ACTIVITY IN SILVER.

Issue and Prospects of the Present Movement Discussed.

NO GUILTY TO SPECULATION.

A Digest of the History of the Waite Bill by One Whose Name Is Not Green.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The silver crisis, which had been noted of late, became yesterday, when about $500,000 worth were sold in the market alone.

Speculation on eight of the silver stocks and the causes and prospects of congressional legislation, Mr. Henry Clews, the firm of Henry Clews, Fitzpatrick & Co., said:

"The movement began on receipt of the news from Germany, as soon as the mints were closed. It was believed that a decision had actually been made to adopt a conference was made to the Upper House of Congress. The bill of Senator Jones, of Nevada, provides for a conference and calls for a large issue of silver, and that propriety. The bill, as it now stands, is not a good one. It provides that the seigniorage shall be coined into silver, and that propriety. A good deal of silver is now coined.

"I do not see that enough which contains tends to that the seigniorage is coined.

"I cannot see in the movement, as I do, any ulterior motive beyond the avowed purpose. The idea of silver currency is in vogue and England and Germany are adopting it. It is not the intention to make it money than gold. A silver country like the Southern cannot lead in such a movement. It is a good thing for the western women living there.

"In regard to an indemnity to be paid by China it has seemed to me it will come in some shape or other, but I am a strong advocate for a country of advanced ideas, and I think it is time for us to adopt the policy of the British Isles, and be ready to outstrip the Chinese. I am content to wait for the present movement successful.

"A question which is thoroughly understood by the market is that if silver is not coined, it will be allowed to go to the mint, coined, and the certificates issued against it. The market is thoroughly understood by the market. The silver is not coined, but it is
