CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. One week after commencing to use the SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was not troubled with it at all. My sense of taste and smell, which were almost gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD, Short-Hand Writer.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 5, 1878.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here o-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if I had not been forewarned, for I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my sense of taste and smell until I tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the effect the remedy has been to me. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 15, 1878.

EVENING NEWS.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1878.

BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS TELEGRAPH LINE.

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 2.—Anthony and Bayard were appointed a committee to join the House committee and notify the President that Congress had assembled.

The following bills were laid on the table pending the appointment of committees:

By Beck, to provide for retiring the trade dollar, and for its coinage into the standard silver dollar.

Also, to authorize the purchase of foreign-built ships by citizens of the United States.

By Voorhees, a resolution instructing the committee on finance to inquire into the expediency of making the trade dollar a legal tender for all debts, public and private, or providing for its recoinage into the standard silver dollar of 412½ grains.

By Blaine, a resolution instructing the judiciary committee to report to the Senate whether, at the recent elections, the constitutional rights of any citizens were violated in any State, and what further legislation is necessary to protect citizens in their constitutional rights, etc.

The Vice-President laid before the Senate the credentials of Hon. Justin S. Morrill, re-elected United States senator from Vermont, for six years, from March 4th, 1879. Read and placed on the file.

Recess.

The reading concluded, the message was laid on the table and ordered printed. Adjourned.

The only senators absent yesterday were Barnum, Cockrell, Conkling, Gordon, Hoar, Jones, (Nev.) Kernan, Merrimon, Patterson, Plumb, Sargent, Sharon, Spencer and White.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 2.—The House of Representatives' galleries, to day, contained the customary crowd at the opening session of Congress.

At noon Speaker Randall rapped the House to order, when the chaplain made a prayer and the roll was called. Roll call showed 229 members present. Two new members, Bailey, of New York, and Majors, of Nevada, then took the ironclad oath, and Atkins, Cox and Garfield were appointed to inform the President that Congress was in session.

After recess the President's message was received from Private Secretary Rogers, and read.

When the reading of the message was ended, Wood, New York, rose and moved that it be referred to a committee of the whole House and ordered printed; but first he desired to make some comments upon it. Although, as a whole, the document was highly satisfactory, yet there were some references in it which should be met at the earliest possible moment. He referred to that part relating to the southern States. He (Wood) failed to see what the President saw of any disposition in the south to avoid or annul, in any degree, the constitutional amendments. He failed to see any indication in the south at any election, at any time, under any circumstances, for a series of years, of unwillingness to live in entire unity with the whole country in regard to the laws or to obey government. He regretted that the President, who had commenced his administration with such a noble and patriotic position, as against the military despotism exercised by his predecessor, should now indicate a change of policy. He had watched with interest, the course of the administration, in order to see whether the President would be forced from the manly and noble position taken by him. He knew there was a wing of the republican party dissatisfied with that position, and it had been a matter of interest to the whole country to know whether the President would continuously maintain his attitude. While the President expressed his views in very mild and very decorous language, yet he indicated quite clearly that the condition of things in the south was not satisfactory to him. The President had referred especially to the elections in South Carolina and Louisiana. He had been able to single out two States, and only two isolated instances in those States. That was an indication of vacillation on the part of the executive, and it was only because it was such an indication that he (Wood) felt it his duty to declare there was no foundation for the allegation of wrong by the south. It was to be regretted that, while the President's eyes were open to the Congressional elections in South Carolina and Louisiana, they were closed to what occurred in the city of New York on the 5th of November, where 4,000 legal voters were designed to be stricken by government officials, where hundreds of them were plunged into the vilest dens as common prisoners, and where, besides those who had been arrested, 10,000 other voters had been intimidated, thus making a difference at least of 15,000 votes in the city of New York in the last election. The President had not seen that. The republican press of New York had not told that to the President, but it had pointed him to the south. He (Wood) regretted that the President had thought proper to lend his high position to a reiteration of the misrepresentations originated for him by the republican press. He had the highest regard for the President, believing him to be an honest and patriotic man.

Garfield characterized it, as very unusual to interrupt the ordinary term of proceeding by debating any suggestions in the message. The exact language of that part of the message with which the gentleman found fault was not in his mind, but the language was very plain. Wood complained that the President had vacillated because he had seen fit to refer to the disturbances in the federal elections. He hoped they should all vacillate in that way. If Wood could make no better case against the administration than this, he had not opened the ball this winter very well. Wood could only show signs of disturbance in his own State; the city of Wood's adoption had vacillated. The President only did his duty in calling attention to the disturbances in the federal elections which he had observed, even though Wood had not observed them, as the President had only invited the attention of Congress to the matter. Had Wood any objection to the attention of Congress being invited to these things? From a careful reading of the papers he believed considerable disturbance had occurred in the south, notably open intimidation in South Carolina. This was a charge thrown broadcast over the land, and a Congress so noted for investigation as this one, should examine it.

Wood reiterated his remarks and affirmed that the President's position was due to the efforts of the unloody shirt element, who were determined to hold on to their ill-gotten power and plunder in the treasury.

Hale said, regarding the assertion that the stalwarts had dragooned the President, he would tell the gentleman that on the great and fundamental doctrine of the protection of a citizen in all his rights, there was no radical nor conservative wing in the republican party, but there was one party in the land united to a man on the proposition that an American citizen, north, south and everywhere, should be protected in the exercise of his constitutional rights.

Cox asked if Garfield and Hale forgot how the "tapeworm" ticket of California had been run by the navy yard. Had they denounced the "tapeworm" policies? Not much.

Townsend made some remark regarding the cipher telegrams, whereupon Cox retorted that that was another vacillation of the republican party, but the old democratic party would have the next Senate and House.

The motion to refer and print the message was agreed to.

The military academy and fortification appropriation bills were reported and notice of early action given.

Adjourned.

EASTERN.

Public Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, 2.—The debt statement shows an increase of $3,214,242. Amount of coin in the treasury, $223,564,756; currency, $14,669,826, including $2,000,000 held for the redemption of fractional currency; special deposit held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, $37,080,000. The payments made from the treasury by warrants during the month of Nov. 1878, were as follows: On account of civil and miscellaneous, $10,197,371; on account of war, $3,160,036; on account of navy, $1,576,279; on account of interior, Indians and pension, $2,768,853. Total $17,642,040. The above does not include payments made on account of the interest or principal of the public debt of the United States. The increase is due to the $5,500,000 Halifax award.

The Breatt County Riot.

NEW YORK, 2.—The Times Cincinnati special says: The war in Breatt County, Kentucky, continues. There are no telegraph or railroad within 60 miles of the disturbance, hence the news is meagre. It is understood that Judge Burnett's friends will make it their business to avenge his death. There is very little hope that the murderers and outlaws will be brought to justice in the regular way. Not one man in ten who commits murder in Kentucky, is hanged.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Khyber Pass Trouble.

LONDON, 2.—A Calcutta dispatch says: The trouble in the Khyber pass is greatly exaggerated. A single officer made the entire length of the pass unmolested.

The Striking Operatives.

At a meeting of operatives in Oldham, on Saturday, over 3,000 were present. It was unanimously resolved not to submit to a reduction. The meeting of masters, on Friday, was equally determined. There are over 15,000 persons idle.

Mistress—Come, Bridget, how much longer are you going to be filling that pepper-box?

Bridget—Shure, ma'am, and It's meself can't say how long It'll be takin' me to get all this stuff in the thing through the little holes in the top.

Every day we have evidence that the small boy has no soul. The other day a crowd gathered around a farmer whose wagon load of butter and eggs was fast in a mud hole, and while some suggested that he pull his horse gee, and others that he pull him haw, the ever present small boy yelled, "It's no use mister. Yer old horse ain't stout enough. Take him out an' hitch in a roll of your butter."

PURIFY THE LIFE CURRENT.

SCOVILL'S Blood AND Liver Syrup

A FEARLESS REMEDY FOR

Scrofula, White Swellings, Cancer, Erysipelas, Chronic Sore Eyes, Gout, Syphilis, Tumors, Carbuncles, Salt Rheum,

And all Diseases indicating an IMPURE CONDITION of the BLOOD

Cutaneous eruptions upon the face or body do not necessarily indicate the taint of blood, but whether the insidious poison of that direst of maladies is present in the system or not, certain it is that completely cures such disorders. If the virus of scrofula does exist in the veins, this matchless purifier will root out every vestige of the malady. No eruptive or scrofulous or otherwise, can resist the purifying action of this safe and potent remedy, which renders the skin

Scovill's Blood & Liver Syrup

CLEAR, SOFT AND BEAUTIFUL,

when ordinary medicines utterly fail to arrest the progress of scrofulous and other eruptive disorders, the persistent use of the incomparable depurent secures the desired result. From

of its reliability in our possession, we make the two following condensed extracts:

Mr. Samuel H. Matthews, Moletown, Accomac Co., Va., states that his child, Byron, aged one, was attacked with an eruption which covered its head, face, arms, feet and legs, converting them into "one mass of sore," but that two and a-half bottles of Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup effected a complete cure, without a scar.

Martin Hopkins, Jr., writes that he suffered from Scrofulous White Swellings with twelve running ulcers on his legs, from which more than 100 pieces of bone slough'd away, but by the time he had finished the twenty-fourth bottle of the Syrup he was completely cured.

THIS GRAND REMEDY

is a compound of vegetable extracts, the chief of which are Sarsaparilla and Stillingia.

The cures effected by

Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup

are absolute, and their record is undisgraced by failures. For sale by all Druggists.

Price, $1.00 per bottle.
