monometallists are united, active and watchful, as recent events have shown. They have unlimited means at their command, control the metropolitan press, intimidate political leaders, dominate conventions, and dictate platforms and candidates. But the people will not be enslaved, nor will they submit tamely to the robbery of an increasing gold standard.

The silver committee, in this crisis, calls upon the people everywhere to come forward and send delegates to the convention. The call is extended to all who earnestly favor the immediate resumption of free bimetallic coinage in the United States, and each congressional district is requested to send two delegates, and each State and Territory to send two additional delegates at large. The Farmers' Alliance organization, the State Grangers, the Patrons of Husbandry, the Knights of Labor and all other industrial organizations favorable to the free coinage of silver are also invited to send one delegate for each local organization. A special invitation is also extended to all citizens, who, by pen or otherwise, advocate bimetallism, to members of Congress and the legislatures of the several States who favor the restoration of a bimetallic standard and the coinage of silver on the same terms as gold are especially invited to attend and participate in the proceedings of the convention.

By order of the National Silver Committee.

The Immigration of Russian Poles Increasing.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—The immigration of Russian Poles to the United States is largely increasing and especially in the governments of Longitsk and Plotsk.

No Provision for the Election of Presidential Electors in South Dakota.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., April 23.—It is discovered that the state Legislature made no provision whatever for the election of presidential electors. It is now too late to provide for legal elections at the polls, unless a special session of the Legislature is held. The regular session of the Legislature meets the first Tuesday in January, six days before the meeting of the electors is to be held. The Legislature can elect the electors, but the Legislature may have a Democratic majority, while the Republicans have a majority in the State of vice versa. It is suggested that an agreement may be made by the party leaders, and the form of voting for electors goes through to the regular manner, with the understanding that the Legislature endorse the action of the people by electing the electors.

Reformation Among Jews.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman of Temple Emanuel on Fifth avenue, the place of worship for one of the wealthiest Hebrew congregations in the country, is at the head of a movement, the first steps in which are taken, contemplating a revolution in some of the methods of Jewish religious society work. The new movement contemplates the adoption of many of the methods and much of the etiquette of the Protestant Church. Many rules of Judaism will have to be laid aside to admit marriage ceremonies within the temples, funeral services from the church, congregational singing, sewing societies, house to house work among the irreligious Jews, and, the boldest step of all, a crusade of conversions among the Christians.

The Pope Has Changed His Mind.

LONDON, April 23.—A Rome correspondent says the Pope has decided not to tender the cardinalate to Archbishop Corrigan, New York, possibly on account of the antagonism between Corrigan and Cardinal Gibbons.

More Incendiary Fires.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 23.—Seven more incendiary fires occurred last night, fortunately resulting in but small damage. The police are at sea as to the perpetrators.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

A Dispatch that Creates Surprise in London.

LONDON, April 23.—A dispatch received from the United States, stating that England had intimated her readiness to join a conference to bring about an enlarged use of silver, has caused much surprise in city circles. No belief is put in that part of the report which states that the basis of conference has been formulated here. Many telegrams of inquiry have been received by the London Times which today says it is not easy to see what "enlarged use" can mean. The Times adds: "A decided majority of those competent to judge regard the basis of rates based on silver with great disfavor. A certain amount of silver could be employed to increase the intrinsic value of our token of currency, which at the present price of metal is over valued to an extent considerably greater than necessary or desirable, but the general sense of the community is steadfastly opposed to anything like an attempt to rehabilitate silver. The result of the employment of the American treasury as a big silver warrant storehouse has not been so satisfactory as to encourage imitation."

The Daily News thinks such conference would not be likely to attain practical results. English delegates, it says, would have to go into it with their hands tied. It further says that Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, cannot well go beyond the plan already proposed to increase the proportion of silver held by the Bank of England against the notes.

Raid on Anarchists.

PARIS, April 23.—The concerted raids on the anarchists' lodgings which began here and elsewhere in France yesterday, were continued today. Four hundred arrests have been made; they are still progressing. It is believed that this vigorous action will prevent the threatened demonstration on May day.

Violent Epidemic of Cholera.

CALCUTTA, April 23.—A very violent epidemic of cholera is raging in Hooghly. Yesterday 180 new cases and 135 deaths were reported. The epidemic is the result of entirely disregard of all sanitary precautions.

Thirty Dead.

LONDON, April 23.—The latest reports concerning the cataclysmic duel between Fuji and Hotoku growing out of the publication of letters in the Hotoku Drayton affair are that the portion have fallen upon some place in Hongiwo as the scene of combat. It is said the duel will be fought today.

OLD IRONSIDES.

HISTORY OF ONE OF THE OLD SHIPS IN THE AMERICAN NAVY.

Remarkable as a Marine Navy Land, due to the Super of Political Treasures on the Part of Fortune People of Today. Wise Are Proved of Not.

Not many people may know that the old frigate Constitution, so renowned in our annals, is still afloat, among the vessels of the navy. She is dismantled, as might be expected at her age, and is kept in that condition at Portsmouth, N. H. She is a craft of 2,200 tons displacement, and is 175 feet in length, in place of the forty-four guns of the days of her glory.

It was the Constitution that, after the memorable opening on land of our war with Great Britain, caused a sensation of a series of splendid victories on the sea. The news of the first capture of a British war vessel undoubtedly belongs to the Essex, Captain David Porter, whose action of the 23rd occurred six days before the Constitution dismasted the Guerriere.

But the Essex carried thirty-two 32-pounders and the Alert only twenty 18-pounders, so that very soon after opening fire the crew of the 20th British craft, which, having captured one of our transports had made up to the Essex, taking her to be a merchantman, was compelled to quit their guns and within eight minutes to strike the flag. The success, though gratifying, was probable, whereas that of the Constitution was gained after a craft newer her own size and strength.

Her victory, giving the lustre of priority to the gallant Essex, on the score, the Constitution, under Captain Isaac Hull, can claim thus again for America in a duel of seamanship between herself and a British adversary. Yet then affairs were looking gloomy for us as we as well as on land. The British frigate Belvidere, while conveying a fleet of merchantmen, had escaped from a whole squadron of our cruisers, whereas our Nautilus had struck to an English squadron, being the first warship captured on either side. Under these temporary circumstances the Constitution, returning from Europe, fell in with a French squadron led by the Africa, a 64-gun ship.

During four days she was chased by this squadron. Through calm and through storm the fight and pursuit went on. At one time she had books cast sewing her at another her crew were sending upon a hedge anchor that had been carried out and dropped a long distance ahead. On the fourth day the longest for which came, and with every sail set the Constitution drew away from her pursuers, the scene when Sir Edward Pellew, after standing on the same track and the Constitution was showing her heels to her enemies being often recalled in eighty years ago. Some of the historians describe this as the first of our triumphs on the sea in that war.

But in our time, of course, the fame of the Constitution is more familiarly associated with her capture of the Guerriere. It was on Aug. 19, 1812, that the two vessels met, both eager for a fight. The scene was off the coast of Massachusetts. The British craft, commanded by the gallant Dacres, was first to open fire, but Hull maneuvered his vessel into the right position before he replied. The enemy's mizzenmast soon went by the board, followed by her foremast. When she struck she was, in fact, so completely used up that she could not be taken into port and had to be blown up.

The Constitution was supplied in tonnage and complement, carried more guns and throw a much heavier weight of metal in her broadsides, still the vessels were near enough matched for the victory to produce a tremendous impression on both sides of the ocean. Allison describes the news of this unprecedented disaster" in England, where the belief that Britannia ruled the waves was so profound that the American navy had seemed to be a mere mouthful for her.

That same year the Constitution, under Bainbridge, gained another great victory over the Java, off the coast of Brazil. The Java, like her predecessor, was a 38-gun ship, and in her battle she had treasure and enhancement, besides a part of her homeport, while, to complete the parallel, like the Guerriere, she was so wrecked in the fight that she had to be blown up. It was a great exhibition of good seamanship and superior gunnery on the part of the American vessel, for, as Cooper says, "the Java had been literally packed to pieces by shot, spar flowing spar until she had not one bulk." Her loss in killed and wounded was very heavy.

Finally, in 1815, under command of Commodore Stewart, the famous old ship made a double capture of the British frigate Cyane and sloop Levant.

Old Ironsides, as she had come to be called during the war, was launched at Boston in 1797, and she knows her whole five hundredth anniversary of that event, unless some sudden fate comes to put into commission, so as to receive ceremonial honors—New York Sun.

A Novel Use of Electric Fuse.

The little electric motor and the outfit to switching it on are popular objects, and many a trusted trick has been cooled by their combination. But the electric fan has probably found its way into a strange place, more other than the Turkish of the powerful Sultan Abdul Mahmoud, where the company has placed four of its perfected fan outfits. These are not, as might be supposed, to cool off the gentlemen, but to blow away the smoke from the grass. This certainly is a novel use for the electric fan.—Electricity.

The Light from Cuban Fireflies.

The secret of the light the Cuban fireflies gives it as yet undiscovered. Apparently it is connected in some way with the wonderful phosphorus of pile and chemists and physicists have sought in vain to explain its origin. On each side of the animal's thorax is a membrane opal, and there flock of fireflies, so that the Cuban put a dozen of the insects in a cage together, and so obtain a continuous illumination, bright enough to read by. The light is accompanied by no perceptible heat, and is seemingly produced with almost no expenditure of energy. Here great an improvement it represents upon all the artificial lights can be imagined which it would lose the loss from other light-burns than 99 per cent.

Is Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against two days for the first attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it. My wife in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" 50 cent bottles for sale by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.
