SAVE YOUR HAIR TO LEARN HOW TO DO IT READ AND HEED WHAT FOLLOWS.

SAVE YOUR HAIR.—The use of Health Lyon's Kathairon will prevent baldness and restore it. The matter is of great importance to every man.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR.—It is the crowning crown of glory, and for the loss of it there is no compensation.

CULTIVATE YOUR HAIR.—For by the use of Lyon's Kathairon it can be saved and beautified.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

Discovered thirty-five years ago by Prof. Lyon, of Yale, is the most perfect preparation in the world for preserving and beautifying the hair.

Besides being the best hair dressing ever produced, Lyon's Kathairon will positively prevent grayness, and will restore new hair to bald heads, if the roots and follicles are not destroyed.

It actually performs these seeming miracles, which the following is

A FAIR SPECIMEN

I had been entirely bald for several years, constitutional, I suppose. I used a few bottles of Kathairon, and, being greatly benefited, I have a luxuriant growth of young hair.

REV. JOHN L. DORHANCH, U. S. A.

In every important respect the Kathairon is absolutely incomparable. It is unequaled.

1. To Cure Baldness.
2. To Restore Gray Hair.
3. To Remove Dandruff.
4. To Dress and Beautify the Hair.

BEAR IN MIND.—The Kathairon is no sticky paste of sulphur and sugar-of-lead, to plaster and dark the hair and paralyze the brain. It is a pure and limpid vegetable lotion, intended to restore the hair by natural growth and nutrigestation. It is splendidly perfumed, and is the most delightful toilet dressing known. No lady's or gentleman's toilet outfit is complete without Lyon's Kathairon.

Last Night's Dispatches.

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 13.—The bills introduced and referred included the following:

By Plumb, to provide for a temporary increase of the army in an emergency.

By Conkling, by request, to amend the laws relating to pensions. This bill concerns fees of attorneys. It is claimed that the present regulations prevent those entitled to pensions securing the services of respectable attorneys.

Morrill, from the committee on finance, reported favorably on the Senate bill to authorize duplicates of registered bonds stolen from the Manhattan Savings Institution, New York City. Passed.

Gordon introduced a bill to secure a more efficient collection of revenue from cigars. Referred.

At the expiration of the morning hour, consideration was resumed of the bill to count the electoral vote, and Bayard spoke in its favor.

Bayard said that there was urgent need now to settle this question, and he held that the present time was especially propitious, because the two houses of Congress were controlled by different political parties, and a measure which would receive the assent of both houses, would be such as the one on this subject should be—a non-partisan measure. This nation needed rest and peace, and not further agitation.

He argued that the bill vested no new power in the two houses of Congress. The bill met his favor because it reaffirmed, in clear and explicit terms, the power of the State over this subject of appointing electors. It wiped out all pretext of Federal supervision over the selection of electors and confined everything to the State itself. The State had sole power to execute that act and the voice of the State should be conclusive. He then referred to the duplicate returns from States, and said: We have had an unhappy past and bitter experience in regard to duplicate returns. Nothing of the kind was known until 1872, and previous to that time there had been a spirit honestly which would stamp with infamy the effort of any minority attempting to overturn the will of the majority in a State. Those who committed or permitted the commission of fraud, would sooner or later perish by fraud. This bill ought to be in the political interests of all parties.

Eaton opposed the bill.

Merriman believed the passage of this bill would be satisfactory to the people. He believed it to be his high patriotic duty to vote for it without regard to party consideration.

Garland opposed the bill upon constitutional grounds.

Hill said the troubles which arose during the presidential count of 1877 were not because we had no law, but because there was a disposition to disobey the law. Congress could not settle this matter of counting the electoral vote and would finally have to appeal to the people, but unfortunately the people were almost as badly party-ridden as their leaders. Another objection which he had to the bill was that it allowed 90 days between the election of electors and the time for them to vote for president and vice-president. That would give rise to more peril than all that now existed. A party spirit not unfrequently dominated all parties in this country to an alarming extent, and he was afraid to allow 90 days for partisans to change the results of the elections.

Thurman said he would not discuss the bill at this late hour, but would content himself by voting against it, and he hoped the vote would be taken soon.

After some further discussion between Hoar, Cockrell and Edmunds, the bill was read the third time and passed—yeas, 35, nays, 26.

Beck called up the House bill to repeal so much of the sundry civil service appropriation bill for the present fiscal year as appropriates to P. Byrkett $32,500, to state Indian agent at the Ponca agency, and moved that it be referred to the committee on appropriations. Beck explained his connection with the bill at the last session, and said he introduced it at the request of a respectable attorney. He examined the bill then as far as he could, at the request of the committee on appropriations, and believed it to be right of the committee on appropriations or himself had been imposed upon. He would cheerfully vote for the bill of the House to repeal the act. The bill was referred to the committee on appropriations.

Blaine moved to take up the resolution submitted by him the first day of this session in regard to citizens being deprived of their constitutional rights, so that it would be unfinished business on Monday.

Wadleigh objected, and said the Senate bill to revise, consolidate and amend the statutes relating to patents had precedence.

Blaine said if his resolution was to pass it was important that it be passed before the holidays.

Wadleigh said the resolution would lead to discussion, while the patent bill would not.

Blaine said that Wadleigh did not know the resolution would provoke a discussion.

Wadleigh moved to adjourn.

Blaine, Edmunds, and others on the republican side raised an objection and called for the yeas and nays. The motion to adjourn was agreed to—yeas 34, nays 23.

Booth, Davis of Illinois, Ingalls and Wadleigh voted with the democrats in the affirmative. Adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.

A resolution looking to an investigation into the official conduct of J. I. Davenport, United States supervisor of elections at New York was adopted, without objection, after being amended so as to make the investigation extend to his conduct.

Shelly, from the committee on railways and canals, reported a bill to authorize the Washington, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad Company to construct a narrow gauge railroad from Tidewater to St. Louis and Chicago. Recommitted.

Kenna, rising to a personal explanation, referred to the sweeping charges made in the public press against the members of the committee on the enrolment of bills, for drunkenness at the close of the last session. He denounced such charges as unqualifiedly false and filed a statement of the speaker and other officers of the House in support of his remarks.

The bills on the Speaker's table since the last session were taken up and referred to committees, except those where objections were made, as was the case with the bill to repeal the resumption act and the bill to extend the time for constructing the Northern Pacific Railway. These bills remain on the Speaker's table.

The Speaker then proceeded to call the committees for private reports.

Davis, of North Carolina, from the committee on claims, reported the bill originally introduced by Phillips, of Kansas, amending and making an appropriation for the service of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879. Passed. It includes in the settlements provided for in that bill all accounts for the service of laborers, etc., employed by the government between the 10th of May, 1869, and the date when full payment was commenced for eight hours work, by the act approved May, 1868, when it shall be made to appear that a reduction in the hours of labor was the cause of a reduction in wages.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the private calendar.

The first bill on the calendar was the bill for reimbursing the college of William and Mary, for property destroyed during the late war.

Keifer opposed the passage of the bill, saying that he did so without any desire or intent of keeping alive the ill-will engendered by the late war, though the fact should not be lost sight of that the college was destroyed by the war, brought on in part by its own teachings, and that no record showed that a single student of that institution had entered the Union army. He opposed it because there was no legal ground for the payment of the claim, and he denied that there was any precedent for such payment.

Eden would not vote for the bill because it might establish a precedent.

The committee then rose without action on the bill.

Wilson, of West Virginia, introduced a bill making the trade dollar a legal tender. Referred.

Gibson introduced a joint resolution giving notice to terminate the convention of June, 1875, with the King of the Hawaiian Islands. Referred. Adjourned.

EASTERN.

Democrats Not Satisfied.

CHICAGO, 13.—The Journal's Washington special says: The democratic senators are not satisfied with the result of the debate in the Senate on Wednesday over Blaine's resolution, and purpose to discuss it very full when called up for action next week, and endeavor to put the republicans on the defensive. Senator Butler of South Carolina proposes to have something to say about the recent election in his State and to defend the democratic party from the charge of a violation of the laws and preventing negroes from voting. The republican leaders will welcome a full debate and believe a general discussion will injure their opponents.

The Temporary Army Increase.

The bill introduced by Senator Plumb, to provide for a temporary increase of the army in an emergency authorizes the President, whenever in his judgment exigencies of the frontier service requires it, to cause 2,500 enlisted men to be added to the army, to serve during such exigency.

Sentenced to Death.

INDIANAPOLIS, 13.—The trial of Wm. Merrick for the murder of his wife, commenced on Monday, the 2nd inst., was concluded this evening. The jury, after being out 30 minutes, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. Sentence of death.

Wool Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, 13.—Wool is quiet and steady, stock light. Colorado washed, 16 @ 22; unwashed 12 @ 15; extra and merino pulled, 33 @ 35; No. 1 and super pulled, 30 @ 32; Texas fine and medium, 18 @ 24, coarse, 13 @ 15.

Frightful Accident.

PITTSBURG, 13.—A horrible accident occurred at the American iron works this morning, by which Patrick Shannon, assistant millwright was instantly killed and his body torn to pieces. Shannon had gone upon the platform to examine a line of shafting, when his clothing was caught by a pulley and his body drawn on to a shaft, which was making 240 revolutions to the minute. Before the machinery could be stopped, his body was torn to pieces and scattered over the mill. Portions of the remains were thrown 300 feet.

WESTERN.

Disastrous Gale.

SAN FRANCISCO, 13.—A heavy gale from the north has prevailed several days. Some minor damage to shipping at wharves are reported. A sail boat containing three Italian fishermen was swamped last night, and two of them drowned.

Arrest of a Counterfeiter.

United States Detective Henry Finnegan has arrested John H. McDonald for counterfeiting half dollars. The implements were found in his possession.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

House of Commons—Debate on the Afghan War.

LONDON, 13.—In the House of Commons, to-night, Percy opened the debate of the Afghan war on the part of the government.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt followed accusing the government of forcing a quarrel on the Ameer. He declared that the acquisition of the "scientific frontier" would make Afghanistan another Bulgaria, and the continuance of such a policy would cause Russian influence to overshadow the earth.

Sir John Hacker replied, and the debate was continued by Captain Cochrane, Mr. Gorst and Randal Plunkett, in behalf of the government.

Thomas Burt, radical, spoke, and was particularly vehement in his opposition to the war on account of the distress which prevailed in England.

A notable feature of the debate was the delivery of speeches by Mr. Newlegate and General Sir Alexander Gordon, both conservatives, denouncing the government's policy. Sir Alexander declared that Lord Beaconsfield was responsible for that policy. During his speech he crossed to the opposition benches to avoid interruption from the conservative members. He was repeatedly cheered by the opposition.

The Marquis of Hartington closed the debate. He said the very worst policy which was possible was that of a partial or complete military occupation, which he was afraid the government was determined to carry out. An overwhelming occurrence of military opinion was opposed thereto. As for the argument that something was necessary to check the Russian advance, he believed that in consequence of the consolidation of British power, the possibility of an invasion was discussed yearly. No permanent occupation of any portion of Afghanistan against the wishes of the inhabitants ought to be sanctioned. It would only facilitate Russian intrigue, which would be the best encountered by wise administration, or if external means were necessary, by a direct explanation with the Russia. He thought, above all, that Lord Lytton should be recalled, as the incarnation of all that the Indian policy ought not to be (loud cheers by the opposition); but to effect this we must also get rid of a government of whose nominally spirited, but really abject foreign policy, he believed, the country was nearly tired. He said, in conclusion: Whatever difference of opinion there may be as to the justice of the war, there is no difference on the subject of supporting the gallant troops engaged in it by every means in our power.

Whitbread's motion censuring the government for its Afghan policy was rejected by a vote of 328 to 227. The conservatives had anticipated a majority of 120.

A CONQUEROR OF CONSUMPTION!

HALL'S BALSAM

FOR THE LUNGS,

ERADICATES

Coughs, Colds, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Diseases of the Breathing Organs.

HALL'S BALSAM

Is the LEADING SPECIFIC for CONSUMPTION.

It soothes and heals the membrane of the lungs, inflamed and poisoned by the disease, and remedies the night sweats and tight sensations across the chest which accompany it.

CONSUMPTION

Is not an incurable malady. It is only necessary to have the right remedy, and HALL'S BALSAM is that remedy.

DON'T DESPAIR OF RELIEF, for this benign specific may cure you, even though professional aid fails.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

Dr. D. D. Wright, of Cincinnati, sends us the subjoined professional indorsement: "I have prescribed Hall's Balsam in a large number of cases and always with success." He adds that "in one case a patient with every appearance of confirmed consumption was restored to his usual health soon after commencing to take the Balsam."

John Kuhn, of Lafayette, Ind., writes: "One year ago I was to all appearance in the last stages of consumption and got so low our doctor said I could not live twenty-four hours." Mr. Kuhn further states that after taking nine bottles of HALL'S BALSAM he is now in perfect health, having used no other medicine."

The above brief extracts are taken from a

MASS OF EVIDENCE

which has been accumulating during a period of TWENTY-NINE YEARS, proving an efficacy of HALL'S BALSAM in all cases where the breathing organs are affected, and showing the estimation in which the remedy is held by the public and medical profession. Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1.00 per bottle.
