SENATE AND HOUSE.

An Acrimonious and Political Debate on New Mexico.

ATTORNEYS' AND MARSHALS' FEES.

The Time in the House Devoted to the Consideration of Military Affairs.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Senate indulged in an acrimonious political debate today, which developed much personal and party feeling, and brought on two sharp personal exchanges between Hill and Elkins, and between Brice and Elkins. The controversy arose over Hill's motion to strike from the pending appropriation bill the proposed change of the date of assembling the New Mexican legislature from December to May. Hill bitterly denounced the change as a "political trick," which had been "sneaked into" this appropriation bill in order, as he claimed, to postpone the meeting of the Democratic legislature in the hope that a Republican President would be elected and the political control of the territory changed.
