Utah Weather and Crops.

During the week ending Monday, May 25, 1896, the weather conditions in Utah were all that the farmer could desire for the germination of seeds, growth of crops and general farm work. A few scattering showers fell over the northern portion of the State on the 19th, but in the southern sections there was no precipitation during the week worthy of mention. The weather turned decisively warmer on the 20th, and all kinds of vegetation commenced to grow rapidly. Farmers throughout the northern and central sections were busy during the latter part of the week planting corn and potatoes. In a few of the districts the potatoes are showing above ground. The beets and grain crops look well, and the range are said to be in a fair condition.

Strawberries are ripening in Utah county, and the first evening of lawns is in progress in Washington county. In the southern sections the water is getting very scarce and fears are entertained that the supply will not be sufficient for the proper irrigation of crops during the coming summer.

RANGES OF CORRESPONDENTS.

St. George—Unfavorable temperature has had a decided effect on vegetation during past week. Cutting of lucern commenced. Planting closes very frequent but no rainfall.

Moab—The effect of the weather during past week has been quite favorable. A few strawberries are beginning to ripen. The temperature of April 30, being 10 degrees, killed about 75 per cent of the fruit and blossoms.

Levan—The warm weather so much needed has come at last, and vegetation has taken a fresh start. This has been the coldest and latest Spring known since the place was settled in 1869. The frost has done much damage to fruit. Small grain, although backward, is all right. Potatoes are coming up; corn planting going on.

Holden—Fine growing weather the last week; things are coming along fine if the warm weather continues with no set backs.

Fillmore—Warmer days and brighter suns. Crops and everything advancing rapidly. High water in streams; farmers making good use of it while it lasts.

Grantsville—The weather is much warmer; that it has been. Vegetation is growing much faster. Small grain looking well; water getting scarce but holding out well considering the dry weather. No rain.

Kanab—Yesterday (29th) was the first day to indicate that summer was coming but today the old conditions exist, viz., cold dry winds; no rain or snow. Gardens and field crops very backward.

Harrisville—The fore part of the week some what stormy; latter part has been good, growing weather and old nature seems to have put on her beautiful attire. Farm work has taken no impetus with favorable prospects. Irrigating just commencing.

Portage—10th, rained all night; snowed up to noon and then cleared off; 20th, bright and warm; frost day we have had during past three weeks. Frost last night which nipped the fruits.

Newton—Last week's weather very favorable. Rain on 19th. Good growing weather last four days of week. Grain doing well; lucern about timber high; trees blossoming, bees not doing well, many stands dying out; a few potatoes planted.

Cache Junction — Last week's weather fair; rain on 19th nearly all day; showers in evening nearly every day. Grain growing good; lucern 8 inches high.

Lewiston—Past week has been quite favorable for crops. Wheat and crops in general, on east hill, looking fine; on heavy soil does not look so well. The hard frost last week has damaged peas and cutworms, turning the tops yellow.

Deseret—The fore part of the week was stormy and cold, but since the 20th the weather has set warmer and vegetation of all kinds is starting to grow. Farmers are busy planting potatoes and corn yet.

Brigham City — Fine growing weather all the week with occasional light warm showers, ending cloudy with prospects of more rain—warm and springlike.

Pleasant Grove—Changeable weather during past week; very cold nights. Some bulb fodder but we will have plenty if we do not have any more heavy frost. Lucern is about 8 to 12 inches high; grain is fair, strawberries about three weeks later than last year.

Castleville—Cold at beginning of week but warm growing weather the latter part. Wheat is growing nicely and the grass on the hills is yet so that stock can live on it.

Clinton—A notable change in the weather took place on the 20th; the temperature turned decidedly warmer and everything commenced to grow. Judging from the blossoms on the trees, there will be a very large crop of fruit. Potatoes and corn are at last showing above ground; beets and grain crops never looked better.

Tooele—Spring is picking up; we have had a few days of fast weather and everything has jumped that was left alive. A week of good growing weather will do wonders.

Spring City—The past week has been dry and hot with a little wind. Potatoes are being planted; fruit trees in bloom; all vegetation doing well.

Deseret—It has been warmer the past week. Crops are growing nicely; potatoes are now about all planted.

Helper—For three days cold and windy. Ice formed thick one of nights; now quite warm; feel like spring is in the air. Trees leafing out in a hurry, bees and butterflies coming around; and all nature is stirring. Potato planting will be in full operation the coming week. Grain begins to grow nicely; lucern backward; stock has been in out of doors the last few days, only now allowed two to three hours daily; first crop will be fished and bundled last week's cutting.

Bushnell—Crops are growing nicely since the warmer latter weather. Water is limited for irrigation, and fruit freezes badly in the early spring; only about half the amount of grain sown this month.

Lake Shore—The weather the past week has been more favorable for crops; some fruit killed with the frost; small fruit and apple trees will come out all right.

Marysvale—Week dry; last three days warm; vegetation backward. Water getting scarce and the prospects are that some plants must die for want of water. It has been too cold to irrigate and now when it is getting warmer we have little water. Potatoes nearly all planted.

Fairview—Warmer days and brighter sun. Crops and everything advancing rapidly. High water in the streams, farmers making good use of it while it lasts.

Schools and Politics.

The Utah county teachers are in favor of keeping the schools out of politics and to that end have submitted the following recommendations to the voters of Utah county: First, that the district school trustees of this county as an organized body, decide the time and place for holding a county nominating convention for county superintendent, when occasion arises, and that primaries in the various school districts for the election of delegates to said convention be called and presided over by the school trustees and in their respective districts. Second, That for the selection of trustees the incumbents have a call for primaries, wherein the citizens, as such, may meet to nominate their candidates.

Fourth District Court.

Judge Hiles of the Third district came down yesterday morning and opened court. The following orders were made:

A secret

Most everybody makes tea wrong—boils it. It might not to be boiled a second. The water it is made with should come to the boiling point—and not boil any longer.

There is a certain sparkle in all good water. Prolonged boiling takes out that sparkle.

But the reason you shouldn't boil tea is: boiling gives you the tannic acid, the harsh constipating part of tea.
