DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Monday, September 30, 1895.

THEY ARE COMING.

The Sweet Choristers from Denver Will be Present at the Eisteddfod.

"The difference between the railroads and the Denver choir have been settled and our friends from Colorado will arrive here on Wednesday, to give their concert in the First Congregational church on Wednesday night."

Such was the substance of a dispatch received yesterday by John Jenkins, secretary of the Cambrian association, from R. J. Thomas, who is now at Denver. The result of the executive committee's meeting on Saturday evening was that $350 was guaranteed to aid the Denver people in covering the expenses of their trip to this city. The local association hopes to make good their guarantee, from the receipts of Wednesday night's concert, and therefore extends a hearty invitation to Salt Lake's public to be in attendance.

This is a courtesy due the Denver people, from the fact that the Tabernacle choir, while en route to the World's Fair, was right royally treated and entertained during their stay in that city and it is but just that Salt Lake should reciprocate in feelings of good will and fellowship towards the choristers of the city of Denver. The public will be proud to hear that all difficulties have been overcome, and that the choir will be here to take part in the great Eisteddfod.

Gleason's Show.

The promised excitement did not show up at Gleason's horse-training exhibition on Saturday evening; but as it was Mr. McCoy's fault the public cannot censure the professor. It seems that the incorrigible horse which Mr. McCoy was to have furnished was several miles out in the country, and desiring to have all possible advantage that gentleman desired to let the animal rest until this evening so that the professor would have a fresh horse to deal with instead of a jaded one. Mr. McCoy promised faithfully to have the animal there this evening and a consequent free ride was looked for. The exhibition on Saturday evening, despite the non-appearance of Mr. McCoy's "automatic" steed, was one of the best yet given. Mr. Gleason announced that he would exhibit here until Wednesday evening.

It Puzzles Them.

"This eye-steady-all business may be alright," said a man with a nasal twang that indicated he was not born in Wales, "but I maint been taught to shoot that way."

The Donovan Case.

Captain Donovan's trial, which was scheduled for tonight, will not take place, owing to all the commissioners, except Empey, being absent from the city. Last week they were all present but one, this week they are all absent but one, and the defense, demanding a trial before a full board, will have to wait until a full board materializes.

Last of the Season.

Held's First Regiment band gave its last open air concert at Liberty park yesterday afternoon. The season's concerts have been enjoyed by a large number of citizens and yesterday saw as big a crowd as ever at the park, notwithstanding the fact that our Sunday has been silence on account of bad weather.

Says He Saw Henry at Ogden.

San Francisco Calls Lloyd Tabler has seen Hon. Henry W. Langhorne, the assemblyman of this county who mysteriously disappeared some time ago. Tabler has known the assemblyman for a long time, so there is no doubt as to identity, despite the fact that the person whom he addressed did not respond, but pushed his way into the crowd to get away. Mr. Tabler had been on a visit to his folks in the East, and returned home over the Central Pacific route. As he stepped off the cars at Ogden on Wednesday he saw the well known figure of Henry Langhorne a few paces distant. Delighted at seeing a Yuletide after his long visit East, he hastened toward the assemblyman with outstretched hand and greeted him by name. It was evident that Mr. Langhorne did not care to be recognized, for he gave Tabler a look as if he had never seen him before, and quickly turned away and left.

They are Ready.

And now the home band is ready for the fray. The Denhallers had a splendid rehearsal yesterday and "Fed" is now a familiar thing to them. Prof. Pedersen has devoted a great deal of attention to the drilling of the band in this overture, and in the contest nothing will be left undone by him to make his pupils merit the coveted prize.

See the List.

The city registration office was opened today for revision of the lists. The office will be held open between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. daily until Saturday next. Every voter should make a personal visit to the office to see that he is properly registered, so that there can be no mistake or trouble on election day.

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Lee Price, a Seventeen-year-old Boy, Killed in Salt Creek Canyon, Near Nephi.

Lee Price, aged seventeen, son of Charles H. Price, left Nephi on Friday morning last to go up Salt Creek canyon, near the Forks, to move his father's sheep camp. His parents expected him to return that night. The herder who was watching the sheep became alarmed as he did not come with the sheep wagon and donkeys and had to sleep out all night. He then came to town and reported to his parents. The city marshal with a crowd of relatives went up the canyon. Early this morning his uncle John and Harry Kent, found him lying dead. They brought him to his home and Dr. D. O. Winder was summoned to make a post mortem examination. The doctor found that he had received a glancing wound; a bullet had passed through him entering his back and coming out of his abdomen. How he received this fatal shot is all a matter of mystery at present. Some think a hunter must have shot him by mistake. The whole family is greatly stricken and the father very low with typhoid fever. The deceased was a very amiable, trustworthy young man.

A posse of men have gone to the place where he was found to learn more of this terribly shocking affair.

L. A. BAILEY.

Laid to Rest.

Funeral services were held on Monday, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Nesbitt, Twentieth ward, over the remains of their infant son, aged five months, who, after a single day's obstruction of the bowels, passed to the other side. Much sympathy was expressed for the parents by their numerous friends, who gathered on the sad occasion. The services were conducted by Bishop Romney, who, with H. W. Nesbitt, the grandfather of the deceased, spoke comforting words to those assembled. The musical part was tenderly rendered by a quartette from the ward choir, led by Brother Joseph Daynes. The parents tender gratitude and thanks for all who gave them assistance in their sad and sudden bereavement.

Eisteddfod Chorus Singers.

All members included in the revised list of Prof. C. J. Thomas's choruses are desired to attend the rehearsal this evening, in the Fourteenth ward assembly hall, at 7 o'clock.

The final rehearsals will be held in the Tabernacle tomorrow (Tuesday) at 7 p. m. None but members thus present will receive tickets admitting them to participate in the contests.

Has Withdrawn.

On September 20th Hannibal Hold wrote Secretary James of the Cambrian society that on account of press of other business he was compelled to withdraw his band from the Eisteddfod contest. For some reason no public notice has been given of the fact, therefore Mr. Held desires the News to make it a matter of record.
