LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

MEETINGS AT THE TABERNACLE tomorrow at eleven and two o'clock.

CHRISTMAS.—In accordance with our usual custom, we shall issue no paper on Monday, Christmas day, as all connected with the News office expect to holiday a little. We wish our many readers and friends the pleasantest kind of a time—in doors if not out.

THEATRE.—This evening will be repeated the sensation play of "Across the Continent." The scenery of this play is very attractive, the action exciting, and the acting excellent.

On Monday the same play will be again repeated. It will well repay a visit to the temple of the drama.

EVERYBODY is scanning our advertising columns, to know where they can spend their holiday cash to the best advantage, for this is virtually Christmas Eve.

GRAND MASS.—The Rev. Father Walsh invites all to attend a Grand Midnight Mass, to be sung in the Catholic Church of this city, to-morrow night at 12 o'clock; also to attend a Grand High Mass, to be sung on Christmas Day, at 11 o'clock in the morning. Peter's Grand Mass is the one selected, and the best artists are engaged.

COURT PROCEEDINGS, 22nd, 10 a. m.—Mr. Fitch, for the defense, followed, occupying about an hour and a half. He said the ass. pros. att. had mistaken the proper course in law, in his argument in this case. First he must make out that a crime had been committed, and next, by whom committed. He, Mr. F. was now arguing a case before a judge and a lawyer, not before a justice of the peace, who is not thoroughly posted with regard to the requirements of the law. He read Ram on Facts, to show that reliability is that which bears evidence of truth, and is very different from probability. Not that he would wish it understood there was a probability of the prisoners at the bar having anything to do with the murder of Dr. Robinson. There was no evidence in the testimony of Thos. Butterwood as to the identifying of Hampton and Burt. Butterwood said Baker was north of Third South St., while the evidence showed he was several rods south. He did not see the face of either of the men, yet he swears to their identity from their form. He also heard the murdered man exclaim, "Oh God, don't murder me," when he was one and a half blocks away, while other witnesses could not hear it, though much nearer. Why did Butterwood hide? If so frightened, how could he recognize men running by whose faces he could not see, merely because they had on overcoats? Commit men, on such evidence and every jail would overflow. It has been rumored that the police had a hand in it, and Butterwood seeing these men in the police since, had made up his mind that they looked like the men, who ran past him.

Counsel referred to the discrepancies in Baker's testimony, and said it would not bear scrunity; it bears evidence of a made-up story. He produced the note given by Baker to John Kramer, to get copied, in another hand, which he denied writing, although his hand is evidenced in the copy of note written in court.

Mr. Bates joined in comparing the letters. Mr. Fitch showed the resemblance in the two hands, and although not one of the greatest experts, it was easy to show the resemblance in the two notes. After referring to the testimony, in brief Mr. Fitch argued that it would be most unjust to allow men to stand committed upon such testimony.

22nd, 2 p. m.—The argument for the defence was continued by Mr. Hempstead. He scarcely thought, after all that had been said by the Ass. Pros. Att., and by Mr. Fitch for the defence, that it was necessary for him to say much. There had been a great deal of testimony taken that was unnecessary, and that had no weight in the case. He denounced the crime as a most atrocious one. He was engaged in the original investigation of the case, and he regretted to say that after the most faithful scrutiny, he, with all others engaged therein, had failed to get one clue pointing to the guilty parties.

Thomas Butterwood may be honest, yet his testimony is such as not to point to any one implicated in the commission of the crime. This man, remarkable to say, on the day of the murder, walked ten or twelve miles, and met no man that he knew; he had lived in this city ten or eleven years and did not know his way home. Although not acquainted with Baker, he remembers him and professes to having heard him talk about getting supper, a distance of twelve or fifteen rods. Baker and partner were behind Butterwood, and yet Baker sees everything done by men crossing from Reeves' store to where Robinson was killed, and secretes himself in Houtz's corner and sees men run away. Butterwood professes to having heard the deceased say, "My God, don't murder me," a block and a half away, while C. King, on the opposite corner, could only hear a scream.

Blythe and Toms are testified against by the witness Baker, who, in his evidence was positive of too much, remembering everything that occurred and many things that did not occur. He told everything that occurred. There is a general resemblance in the letters of the two notes. His signature and the original note are written with one kind of pencil.

Mr. Bates, United States Attorney, closed the argument. He denounced the murder; said common law is common sense, and we have common sense. These witnesses have no hope of reward, there is no reward. There is no reason why these defendants should not be bound over as being mixed up with the affair. He did not say the testimony was sufficient to take them before a jury for trial. He held it to be the duty of the Court to bind these men over and send the case to the grand jury. The learned counsel occupied about three quarters of an hour, and throughout was listened to with the most profound interest, his arguments for justice, alike to the dead and the living, being brilliant and forcible, and his sentiments a credit to head and heart.

The Judge, in summing up, manifested his usual bias, and had he been engaged on the part of the prosecution, he could not have dilated on the evidence in a more partial and one-sided manner. He said he would have been uncertain if he had read the testimony from manuscript. He had seen the witnesses. Some testified truly, but they did not tell all the truth; others were guilty of telling that which was not true; others again told that which was true, although they made some mistakes.

He referred to the clearness of the night, and the enormity of the crime. Old residents were here then in a city of 12 or 13,000 inhabitants, and no one is brought to justice in six years. It was evident that more had to do with it, than those who committed it. He briefly went through the testimony and concluded that it was stronger against Hampton than against Burt.

He thought Butterwood had not made up this testimony with Baker, as they agree only about going to get supper.

Baker had made some mistakes; he could not remember the height of the fence. In his judgment he felt that Burt should be discharged, but the others be held over to answer the grand jury.

Mr. Hempstead asked that they be admitted to bail, but the Court thought he would not exercise the discretion of admitting them to bail. The ass. pros. att. wished the prisoners separated and sent to Camp Douglass, but Mr. Bates said General Morrow could not take care of them. He had not the convenience. The Court ordered that the marshal take care of them in his own way.

Mr. Burt was discharged from custody.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!—Christmas is almost here. Notwithstanding the blockade and the immense amount of overdue freight go, a good time is in prospect for the holidays. If our many thousand intelligent readers wish to know where to obtain presents and gifts for the holidays, sons and daughters for their parents, brothers for their sisters, parents for their children, husbands for their wives, lovers for their sweethearts, everybody for his friends, just read our advertising columns—there you will find where to go to be suited.

LECTURE.—The lecture last evening, on "Business Training," by H. W. Naisbitt, at the Commercial College, was listened to by an attentive but limited audience, who appeared to highly appreciate the remarks of the speaker. After the lecture, Mr. Thomas Taylor, of the firm of Taylor & Cutler, made a few practical suggestions to the class.

MRS. M. FIELD, from California, female orator, will lecture at the Liberal Institute, on Sunday Evening at 7 p. m.

The public are invited.

GOOD WISHES.—Col. L. Miller writes thus to the Omaha Herald concerning his recent visit to Salt Lake:

"Though an old man, I can still appreciate hospitality. And after a sojourn at Salt Lake of two weeks, enjoying, not only extreme hospitality, but the warmest of friendship at the hands of Messrs. Wells, Cannon, Caine, Sloan, Townsend, Little, Kimball, Stout, Campbell, Felt and a host of other Latter-day Saints, I feel like giving this public expression to my gratitude and good wishes towards that much maligned and judicially-abused community.

"May God bestow upon them the blessing of happy deliverance from the band of harpies that seek to punish religion with imprisonment and death. But devils incarnate will not be permitted to lay waste this goodly land.

"Such contentment, perseverance in well-doing, unity in action and prosperity under difficulties, as I witnessed among the Mormons, I have never witnessed elsewhere."

The Weather North

The following was received this morning:

LOGAN, Dec. 22.—We have had a severe snow storm the last two days. The snow that fell two and a half feet deep, a couple weeks ago has all gone. The storm finished up with eight inches of snow last night; it is clearing up now with frost.

140,000
SINGER SEWING MACHINES
WERE SOLD WITHIN THE PAST YEAR.—Scientific American, June 10, 1871.

The Singer Manufacturing Company,
AT THE WORLD'S FAIR
—Constituted by the homes of the people—
Received the Great Award of the Highest Sales and have left all rivals far behind them, for they

Sold in 1870 127,833 Machines!

SEWING MACHINE SALES FOR 1870.

"The prominence to which the manufacture of Sewing Machines has attained is shown by the "SWORN" returns (to which any one can have access) of the manufacturers for the year 1870 to the owners of the leading patents, on which they pay a royalty. According to these returns the number of machines sold by each manufacturer in 1870 is as follows:

The Singer	127,833	Florence	17,660
Wheeler & Wilson	83,216	Gold Medal	8,912
Howe	75,166	Ætna	5,806
Grover & Baker	57,002	Empire	3,560
Weed	35,022	Pinkie & Lyon	2,420
Wilcox & Gibbs	28,800	Parham	1,780
American Button-hole & Overseaming	11,573	Wilson	500

And several other companies who sold a few Machines.

It will be seen by this table that the popularity of the Singer Machine far exceeds that of all others, their sale being one-half greater than that of the famous "Wheeler & Wilson" machine. This is owing to the fact that the Singer Company have lately commenced making, besides their old and well-established manufacturing machine, what is known as their "New Family Machine," which is selling at the rate of nine to one better than their old style." Their total sales for 1871 were 81,781 machines against the 127,833 of 1870, showing an increase of one-half in the latter year."—New York Sun.

One-half of our Gigantic Sales, now nearly,
THREE-QUARTERS OF A MILLION
Machines Sold,
AND ALL IN PRACTICAL USE, WERE MADE WITHIN THE PAST THREE YEARS.

But the greatest increase of our Sales over all other Machines, being within the past year This is incontrovertible proof that

Our Machines are the Best in the World!

The New Family Singer Sewing Machine,
With Attachments for All Kinds of Work, is fast winning supreme favor in the household, as shown by the rapidly increasing sales, over all other machines.

This New Family Machine is now capable of a range and variety of work such as was only recently thought impossible to perform by machinery. We claim and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely adjusted, easily operated, speedy and smoothly running of all the Family Sewing Machines. It is remarkable not only for the range and variety of its sewing, but also for the variety and different kinds of texture which it will sew with equal facility and perfection, using silk twist, linen or cotton thread, fine or coarse, making the interlocked-elastic-stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewn; the only stitch which is universally approved, or is at all adapted to first-class work. Thus, beaver cloth, or leather may be sewn with great strength and uniformity of stitch, and, in a moment's time utilizing and never-wearying instrument may be adjusted for fine work on gauze or gossamer tissue, or the tucking of tarlatan, or ruffling, or almost any other work—even by a child—which delicate fingers have been known to perform. Even the careless and thoughtless have little or no trouble on this machine.

Send for Descriptive and Price Circulars.

We manufacture our own needles, silk and twist; furnish linen and cotton thread and oil—all of superior quality—but which can be relied on only when obtained through our Principal or Branch Offices, or Agencies.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

MILLIONS BEAR TESTIMONY TO THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE EFFECTS OF

J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS

Which are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFEGIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which remove them by their unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.
