CONTESTED ELECTION,

TERRITORY OF UTAH.

Geo. R. Maxwell vs. Geo. Q. Cannon.

Argument of Halbert E. Paine, Counsel for Sitting Member.

(Before the Committee on Elections of the House of Representatives of the United States, Washington, D. C., 1874.)

Mr. Curtis submitted his views, dissenting on some points from the report of the committee. Conceding the correctness of the decision of the House of Commons in Wilkes' case; and also that when a disability had been adjudged by the House, and the people, after publicity had been given to the judgment of the House, had again returned the member, the House would ordinarily take no further notice of disqualifications which a constituency was willing to tolerate; yet he thought that Mr. Matteson, after a fair trial de novo on the charges which had been preferred against him in the thirty-fourth Congress, ought to receive such punishment as the result of the trial should show to be right and proper in the case.

But the House sustained the report of the committee, and declined to take any further action on the resolutions for the expulsion of Mr. Matteson.

Benjamin G. Harris, of Maryland, was a Representative in the thirty-ninth Congress, his term of office commencing on the 4th day of March, 1865. On the 2d of May, 1865, he was arraigned, in the city of Washington, before a court-martial, of which Major General J. G. Foster was president, on a charge of violating the 56th article of war, on the 26th day of April, 1865, by harboring and protecting and furnishing with money and lodging two rebel soldiers, at Leonardtown, Maryland, and advising and inciting them to continue in the rebel army, and to make war upon the United States, and emphatically declaring his sympathy with the enemy, and his opposition to the Government of the United States in its efforts to suppress the rebellion. On the 12th day of May, 1865, he was found guilty, and the sentence of the court was in these words:

"And the court do therefore sentence the accused, Benjamin G. Harris, as follows: to be forever disqualified from holding any office or place of honor, trust, or profit under the United States, and to be imprisoned for three years in the penitentiary at Albany, New York, or at such other penitentiary as the Secretary of War may designate."

On the 31st day of May, 1865, this sentence was approved and confirmed, and also remitted by President Johnson, and Mr. Harris was released from imprisonment. At the commencement of the session, in December, 1865, Mr. Harris, upon taking the iron-clad oath, was admitted to his seat in the House of Representatives.

On the 19th day of December, 1865, Mr. Farnsworth introduced the following resolution—

"Whereas it is alleged that Benjamin G. Harris, a Representative in this House from the fifth district of the State of Maryland, was, in the month of May last, before a very respectable and intelligent court-martial, tried and by said court convicted upon charges and specifications, to wit, violation of the 56th article of war, by giving aid and comfort to the public enemy, and inciting them to continue to make war against the United States, declaring his sympathy with the enemy, and his opposition to the Government of the United States in its efforts to suppress the rebellion; and whereas it was proved at said trial (as is alleged) that the said Harris expressed his regret that the assassination of President Lincoln came too late to be of any use to the rebels, and at the same time declared that Jeff Davis was a great and good man; all of which acts, on the part of said Harris, are inconsistent with the oath he has taken as a member of this House; and whereas the said court-martial sentenced the said Harris (among other things) to be forever disqualified to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States, which sentence was approved by the President; therefore

"Resolved, That the Committee of Elections be directed to inquire into the facts of the case, and that they report the same to the house, together with such action as said committee shall recommend; and in making their investigations, said committee to have power to send for persons and papers."

Appended are testimonials from most reliable gentlemen well known in the Territory:

"The Watch I bought of you in 1872 goes most excellently, never varies a minute; has never had any repairs to it since I got it, although it has been exposed to very hard usage.

A. C. BROWN,
Brakesman U. S. R. R."

"The Watch I bought of you last year has proved to be the best article I ever bought, having lost it twice in the water, once at the depth of six feet, besides a great many other hardships, and stands all with perfect ease, being always right to time.

JOHN SANDS, Camp Douglas."

"The Watch I bought from you is all that can be desired. As a timekeeper it beats anything I ever had, and stands the jilting and rough usage without the least variation. DANIEL G. BRIANT,
