NEWS OF THE WEST.

One Monument on a Mining Claim is Sufficient.

EISTEDDFOD IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Teams Freighting Cheaper than a Railway—Shot in Mistake—Died from Cigarette Smoking.

Edward J. Eustas, 28 years of age, died at Oakland, Cal., Friday night, from excessive cigarette smoking.

On the Yuma, A. T., prison farm as an experiment, five acres of canaigre is to be planted. It is also proposed to try tobacco.

Victor L. Darsey, assistant superintendent of the Maryland mine, near Grass Valley, Cal., was killed Saturday night by a cave in the shaft between the 1,600 and 1,700 foot levels of the mine.

Spokane, Wash., Review: Abe Lemely, well known in Spokane and the Coeur d'Alenes, was shot and killed a few days ago by his brother, John Lemely, near Priest Lake, Idaho. They were out hunting together and John mistook his brother for a deer.

The Welsh residents of San Francisco have made arrangements for the holding of an Eisteddfod or bardic congress, in Union Square Hall, Post street, on New Year's day. The affair is in charge of a committee. Twenty-seven competitive topics have been announced, embracing literature, art, music, elocution, and handicraft.

On Saturday night burglars gained an entrance into a store at Nevada City, Cal., by blowing out a rock wall with dynamite. Although the explosion was heard a mile away, the first news of the crime received by two watchmen who patrol the neighborhood was when the storekeeper told them in the morning after he had entered the store for business.

Beginning this week, a train of large wagons commenced carrying freight from Stockton to Fresno, Cal., in opposition to the Southern Pacific company. The freight service, as arranged, is in reality from San Francisco to Fresno, and points intermediate. The first big shipment of freight by this new route was offered to the boats of the California Navigation and Improvement company Saturday, and went at once to Stockton by steamer. By this means there is a saving to shippers of $3 to $5 per ton, as the railway charges are much higher than those of the combined wagon trains and steamers.

A long-fought battle between millionaire mine owners in the calico district. rall has been finally decided by the United States circuit court of appeals, and the ruling of the California state supreme court in the controversy has been set aside. The parties of the litigation were the late John S. Doe and the Waterloo Mining Company, whose principal owner, Daniel Wells, Jr., is reputed to be worth over $50,000,000, made mostly in lumber corporations and land speculations, with silver mines thrown in. The plaintiff and the defendant own between them almost all of the Calico district, and at one time or another thirty suits on title or for trespass have been pending against them. In this instance the Waterloo is the winner. The importance of the case to the general mining public arises from the fact that the doctrine is laid down that one monument on a location is sufficient where the contour of the land will allow it to serve the purposes of the law. The decision not only confers title to the defendant to the ground in dispute, but establishes its right to recover $200,000, the alleged value of ores removed by Doe while in possession, suits for which are pending in the Federal courts.

LITERARY NOTES.

The second number of the Progress of the World, the new magazine of up-to-date general information, makes its appearance this week and is fully up to the standard fixed by the initial number. Among the notable articles of the November issue is an excellent and simple explanation of the Monroe Doctrine, showing the source of the present wide difference of opinion on the meaning and application of that famous principle.

The famous S. V. White, who has for so many years been such a power in Wall street, and has meanwhile represented his district in Congress, appears in a new role in the columns of Every Where. He delivers a lay sermon to young men and women, on the text, "Keep that which is committed to thy trust;" and it is the general verdict of business men, that his remarks ought to be framed in gold, and hung in every counting-room. The other departments of the paper are up to their usual standard, which is saying a great deal. The name of the editor, Will Carleton, is in itself worth a whole corps of ordinary contributors. Every Where, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Foreign affairs naturally have more than usual prominence in the November Review of Reviews. In the "Progress of the World," the department of that periodical in which the editor rapidly reviews the events of the preceding month the possibilities of war in the far East are pointedly set forth. Another theme suggested in the same connection is the progress of Christian missions in the Orient. The prospects of Japan and Russia as eastern powers are tersely discussed. The editor also comments briefly on the relations of Russia and France, the Italian celebrations, the French victory in Madagascar, the Cuban situation, and British policy in Venezuela. Among home topics of the month, the coming elections, the condition of New York politics, the anti-prize-fight campaign in the Southwest, and the educational outlook are selected for treatment.

Self-denial is the one thing most difficult to inculcate and always hard to practice, especially when there are good things to eat within reach. But there is no self-denial necessary if you take Simmons Liver Regulator. It promotes digestion, prevents Dyspepsia and a dose after a hearty meal of delicacies will prevent any discomfort. It's the best good-night toddy.
