DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Monday, March 16, 1896.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Elders Le Roi C. Snow, Alfred Ridges, Frank L. Rentle and Heber J. Grant Speak.

The usual services at the Tabernacle yesterday were well attended and were presided over by President of the Stake Angus M. Cannon.

Choir sang:

Do we not know that others want
Then let us not forget with the Lord.

Prayer was offered by Elder C. W. Penrose.

Choir further sang:

Sing over the mountains yonder
Who work from the midst of the desert paths.

Elder Le Roi C. Snow, who will shortly leave home to take up a labor in the Swiss and German mission, was the first speaker. He felt that it may one who never received the Gospel testimony from God, it was his, and accordingly he asked for the faith and prayers of those assembled. He knew that the Gospel of Jesus Christ was true. He had received such a testimony. The power of the Priesthood was greater to the Latter-day Saints than anything else that could be bestowed upon mankind upon the earth. He was proud to bear the name of a Latter-day Saint, and in standing to a call that had been made of him, was going out into the nations of the earth to bear the testimony of the truth, which he had received. The work of the Elders among the people of the earth would avail nothing were it not for the spirit of God which accompanied their teachings. A great difference exists between the teachings of outside denominations and those of the Latter-day Saints. The doctrine of the Saints was identical with that taught by Jesus Christ himself; it was revealed in these latter-days that all nations might be taught the word of God in its purity, by men having authority to promulgate teachings upon the heads of those who yielded obedience unto His laws and commandments. In conclusion Elder Snow bade the Saints of Utah farewell, and hoped they would exercise their faith and prayers in his behalf.

Elder Alfred Ridges, a recently returned missionary from Australia, was the next speaker. He felt pleased to stand up and bear his testimony to the truthfulness of the Gospel at the place of salvation as revealed from heaven in these latter days. He hoped that all assembled had come together to be led spiritually, for he knew that if they came with that object in view and strove for such a result, they would have their desires gratified. In labors in Australia had been a source of joy and satisfaction to him. The love of God had burned in his heart, and when the time came to return home, it was almost as much of a task to do that as it had been to leave home. He felt that his home was there, having become so fondly attached to his labors in bringing souls unto Christ. The restoration of the Gospel in these last days was brought about by revelation—something which the different religious denominations of the world did not believe in. The taking of the Gospel from the earth necessitated its return and it could only be restored through revelation. Through the instrumentality of the Prophet Joseph Smith the Gospel in all its ancient purity and holiness had been revealed to those living in this dispensation. Modern revelation would prove to be believed in, hence they, and now of our time, could become recipients of the Gospel which the Latter-day Saints had expounded, and gained the blessings which followed obedience therein. The American mission is prospering, the only drawback being a lack of Elders to carry the glad tidings to the people in that land. Numbers of sons in that land had not been privileged with visits from Mormon missionaries, and unless such were sent to those cities, the people residing therein would perish. Prejudices had been allayed there to an alarming extent and the people of America had opened their hearts and their homes to the preaching of the doctrines of Mormonism.

Elder Frank L. Rentle felt it a great privilege to stand up and bear his humble testimony to such a large congregation of Latter-day Saints. He had recently filled a mission in the Southern States—a labor which he had greatly enjoyed. When called to leave his home to go forth and explain the principles of the Gospel to the people of the South, he had not a testimony of the work, because he had not applied himself to it. He knew now, however, that God lived, and that he was a rewarder of those who would diligently seek Him. He urged upon the parents to teach their children the principles of the Gospel, that they might know that the work was true. The Saints should not only be hearers of the word, but doers of it, too. It was absolutely necessary for the Saints to yield obedience to the instructions which were laid down to them from time to time by the authorities, because the Gospel of Jesus Christ was of divine origin, and it was just as essential that we yield obedience to the laws laid down, as it was for the followers of Christ to yield obedience unto Him in ancient times. The speaker was pleased to know that this church was presided over by a Prophet, Seer and Revelator, who together with his counselors and the quorum of the Twelve Apostles were able to pronounce blessings upon the Saints, which would be poured out upon them in rich abundance if they would but yield obedience to Gospel laws and commandments.

Elder Heber J. Grant, in addressing the Saints assembled, stated that it was ever a source of joy and satisfaction to him, to listen to the humble testimonies of returned Elders. The speaker realized that the assertion, that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was the only true one upon the face of the earth, was a bold one, but it was verily true. When Joseph Smith inquired of God which was the true church, he met with the answer that none were recognized by Him. This was sufficient to prove that they had all fallen away from the Gospel and that that church which had been organized by the Prophet under the direction of God, was the only authorized religious denomination existing upon the face of the earth today. If parents desired their children to possess a knowledge of the divinity of the work of God, they must teach them the first principles of the Gospel from their youth up. Such a testimony would not come to them unless they sought for it. Nothing much was accomplished without labor, and unless the children of the Saints were taught in the ways of the Lord, their knowledge of the Gospel would be very limited. The book of Doctrine and Covenants required the parents to look after the spiritual welfare of their children, and if they failed to give heed unto that commandment, the sin would rest upon their heads. In conclusion the speaker made an earnest appeal to the parents to observe the duties devolving upon them with respect to the training of their children that they might be brought up in the fear and admonition of the Lord.

The choir sang the anthem:

Israel's sons with one accord.

Benediction was pronounced by Elder Henry P. Richards.

THE DEVINE CASE.

A Decision Expected Tonight—Argument by the Respective Attorneys on Saturday Night.

It is expected that at the meeting of the fire and police board to be held tonight, a decision will be handed down in the Devine case, the hearing of which engaged the attention of the commissioners nearly every night last week.

On Saturday night the case was argued by Judge Judd for the prosecution and Messrs. Stephens for the defense, and although the prosecuting attorney had given notice that he would offer certain testimony to rebuttal, none was introduced. At the close of the arguments which occupied about an hour and a half, the board took the case under advisement.

THE BONNETT CASE.

Mrs. Mason Discharged and Duggins and McCoy Released On Bonds.

The preliminary hearing of the Bonnett murder case closed on Saturday night. Mrs. Mason was discharged from custody and Duggins and McCoy were released on bonds. Duggin's bail was fixed at $5,000. Albert Fisher and Emily W. Duggins were his sureties. Dr. McCoy's bail was set at $2,000. His bondsmen were S. F. Mount, of Richfield and James Hegney, of Salt Lake. Carter was unable to secure his release here and it was mutually agreed by counsel on either side and the court that Justice Saxey of Provo, where the defendant was taken, might give him the liberty on filing a satisfactory bond there.

Left With a Pain In His Side.

Carlos Young, who was found guilty of grand larceny and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Higgins, at Fillmore, made his escape Saturday evening.

Young had been held as a witness in the grand larceny case of Ed. Mortensen, George Penny and A. Abraham, of Kanosh.

Immediately after supper Saturday at Sheriff Holbrook's house, Carlos complained of a pain in his side and stepped outside and has not been seen since. Young was to have been brought to the penitentiary yesterday. It is said that friends and relatives assisted him in his escape.

Information Wanted.

Elder George Clark, who resides at 231 south Third West street, this city, is anxious to know if there are any Saints residing in the State who hail from Basingstoke, Hants, England. If any such there be, they would confer a favor by entering into correspondence with the gentleman at the above address.

Portelle Items.

PORTELLE, Idaho,
March 14, 1896.

To the Editor:

For several days in the beginning of the month we were visited by wind and snow, but the weather took up at the end of last week, and gave us a good idea that spring was coming. The morning of the 13th, however, came in with a strong breeze until nearly noon, when snow made its appearance and in a short time heavily six inches had fallen. This morning again reminds us of spring weather, although we hear the sleighbells ringing.

Primaries of the various political parties have been held and other notices are out. Our election for city officers takes place on April 7th. Each party seems to have full confidence of success.

We are to have a visit of the Critchlow party from the 15th to the 25th. They are to hold three meetings on Sunday and two each day thereafter until the close. The length of time will allow all to Portelle to visit them if they so desire.

We were favored with a visit from Dr. Karl G. Maeser on Tuesday, the 10th. He spoke to us in our meeting house which was crowded to excess, some of us taking seats on the floor or our stand. This reminded me of meeting among the remnants of the Lamanites. He spoke in his well known style, assisted by the power and inspiration of the Holy Ghost, which enabled him to give a most hearty and valuable instruction to assist in the spiritual advancement of our children. His remarks were listened to with great interest by all present and it is to be hoped they will be long remembered and practiced by the Saints, who feel to say: God bless Brother Maeser for his labiately mission.

Kanab Stake Quarterly Conference.

The Kanab Stake quarterly conference was held in Kanab, March 7th and 8th, 1896. There were present of the authorities, the Kanab Stake presidency, a majority of the members of the High Council and all of the Bishops of the various wards. The meetings were well attended. The speakers enjoyed a goodly portion of the spirit of the Lord, by which kind and fatherly counsel was given, exhorting the people to live up to the principles of the Gospel, and observe and keep the requirements of the same; and further, to study more thoroughly the revelations, the Bible, Book of Mormon and Doctrine and Covenants and other Church works, that they might become better acquainted with those principles we are required to obey, and to earnestly to strive out the counsel of the living Priesthood who are placed here upon the earth to make known unto us the mind and will of the Lord from time to time.

The general and local authorities were unanimously sustained, also our home missionaries. Joel Wm. T. Stewart was sustained as president of the High Priest's quorum in the Stake of Zion, in the place of Elder John Riggs who had removed from the Stake. Elder Frederick G. Carroll was sustained as a member of the High Council, (they have not yet been so sparing, the Sacrament was administered by the Priesthood of Kanab ward. We had pleasant weather during our conference and a nice little snow storm just previous, which gives greater hope to the farmer for a greater supply of water and a more bountiful harvest this coming fall. There has scarcely been any storm for three months or more up to the 3rd of March, which had caused intense and anxious to look a little fearful. We still live in hopes that there will be plenty of rainfall to supply our streams with what water we need for our farms, and cause the grass to grow on the range for our cattle.

In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Butter County, California, was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market. For sale by druggists.

"It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I was relieved of a very severe cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy. Chas. M. Gates, of Reedley, Fresno County, California." A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs. For sale by druggists.

How to Cure Rheumatism.

ARANSAS, CROW COUNTY, OREGON, November 16, 1895.—I wish to inform you of the great good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies prescribed for that complaint but found no relief until she used this Pain Balm; one bottle of which has entirely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for that trouble. Yours truly, C. A. BULLARD. 50 cent and $1.00 bottles for sale by druggists.

THE FINAL treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands can testify. Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use afford but temporary relief. A cure certainly cannot be expected from douds, powders, douches and washes. Ely's Cream Balm, which is so highly recommended, is a remedy that combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power, with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.
