Affairs On and About the Reservation—Business Report—Mineral and Agricultural Lands, Etc.

FRUITA, Jan. 7, 1895.—W. H. Wilson, of Lake Shore, who has spent several months in Uintah county, where he has bought a large quantity of sheep and has returned home. He is delighted with his trip and with the people whom he met, and to entertain with a representative of the News expressed the opinion that the people of Uintah county are the most prosperous of any in the Territory.

Being asked now he accounted for this fortunate condition he explained that first Uncle Sam furnished them a good market for a large portion of their agricultural products, and the business men have a large and profitable trade with the cattle and sheep men, whose flocks and herds roam over that portion of Uncle Sam's domain. Wheat was worth $2 a bushel in the month of August, hence hay brings $5 to a ton at the ranch, and oats $1.50 per cwt. Mr. Wilson also furnishes the following information:

Vernal has five stores each supplying from three to seven clerks and all doing a good business. The Ashley Coop. R. Benches superintendent, keeps seven clerks busily engaged. Frank Moore, who formerly ran a mercantile business in Ashley, has removed to Vernal and formed a partnership with a Mr. Lozier; they have erected a fine building and are prospering financially. L. Johnson & Co. is another strong mercantile concern. Mr. Johnson was elected to the constitutional convention on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Gilthorp is also a successful merchant and keeps three clerks busy taking care of his share of the trade. Woodruff & Co. supplies the people with hardware and the postoffice is located in their store. Harmstead & Co. are doing a drug business and keep a fine stock of goods in their line. Mr. S. M. Brown has erected a fine hall used for dancing. Prof. Phelps of Salt Lake City is engaged in teaching the young people the latest terpsichorean movements.

The Vernal Roller mills, W. L. Perry superintendent, are equipped with the latest improved machinery, has twelve sets of rollers, and turns out a first-class article of flour. Mr. Workman is erecting a fine opera house which he expects to have completed by the 1st of May. The building is 50 x 80 feet and will have a seating capacity of 750.

In addition to the above mentioned concerns the town has two barber shops, four blacksmith shops, one wheelwright shop, and also supports three saloons.

At Jensen, situated seventeen miles southeast of Vernal, on Green river, George Billings conducts a general merchandise business, and Mr. Jensen, who has been operating a ferry across Green river for seventeen years, has just completed a boat that will carry three teams and wagons across at one time, in order to be ready for the expected rush when the reservation is thrown open for settlement.

At the Ouray Indian agency, thirty-five miles southwest of Vernal, great improvements have taken place in the last few years, under the direction of Colonel Goodale, post commander at Fort Duchesne, who is also Indian agent, and Acting Agent Brosnan, who is in immediate charge of the agency. Three fine 2-story brick buildings, 50x60 feet, have been erected within the last three years for the use of the agency employes and for school purposes, and a residence for Dr. Robinson the agency surgeon has just been completed. The agency also has a large laundry, a fine barn and granary.

The school is well attended by the Indian children. There are about 150 enrolled and the discipline maintained would be creditable in any school in the territory. The children are not instructed in the branches ordinarily taught in the district schools, but receive lessons in farm work and other industrial pursuits, and as a rule are well behaved and anxious to learn. The teachers in the industrial department informed Mr. Wilson that they often had to shut the children from working too hard, something that is quite contrary to the generally conceived notion of Indian characteristics. In order to encourage the parents to send the children to school Colonel Goodale builds houses and makes clothes for them, and several of them raise considerable grain and other farm products. Miss Edelin, of West Pitsco, Maryland, is the principal of the school and is aided by an able corps of teachers. Curry and Moore are the Indian traders and do a satisfactory business.

Fort Duchesne was established about nine years ago in a barren desert, about thirty-five miles west of Vernal. Today the post presents a very inviting appearance, the streets are lined with fine shade trees and the officers' residences and other buildings would do credit to a town of 10,000 inhabitants. Colonel Goodale is the post commander, Lieutenant Newton quartermaster and Lieutenant Hutchinson commissary. There are over 300 men in the post all except the commissioned officers are enlisted. It is not expected that the post will be abandoned after the reservation is thrown open.

Post John Mr. Wilson had with propriety he reported the impression that the resources of the great mineral wealth of the reservation are overrated, although a great deal of money has been expended in exploration conducted by the sundry over the reservation. He is one of the opinion that when the Indians have selected the land to be allotted them the Sun Velvetch optimistic book will be disposed of.

The Great Chance to Help All the Races in Turkey.

According to the Koran, which is the basis and ultimate authority of Mohammedan law—Code Napoleon, they say Christians, and Jews are dogs. Nevertheless—the whole population of Turkey are children. The millions of ancient, subsidiary populations whether Greek, Armenian, Nestorian, Jacobite, Jew or Syrian, are—subjects, slaves. Their legal status is that of prisoners of war, with corresponding rights and immunities. Nevertheless—the Turks do not kill them, but allow them to serve in the army. Nevertheless—whole services are indispensable to the government, are in new cases, yet to civil offices, especially financial, for which no Mohammedan of sufficient integrity or ability can be found.

It cannot be denied that the state is true in theory, and it is equally true that the Christ—[illegible] Christian by a Turk is a—[illegible] pollution.

In such hard, stern and hearts are united by the tie of the cosmopolitan world the crowd, so as can regard that the Modern civilization almost equally is—[illegible]—[illegible] Christian minds, severely and tender hearts. They drink the cup of woe, and in the more bitter dregs so mingled [illegible], which is reserved for Christians. Their combined revolution, natural activity and unquenchable disposition to a—[illegible] whose political principles be submission, we—[illegible] for the last time they do not appear as a—[illegible] of the politics. Yet—[illegible] Mohammedans nevertheless certainly—[illegible] meaning that Europe has some interest in their case, but—[illegible] in humanity, let it be forgotten.—Jamaica Review of Reviews.

"The millionaire said to—daughter—[illegible] Gov. [illegible]." Americans appear to grow more supposed to illustrate the property—[illegible] the government. Of course the whole—[illegible] is an illusive and unpopular—[illegible] office holding the party in power has a right to pay for the private services of his followers out of the public treasury. A recent governor of the state of New York put this position in the—[illegible] Now—[illegible] approved a—[illegible] pale in contrast so as to pay of his election expenses. The ordinary—[illegible] of mind as to pensions is startingly low. A few months ago a distinguished soldier, diplomat, and statesman—[illegible] the action of a man who was drawing a pension for—[illegible] while an active member of the United States Senate. "The law," said he, "makes no distinction; it does not recognize the possibility of mental labor by a man physically disabled." "But," it was objected, "might not the senator look at the matter simply as an honest man?" "You might as well say that I have no right to the pension that I draw," replied the general. The discussion ceased at that point, but the wonder remained that men of wealth and station and public—[illegible] should take, and encourage others to take, payment for their own gallantry. There is no effective public sentiment—[illegible] pension frauds. In what community would a person be accepted who gave information against a widow who had married again and still drew her pension? Yet any of us would notify the police if he saw the same woman stealing ribbon at a counter.—Kennedy Forum.

Scrofula Cured—Blood Purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.—

"It is with pleasure that I send a testimonial concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my daughter. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly. Sarah, who is fourteen years of age, has been afflicted with Scrofula ever since she was one year old. For two years her leg had a running sore on the side of her knee. We tried many remedies, but nothing did her any good. Her leg was so badly swollen that she could not walk. We commenced giving Hood's Sarsaparilla to our little girl, and after taking a few bottles we noticed a change for the better. We continued giving it to her about one year and now she is entirely cured. We cannot say too much in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla.
