Before the Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—A Times special from Joliet, Illinois, says: The seventy insurance companies involved in the loss on the Lambert & Bishop factory have laid the case before the grand jury. An indictment against Superintendent Whyte, Lambert, Bishop and others, for burning the works, has been sought for by the insurance people.

Kruger in a New Role.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 6.—Comedian Jacques Kruger has just been notified by his New York attorneys of the successful issue of a lawsuit by which he comes into possession of valuable estates in France and becomes the Count de Cartier de la Bois.

They Mean Business

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—The provisional committee of the anti-administration Knights of Labor has decided to begin a suit in equity against the general officers of the order for an accounting of the funds and to determine whether any of the officers have been guilty of criminal acts.

Casualties.

WINNIPEG, January 6. — Canadian Pacific passengers arrived from the west today, describe Wednesday's accident at Middleton. Two freight trains met on a trestle eighty feet high, between 1 and 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. The engine of the westbound train became fastened in the trestlework and stuck there while the tender and several cars the top and went to the bottom. The engine coming from the west went through the trestle immediately after the collision and took down a number of freight cars. The two engineers, one fireman and one brakeman were killed outright. One man wedged under the wreckage was noticed to be alive, and one of his comrades undertook to remove him by grasping his hand. The rescuer was horrified when he broke the man's fingers, which had been frozen while in this deplorable condition. Another man was seen under the wreck, all of his body being visible except his head, which was horribly mangled. Nobody seemed to know the cause of the accident. It was thought the men had been too long on the train going east, and had fallen asleep.

JUMPED OVER

FATAL SNOW-SLIDE.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 6.—A News Glenwood Springs, Colorado, special says: This morning John Neville and a companion were caught in a snow-slide near here and carried down the mountain side several hundred feet. Neville was killed, and his companion escaped with but slight injuries.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 6.—A telegram from Louisa Court House says that over twenty houses have been burned to-night, and the fire is still raging. A fire engine left here by special train at 1 o'clock.

ATCHISON, Kansas, Jan. 6.—The Atchison Union Railway depot was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The upper story of the building was occupied as a hotel. All the depot and hotel furniture was saved. Loss about $125,000; insurance $50,000.

Franklyn's Defalcations.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Suit was begun for $500,000 in the superior court here today by the Horn Silver Mining Company, against one of its directors, Augustus D. Byralu, who lives in this city. This is one of a number of suits, all the rest of which were begun in New York against the director there to make the company's directory responsible for a defalcation of $450,000 by Charles G. Franklyn, former president of the company, and one Brown, who was vice-president. Franklyn was general agent of the Cunard Steamship Company, and his shortages in the various concerns with which he was connected, were reported in New York dispatches some weeks ago to be nearly one million dollars. The directors, under the by-laws of the mining company, which is a Utah corporation, are liable for the acts of the officers elected by them.

Stock Increased.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 6.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company this afternoon, the plan of the board of directors to increase the capital stock of the corporation from $3,000,000 to $6,000,000 was adopted. It is stated that $1,000,000 of this increase will go to the stockholders in dividends, and the other $1,000,000 be available for subscription at par by railroad corporations which adopt the improved Westinghouse air brake.

The Presents Exhibited.

ROME, Jan. 6.—The Pope has announced that he will receive the presidents of English and American colleges in Rome and the British pilgrims on the 9th inst.

The Pope's jubilee presents were placed on exhibition at the Vatican today. Foreign diplomats, a number of Roman aristocrats and a host of other guests were present. The Pope entered the hall where the presents had been arranged, about noon, followed by 45 cardinals and the pontifical court. Cardinal Schieffino read an address. To this the Pope replied; his soul was moved by the manifestations of love and veneration reaching him from all parts of the world. He regarded that as evidence of the power of the papacy, which the enemies of the church vainly attempted to deny. The share taken by the sovereigns of the world in the jubilee, proved that they justly appreciated the importance of the papacy. He concluded by praising the organizers of the exhibition.

A New Plan.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The committee on insolvencies of the New York Stock Exchange has been requested to examine the books of Dater Timpson, which were found in Hackensack River. The mystery regarding the books has been cleared by the statement of Alfred Sidman, former confidential clerk of Dater Timpson, to the effect that, laboring under mental aberration, he took the books, put them in a sleigh, and driving to the Hackensack River threw them in.

William's Hopes.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—Emperor William, in his letter to the Berlin magistracy, says: "I trust, under the protection of the lasting power which may God vouchsafe, and by legislative measures dealing with economy on social matters, the welfare of the nation in the future, as it has been in the past, will be materially developed."

G. A. R.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 6.—At the annual camp fire of the local Grand Army post tonight Major-General Schofield, U. S. A., made a patriotic speech to the federal and confederate veterans and had a dramatic meeting with General W. S. Wallack, of the confederate army, who was in the Mexican war with Schofield.

The Ex-Governor's Funeral.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Jan. 6.—The funeral of ex-Governor Parker took place this morning from the Presbyterian Church. A large assemblage of distinguished citizens of the state and nation were present.

The Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—The situation of the strike is unchanged and the end seems to be as far off as ever. Coal is becoming scarce and there are prospects of an advance in price. At the meeting last night of local assembly Knights of Labor, composed of Reading Railroad employes, it was resolved that in the coming election for congressmen they would support only those who are pledged to vote to repeal the tariff on coal.

CRIMINAL CASES.

Bandit Bernal Killed.—Eight Nihilists Hanged, Etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Information has reached this city that John D Walthen, partner of George E. White, who is one of the wealthiest men in Northern California, was shot and killed at Covello, Mendocino County, Monday last, by Clarence White, a brother-in-law and cousin of George E. White. George E. White recently commenced suit against his third wife for divorce, and Walthen had been instrumental in

SECURING EVIDENCE

in the case for his partner. It is also claimed that he aided his employer in securing a divorce from his first wife by perjury, and was preparing to perform similar service in the case of the second wife, when the latter died before the divorce could be procured, and White soon afterward married his cousin Frankie White, from whom he is now seeking a divorce. Last Monday attorneys on both sides, including Walthen and Clarence White, Mrs. White's brother, were at Covello, engaged in taking depositions to be used in the divorce proceedings. Walthen and Clarence White were in a room at a hotel and it is claimed Walthen attempted to prevent White from entering another room where witnesses were being examined and that he made an effort to draw a revolver. Before he could do so, however, White drew his own weapon and fired, striking Walthen in the temple.

WHITE WAS ARRESTED

and released on bail. Walthen had a desperate record, having killed two men in almost similar quarrels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Nathan B. Sutton was hanged at Oakland this morning for the murder of Alexander Martin, a ranchman, in September, 1886. Strenuous efforts were made in Sutton's behalf for a commutation of the sentence, but since Governor Waterman assumed the office by the death of Governor Bartlett four months ago, six executions have taken place in the state, and though efforts in behalf of the condemned men have been made, in every case Governor Waterman refused pardons or commutations. When Sutton was on the scaffold he said, among other things: "I admire the firm stand taken by Governor Waterman in the matter of granting commutations and pardons. If he holds his grip the community will have but little to complain of as regards the showing of executive clemency."

BERNAL KILLED.

NOGALES, A. T., Jan. 6.—Information of the killing of Eraclio Bernal, the famous Mexican bandit, is just received. Bernal and a portion of his followers had a desperate fight yesterday near the town of Cosala, Sinaloa, with the Mexican troops, during which Bernal was killed. His mother and three or four followers were captured. The bandits were taken to Cosala, where they are at present captives lodged in jail at Cosala. The fight was short but bloody and desperate. No further particulars are obtainable, as the government wires are being used for the transmission of an official report of the affair. The loss on both sides is unknown, but supposed to be very heavy.

NIHILISTS HANGED.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A telegram from the Russian frontier states that eight nihilists, including Cossack Techernoff, condemned to death for making an attempt on the life of the Czar during his visit to the Don Cossack country, were hanged at St. Petersburg, January 2nd.

SOFIA, Jan. 6.—It is stated that sixty Montenegrin brigands led by a Russian named Nabokoffs have been dispersed by gendarmes with a loss of 10 killed.

Sherman to Speak.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—All the protection members of the Massachusetts congressional delegation accompanied by Herbert Radcliffe, of the Home Market Club of Boston, called upon Senator Sherman today for the purpose of urging him to accept an invitation to speak at a complimentary banquet in Boston some time in February. The club is a protection organization and devoted particularly to the interests of all wool-growers. Senator Sherman accepted the invitation and will probably be accompanied by Representatives McKinley of Ohio and Goff of West Virginia.

Won't Try It Again.

ST. JOHNS, Jan. 6.—Hugh H. Robertson, projector of the big timber raft, says there will be no more timber rafts constructed, but a timber ship will be built, with spars and steering apparatus and provisioned for 60 days. Work on the ship will be begun at once at Joggins.

Deaths.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—Henry Herz, pianist, is dead.

ROME, Jan. 6.—Gen. Herman Kanzler, formerly head of the Pontifical army, is dead.

THE CELEBRATED CASE.

That of Thœbe vs. Carlisle Being Heard.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—There was a full meeting of the House committee on elections today to consider the Thœbe-Carlisle contested election case. Contestant Thœbe was present with his counsel, Messrs. Sypher and Steever of this city. No one formally represented the Speaker. Sypher began the presentation of Thœbe's case, taking up first the brief already submitted with the record, which assumes as the basis of the case that the state election laws were violated in the appointment of the judges of election. This infraction of the law, he asserted, was sufficient to warrant the favorable consideration of

THŒBE'S CLAIM.

but if the committee did not agree in this view, he was prepared to present evidence to satisfy them of his client's election. The record alone could not reveal the facts in the case, and it was the duty of the committee to appoint a sub-committee to go to the district to ascertain the facts. Important papers were destroyed as he could prove by affidavits. Taking up the details of the case, Sypher said that on the night of the election it became apparent to the judges of the election at Covington that Carlisle had been defeated by more than 2,000 votes. At one o'clock they sent for Carlisle and or ught him to the house of a friend. He (Sypher) could give the name of the friend and the location of the house, but would not do so unless the committee urged him, as he did not wish to state at this stage of the case. After consulting with Carlisle, they telegraphed to have the returns of the outside counties withheld

ALL HE KNEW

"Who are 'they'?" inquired Heard.

"They! Why friends of Carlisle," replied Sypher. He said it was a fact that the returns of six outlying counties were withheld for five days and that Carlisle had publicly confessed he was defeated.

"You do not attach any importance to this point?" suggested Heard.

"No, I just mention it," replied Sypher.

"Hayes, I think, confessed his defeat at first," said Heard.

"Yes," replied Sypher, "and I think he ought to have stuck to it" Sypher said that in seven or eight precincts of Carroll County, the poll books were written, signed and certified as to all the names, in one hand writing, and it was evident that all must have been written after the election

BY ONE MAN,

as he could not have been in all the precincts at once on election day. Sypher next read the affidavit of John J. Pierce. Pierce tells that the signatures on the poll books were in one hand, "a peculiar hand," while the signatures of the election officers were in a different handwriting. Counsel said that Carlisle had failed of election through neglect. In some precincts no tickets were printed till 3 o'clock, and there was virtually no election in some precincts. In one case, only the three judges voted, two for Carlisle and one for Thœbe. In Boone County 200 votes were cast in one day, but the returns finally showed 567 votes. In Carrol County there was practically no election. He could show that the voters had failed to go to the polls on election day, but when they found that Carlisle had they voted next day. Not only was this the case in Carroll Co., but in every one of the outlying counties. Sypher quoted from a statement by J. J. Blakely, who was, he said, a prominent democrat and attorney of Covington, to the effect that 24 names appeared to have been added to the names on one of the poll books, after the signatures of the judges had been affixed. After the election seven of Carlisle's friends met and sent for Col. W. R. Nelson. They told him Carlisle had been defeated, Wanted him to assist in devising some means of changing the result. Thereupon Col. Nelson left, declaring he could take no part. "Carlisle dare not contradict his gentleman," said Sypher. Counsel next took up an affidavit by contestant to the effect that Carlisle's friends had corrupted his (Thœbe's) attorney, and induced him to abandon the case and

BEEN DEFEATED,

SUPPRESS TESTIMONY.

Sypher said that they had been given the name of the man who had purchased the attorney (Wood) and if their informants told the truth that man was a relative of Carlisle's. The price named for Wood was $250. Touching Carlisle's refusal to join him in taking testimony, Sypher remarked: "He did not dare meet me. He dare not go now into that district and take testimony." Thœbe's affidavit was next read, where he accuses Wood of delaying the taking of testimony and with telling him (Thœbe) that there might be money in it for both of them if he would withdraw from the contest. Sypher declared there was enough evidence in his brief to warrant the committee in seating his client, but if it did not think so certainly there was at least sufficient ground for the reopening of the case. "With what is he (Carlisle) here before the committee? Nothing. Not even the certificate of election. Either he knows he or he is going to throw himself on the mercy of the court." In conclusion he told the committee that it was known to those interested that both of the old parties had been coquetting with the industrial party, both seeking its votes for the next campaign and the committee could not afford to refuse to investigate the claims of this workingman (Thœbe) in the face of the disclosures he had made to the committee.

Contestant Thœbe next made a statement to the committee. He said he was born in the same county with the Speaker. He is 43 years of age. After the election he had told Wood that if Carlisle had one more vote than he (Thœbe) had, he ought to take the seat. In one county witness was informed that he had received 35 votes, but when Wood went down there he was informed that had been cast for him. In July, Wood, referring to witness' case, said: "I don't know what can be done about it." Witness also told him on several occasions that money could be made out of the case. Other persons had told him the same thing. Two democratic workers, one of them witness' brother-in-law, had called upon him and remarked that if he would not push the case he could make money out of it—1,000 dollars was a good thing to have. If the case were reopened it would be found that he was elected by 600 majority. He (Thœbe) had been a strong democrat, but for three or four years had been an independent. If the committee refused to reopen the case, the workingmen would say: "Had Thœbe been a democrat or had he been a lawyer they would have listened to him." Let the committee show the either that Thœbe was elected or was not elected. If the case was decided against him he would go back to his factory and work, but he would not quit voting.

Cooper remarked: "If things are as you say, what is the use of voting?"

Thœbe—"That is what I say."

Sypher presented a resolution that the papers in the case be printed and referred to a select committee to be charged with the investigation of the congressional election in the sixth district of Kentucky.

The committee then went into secret session. In the secret session the proceedings were confined to the reading of several of the affidavits, and, without an attempt to come to an agreement upon the proposition submitted by Thœbe's counsel, the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

AN HONEST MAN'S CRIME.

CIRCUMSTANCES UNDER WHICH ANYBODY WOULD STEAL.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan 3.—[Special to Omaha World.]—The most daring and the most distressing theft of the winter was committed in the middle of the day at one of the most frequented spots of the city. Crowds are all the time passing the Traveller building, on State street where Alexander & Co. have an office. Alexander and his clerk were startled by the crash of glass and, on turning, saw a hand reaching for some Swedish money on exhibition in the windows. Rushing out of the door Alexander chased the thief and quickly caught him. The thief struggled hard and Alexander had to knock him down. At the station he gave his name as Patrick J. Geary, and his residence as Texas. He told Lieutenant Weir that his wife was dead, and he had two little children. "In order to save them from starving he had committed the robbery. While the prisoner was in the station, several officers who had known him for years happened in, and they said that Geary had been an honest man and they believed his story.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

DYSPEPSIA

Up to a few weeks ago I considered myself the champion Dyspeptic of America. During the years that I have been afflicted I have tried almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permanent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of Simmons Liver Regulator by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bottles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. This fact alone ought to commend it to all troubled with Dyspepsia.
