Supposed Horrible Double Murder in An Arizona Mining District.

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Jailings from Park City.—A Narrow Escape from Death.—Claim for $200,000.

The ladies of the Heneifer Relief society got up a social party the other night for the purpose of raising money for a representation at the World's Fair.

An incipient fire occurred in one of the rooms of the cottage attached to the Park City hotel Thursday afternoon, and but for the timely discovery a serious conflagration might have resulted. Considerable damage was done to the carpet, lace curtains and some of the furniture.

United States Marshal Pinkham, of Idaho, has summoned a number of witnesses to appear before the United States court at Spokane to testify in a civil action brought by the government against J. B. Shoup for $200,000 damages for, so it is claimed, illegally removing timber from the public domain.

Clerk C. H. Whipple has had a narrow escape from death owing to a mistake. He has been ill for some time, and two bottles of medicine were left on a table at his bedside, one containing iodine and the other iron. He was given the iodine instead of iron, but prompt aid prevented serious results.

The Naturita Canal and Reservoir company, Colorado, which is owned and controlled by Denver parties, are now extending their irrigation canal in this valley twenty-five miles. This will take in some of the best farming and fruit land here, which is open to preemption and desert settlement, being the best portion of the old Uncompahgre Indian Reservation, and is already coming in.

Willie Hawes Willis, son of Osias Willis, was at work building a fire cabin near Birch creek, Sanpete, says the Deseret (Moab) Times, his ax was caught on a corner log of the building causing it to glance and strike his left foot, horribly mutilating it. Mr. Stanfield, who was near at hand, immediately applied a ligature and covered the wound with flour and grate nutmeg, thereby stopping the flow of blood. The injured man was taken to Dillon, and it was found necessary to amputate part of the foot.

Word has been received from Goshen that the Star Reservoir & Canal Co. is now selling with the Goshen people water from its reservoir in this county over the east ridge south of that place, thereby bringing into cultivation hundreds of acres of land now covered with sage brush, and is supplying the people with clear, sparkling, pure water for culinary purposes, which they have not had in years. The land lying below the canal has all been entered, and principally by residents of Goshen.—Nephi Courier.

There has been lodged in jail at Beatrice, Nebraska, Walter E. Waggoner, who was recently indicted by the grand jury for forgery. He has until recently engaged in buying stock for the firm of Waggoner, Downey & Co. of South Omaha, and it is alleged he signed the firm's name to a check given in payment for clothing gotten of a merchant tailor. When the settlement was returned Waggoner was in South Omaha, but he evaded the officers and went to Chicago, a premature announcement of his indictment having been made by the reporters. A few days ago he returned to South Omaha. The accused is 21 years of age.

George W. Smith, aged 26, wanted at Malden, Mass., for embezzling $900, has been arrested at the Young Men's Christian association rooms at Colorado Springs. According to his father's story, after taking the money he went to Denver, where he bought a restaurant on Sixteenth street. In eight days he lost all his money and sold out the business, and on March 7 started to walk to this city. He arrived at Colorado Springs without money and applied for charity. Lieut. Young and Young Men's Christian association for a dinner, which was furnished him. He then confessed to Lieut. and was then turned over to the police. He answers the description sent out by the chief of police of Malden in every particular.

George Simms, who drives the delivery team for Peterson & Serra, met with an accident on Thursday that gave him an ugly cut across the bridge of the nose and dazed him pretty badly for a few moments. He was turning the corner near Hubbard's jewelry store at a pretty fair rate of speed when the seat of his cutter tipped and threw him out. His horse started to run away, but was soon stopped. . . . One of the shrewdest pieces of burglary ever perpetrated in Park city occurred at the drug store of E. C. Williams a night or two ago, when thieves secured an entrance through a rear window, removed the cash register from the counter to the storeroom, carried it to a back bedroom and carefully through it, taking $297 in cash which it contained and quietly walking off with the bodily without leaving a single trace, other than a cautious scratch awl or an instrument which might have been used as an ice pick behind the bar of some saloon. The safe had been cracked in the window pane through which an entrance was gained.

Intelligence of what may prove to be a hideous double murder, with the intention of robbery on the part of one of a vendetta, has reached Phoenix from the mining district about Wickenburg, Arizona, on Wednesday. An old Mexican named Montez, in company with his son, a boy about 14 years of age, had been placer mining in that section for some time. For several days parties who passed their cabin regularly failed to see them, and yesterday morning a Mexican went to the cabin for some purpose and opening the door found the boy lying in one corner dead and in an advanced state of decomposition. Behind the house was the head and feet of the father, as they lay in the adobe oven, the fire had consumed the rest of the body. The assault of each victim had been crushed with a pick and the body of the old man thrown upon the wood pile, which was then set on fire, and as it was consumed the head and feet rolled away. That part of the country is settled principally by Mexicans of bad character, and it is thought they possibly the deed with the object of robbery, as every cranny of the cabin had been ransacked.
