SENATOR RAWLINS ARRIVES HOME.

Looks Hale and Hearty After His Stay in the Blizzard.

TALKS OF UTAH AFFAIRS.

Salt Lake Building and the Roberts Case—Feeling in the East—Reception in the Legislature.

Senator Rawlins arrived in this city from Washington at 12:30 this morning, over the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line roads, he having been delayed at Cheyenne on route, on account of the recent blizzard in Wyoming. When seen by a "News" man this afternoon he was busily engaged in company with Messrs. Jas. H. Moyle and George Romney jr. in attending to the administrative department at the back of the Thomas safe.

The Senator looks hale and hearty, after the fatiguing experience incidental to the closing days and all night sessions of the Windy city of the Senate, further with his long overland journey.

In response to a query regarding the public building for Salt Lake City, Senator Rawlins expressed himself as being gratified at the ultimate issue, and as soon as the bids for a site were advertised for and the same duly accepted, he said, the work on the structure undoubtedly would be begun at once and the appropriation that had been made by the nation's legislature would circulate among the people of the State.

On the subject of the Roberts case Mr. Rawlins said that while there was of necessity quite an amount of talk regarding the matter, owing to the agitation kept up by numerous persons in the East, personally he had not heard a single senator in his presence make any other statement than that Mr. Roberts was constitutionally entitled to his seat in the lower House of Congress.

As to the general view taken by the people in the East regarding Utah and her people, Senator Rawlins said that people were beginning to take a lively interest in the State, but that it was "a subject that would take some time to dissipate in all its various phases."

OVATION FROM LEGISLATORS.

Unannounced and unexpected, United States Senator Frank J. Rawlins walked into the House of Representatives shortly before the convening of the joint assembly at noon today. His appearance in the open doorway gave rise to a spontaneous outburst of exclamation and applause amounting to a veritable ovation. He found his way to the Speaker's platform and took a chair at the side of Representative Hoyt[illegible]. He was immediately called upon for a speech but declined to say anything except that he was glad to meet with the members, and that under the circumstances, the Legislature being in the last hours of its existence, it would be impredent for him to occupy the time. He then sat down again and remained there throughout the joint session.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

One To Be Held in the Council Chamber This Afternoon.

The Democratic members of the Legislature, particularly those comprising the McCune forces, are making one more determined effort to get together and accomplish an election in these the last hours of the session. At 4 o'clock this evening they will hold a caucus in the City Council chamber with a view to bringing about the desired result.

Senator Joseph L. Rawlins, who arrived home this morning from Washington, gave them new cause for hope and encouragement, saying that it was their duty in the crisis that confronted them to elect a Democrat, no matter what occurred. It is believed by the McCune supporters, in fact, it is confidently asserted by them that Mr. McCune will be elected this evening. The men supporting Hon. Geo. Q. Cannon contend that he will be a sure winner.

FUNERAL OF D. S. EMERY.

A Large Concourse of Relatives and Friends Lay His Remains to Rest.

The large assembly hall of the Sixteenth ward was filled to overflowing this afternoon on the occasion of the funeral of the late David S. Emery. The City Council, officers of the city and intimate friends and associates of the deceased lay in a body and the friends of deceased, whose number is legion, attended from all parts of the city to honor the memory of one who was esteemed, beloved and respected by all who knew him, in whatever capacity they associated with him, whether in public or private.

The large hall was beautifully draped in white, and the floral offerings were beautiful and numerous, entirely covering and surrounding the bier.

The services were conducted by Bishop F. Kesler, in whose ward the deceased was born, reared and died. Appropriate remarks were made by Elder Peter Nord, his associate in the superintendency of the Sixteenth ward Sunday school, President Angus M. Cannon, Apostle Francis M. Lyman, President Joseph F. Smith and Bishop F. Kesler.

All spoke in the highest praise of the integrity, uprightness and sterling worth of the departed to every position which he had filled in his short life. Expressions of consolation and comfort were extended by the speakers to the wife, children and friends of Brother Emery, who have the sympathy of a very wide circle of friends throughout the community.

Miss Hulpemia Morris and the choir beautifully rendered the hymn, "Oh, Grave, Where is Thy Victory?" and the benediction was pronounced by Bishop Walter J. Bentz of the Seventeenth ward.

DISCHARGED AS BANKRUPTS.

It will be on the Philippine Islands, a very appropriate subject, and one with which it is said the learned lecturer is thoroughly familiar. The entertainment will be choice in addition to the lecture, and it is expected that the Theater will be crowded in every part.

SAY THEIR SON DIED OF NEGLECT.

Trial of the Suit of John E. White Against R. G. W. Ry. Co.

WANT $25,000 IN DAMAGES.

Parents of Thomas F. White Attribute His Death to the Want of Proper Care.

The $25,000 damage suit of John E. White and Ann White against the Rio Grande Western Railway company came on for trial before Judge Cherry and jury this afternoon.

The plaintiffs are the parents of Thomas F. White, who died in this city on the 23rd of September, 1895.

The complaint sets forth that the deceased was in the employ of the defendant company, engaged as fireman, on the 5th of September, 1895, it is alleged, he was sent, along with others, to Fairbourn station, in Carbon county, and was put to work polishing engines. While had, it is alleged, was used in the point, which was improperly mixed, and, although deceased went home, it is alleged, the paint spattered and got on his face, causing him to take sick with bad poisoning of painters' colic.

It is then alleged that the defendants was notified of deceased's sickness, but neglected to send him a physician, and for four days failed to render him to a place where medical attention could be procured.

The deceased, it is further alleged, arrived in this city at 11 o'clock on the night of September 19th and walked two miles to his home. The following day he was removed to St. Mark's hospital, where he died four days later.

Plaintiffs further allege that by orders of the defendant they were not permitted to see their son at the hospital, until within a few hours of his death.

By reason of the defendant's negligence, it is alleged, the deceased lost his life, to plaintiffs' damage in the sum of $25,000.

The defense is a general denial of the material allegations of the complaint.

Plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Patterson, and the defendant company by Judge Howat and Judge Harrison.

MURRAY STABBING AFFRAY.

Trial of Charles Carlson Commences in the Criminal Court.

The trial of Charles Carlson, a Swede, on the charge of assault with with intent to commit murder, commenced before Judge Norrell and a jury in the criminal branch of the Third district court today. Deputy County Attorney Ray Van Cott prosecuted and the accused was represented by Attorney Farley P. Christensen.

The man Carlson is charged with attempting to kill a native countryman named Nick Stevenson. The men reside in Murray and were employed in the smelters.

On Monday night, December 26, 1898, in company with a number of others, the men were drinking in a saloon at Murray. A number of the men became involved in a quarrel. Later they went outside the saloon and a general "mix up" followed, during which Stevenson received a stab in the left side. The knife with which the stabbing was done belonged to Carlson, but who used it on Stevenson, can not seem to be clear, as the majority of the witnesses were too drunk to know what was going on.

The defense is that Carlson did not use the knife, but that he received aid provocation from Stevenson to do so.

Estate of Levira Smith.

The Smith estate contest, reported in Wednesday's "News," was concluded before Judge Norrell last evening. Judge Hiles gave the attorneys fifteen days in which to file briefs and took the matter under advisement.

Judge Hiles today took testimony in the case of Jacob A. Dupee vs The Salt Lake Valley Loan & Trust company. Messrs. Dickson and Ferrin for plaintiffs and E. D. Crutcher for the defendant corporation.

Suit was brought by plaintiff to recover possession of the north half of lot 8, block 21, plat C, Salt Lake City survey. Defendant admitted that it is in possession but claims that before the commencement of the action plaintiff demanded possession of the premises, which was refused.

Verdict for Plaintiff.

Judge Cherry and a jury have been occupied today in a trial of the issues between Hannah R. White vs J. A. Livingston Smith.

Plaintiff sued to recover $678.32 alleged to be the balance due on a promissory note.

The defense claimed that an abatement of $400 had been made on the note, which was endorsed on the back, but afterwards cancelled.

The jury found the issues for the plaintiff in the sum of $416 and $99 attorneys' fees.

Two Jurors Fined.

Petit Jurors Joseph T. Raleigh and Andrew Gerhardt were fined $2.50 each by Judge Norrell today for absence.

GOVERNOR VETOES INSURANCE BILL.

Says it Would Exert a Pernicious Influence on State Business.

WOULD ENCOURAGE FRAUD.

Governor Algeld of Illinois Vetoed a Similar Bill, Because it Would Tend to Make Dishonest Men Rich.

Governor Wells sent in a message this morning to the House announcing his disapproval of H. B. No. 29, by Ivers, better known as the fire insurance bill. The bill, it seems, was passed under a misapprehension to a considerable extent. Almost immediately after having been signed, members began to ascertain that it was not, just what they had thought it to be. The measure was sent to the Governor three or four days ago and returned this morning accompanied by the following veto message:

"I have the honor to return herewith House bill No. 29, entitled, "An act relating to fire insurance, authorizing a form of policy, and providing against the reduction of the amount insured for in case of total loss," without my approval.

"The object of this bill seems to be to make insurance companies liable for the full amount of the insurance upon property regardless of the actual value of such property. Legislation of this nature is found upon the statute books of but few of the states, and though there have been many attempts to enact it in others, the reasons urged against it have been sufficiently strong to defeat the attempts. After somewhat careful examination of the matter, I am convinced that such a law as this would exert a pernicious influence on business in our State, even if it did not have a tendency to encourage fraudulent and incendiary fires. In states where such laws have been passed it has been found that there was a heavy increase in the number of fires of suspicious origin, and in states where laws have been in force for some time, they have been repealed or radically amended. Governor Altgeld of Illinois vetoed a measure similar to the one under discussion in 1896, and in his message of disapproval, used the following language, which it seems to me is exactly applicable to the present bill: 'Insurance is an industry, not a speculation. It is intended to protect a man against loss, not to give him something for nothing. The principle involved in this bill would enable him in many instances to be benefited as well off after a fire as he was before. In all cases where a dishonest man sought, by conniving with agents, or in any other way, to insure himself for more than the real value of his property, a fire would be a blessing to him. There would be a standing bribe, a perpetual inducement to allow his property to burn down, and when it is remembered that a fire in one building always endangers and frequently destroys property near by, which is often owned by persons who have taken no precautions against fire, and who have done nothing to deserve such a misfortune, the tendency to incendiarism is plain. Insurance is an industry, not a speculation. It is intended to protect a man against loss, not to give him something for nothing. The principle involved in this bill would enable him in many instances to be benefited as well off after a fire as he was before. In all cases where a dishonest man sought, by conniving with agents, or in any other way, to insure himself for more than the real value of his property, a fire would be a blessing to him. There would be a standing bribe, a perpetual inducement to allow his property to burn down, and when it is remembered that a fire in one building always endangers and frequently destroys property near by, which is often owned by persons who have taken no precautions against fire, and who have done nothing to deserve such a misfortune, the tendency to incendiarism is plain. This is exactly what this bill would tend to do. It would make dishonest men rich.

"In addition it should be said that the insurance companies operating in this State contribute liberally to our revenues under our system of taxation on premiums, licenses to agents, etc., and it has always been and ought to be the policy of our laws to encourage legitimate competition in our business, rather than to place barriers in their way.

"I am convinced that there is no public sentiment calling for the measure proposed to be enacted by this bill, on the contrary, the best insurance interests are opposed to any legislation that might drive insurance companies out of the State, or cause them to withdraw from business in this State, or cause those which remained, to advance their insurance rates. There are also parts of the law of doubtful constitutionality, notably the provisions of section 12, but I do not deem it necessary to call special attention to them."

Consideration of the bill was deferred till all the senators were present.

TAXATION BILL PASSED.

Mr. Hansen called up Senate bill 34, by Dunton, in relation to taxation and defining the powers and duties of the State board of equalization. He explained that the bill requires the owners of mines to make a statement of the cost of the area and of their net profits in order to ascertain the value of the property, equalization, and the county taxes to be distributed to the respective counties elsewhere. Mr. Sutcliffe explained that many mining companies have their offices in Salt Lake City and could more easily be reached by the State board than by local boards. Mr. Hansen said that the local tax was to be levied and distributed.

The bill was then passed, 14 voting aye, 4 nay.

The Senate took a recess.

The Senate reconvened at 3 p. m. yesterday afternoon.

Doesn't Want the Ice Trust.

Augusta, Maine, March 8—The legislative judiciary committee has voted to report unfavorably the bill to incorporate the $50,000,000 American Ice Co. The bill was introduced by Representative Joseph Manley and had for its object the combining of nearly all the ice companies on the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers, many of which are not yet New York concerns. Chief argument in opposition to the bill was that the charters would simply make this State the storage place for ice, the gathering and sale of the product being controlled entirely by harvest prospects on the Hudson and the amount of business done by the New York companies.

Poisoned by Wood Alcohol.

Marlboro, Mass., March 8—The examination made upon the stomachs of the four members of the Underwood family who were found dead in a tenement house in the rear of the Frye shoe factory here on Monday evening, Feb. 13, gives as the cause of death in every case, the drinking of wood alcohol.

The persons who were found dead in the house were Edward Underwood, his two daughters, Olive, aged 21, and Frances, aged 12, and John Clifford, the two-year-old son of Olive Underwood.

COLLISION ON THE UNION PACIFIC.

Delayed Passenger Train Crushes Into a Helper Locomotive.

SOME TRAINMEN INJURED.

Passengers Escape Being Hurt—Accident Occurred on Piedmont Hill.

Word reached the city this morning through semi-official sources, of a bad smashup on the Union Pacific at the foot of Piedmont hill, west of Green river, Wyoming. The belated westbound passenger No. 1 was sent out of Green River a short time ahead of the regular No. 3, likewise a passenger train, westbound. A helper had been dispatched out to assist No. 1 over the hill, and was on its return trip, when it collided with the engine pulling No. 3. The passenger, at the time, was running at a good rate of speed, and the impact was sufficient to smash both locomotives. It is said the helper got the worst of it and was thrown completely from the track.

As near as could be gathered from the meager report available, there were no passengers injured, though it is understood that the engine crews of both locomotives were hurt, but how seriously cannot be told at present.

The track was not open this morning, No. 1 being still at Green River.

The occurrence of smashups on the Wyoming division has led to some criticism here upon the part of most of the experienced railroad men of the west, as to the wisdom of Division Superintendent Harris in discharging the old men on the division, and placing in charge of such important operations has been only on prairie ranks. This last accident, however, could not be traced to the lack of experience upon the part of the employes, as no change has taken place in the personnel at Green River.

IN RAILROAD CIRCLES.

Arrival of Palatian Excursion Train—R. G. W. Bonds—Other News.

The Pennsylvania railroad's Golden Gate excursion came in from the west over the Southern Pacific and the R. G. W. All of the coaches were at the World's Fair with the exception of the cars China and Chilion, which are equally as beautiful as the remainder of the train.
