CHAS. L. TUCKER PAYS DEATH PENALTY

Crime for Which He Was Electrocuted Was the Murder of Mabel Page.

IMPLORED GOD'S FORGIVENESS

His Execution Closed Most Desperate Legal Battle Ever Fought in Massachusetts.

Boston, June 12.—Charles L. Tucker was electrocuted at 12:12 this morning for the murder of Mabel Page.

Tucker was officially pronounced dead by the prison doctor at 12:19. Three applications of the current were made. When Tucker arrived in front of the death chair he drew from his trousers pocket a brief statement which he read. The statement was:

"I hope that God will forgive me for all the wrongs I have ever done in my past life. I forgive everybody who has wronged me. I am at peace with my maker. May God have mercy on my soul."

Tucker then sat down in the chair, and after the guards had adjusted the straps the warden raised his hand as a signal to the electrician.

After the first application of the electricity Dr. Joseph McLaughlin, the prison surgeon, made an examination and announced that the pulse was still beating. After the current had been applied a second time the surgeon detected a movement of the heart, but when the current was applied a third time Tucker was pronounced dead.

The surgeon stated that Tucker was unconscious from the moment the first shock was applied.

One more effort was made today to prolong the life of Charles L. Tucker through executive clemency, but after hearing the appeal of his clergyman as well as his counsel, Gov. Guild tonight again declined to interfere with the execution of the sentence.

After baptizing Tucker in the faith of the Methodist Episcopal church Rev. Thomas W. Bishop, a former pastor of the church at which Tucker was once an attendant, and his spiritual adviser, convinced by his protestations of innocence, sought an interview with Gov. Guild and obtained an appointment late this afternoon. He was closeted with the governor for an hour, but the executive declined to interfere in any way.

One of the incidents of the day was a telegram received at the state house by Gov. Guild from President Roosevelt in relation to the Tucker case, in which he declined to interfere. It appeared that some of those who participated in the Faneuil hall meeting on Saturday night wrote the president, asking him to interfere in Tucker's behalf.

The electrocution of Charles L. Tucker marked the final chapter in the history of the murder of Mabel Page at her home in Weston, March 31, 1904, and also marked the close of the most desperate legal battle ever waged in Massachusetts for the life of a convicted murderer. Tucker's case was taken through the legal windings until it received a hearing in the supreme court of the United States. A decision by the highest court in the land sustaining the ruling of the lower courts did not discourage Tucker's lawyers. A petition to Gov. Guild was prepared and circulated throughout the state. In a short time there were over 116,000 names attached to it.

The attorneys for the prisoner went before Gov. Guild not only with new evidence, but with a general plea for executive clemency and with affidavits, but they were not successful.

Mabel Page was murdered at her father's home in Weston on March 31, 1904. Her body was found several hours later by her aged father. On a nearby table was found a note, supposed to have been written by Miss Page, stating that she had been called to Boston because of the illness of her brother. It later developed that her brother Harold was not ill and the handwriting on the note and a postal which was also found in the house figured in the trial, the government contending that the handwriting as shown on the postal card was identical with specimens of Tucker's handwriting.

The police learned that Charles L. Tucker, an Auburndale young man of roving habits, had been seen near the Page house on the day of the murder. They found Tucker and on taking him to a police station questioned him, but released him. About three weeks afterward the officers searched Tucker's home. There, in an old coat, they found a broken knife blade stained and scarred, the scars indicating that an effort had been made to destroy it by means of a file.

A stick pin of peculiar design was also found, which was similar to one that Mabel Page had owned. Indictment for murder in the first degree followed. The evidence at the trial was largely of a circumstantial nature, and counsel for the defense produced witnesses and made to prove an alibi.

Since Tucker's trial and conviction Edwin Page, the father of the murdered girl, has died, as has Prof. E. S. Wood of Harvard university, who was an expert analyst for the prosecution.

Manila, June 11.—The public schools opened today throughout the islands. It is estimated that half a million pupils attended, though the accommodations are limited to about 400,000.

Gov. Ide dedicated the new high school at Lucena, province of Tayabas. He delivered a short address, advising the people to educate their children. He said that the future of the islands depends on the way the rising generation meets its responsibilities, and that education best fitted them for the duties they will be called on to assume.

STORAGE OF BUTTER.

Washington, June 11.—Some extensive experiments in the making and storage of butter have recently been concluded by the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, in an effort to solve some difficulties encountered in the butter trade. A bulletin containing a report of the experiments has been issued. The conclusion is that light salting and low temperatures and the use of cream received at the creamery in a sweet condition give much the best results for storage butter.

UNITED MINE WORKERS OFFER TO JOIN FEDERATION

Denver, June 11.—A letter was read in the convention of the Western Federation of Miners today from the coal miners of Ohio, offering to desert the United Mine-Workers of America and enter the Western Federation in a body.

The letter stated that at a mass meeting held May 27 at Dillonvale, O., it was decided to ask the Western Federation to take them in. It was further stated that all the coal miners of Ohio and West Virginia were ready to make the change of allegiance. The proposition was submitted to a committee.

Denver was chosen as the place for headquarters of the federation, by a large majority vote.

The other cities contesting against Denver were Butte, Salt Lake and Chicago.

Acting Secy. Kirwin said tonight that, in all likelihood, election of officers would be reached tomorrow. He said further, that President Moyer and Secy.-Treasurer Haywood, now confined in prison in Idaho, charged with conspiracy to murder ex-Gov. Steunenberg, would not be disturbed in their official positions. The constitution of the federation, he explained, required that all candidates for office must be on the floor of the convention at the time nominations are being made.

There is a provision, also, that continuous duly-elected officers remain in power until their successors are installed. At this convention, Mr. Kirwin said, no nominees for president or secretary-treasurer would be named, thus continuing Moyer and Haywood in their respective offices. However, a vice president and seven members of the executive board will be chosen, also a place for holding the next convention.

FLOODS IN CHINA DESTROY THOUSANDS.

Victoria, B. C., June 11.—Mail advices from Hankow, China, show that the great floods of this spring, in Hunan, caused an appalling loss of life, amounting to tens of thousands.

The rivers were higher than in any previous year and swept over the dykes, submerged houses and covered an immense area; in fact, the whole valley of the Siang was flooded, the floods pouring over the dykes in torrents.

Siangtan, a prosperous city, was flooded with water to the second stories of the riverside buildings. This place is the terminus of river steamers 30 miles from Chansha, and all business is at a standstill.

At Chansha the water flooded through the city gates, flooding out the people, sampans being as high as the treetops in places, and a tremendous loss was occasioned. The river was thick with wreckage and villagers on floating roofs.

The foreign missionaries in Siangtan were heavy losers, though all escaped in boats. None could estimate the loss of life, which was placed at tens of thousands. A famine will follow, for the floods had brought disaster to an immense area of the best rice-growing districts in Hunan.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS AGREE TO CARTER COMPROMISE

Washington, June 11.—The Carter compromise on the statehood bill was agreed upon today by Republican leaders of the senate and house. Nothing now stands in the way of the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as a state and a choice by Arizona and New Mexico as to whether they desire to come in as another state. It is expected that the pending conference report will be recommitted or withdrawn when it comes up tomorrow and an amended report returned to both houses embodying the compromise. In this way the discussion of a question that has been before Congress almost continuously for six years will be ended.

The compromise presented by Senator Carter provides for the rejection of the Burrows amendment striking from the bill all reference to the admission of Arizona and New Mexico, and the adoption in lieu of section 24 of the original bill an amendment providing as follows:

"That at the general election to be held on the 6th day of November, 1906, all the electors of said territories, respectively, qualified to vote at such election, the hereby authorized to vote for and choose delegates to form a convention for said territories. The aforesaid convention shall consist of 100 delegates, 68 of which delegates shall be elected to said convention by the people of the territory of New Mexico and 44 by the people of the territory of Arizona, and the governors, chief justices and secretaries of each of said territories, respectively, shall apportion the delegates to be thus elected from their respective territories as nearly as may be equitable among the several counties thereof in accordance with the population as shown by the federal census of 1900.

"That at the said general election and on the same ballot on which the names of candidates to the convention aforesaid are printed, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of each of said territories a question which shall be stated on the ballot in substance and form as follows:

"'Shall Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one state?'"

Then follows instructions in detail for marking the ballots and transmission of the results to the secretary of the interior, after which it is provided:

"If it appears from the returns that a majority of the electors in each of the territories voted in favor of union, then and not otherwise, the inhabitants of Arizona and New Mexico, as at present described, may become the state of Arizona, but if in either of the territories a majority of the electors shall have voted against the union, then provisions of the bill for the assembling of the constitutional convention shall be null and void, excepting that the appropriation made shall be available for defraying all and every kind and character of expense incurred on account of the election of the delegates to the convention and the submission of the question of statehood.

"Each territory will elect a delegate to Congress and vote for regular territorial officers at the same election, so that in case the joint statehood proposition is rejected the affairs of the territories will continue as heretofore."

The fire, which started in the oleomargarine department, was at 12:30 reported beyond control. Cornelius Denry, a member of Armour & Co.'s private fire department, was killed by falling timbers.

At 1 o'clock it was reported that the fire was under control, and it will be confined to the oleo plant. The loss is estimated at about $100,000.

How to Avoid "Lard Taste" in Cooking

When you use lard, your cooking often has a disagreeable, greasy taste.

It is a cheap substitute for the only true shortening—butter, a rather expensive product of milk. Use in your cooking and you'll need less lard. It is so extremely rich in butter-fat that less shortening is required.

Carnation Cream

Your cooking will taste better, and will cost you no more than before. Carnation Cream takes the place of milk and cream in the kitchen.

Use Carnation Cream, instead of milk, in making Doughnuts. They'll be surprisingly light and toothsome.

TERRIBLE ECZEMA ON LITTLE BOY

Mouth and Eyes Covered With Crusts—Face Itched Most Fearfully—Hands Pinned Down to Prevent Scratching

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little boy was six months old, he had eczema. The sores extended so quickly over the whole body that we at once called in the doctor. We then went to another doctor, but he could not help him, and in our despair we went to a third one. Matters became so bad that he had regular holes in his cheeks, large enough to put a finger into. The food had to be given with a spoon, for his mouth was covered with crusts as thick as a finger, and whenever he opened the mouth they began to bleed and suppurate, as did also his eyes. Hands, arms, chest, and back, in short the whole body, was covered over and over. We had no rest by day or night. Whenever he was laid in his bed, we had to pin his hands down; otherwise he would scratch his face, and make an open sore. I think his face must have itched most fearfully.

ALFONSO HOHRATH.

"We finally thought nothing could help, and I had made up my mind to send my wife with the child to Europe, hoping that the sea air might cure him, otherwise he was to be put under good medical care there. But, Lord be blessed, matters came differently, and we soon saw a miracle. A friend of ours spoke about Cuticura. We made a trial with Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and within ten days or two weeks we noticed a decided improvement. Just as quickly as the sickness had appeared it also began to disappear, and within ten weeks the child was absolutely well, and his skin was smooth and white as never before." F. Hohrath, President of the C. L. Hohrath Company, Manufacturers of Silk Ribbons, 4 to 20 Rink Alley, June 5, 1905. South Bethlehem, Pa.
