cards, which look like those uncanny, dirty little scraps that some tradesman, with a false theory of economy, print for themselves with rubber stamps.

The number of newspapers published in Paris is very large, but few of them are of much use or interest to the stranger. All the numerous parties, shades of parties, and cliques, have, as with us, their special organ. The Legitimists have the Union, the Orleanists the Soleil, the Catholics the Univers. The Bonapartists daily burn incense to the Empire in three journals. L'Ordre, which is the organ of the ex-prime minister, M. Rouher; the Pays, edited by the duellist M. Paul de Cassagnac; and the Gaulois, a paper largely devoted to dramatic and Parisian news. Republican and radical organs are too numerous to mention. Perhaps the best paper in France, both in style, matter and management, is Le Temps, which has on its staff some of the most distinguished scholars and literateurs of modern times. M. Sarcy is its dramatic critic, and his articles, which are published each Monday, are the dicta from which there is no appeal. The political writers of the Le Temps contend with those of the Journal des Debats in their influence upon European affairs. During the recent war the articles of the latter were telegraphed and discussed in every European capital, and if any decision shall be arrived at by the present congress at Berlin, it will no doubt be influenced and shaped by those writers, who wield a weapon more powerful than the sword, for the columns of the Debats. The organ of M. Gambetta is the Republique Francaise, but there are many other journals of pretty much the same shade. The radical organs are the Bien Public, the Rappel, the Marseilaise, and a number of other journals that soon succumb to the censorship of the government, through the fines imposed for seditious language. The paper that is read most by the stranger who comes to Paris to see life, to enjoy himself, and who wants to know what is going on in society, whether high or half toned, who is interested in literary novelties, and in the sayings and doings of the world that lives in the cafes, is undoubtedly the Figaro.

I have mentioned above only a few of the leading papers that are to be found at the Kiosks. Papers here are usually sold in little news stands that look like sentry boxes. The yell of the newsboy is seldom heard except about the gates of the Exposition, when the jaded visitor comes out in the afternoon; and then the newsboy here is a man or woman, not a boy as on our side the Atlantic. Boys appear to be very scarce in France. The gamin so graphically described by Victor Hugo no longer swarms in the foubourgs. Statistics tell us that the population of France is decreasing, and the scarcity of young children in this country is so marked that Americans seldom omit to speak of it with surprise. Few families have more than two children, which is perhaps double the usual number, and many families have no children. I have met but one family in France who had as many as five. As the father mentioned the number he evidently expected me to be overwhelmed with surprise, and as it seemed to me that he had done comparatively well I did not wound his vanity by telling him that twice that number was not uncommon for the teaming shores of the new world. The effect of this condition of things on the future military strength of France, it is not difficult to foretell. The populations of other European powers are slowly but steadily increasing; and although France loses less than any from the drain of emigration, she is certainly falling off in population. Silent unavertable causes are at work to this end. A European military necessity, which the traditional warlike attitude of France has chiefly produced, is inimical to those fecund energies that are prolific only in an atmosphere of peace. The re-action has with a stern retribution been first felt by this nation, the chief offender.

Frenchmen are patriotic in their vain way. They are ambitious to maintain and transmit their heritage of military glory unimpaired to the future. They would be proud to add new trophies to their columns of Vendome, and arches of Triumph. They are courageous in war and not afraid of blood-letting; but in antagonism with their narrow patriotism, and public courage, is their personal selfishness and prudence. The way they avert the orphan and widow dilemma, involved in war, is by avoidance of marriage. In the conceit of the individual Frenchman this is shrewd and provident; but from a national point of view it is fatally short-sighted. It is that false economy that we illustrate in America, by the nauseous metaphor of the spigot and bung.

French statesmen prate about eras of peace, and next week a grand fete of international amenity is to be given; but the grim warlike wrinkles of centuries cannot be effaced by festivals and rhetoric. "This people worship me with their lips but their heart is far from me." In spite of epigrams like "The Republic is peace." In spite of the Exposition and fetes like the one proposed, France has no policy but to maintain her place in the armed camp, that insane thirst for gloire has made of Europe.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

Thousands visit the Mineral Springs, here and abroad, and spend thousands of dollars in search of health, when a few doses of would accomplish the same results, at the cost of a few cents. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and more, and with invariable good results. It does its work quickly, yet thoroughly, and leaves no bad effects.
