AMONG THE MINERS.

Mammoth Waterworks System to be Put in at Tintic.

NATURAL GAS PIPING DOUGHT.

The Quality of Ores in Millard — The Silver Prospects—Other Mining Items.

Active operations have been commenced towards the construction of an extensive and costly system of waterworks at the Tintic district. The participating shop inherited is one of great importance to the mining, being the purchase of water and a half mile of exploration pipe piping. This is to be utilized in the new waterworks, but is for then half of the amount of piping that will be needed.

At Tintic, where the new system is to be put in, which is known as County Creek was purchased some time ago by the Holbrook and Champion and the Mammoth mining companies. The idea of these companies is mutual, and from the events, but the water supply is their necessity. [illegible] as it was secured, the Bennett claim, which lies the water right, was purchased or as it have full control of the stream.

The Mammoth mining company, which is now sinking an 18,000 shaft, would be waterworks consumed the water, and is going right along. The Tintic-Bell company, Manager Ely is out today, has not fully decided whether to develop. Would be up to the bill of expenditure, the necessity for the water was not particularly urgent at present, but with the Mammoth it was different.

For the purpose of the last owner negotiations, the purchase of piping some time different. The top pipe was bought in at a low figure, or it was the sale of that which was sold by Major Disney to bring water up to the city from the pipe lines in Davis county at Farmington. This was moved, and the lateral distance has suffered a big collapse.

The pipe was bought by Rhodes Brothers, who will take it up and ship it to Tintic for the waterworks. The system when completed will cost not less than $75,000, and it will be pushed to completion at the earliest date possible.

SIGN AND GONE.

Mr. D. McMaster, of Denver, and Mr. A. A. McMaster, of Salt Lake City, arrived in Denver yesterday from Tintic, where they have been for a number of days, inspecting the gold ledges of that county, with a view to starting up the gold mill, says the Mining Record. The gentlemen were attracted a little mill found on the hill, where it seems gold-bearing quartz veins, and believe the outlook is so very favorable for a success of their enterprise. Mr. D. McMaster will take to Denver several fine specimens of galena ores from the quarries of Messrs. E. A. McMaster and G. Anderson, of Fillmore. These quarries are situated in the southern portion of the Detroit range, and about twenty-two miles southwest from Deseret. Mr. McMaster is enthusiastic in his praise of the ores, which varies from a fine white to a mahogany color. The gentlemen says the ores used in Brown's hotel, Denver, was imported from Old Mexico, and nowhere very superior to the Millard county product, and which, if the requisite hardness, can undoubtedly be put on the market in a short time. On Mr. McMaster's return to Denver, the specimens will be given a thorough test, which will be awaited with considerable interest by the entire community.

NOTES.

The office of the Millard County Record is located moved from Oasis to Deseret, and the paper will hereafter appear on Tuesday of each week, instead of Saturday.

Millard County Friends United States Deputy Marshal S. F. Stout passed through Oasis Tuesday, on official business. While in these parts, Mr. Stout will take a peep at his mining property, and stated to a Record reporter that he was in the best portions of treading the ore had been carried upon, regular shipments would be made from the lines.

The Delamar, Idaho, Nugget says that Mr. Anthor, who went east some time ago to dispose of a quantity of opals from the mine in which he is interested, is reported to be meeting with success, the gems being pronounced by experts to be very fine. One lot of stone taken with him has been valued by experts at $8000. He and Mr. Pressing of Nampa are now in Chicago negotiating a sale of a number of the principal claims to capitalists who will, if the deal is closed, at once begin working them on a comprehensive scale.

Beaver County Mike Powers has newly struck a bonanza in the Gimlet in the Newton mining district. He has a bond for $10,000 on the property, the owners being Ed. Erwin and Will Roberts. It is the greatest prospect yet opened up in the Newton mining district. They drifted down 14 feet on the hanging wall and started a crosscut across the vein to the foot wall. The vein is decomposed quartz and the hanging wall is a talcose carrying about eight inches of yellow, sticky clay or talc.

Tooele County Times: Deputy United States Marshal A. G. Dyer was in Tooele Monday and Tuesday of this week. He sold at public auction the Rochester and other mine the properties attached in Dugway mining district. There were sold for $[illegible]. The Rebel Mining company at auction will pay all to date about the 15th of this month, after which it will lay off when full of ores. The ore shipment, using Rye as base, will be resumed until the 1st of October, to make a final clean up of the mine preparatory to the relinquishment of the lease, which expires on the above date. Parties from Salt Lake, who have been interesting the property for other three years and it is to be say that they have made a little money, are likely now continued to further develop the property, and no doubt would have taken up the bond had the local owners and the conditions of the mine warranted them in so doing. After the expiration of their lease on the Rebel they will remove their machinery on to adjoining property owned by them, which they will develop in the future.

Gus. Gu paper presented in Chicago to W. H. Harvey, one of Ogden, has sent us the following report that an individual who formerly resided in this locality, "Dan Prendie Dale, writing from Provo, Utah, obtained from us authority to represent our paper, about the 1st of July. Since then we have never heard a word from him or received a cent. We have letters now coming in from points in Utah, Colorado and Montana, complaining of his having received money and failed to send the paper. We want every one to look out for him, and cause his arrest and prosecution under the laws of the land. This paper needs the monthly subscriptions of every canvassing for the cottage of every, and cannot afford to let wrongdoers on whose it does not reserve the money, thought it is enough to deter such scoundrels from the business. We feel sorry that treatment from a man in the office states, but we can see we will have continued to account for errors and omissions. Notice is hereby given that he is no longer our agent. He was our agent of August 15th, in Montana, where he collected some subscriptions, for which we have taken and received money on account on subscriptions. He is certainly travelling on this Wednesday, Utah and California. Parties who may see or meet with him will please write us at once."

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

The Jury Finds in Favor of the City Railroad Company.

Several Small Matters.—A Question of Purchasing.—The Mammoth Tragedy Mentioned.

This forenoon's session of the Third District Court was an uneventful one, and in the usual some little delay was occasioned in consequence of the late arrival of attorneys and witnesses in one of the cases set down for hearing. The following matters came up:

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANTS.

The jury before whom the suit of John Williams vs. the Salt Lake City Railroad Co. was tried yesterday now brought in a sealed verdict, finding for the defendants. It was an action to recover balance of wages for services rendered by the plaintiff as a car inspector.

REFORMED.

S. H. Terrill vs. N. H. Greenwell et al. Motion for reformation, and Attorney E. W. Tatloch appointed to take testimony and proof.

CONTINUED.

John J. Gibbons vs. Isaac B. Hazlegrove. This case was continued by consent.

DECREE OF SALE GRANTED.

In the case of D. Dreadwood National Bank vs. Frank Y. Taylor, motion was entered and decree of sale granted.

SUPPLEMENTAL ANSWER.

In the suit of Joseph Fish et al vs. the Rio Grande Western Railroad Co., leave was given to file supplemental answer, by consent.

A QUESTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

The trial of the case of D. C. Brown vs. D. C. Metzger et al was then taken up. Attorney Wiley Brown appeared for the plaintiff, and Attorney Cabell for the defendants.

Plaintiff claimed that the defendants, as contents of a co-partnership, were indebted to him to the extent of $[illegible], being the purchase price of a horse and buggy and a set of double harness. The defendants Metzger made no answer, but the other defendants, Lawrence Napier and George Napier, appeared and denied the existence of any partnership, and also denied that they purchased the property from plaintiff.

The case came in this court on appeal from the lower court, where judgment went for the plaintiff for the whole amount claimed. From this the defendants appealed, and the case was now tried before a jury.

THE GRANTSVILLE MURDER CASE.

Assistant District Attorney Howat asked that the indictment found by a second grand jury against Hyrum Mellish and John Rowley, for the wilful murder of Dr. Elliott, at Grantsville, be now dismissed, on the ground that the same was defective. Counsel consented, however, to have the defendants held in custody, in order that the case might be re-submitted to the present grand jury, to whom it was given shortly after three o'clock this afternoon.

Judge Zane made an order in accordance with the request of the prosecution.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

The grand jury have been in session again today. This morning they went into court and reported having found one indictment under the laws of the Territory. It was against Mellish and Johnson, the alleged slayers of Dr. Elliott, at Grantsville.

An Interpleader.

A complaint in interpleader was filed in the Third district court today by the Board of Education of Salt Lake City against the Salt Lake Cement Brick company et al. The plaintiffs in August, 1890, entered into a contract with F. W. Wright, one of the defendants, for the erection of a certain school building for the sum of $[illegible], and under the terms of the agreement $[illegible] of that the defendant of the defendants—of whom there are quite a number—claim a portion of the amount from the plaintiffs, each of them claiming to be entitled to Wright's estate is payed, and the several defendants be compelled by the court to interplead and litigate their respective claims, it being impossible for plaintiff's attorney to decide how the money should be appropriated.

DOWN TO THE WORK

Real Estate Exchange Strikes Out for Home Industry.

VARIOUS PLANS ARE PROPOSED.

A Public Meeting to be Called—Union Reservation—The Chief, Etc.

At the regular meeting of the Real Estate exchange today, the members gave a move on foot to resort to supporting home industries, and the result was the form of a civic organization. Of course the sentiment was all one way, but for the particular of local manufactures, and several plans to effect this end were proposed.

One method suggested was by a number of members who to submit to the exhibition point of a commission more to commodate citizens of every county. The manufacturers would put their goods there and their course would be very costly to the public would know just what there was. Another plan suggested was the formation of an exchange which would operate home products throughout the Territory. This latter plan is in successful operation in several states and more with considerable [illegible].

The spirit of the discussion was that a union was needed to be effected in a way of bringing to notice as we may that, probably next week, to consider the advisability of forming an exchange that would cause the home industry question that has been going on for some time to come true.

SECURING THE RESERVATION.

The Real Estate Exchange also gave attention to the agitation for opening the Uintah Indian reservation. No definite action was taken, this being deferred till the members of the exchange now go out to the World's Fair should return. At the time it is likely that a meeting, preliminary to opening of the reservation will be adjourned.

TOURIST AND COMMERCIAL CLUBS.

The exchange also gave a resolution thanking the Tourist club for the local advertising they had given to Utah during their recent visit East, and congratulating them on the enterprise they had shown in the matter. The Commercial club was also given a resolution.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tonight closes the Boston engagement at the Theater.

JANE JERRY WEEK.

Jane is the attraction at the Theater Monday and Tuesday. Jennie Yeamans plays the title role and the supporting company includes Alf. Fisher, Adolph Jackson, Joseph Allen, Joe Corbin, Schoop Edwards, Maggie Hathaway Fisher, Frances Carson and Carrie Reynolds.

An interesting country of the Theater last night not on the playbill, so to speak, it occurred when the local brigade of White Lewis, who plays in the Dell. He had seen and admired an one of the stores a certain small rifle, and his father and mother, who are in the east, wished to give him a surprise. So they purchased the weapon and sent it to the manager, whose Little Dick becomes a little boy and uses some clever selling, he was called before the curtain and the gun presented to him with a box of cartridges with a lovely tongue. It was a complete surprise, and the little fellow's heart was made happy.

MR. JOSEPH P. BACHE BETTER.

Go to Resting Easily Today, and Hopes of His Recovery are Entertained.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph P. Bache, who was injured so seriously while riding on a street car yesterday afternoon, will be pleased to learn that his condition has improved since last evening, and today he is resting comparatively easy. He remained at the residence of Dr. Benson until noon today, when he was removed to his home in Burlington addition. Throughout the night Mrs. Bache maintained a steady watchfulness of her husband's bedside. The patient has nearly regained consciousness, though at times he becomes stunned. He suffers considerable pain, especially in the head, and one of his legs is paralyzed. While recognizing that the injuries are of a grave character, the medical men are hopeful of his ultimate recovery. Mrs. Bache, who, as stated in the News report of the accident yesterday, was with her husband at the time of the unfortunate occurrence, is greatly distressed over the unfortunate affair.

THE TWO LITTLE FELLOWS.

Bad Blood and a War of Words Between Countess Wandless and Norris.

At no time during the administration of the present City Council has the municipal legislative chamber more closely resembled a kindergarten or unruly children than at last night's meeting.

Mr. Ross was in the chair and had no more control over the members than the latter of Jack's bag into which he had crawled out of. Countess and Norris offended. They wrangled at one time the room and Clerk Wells made many, paying at times strictly no attention whatever to the question before the house.

"Gentlemen, we came here to play tonight," said one member and play they did as long as there was anything on the table to amuse them.

Bad blood was stirred up between Wandless and Norris. The latter seemed to know way the committee on streets had failed to act in a report on the resolution recommending the guarantee of Harvey Hardy as inspector of street repairs. He said Mr. Hardy was getting $[illegible] a month for standing on the street corner. Even if it was necessary that some one should be thus detailed, Mr. Hardy, he said, had received bad that he by some in the work.

Wandless sprang from his chair and pointing the index finger of his extended right hand at Mr. Norris cried out "Sit down, Mr. Mr. Norris and you nothing to say about."

"Yes, I do, sir," responded Norris, calmly taking back at the wrathful representative.

"I deny it. I tell you I don't believe it at all."

Mayor Bailey said he is the cause of the hot and stormy, he was sorry to see a row, he was sorry he had anything.

Here Countess took the floor and said that if Mr. Ross and expression from off as chairman for Mr. M. for the right to be contingent from the men of the city as a [illegible]. Mr. Ross has made a serious charge and should be compelled to prove his assertion or state where the proof is to be found that he would have to work.
