AN OASIS IN THE DESERT.

How the Good People of Hinckley are Prospering.

HINCKLEY, Millard Co., Utah, April 3rd, 1896.

To the Editor:

It is seldom that I find anything in the NEWS in regard to the Hinckley Ward. It is located on the desert, close to the sink of the Sevier river about five miles from the railway station at Oasis; and notwithstanding the many difficulties the people have had to encounter, they are in a fair way to prosperity temporally as well as spiritually; for we have a good people here, the majority of whom moved from our Dixie country in the south within the last three to eight years and are scattered over the desert about four miles east and west by about eight miles north and south, including a branch known as Abraham, so named I believe by President Wilford Woodruff. The people, few in number, have had many difficulties to overcome in their settlement of the same, but they have succeeded in building a neat substantial district schoolhouse, which is thirty feet inside measurement, under the management of their school trustees, Niels Sorensen, David Orton and Wm. H. Van Nay, assisted by their president, O. M. Fulmer, and all interested; and on Sunday, March 22nd, a ward meeting was held there under the direction of our worthy Bishop, Wm. H. Pratt, and the house was dedicated for the purpose for which it was built, by Patriarch John Anderson of Fillmore, and Bro. W. Reeve, who has been very laboring among the people about three weeks. Their labors will surely result in good if the people listen to the counsels given them; good harmonious words were given by the speakers, Elders Neils Sorgeson, Thomas Davis, Patriarch John Anderson, Bishop Wm. H. Pratt and Elder O. M. Fulmer, and it was a time of rejoicing long to be remembered.

There is plenty of room for more settlers in this part of the vineyard, but it will require hard work for a time, but good comfortable homes can be made here and plenty will reward the efforts of those who will persevere, for the Lord is surely blessing the desert lands that they are producing an abundance of the necessaries of life to those who faithfully labor for it. We have as good drinking water as can be found on earth from artesian wells from an average depth of 135 feet.

Your Brother in the Gospel,

The Lady Author.

In The Publishers' Weekly is told a story of a "lady author," who, in returning galley proofs of her book, remarked to the publisher that it was all right, but she didn't like "the page quite so long," nor did she word "the book printed on one side of the page only."

"Newspapedom" caps this with a story of a bookseller who, on receipt of a copy of an aunt book, wrote the following to the publisher: "I have received the books you sent. One of them is not bound properly. Two of the pages (title and bottom) are left rough and uncut, while the other edge of the leaves (top) is cut and gilded. Shall I take it at half price or return it?"

The Saltiest of the Salt Seas.

Some idea of the saltness of the waters of the Dead sea may be gained from the comparison made below. The Dead sea is situated in Palestine, 26 miles east of Jerusalem. It is 50 miles long and from 10 to 15 miles wide, with an average depth of 30 fathoms (120 feet). Common ocean water contains but 30 parts of salt to the 1,000; those of the Dead sea contain 250 parts to the 1,000, which makes the briny solution exactly one-fourth salt.—St. Louis Republic.

Quite Likely.

"Tennyson says his last word is bound to make people talk."

"I guess so. I fancy they would rather talk than read it."—Indianapolis Journal.
