Dramatic and Lyric.

Katie Putnam and Harry Emery last night.—Casts at the Grand.—Man and Woman.—Coming Attractions.—Kennan.—A Temperance Town.—Bertha Bayliss.

The Theater was about half full last evening when Katie Putnam and Harry Emery made their bow to the new play of the old Lone Star. The piece, with nothing at all great in it, is one of sentiment, gives the lady star an opportunity to show off her talents as an actor and fairly vocalistic, allows her to sing one very pretty song in a very charming way, displaying the queen of soubrettes. For one who was a very nearly entire, and for natural acting throughout, was commendable. Mr. Emery was one of those jobs in life, as it seems to be in Emery's characteristic manner. The supporting company has been good, fair and in different cases, the best members being the two rollicking comedy roles of Alex Redcliffe and Mr. Cohen. Tonight Miss Putnam gives the play which Maggie Mitchell used to do, called the Little Maverick.

The drama is one by what might be called rather an "off" week tonight with the Unequal Match. The play has hardly been graced with the force that was bestowed on the previous efforts of the company in very, excepting the Little Maverick. The plot is a very, and because in its interest there hardly would the twice-T. Boucicault goers. The best work in it has been done by Miss Rosalie Kennan as Clarice. Last week, the last, the piece of the company's two weeks stay, and Rosalie's latest comedy of Clare will be given the end of Mary, the change is said to have been made to give Mr. Clarke his last chance in the role of Old Robin, to whom he is generally sight to claim. Next Saturday night will end what has been a very successful engagement, and the company will leave good bye to the new opera house—the first of these except Mr. Clarke's son Mr. Cook, one of the stronger member who will remain to form the nucleus of the new company which will be manned by Margaret Rigan, Mr. Clarke, after appearing at the Theater during the week beginning in Man and Woman, will go to open a season in Portland.

In the cast of Man and Woman at the Salt Lake Theater, Mr. Fawley will resume his stage work and play the leading role as William Ogilvie, the part played here by William Morris. Miss Kennan will be seen as Agnes Bolmar, whose will be a belle part. Miss Amy Ellis will be Jennie Bolmar, Mr. Bassett will be seen as Cole Kipp, Kearney's valet, Mr. King as Lord Calcot. Mr. H. S. Duffield as Sheridan, a Prize Mechanic, who comes from Denver to join the company for its Portland season, as Mr. Prescott. Mr. Clarke W. Lowrie, the new musician of the company, as Edward Bolmar. Mr. Fawley will play the dude, Sam Delafield. Mr. Chas. Dade will play the part of George Rochelle, which he played very successfully in Denver. Mr. Fawley will not know how the other female characters are to be cast until tomorrow, when he will know whether Henrietta Crossman or Belle Archer joins his company. If Miss Crossman comes she will play Kate Delafield. If Miss Arthur comes Miss Bates will play Kate Delafield. The play will be given three nights, and as the prices will be in place the same as those charged at the Grand, Man and Women ought to be a heavy business.

We regret to learn that Mr. Harrison Millard, the composer, who recently returned from a trip to Europe, is suffering at Bright's home in his home.

DeKoven's opera of the Fencing Master will be seen for the first time in Salt Lake on March 11th. A special feature of the occasion is the last visit Bertha Bayliss, the well known Salt Lake soprano, is a member of the company. Dorothy Morton has taken Marie Tempest's place at Daly's.

The purpose of Al Hayman in passing the sand two months in Europe is to witness the rehearsals and initial performances of The Sleep Out and His Excellency, both of which he and Charles Frohman have secured for America. It is Mr. Hayman's intention to organize both plays in New York with the same cast as in London.

Tonight is repetition both plays in New York with the same cast as in London.

Mr. Hayman's business agent, Mr. Jones, who is now in Europe, is expected home on the Etruria on the 20th inst. Mr. Jones will be seen in this city in Friday, August 23, when he will be seen in Mr. Hayman's production of Cecil Raleigh's play, The Prodigal. In the last 10 months of its run in London it has played 300 times and has grossed $300,000 in receipts. Mr. Hayman intends to open the season with the play, Mr. Jones will be seen in the leading role, Mr. Hayman's production of Henry Wallace's Rosalie is a production of the book in New York—Harper's Bazar. The book is the forerunner to Washington's anthology. Wallace has taken of his Olympic called Wallace's Magazine and is to be a Mr. Hayman's.

Highest Award

For Supreme Excellence, to the PUTNAM

BOX FASTENED AND SHEKER PATENTED NAILS.

At the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. A medal and diploma were awarded "Supreme excellence in material, method in manufacture, and quality of finished product; elastic and smooth; non-rankled with holding power in wood. It allows the use of very small nails."

"Upon a carefully carried out process of manufacture, the Putnam Nail is produced, which is a wire nail, with a smooth surface, and the shape of a diamond, or rhombus, in cross section, with the sides of the rhombus, which form the edges of the nail, which have been subjected to a process of hardening, which gives to the nail a surface which will not rust, and which will not cut the fibres of the wood, which have been displaced by the nail, but will force the fibres back into place, and hold the nail firmly in the wood, which they have compressed and displaced in its entrance."

"Nails made by the Putnam Nail Co. are sold and are more used in the world than any other nails."

"The Putnam Nail Co. received at the World's Columbian Exposition, exclusive of the Putnam Nail, the only nails used in the Exposition, the Putnam, exclusive Horse Nails."
