BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

One Hundred and Ten Protestants Heard on Saturday Night.

CLUTE'S FANCY FIGURES EXCESSIVE.

Will Over-Burdened Taxpayers Obtain Any Relief?

One hundred and ten taxpayers filed protests for the consideration of the Board of Equalization Saturday night.

L. Sarlf of San Francisco complained that his taxes had been unjustifiably increased nearly 15 per cent. since last year.

S. D. Cody said his property was only worth $500, while it was assessed at $2600.

Mrs. P. H. Hopkins complained of sickness, poverty and old age and asked for a remission.

Mrs. L. Cody, a widow, asked for a remission.

Chas. Caldwell asked a reduction in the assessed valuation of his property.

M. R. Thompson, ditto.

John Cushing, seventy-six years old, with a widowed daughter and three grandchildren to support, asked for a remission of his taxes.

Mrs. L. Kelsey expressed her dissatisfaction at excessive valuation.

Mrs. J. Gibson, an infirm widow with only a scant income, asked that she be relieved from paying taxes.

John Connelly sent in the following protest which speaks in no uncertain sound:

To the Board of Equalization:

Gentlemen—I have already sent in a protest against the outrageous assessment placed on my property. It has depreciated in value at least 50 per cent. during the last year. Now no respectable person would rent or live on Franklin avenue, the vicinity in which it is located. It is there the most thieves and pimps, during the night when all decent folks, make the neighborhood hideous with their revels.

I therefore ask that my assessment be reduced at least one-half. Under any circumstances the assessment is too high. If the assessor had any conscience left he would not have assessed the property at any such rate.

R. F. Neelon complained of excessive valuation.

W. H. Wilkinson and Brother represented that their property was assessed by the county at $56,000, but Clute's keen calculation fixed much at $105,700.

C. G. Wilkinson filed a protest against paying taxes on property assessed at least 70 per cent. above what it was worth.

Frances Butterwood, another widow with a large family and no income, asked for a remission.

Mrs. M. C. Kimball, a widow, asked for a remission.

George Sims and John G. Smith complained at the enormous valuation placed on their personal property.

The Commercial Insurance company was assessed last year at $10,000 while this year it was raised at $15,000.

Giovanni Geraghino complained of excessive valuation.

Mrs. M. Lowe said her property was assessed entirely too high.

Mrs. Louisa Woodford, a poor widow, asked a remission.

William J. Lloyd said his property was assessed at least $25,000 too high.

Mrs. William Cornwall, a widow without any income, asked a remission.

Mrs. Adelia Robbins asked a reduction on account of being a widow.

Treasurer J. R. Walder, who owns property in Social Hall Alley, protested against what he considered excessive valuation both on behalf of himself and every property owner there. They had no street improvements, but their taxes were enormous all the same.

John Tullidge sent in a written statement in which he said he wished to register a kick against Clute's excessive valuation of his property. He closed his protest thus: "Gentlemen, if these increased taxes are to continue each year, where are we going to get off?"

Able Pendleton complained of excessive valuations.

Mrs. E. Jensen filed a similar objection.

Lake Shaw said his property was assessed for more than it was worth.

Mrs. L. E. Penrose complained that her property was assessed $1780 more than it was worth.

R. F. Pendleton estate asked for a reduction in assessed valuation on the ground that it was excessive.

C. Cramer complained that his property was assessed entirely too high. "Liberal" victory had surrounded his place of business with five saloons. They had no street improvements.

Hans C. Lund, excessive valuation.

Mrs. E. Atkins asked a remission on account of being able to pay.

Mrs. H. E. Inglewood said her property was assessed $2,100 higher than county assessment.

Mary A. Pratt, a widow without any income, asked a remission.

Agnes Hogan, a widow without any income, asked a remission.

George E. Wesley said his property was assessed for much more than it would sell.

A. Hutton complained of excessive valuation.

R. Patrick said his property was depreciated in value to the extent of 25 per cent at least by a city ditch running longitudinally through it and considered that the assessment was, under the circumstances, entirely too high. He therefore asked a reduction.

L. Penrose protested against paying excessive taxes.

Maggie Morris complained that her personal property was assessed too high.

Mrs. William C. Miller asked a remission on account of being a poor widow.

Mrs. N. A. Hardy made a similar statement.

Mrs. H. Cunningham; ditto.

F. E. Mc. Gortin et al. objected to paying taxes on houses they did not begin to build until after the present year.

Colonel Dorwellan of the Commercial National bank objected to being asked to bear more than his share of the public burdens, and did not think that the assessor had followed the law, which forbears him exacting from the owners of the shares of a national banking association a larger sum in proportion to the actual value of the shares than it does from other moneyed capital in the hands of citizens of a State or Territory. The highest price at which the stock sold during the last year is 91 per cent, possessors of 100 shares and yet it was assessed at $113.35 per share.

The Milan Atwood estate complained of excessive valuation.

O. A. Woolley, ditto.

Samuel McKay, same complaint.

E. L. Sloan et al., ditto.

Arthur G. Haywood said he did not favor the idea of paying taxes on property he did not own.

Julia A. Golightly asked a remission for the reason that her husband was poor, ill and out of employment.

Hannah Morris; plea, invalid.

H. J. Jarvis; excessive valuation.

A. Jacobson; same complaint.

Sarah Taylor said there was an increase of three hundred per cent. in the assessment of her property this year.

Emma Erickson asked a remission on account of being a widow without any income.

John L. Kimball said the county assessment on his property amounting to $13,250 was high, but Clute's assessment was just one hundred per cent. in advance of mine.

A. Everett said his property was assessed one hundred per cent. higher this year than last.

James Eardley complained that his property was assessed nearly one hundred per cent. in advance of county levy.

R. A. McGrahan, a poor widow, asked a remission of her taxes.

Mrs. Jane C. Anderson asked a remission on account of her hundred being poor, ninety-three years old and unable to pay.

Mrs. F. M. Merrill asked a remission on account of being a poor widow.

The Rapid Transit company objected to the assessment of $160,000, which would be a valuation of $16,000 per mile, whereas $6,000 would be ample.

E. H. Walker asked a reduction on account of excessive valuation.

The following asked for remittance for reasons designated:

GEMS OF ART.

By H. L. A. Culmer, for Bishop Whitney's History of Utah.

We were shown today two beautiful watercolor sketches fresh from the brush of H. L. A. Culmer, entitled "First Glimpse of the Valley" and "Great Salt Lake Valley, July, 1847," respectively.

They were taken by the artist, in company with Bishop Whitney and others, in the latter part of July of the present year, and are gems of true art, admitting of no excessive defect, comprehending regularity, proportion and symmetry of whole.

The first, as the name indicates, represents the rugged and historic spot, among the peaks of the Wasatch, where the early Pioneers obtained their first view of the parched and almost unknown Great Salt Lake Valley. The Oquirrh and Grantsville mountain ranges are also visible in the distance.

The second reveals the Great Salt Lake Valley, the ripples of Utah Pratt and Emigration canyons and the elevated place to which they had ascended, three days later, by means of a rough and circuitous traveler's trail, to secure a more extended view of the barren vale that was afterwards named Great Salt Lake Valley.

Here, too, the waters of the Great Salt Lake were first sighted by them.

The sketches are for Bishop Whitney's history of Utah, and will be sent East forthwith to be reduced to steel engravings.

GETTING IN THEIR WORK.

Every Indication That the Irrigation Congress Will be a Thorough Success.

There was a meeting on Saturday evening of the general committee on arrangements in connection with the approaching Irrigation Congress. It appears that the committee has extended invitations to 540 mayors in the States west of the Missouri river to appoint delegates, the mayor of each city to be ex-officio chairman of the respective delegations. Two hundred and fifty receivers and registers of land offices and surveyors-generals are also appointed delegates. Two hundred boards of trade, chambers of commerce, agricultural and mechanical fairs and scientific societies have also been asked to name delegates. The governor of each western State and Territory has appointed thirty delegates, himself included, and, in all, there will be about 8000 delegates named. As the railroads have made a rate of one fare for the round trip, open to the general public, the attendance at this Utah Lake City will receive several thousand visitors during the week of September 15 to 17. Every prospective delegate has received a special letter inviting a participation of the congress, together with a carefully prepared pamphlet setting forth the attractions of Salt Lake City and the advantages of Utah.

One thousand five hundred and sixty newspapers, located in the cities from which delegates have been requested, have been furnished with the prospectus of the committee and special attention to Salt Lake City, Utah.

East of the Missouri river 2880 agricultural and other societies interested in the congress have been arranged with for special articles. The several railroads interested in bringing people to the congress have distributed thousands of copies calling special attention to Salt Lake City and Utah.

It is not yet distinctly known whether the congress will be held in the Theatre or the Exposition Building.

For the entertainment of visitors the railroads have agreed to give one-third rate for side trips from Salt Lake City and return. The beet sugar people at Lehi want them to visit their factory and see the operation on the first beet sugar crop raised entirely by irrigation.

Members of Congress and all departmental officers of the government interested in irrigation have been invited, as also representatives from the leading daily and illustrated papers.

The railroad rates are one fare for the round trip, good three days coming and three days returning, with stop over privileges, while the limit will be for September 30th from the starting point. Tickets from Colorado and Western points will be on sale September 15.

President Simon is in receipt of the following letter from San Francisco:

Fred Simon, President Chamber of Commerce, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Dear Sir—It is important to a proper representation of the subject of irrigation in the region lying west of the Rocky Mountains that some statistical facts relating to the application of agricultural products be also sent.

The people of the Eastern States are opposed to the extension of irrigation on the theory that the fertilization of arid lands will bring a competing producer into the field. It is asserted by the friends of irrigation that the positive increase the demand for Eastern products of agriculture.

May I request, at your hands, information as to where the statistics relating to Utah may be obtained? Is Utah a large producer of agricultural products, and therefore an exporter, or is it an importer of dairy, grain, pork, beef, fruit and other field, orchard and agricultural products? If the facts are at your command, I would be obliged to receive them from you. If they are not, I should be very grateful for the address of some one or some department of the Utah government which would furnish the information.

This will be handed to you by my friend, Hon. Thomas Marshall.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) WILLIAM H. HARRIS.

Another Batch of Them.

"The cry is still they come." Almost every day last week new suits were filed in the office of the Third District Court, and during Saturday afternoon the following were tacked on the already long list:

Charles S. Davey has brought suit against Zenitable Wood, praying that the copartnership now existing between the parties be dissolved; that a receiver of the property be appointed; that the defendant be restrained by injunction from interfering with said property, and the same be applied first to the payment of partnership debts, and that the remainder be divided between the parties according to their respective rights. The complainant alleges that on July 12, 1890, the parties formed a copartnership for the purpose of engaging in the manufacture of all kinds of glue, tallow, etc., and that on May 8, 1891, the defendant took possession of the books and stock, and ever since has prevented the plaintiff from participating in the business.

Morris Hilliard, Wilford T. Hicks and Jane Doe Hicks is a suit to recover $450 with interest at 10 per cent. per annum from November 1, 1890, due on a promissory note, attorney's fees $50 and costs of suit.

Yet another divorce suit, the plaintiff being Mrs. Julia Williams and the defendant William McKibbins. Plaintiff alleges that she was married to the defendant in this city in May, 1885; that on August 1, 1889, he deserted her, and for more than a year past has utterly failed to contribute to her support. She does not now know whether he is living or dead, or if alive or dead. For these reasons she asks for a decree of divorce.

William A. Torrea has brought suit against W. H. Whitney, Jo. C. Crosman, James Thompson, L. P. Hillstedt, Frank Gillespie, and J. H. Daly. Plaintiff alleges that in July last he performed certain work for W. H. Whitney, and agreed to take in payment therefore certain lots; that he finished the labor, amounting within the contract to $363.50; but the other defendants claim an interest in the premises adverse to plaintiff's rights. He therefore asks judgment for the amount named and that a receiver be appointed. Reilly A Kaye are the plaintiff's attorneys.

Three attachment suits were filed on Saturday afternoon against the proprietor of the Raymond house, before Commissioner Croft. The claims amount in the aggregate to $500, and are for rents due.

THE FORTHCOMING FAIR.

Special Premiums Offered for the Encouragement of Exhibitors.

On Saturday evening a meeting of the board of directors of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society took place. It was stated that in addition to the special features of a marriage on the grounds to which application has already been made by one young couple and the baby show, arrangements are being made for tallest sweepstakes and pumpkin leaps. The secretary has been in correspondence with several contests for the past few weeks, and the proper arrangements will be made before long.

A large number of special premiums have been offered by merchants and others for competitive displays. Among them F. Auerbach & Bro. offer $10 cash for the largest and best cultivated piece of ground devoted to strawberries, grapes, peaches, plums and pears, gathered in all.

Ben R. Eldridge of Provo offers one Dueh's parlor stove valued at $25.50 for best exhibit of fruit raised by one person in Utah county and one Rush Oak parlor stove valued at $12.50 for second best display of fruit from Utah county.

Davidson, Leyson & McCune offer a silver tilting pitcher.

M. H. Walker offers $10 in cash.

W. P. Bowen of Spanish Fork offers $5 for the best grooned stallion.

A. D. Holdaway of Provo will give $10 for best display of stove or range manufactured in Utah.

E. P. Parsons will give $10 for best red cross bred sheep.

Fred Simon offers $25 for best display of Utah woolen goods.

Sevier Stake Conference.

Editor Deseret News:

The quarterly conference of Sevier Stake was held at Richfield August 23rd and 24th, 1891. Present on the stand were the Stake presidency, Apostle Anton H. Lund, Presidents C. D. Fjeldsted and George Reynolds, bishops, High Council, home missionaries and others of the Priesthood. The conference was presided over by President W. H. Seegmiller. Apostle Anton H. Lund, Presidents W. H. Seegmiller, C. D. Fjeldsted and George Reynolds were the speakers.

The several bishops gave a very favorable report of their wards. The authorities of the Church and local authorities of the Stake were presented by President Seegmiller for the vote of the assembly, which was unanimous.

The statistical report was read, showing a gratifying increase of population in the Stake.

From San Antonio.

ANN HOBGOOD, a well known manufacturer of boots and shoes at 520 Nolan street, San Antonio, Texas, writes: "I not soon forget his experience with an attack of the cramps, which he describes as follows: "I was taken with a violent cramp in the abdomen, which I believe would have caused my death, but it not been for the prompt use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose did me so much good that I followed it up in 20 minutes with the second dose, and before the bottle was half gone by which I was, I did not feel him. This remedy shall always be one of the mainstays of my family." For sale by E. G. M. L. Drug Dept. ddd

A Word to Ladies.

Ladies who desire a beautiful clear skin, free from pimples, blotches and other eruptions, should commence at once to use Dr. Conn's Improved Liver Pills. They will also remove that heavy look about your eyes and make them bright, and will cure headache from whatever cause it arises. Remember, you are only required to take one small pill at bed time, which is coated with pure sugar, and will not gripe or produce any unpleasant sensation. Sold at 25 cents, by Johnson, Pratt & Co., Salt Lake City.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief. E. W. Willard, Hinsdale, Ill.

My son has been afflicted with nasal catarrh since quite young. I was induced to try Ely's Cream Balm, and before he had used one bottle that disagreeable catarrhal symptom left him. He appears as well as anyone. It is the best catarrh remedy in the market. J. C. Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.
