AMERICAN.

Wired From Washington.

WASHINGTON, 30.—Wm. A. Cook says he proposes to sue the Attorney General for slander. Brewster made certain charges against Cook in a recent interview published in the Philadelphia Press. The following correspondence explains itself:

WASHINGTON, June 29.

Benjamin Harris Brewster, attorney general:

SIR—On the 7th inst I mailed you a letter, of which the following is a copy: "Washington, 7.—Benjamin Harris Brewster, attorney general of the United States. Dear Sir.—My attention has been called to an interview with you, published in the Philadelphia Press, May 14th. It appears that, among other things, you stated to the correspondent of the Press that the defendant in the Star route cases not only used the proceeds of their robberies to pay counsel, but money was expended in spiriting away witnesses, in buying up ex counsel of the government, and in hiring newspapers to defend their rascality. Government has paid for all this. It also appears that the following question was asked you, viz: What do you mean by the assertion that defendants bought ex-counsel for the government in these cases? To which you replied: I meant that J. N. Brewster, of Carlisle, Pa., showed Mr. Bliss his book containing a record of payments made him on account of expenses incurred in the defense of these suits, among other things, and Mr. Bliss told me that Bosler's books contained entries of several thousand dollars paid to his law partners, Mr. Wm. Cook, and Mr. A. M. Gibson were originally retained by the government on these cases, and I dismissed them because I felt that their services could be dispensed with. Allow me to enquire whether you are correctly represented in these extracts from the Press. You will observe that they contain first, strong and plain implications that, as one of the ex counsels in the Star route cases, I was bought by the defendants, and second, positive assertion that you dismissed me as one of the original counsel. I will be pleased to receive an early reply. Respectfully,

WILLIAM COOK."

As you have not seen fit to reply to this letter, I am compelled to conclude that your utterances to the correspondent of the Philadelphia Press were correctly reported. Indeed this was a reasonable presumption, but I deemed it proper to afford you a fair opportunity for explanation or correction. I am not accustomed to notice misrepresentations or censure which uninformed or malignant persons may circulate or publish against me. I have neither time nor inclination to do so. But your accidental position as Attorney General of the United States imparts to your accusations an importance which they would not possess if they emanated from you as a private individual, and therefore both personal and public respect require that they should receive the proper denial from me. First, it is utterly false that the defendants in the Star route cases bought me as one of the ex-counsel No one of them had the audacity to attempt it. I believe that Mr. Cole was for awhile employed by Mr. Peredell, but I am credibly informed that he gave a receipt for his fee, which was turned over to the government. It is to be presumed that you knew this fact, moreover you were not ignorant of the truth that Mr. Cole and I were only limited partners in civil cases; this information you had twice from my lips, so that your assertion was not only untrue but made with full information of the actual facts. The second declaration, that you dismissed me as one of the original attorneys in the late star route cases could not be surpassed in misstatement. March 14, 1882, I send you a written and unsolicited resignation of my appointment as special attorney. On the 17th of that month you transmitted a reply in which you said that my letter of resignation was a surprise to you and that you could not see the necessity for it, and that had I continued in the cases and labored in them my usefulness would have been appreciated. It cannot be therefore doubted that when you made the assertion that you had dismissed me, it was utterly untrue. The intellectual and moral depravity which tempted and impelled you to malign and misrepresent me as you have, I am unable to comprehend. You probably can. It only remains for me to say that I will publish this reply to your manifestly malignant falsehood in the public press and pursue any other plan of vindication I may deem proper An attorney general cannot assail my professional or personal character with impunity, especially one who obtained his distinguished position amid the smoke of an assassin's pistol, and possibly by means which reflect little or no honor on exalted manhood. Yours, etc.

(Signed) WILLIAM COOK.

Cutting by Rival Roads.

CHICAGO, 30.—The strife between west bound roads in reference to securing passengers for Denver, to the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, is still as great as it was a week ago, when the Rock Island met the St. Paul rate by putting the round trip tickets at $29 80, instead of rebate tickets. Other roads appeared to take no particular notice of the rate-making ability of the two roads, but they immediately began to understand that it was necessary to do something or they would not secure a particle of travel. Agents were dispatched to various parts of the country, especially to Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois points, with instructions to work quietly but to secure every passenger possible, with the distinct understanding that they would be carried at as low a rate as that made by any other road; this plan has been continued by several of the roads' agents, in most instances being members of the Grand Army, who were in a position to attend the meetings, if necessary, and present claims of the roads they represented for a share of the travel to Denver. While all this has been going on the roads have been watching each other in constant fear that the rate would be made still lower and he secretly done that it would come to their knowledge too late to be met. Yesterday a new complication commenced to stare them in the face. The round trip rate from Denver to San Francisco to the triennial conclave is $65, while from Chicago it is $69 50. The roads are anxious to sell as many tickets from Chicago as they can, but have become alarmed at the prospect of a rate being made to Denver that will be less than $24.50, for fear advantage may be taken of it to purchase tickets at the reduced rate and then buy their Santa Fe tickets at Denver. There was a rumor yesterday to the effect that the rate would be made to Denver as low as $20 and possibly less, and several of the representatives of west bound roads are becoming somewhat anxious to have a settlement of the question before such rate is offered, but have not yet called for a meeting to take action upon the subject, and none of them seem anxious to take the initiative in the matter. The attitude of the St. Paul and Rock Island is regarded as decidedly belligerent, and if a meeting is to be suggested it will be done by some other line. While there has been no open announcement that tickets would be on sale before July 15th, six days before the trains start and nine days before the meeting at Denver, it is currently reported among those who claim to know that tickets have been sent out and placed in the hands of prominent members of the Grand Army, with the distinct understanding that they shall be sold to meet any rate made by roads out of Chicago. A meeting is to be held at Denver from July 24th to 27th inclusive, and tickets have been announced to be on sale on July 15th, leaving but little time to fix matters up if the roads desire to prevent a war of rates that will possibly bring the price of ticket down to $15, and seriously interfere with their sales of tickets to San Francisco.

Details of the Duel.

STAUNTON, Va., 30.—It is impossible at this time to gather minute details of the duel. Elam has been concealed not many miles from the scene of the combat for several days past. He was at the residence of John Lewis, son of Hon. H. J. Lewis. The arrangement for the meeting was mutual in Richmond at the time when Elam was in this vicinity, and Beirne in West Virginia. Some point midway between the two places was fixed as the place, a change of seconds made and the cartel as previously determined, namely, Colt's sixes, eight paces, was equally agreed upon. Both principals managed to evade the vigilance of the authorities, and at 6 o'clock this morning met in a strip of woods about two miles from Waynis, the junction of the Shenandoah Valley and C. & O. railroad. The distance was marked off, and at the first fire neither of the men were struck. Beirne, the challenger demanded a second shot which was granted and a bullet from his pistol buried itself in the upper part of Elam's right thigh. Beirne was untouched. Elam fell to the ground and Beirne, raising his hat to his fallen opponent, was hurried into a carriage and driven rapidly away. Subsequently he took the train at the station; Elam was also conveyed in a carriage to a house near by, where a surgeon attended him. It was found that the extraction of the ball would be attended with danger, and a consultation among the surgeons was held. The fact that the ball had failed to force itself through is taken as evidence in connection with the character of the weapon used and the distance, that it came in direct contact with one of the large bones. No arrests have been made, nor does there seem to be any disposition to institute a legal investigation. Elam was removed to the residence of J. F. Lewis and his wife sent for.

Later—The physician then gave the word, "Gentlemen, are you ready, fire, one, two, three. Shots were to be exchanged after the word "fire" and before the word "three." At the word "one" both pistols were discharged in succession, but without effect. The same programme was repeated, both reports being simultaneous and just at the word "one." As Elam staggered under the effect of a wound, his seconds ran forward and assisted him to cushions which they had on the grounds. The wounded man was under the impression that the ball had penetrated both legs, and insisted that such was the case. When assured by the surgeon that it had not even gone through one leg, and that the intense pain in the other was from sympathy. Elam expressed a regret that he did not demand another shot. He was perfectly cool and collected and gave directions in a strong and composed voice. Beirne also acted deliberately, and although pale he seemed perfectly cool. He was taken away by his seconds. Afterwards they discovered that Elam could not again stand.

The wound is evidently very serious. After the ball struck him, Elam gave one or two steps forward, and from that it was thought the leg was not broken. The surgeon, however, stated that the muscle would have sustained him that length of time.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Governor Butler.

NEW YORK, 1.—At a meeting of the Central Labor Union a motion was made that General Butler be invited to act as Grand Marshal, or orator of the day, September 15 next, when the Union will have a parade and picnic. The chairman ruled that General Butler could not be permitted to act as Grand Marshal, as he is not a representative of any labor organization and that he is a politician. It would be against the constitution of the Union to invite him to act as orator. The latter ruling was appealed from and the appeal sustained. A warm discussion followed. Some of the delegates referring to General Butler as a representative of the laboring classes of Massachusetts, while others said he is a designing politician and a capatalist, a stockholder in three mills at Fall River, where miserable wages are paid the hands. The matter was finally laid on the table.

Terrible Railroad Accident.

BRADFORD, 1.—There was an accident on the Rochester & Pittsburg railroad this morning early, at Rieselas, 25 miles southeast of this city. The first section of a coal train to which was attached a passenger car containing 15 persons, broke in two on a heavy grade. Seven cars rushed down grade and ran into the second section, smashing the car to pieces, killing six and wounding others.

The severed section, consisting of seven heavily loaded coal cars and a passenger coach, immediately started down the steep grade, and while going at the frightful speed of 80 miles an hour collided with the engine of the approaching coal train. The passenger car was well filled and the destruction of life was appalling. Seven have already died from injuries and others are fatally hurt. A relief train with three surgeons and a number of employes of the company on board was despatched to the scene at 5 o'clock this morning. The killed and injured were brought to this city, and as far as can be learned their names are as follows: S. N Toller, aged 34, conductor of the Bradford Home, was terribly mangled. He died instantly. David Ford, brakeman of Bradford, had both legs broken and was fatally injured internally. Mike Doun, Brakeman, of Bradford, had both feet cut off and was fatally injured. He died at 4 p. m. George Quinn of Bradford, traveling salesman, died on the relief train. Angelo Odone and Italian laborer was instantly killed, W. S. Davis of Olean, Pa, had a terrible gash on his head and it is supposed he is fatally hurt. L. J. McKee of Bradford, died at noon while being carried into his house. Robert Clemons of Bradford, had his neck broken and body badly crushed, he was killed outright. James O. Connell, of Alton, Pa, was dangerously injured. Joseph Ravella of Alton was badly hurt and will probably not recover. Mrs. W. H. McCurdy with baby, of Bradford, slightly cut about the head and arms and the child bruised. John Collins of Limestone, N.Y., was badly hurt on the head. J. Bosway had several ribs broken and severe contusions about the head. J. Cosmillo, Italian, had a leg broken in two places. R. Cosmillo, his brother, had his ribs stove in, his condition is critical. "Pop" Downs, engineer of the second train was the only one hurt in his crew. He saw the severed section approaching and after reversing his engine jumped, escaping with slight bruises. Coroner Bannon empanneled a jury who visited the scene of the wreck by special train to day and will take testimony and render a verdict tomorrow. Mrs. McCandy, who was only slightly injured, has made a statement in which she says the conductor and both brakemen who were in the car with her were asleep. It is not yet known to whom the blame is most to be attached.

Heavy Fire.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 1.—Pawtucket was visited this morning by the most destructive fire for many years. Flames were discovered at 5.30 in an unoccupied building, the "Old Arcade," on the rear of East Avenue. The flames spread rapidly. After destroying the Arcade building, the fire extended to adjoining buildings until a dozen were on fire at once. The Dexter Yarn Company's mill, office and store-house, a large wooden building, were destroyed. The mill was used to manufacture knitting cotton. The books and papers of the company and private papers of H. H. Thomas, president, were saved. Total loss, $115,000; Insured.

Fatal Misunderstanding.

CHICAGO, 1.—The outgoing Kansas Pacific express on the Wabash Road, to-night, collided with the street car at Root Street crossing, in the southern city limits, smashing it to fragments. The lamp in the car exploded and set fire to it. Of 13 persons in the car only one escaped unhurt and it is believed that two or three of the worst injured will die. Several were badly burned before they could be extricated from the blazing fragments. The accident occurred from the driver of the street car misunderstanding the signal stationed at the crossing.

An Efficient Mayor.

Tribune's Maysville, Colorado: This morning Dick Baeker came to town and amused himself by shooting into several buildings. The city constable being absent, Mayor John Martin undertook to stop the disturbance when Baeker commenced firing at him. The mayor then put for balls in Baeker, causing his death.

A Novel Race.

NEW HAVEN, 1.—A Novel race between Frederick Hughes' catamaran Jessie and Ezra Doggett's horse named Boston, from New York to Stony Creek, Conn., was won by the catamaran, which passed New Haven at 2.30 and landed at Stony Creek dock at 3.25 this afternoon. The horse passed through here going a six miles an hour gait and showing signs of fatigue at 6 30 p. m., arriving at his destination at 8 o'clock. The race was for $1,000 a side.

The Fire Fiend.

SOUTH ABINGDON, Mass, 1.—Reed & Closson's shoe factory was burned here. Loss $175,000; partially insured.

Arrival of the "Nevada;"

NEW YORK, 1.—The steamship Nevada brings 630 Mormon converts, in charge of 22 missionaries. The converts are from Sweden, Denmark, Wales, England and Norway. The number of men and women are about equal.

Shot by Her Husband.

Agnes S. Wynne, of Brooklyn, was fatally shot to day by her husband, Jas. H. Wynne. Mrs. Wynne was 19 years old and her husband one year younger. They were married 18 months ago and have one child three months old. He had been drinking heavily to-day, and a quarrel took place, in which he threatened to shoot her, and she answered, "I dare you to do it." At this time Mrs. Wynne was lying on the bed with her babe beside her. The boy husband drew his revolver and fired, the bullet entering his wife's breast. He then went for a physician. Subsequently Mrs. Wynne was taken to the hospital and the wound pronounced fatal. Wynne was arrested. Two playmates of Mrs. Wynne witnessed the shooting.

FOREIGN.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Senator Jones.

DUBLIN, 1.—The Lord Mayor gave a banquet last night to Senator Jones, of Florida. Parnell, Sexton, T. P. O'Connor and Healey were present.

Cholera.

London, 1.—There were 109 deaths from cholera at Damietta on Saturday. The cholera appeared at Samaroud, a small town 50 miles southwest of Damietta, on a branch of the Nile, four deaths.

The News says: During the 12 hours ending at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning there were 119 deaths at Damietta. It also says that most of the doctors have fled from Damietta.

The Prayers of the People.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Paris says: A telegram received here reports the Count De Chambord as being in the agonies of death. It is stated that the Count has been suffering from inflammation of the intestines, and had a relapse on Friday.

Paris, 1.—The Union in announcing the sickness of the Count De Chambord says: It has been ordered by the Count to ask for him the prayers of the French people.

The Khedive.

London, 1.—Lord Randolph Churchill has handed to Gladstone affidavits and other documents in support of his asserton that the Khedive incited the massacres at Alexandria.

Denied.

It has been officially denied that there is any cholera at Cairo. The sanitary cordons of Egypt are ordered to shoot all persons attempting to pass through the lines.

A baker who lives in Duluth, went crazy one night with a tooth, he rubbed the gum boil, with St. Jacobs Oil, it cured him and this is the truth.
