SPECIAL SERVICES.

A Day of Thanksgiving, Rejoicing and Prayer.

In accordance with the instructions of the First Presidency of the Church, we decree that the Saints of this Stake shall assemble fasting, in their respective wards, at 10 o'clock on Sunday forenoon, May 1st, 1892, and continue in thanksgiving and prayer and in such religious exercises as may be prompted by the Spirit of the Lord, for three or four hours or less as wisdom and circumstances may dictate. That subscriptions be received for the completion of the Temple. That the people then repair to their respective homes and partake of food with rejoicing before the Lord. The Sunday Schools, the Tabernacle services and the Home Missionary appointments will be suspended for that day. We hope that the Saints will unite with the Ward authorities in efforts to carry out the counsel of the First Presidency, and make this day of fasting, thanksgiving and prayer a season of great benefit to all, that the Church may be strengthened and God may be glorified.

FRAGMENTS.

THE county court will meet at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

W. H. ROWE, of E. C. M. I., has returned home from a trip to Cache Valley.

MR. W. A. WILSON has resigned from the superintendency of the Kaysville Mill.

THE large safe belonging to the city engineer's office was being moved from the Deseret National Bank building to the new quarters in the City Hall today.

IN last evening's NEWS an account of a family gathering was given. "Mr. Brown" should have read "James Brown." The word "James" was inadvertently omitted.

A PIECE of U. S. paper money was picked up at the entrance of the Third District court room this morning. The owner can have it by giving a correct description at the NEWS office.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. Considerable business of a routine character was transacted. Mr. C. Whitmore was elected to fill the office in the committee of transportation made vacant by the resignation of C. F. Mason.

THERE will be an interesting session of the City Council tonight. Alderman Wandell declared with an air of some great significance this afternoon that he would introduce nothing of an "innocuous" nature, but that all his efforts would be fashioned after the broad gauge principle.

Tomorrow evening the M. I. A. of the Twenty-first ward will hold its last meeting for this season. An interesting programme, consisting of short addresses, an essay, songs, duets, recitations, musical selections, etc., will be rendered, commencing at 7:30. The public are cordially invited to be present.

GENERAL MANAGER WASHBURN, of the Union Pacific Dent department, went to Garfield Beach today in company with superintendent Bancroft to inspect the repairs and improvements now being made at that popular summer bathing resort. Five hundred and fifty additional bath houses, a new club room and an electric light plant are among the most conspicuous improvements.

The Salt Lake City railroad company have commenced the extension of their track from the present terminus, 21 street, in the Twenty-first ward, in an easterly direction. It is intended to carry the track beyond the Darlington Place location, which will now be served by the two railroad companies, as the Rapid Transit already passes it along First street.

Badly Injured.

Sam May, of Ogden, is laid up in consequence of a severe wound he received through falling against a letter press. May is express messenger for Wells, Fargo & Co., running west, and Wednesday morning while waiting for his train, which leaves at 2:45 a. m., stretched himself out on the counter in the express office and went to sleep. During his absence the wind blew aloud and fell to the floor, striking his head on a letter press, cutting his face near his mouth terribly. Dr. Carey was summoned and he dressed the sailor's wound. It will be some time before May can resume his old place in the express car.

She'd Do It Again!

A charge of disturbing the peace in which an old woman about seventy years of age, named Sarah Moore, figured as the defendant, was investigated by Commissioner Greenman this morning. Mrs. Moore resides at the corner of First and O Streets and occupies a 10x10 lot. A portion of this lot is an orchard, in which are quite a number of fruit trees, and into this, according to her statement, large stones, in the case, and other objectionable missiles are frequently hurled. Mrs. Meyer happens to be the next door neighbor of Mrs. Moore, and, having arrived at the conclusion that some one there is responsible for the annoyance, the latter a day or two since, gave vent to her feelings by throwing a mighty rocks upon Mrs. Meyers' well-kept lawn. Mrs. Meyers and other members of the family went out and quietly remonstrated, to which the aged dame responded in language scarcely fit for ears polite, although she now gave no proof that any of the rocks had ever come from next door. She herself had never seen them thrown. The defendant was adjudged guilty, and she will come up again tomorrow to know the Commissioner's decision. She appeared in no way to regret what she had done, but went so far as to say "she'd do it again."

THE WARNER TRAGEDY.

Further Trial of This Case in Judge Anderson's Court Today.

THE CORONER AND HIS JURY.

The Case for the Plaintiff Closed and the Defense Starts in.

WHEN the NEWS report of the trial of the action in which M. Rush Warner is the plaintiff and the Mutual Accident Association of the United States is the defendant closed yesterday, Dr. Foster was on the witness stand.

The sum claimed is $500, arising upon an accident policy issued by the defendant company on July 31st, 1890, to a son of the plaintiff, who, it is declared by his friends, was shot by a burglar at the family residence. On the other hand, the defendants, as their reason for declining to pay the insurance money, contend that the young man committed suicide.

Judge Rogers and Ogden Hiles are counsel for the plaintiff, and Baldwin & Talbick for the defendants.

In the course of his testimony Dr. Foster testified to the effect of gunshot wounds which would cause immediate death, with reference to the position in which the person receiving them would fall—the purpose being to show that if young Warner had shot himself through the heart he could not have taken the position in which he was found. Next asked as to where the weapon with which a man should so shoot himself would be found, the witness replied that it would probably be clutched in his hand or upon the ground close to where the shooting occurred. The object of this, apparently, was to refute the theory of the defense, that Warner shot himself and then placed the weapon where it was found.

The father of the deceased, M. Rush Warner, was then called and stated that his son was in good health, that his financial and social standing were good and that his future prospects were very bright. The correspondence between the witness and the defendant with reference to young Warner's death was introduced, and on cross examination Mr. Talbick had Mr. Warner scan the alleged interviews with him which appeared in the local papers after the death of his son, the purpose being to show that at that time the witness had a different theory as to the manner in which young Warner met his death from that set up in the trial.

Mrs. Warner, the mother of the deceased, testified as to the position of her son's body on the final afternoon when she returned home and found him dead.

Dr. Marshall, who made an examination of the remains, testified as to the result of his observations, and at the conclusion of his examination the court adjourned until today.

When the trial was resumed this morning Mr. M. Rush Warner was called by Mr. Talbick for further cross-examination. Counsel handed to the witness the death proof in the case of his son, called his attention to the statement of the beneficiary contained therein, and asked him whether or not he signed the same. Witness said the signature was his.

E. H. Dunning, a neighbor of the Warners, said he knew the deceased, and was at his parents' house about 6 o'clock on the evening of his death. He saw the wounds produced near the region of the deceased's heart by the bullet, which went through him and lodged in the wainscot of the trousers. Witness saw the deceased between 11 and 12 o'clock on the day of his death. He then appeared all right. The witness was questioned at some length by Attorney Baldwin, but nothing of importance was brought out.

Dr. Marshall was recalled for cross-examination. He was asked by Attorney Talbick if he could say what percentage of heart wounds were mortal, but the question was objected to by Judge Rogers as improper, and the objection was sustained. "Are wounds to the thorax considered fatal or dangerous?" was next asked and objected to, and the objection again sustained.

The plaintiff's counsel then rested, and Mr. Talbick moved the Court to instruct the jury to find for the defendant, on the grounds, mainly, that no evidence had been introduced competent to be considered tending to fix liability on the defendant company, also that the evidence showed affirmatively that the plaintiff had not complied with the terms and conditions of the policy, so as to render the defendant liable.

While the counsel was making his observations to the court, Judge Anderson voluntarily granted the jury a recess of twenty minutes, and upon their return and at the conclusion of the argument, Mr. Talbick's Judge Anderson overruled the attorney's application.

The widow's verdict of the coroner's jury was then put in, the jurors consisting of Dr. Marshall, Mr. Ross and Mr. Dunning (the latter called as one of the witnesses this morning). They found that young Warner came to his death by a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted. The words "by with intent" had been first written, but these were expunged, as Mr. Dunning objected to sign to this.

Clement Harris was called (among other witnesses for the defense) and testified as to the verdict returned by the jurors at the inquest over young Warner's body. The witness duly handed over to the County Clerk. He could not, he said, recollect the testimony of the witnesses at the inquiry. Neither did he remember whether or not Mrs. Warner, the deceased's mother, testified that her son had been despondent.

Several other witnesses for the defense were to be called this afternoon, and the arguments will follow.

DEATHS.

MOORE—On the 25th, April 25th, at 9 p.m., Mrs. Sara Landrum, aged seventy-six years, six months and eighteen days. Deceased was the mother of Mr. F. M. Landrum of Hinckley, Mrs. H. D. Internicl and Mrs. W. H. Hall.

Funeral will take place from the residence of F. M. Landrum, 400 E. Fourth south, tomorrow day at 2 o'clock p.m.

THE GAMBLING CASES.

The Proprietor of the Gaiety Will Appeal.—Juvenile Jungle Contested.—A Disorderly House.

The case of George Barr, proprietor of the Gaiety gambling rooms, came up before Justice Keiler at 10 o'clock this morning. The charge against Barr was that of keeping a gambling house. The defendant was represented by Judge Lacey, and Assistant City Attorney Call prosecuted. Captain John J. Donovan and Sergeant Shoels were put on the stand and testified as to the character of the accused and the general reputation of his house. Many professional gamblers, "sharpers on," "tin horns" and such persons as visit gaming houses were present when the raid was made on Saturday night last. Men were also engaged in playing in the house on that occasion and their paraphernalia was confiscated. The case was then adjudged guilty and fined $100 and costs.

Judge Lacey gave notice that an appeal would be taken and the bond was immediately prepared and signed and the case will go over to the Third District for disposition.

The other gambling cases went over until tomorrow.

JUVENILE ASSAULTERS CONVICTED.

Charles Maggerutte, Robert Brown and Bert Boers were adjudged guilty of beating and otherwise maltreating a defenseless chinaman. The case was fully reported in yesterday's NEWS, and was a most cowardly affair. The lads are beginning to realize the enormity of their offense, and are all anxious to make amends for their wrongdoing. Sentence was suspended until Monday, May 2nd.

ON SUSPICION.

A suspicious looking character, who gave his name as C. F. Daily, was arrested last night on suspicion of being guilty of petty thieving. He had in his possession several sacks of Maxwell tobacco, for which he was industriously trying to find a purchaser. The police are of the opinion that the tobacco was stolen from a commission house or freight car.

SUN SHINING IN A BARN.

George King and Richard Welsh, alleged soldiers in the great army of tramps that pass through these parts, were found sleeping in a barn on Third street last night. Not having the permission of the owner they were taken to the police station and given lodgings in jail.

"A DISORDERLY HOUSE."

S. S. Levy, proprietor of the Rapid Transit saloon, is under arrest on the charge of maintaining a disorderly house, will have a hearing tomorrow.

Joe Smith was fined quite a heavy sum in Italian. The sport cost him $5.

Jack Wade is alleged to have indulged in the pastime of scuffling at times with a long physically inferior to his own. His offense will be inquired into tomorrow.

The case of H. F. Copeland, charged with selling liquor without a license, was continued for ten days.

George McKee was adjudged guilty of larceny and was held to await the action of the grand jury in $1000 bonds.

JUDGE ZANE'S COURT.

The Setting of Another Batch of Civil Cases for Hearing.

ACTION TO RECOVER $10,000

For the Loss of Two Fingers at the "Empire" Steam Laundry.

The first hour of Judge Zane's time this morning in the Third District court was taken up with the setting of dates for the trial of civil cases during the month of May. This part of the day's programme having been gone through, several short orders were made.

A SEALED VERDICT.

In the case of Philip Spickart vs. Henry W. Weiler, a sealed verdict was rendered for the plaintiff for $38.50. Thirty days were allowed in the statement and bill of exceptions.

LEAVE TO AMEND.

Martha Turner vs. the Union National Bank. Leave to amend answer, by consent, was given in this case.

THE DAVIS SUIT.

Lucy D. Waite et al. vs. Blizzard et al. This case was set for trial on May 9th.

FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

In the case of the W. A. Wood M. & M. Co., vs. W. H. Dewsnup, Judge Anderson voluntarily granted the jury a recess of twenty minutes, and upon their return and at the conclusion of his charge to the jury, Judge Anderson overruled the attorney's application.

The widow's verdict of the coroner's jury was then put in, the jurors consisting of Dr. Marshall, Mr. Ross and Mr. Dunning (the latter called as one of the witnesses this morning). They found that young Warner came to his death by a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted. The words "by with intent" had been first written, but these were expunged, as Mr. Dunning objected to sign to this.

Clement Harris was called (among other witnesses for the defense) and testified as to the verdict returned by the jurors at the inquest over young Warner's body. The witness duly handed over to the County Clerk. He could not, he said, recollect the testimony of the witnesses at the inquiry. Neither did he remember whether or not Mrs. Warner, the deceased's mother, testified that her son had been despondent.

Several other witnesses for the defense were to be called this afternoon, and the arguments will follow.

ACTION TO RECOVER $10,000.

The first case for trial was that of Mary Lizzie Reiler vs. John Rogers and Fong Hunnell, in partnership, and trading as the "Empire" Steam Laundry.

Attorney LeRanche Young appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney Bowman for the defendants.

The sum claimed in this action was $10,000, for personal injuries. The plaintiff, a young woman about 21 years of age, was in the employ of the defendants, in the month of September, 1890, as an ironer. It is alleged that she was called upon to do certain mangle work which did not form part of her regular duties, and with which she was not familiar, and that while so engaged her hand was caught between the rollers. Her fingers were crushed and mangled, and it was found necessary to amputate and a bone of the third finger entirely removed. She is now described as being "a cripple for life."

Considerable time was spent in argument between counsel on either side upon the empanelment of the jury in regard to a certain legal technicality in the complaint, and this was kept up until the hour of the noon adjournment arrived, when the court was loath to allow the plaintiff's counsel to amend the complaint, the understanding being that the case would be tried this afternoon.

Welcome.

We were pleased to meet today Prof. Edward Steiner, formerly Principal of the Hammond High School and also member of the Utah Legislature, who is now engaged at the Wednesday Mass. Home School for Boys. He looks well, as do deputy sheriff Lee, who is now spending a week in Salt Lake. He is welcome.

PANIC IN PARIS.

The Explosion at the Cafe of M. Very the Subject of Discussion Among All Classes.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE BRUTAL WORK.

Residents and Strangers Preparing to Leave the City in a Hurry.

(By Telegraph to the NEWS.)

THE PARIS EXPLOSION.

People Are Panic-stricken and Leave the City.

PARIS, April 26.—To state that the explosion last night at the cafe of M. Very, at the corner of the Boulevard Magenta and Rue Benoey has caused a feeling of condemnation in the city is to put it very mildly. The truth is that the people of Paris are quite sickened at the audacity of the Anarchists. The feeling of fear is heightened by the apparent impotency of the police to prevent the perpetration of such outrages when and where they please. There was a reason for last night's outrage. It was M. Very's cafe that flavored the Anarchist whose trial is taking place today, was convicted, and it was to M. Very and one of his waiters that the police were indebted for the information that led to his capture. So strong is the feeling of fear that many residents of this city and foreign visitors are leaving or making hurried preparations to leave. The scene in the vicinity of the explosion surpasses description. Throughout the night and morning excited crowds, sometimes numbering twenty thousand, filled the street and surrounded the wrecked restaurant. The affair was discussed in loud and angry voices and everybody joined in condemning the outrage. The wrath of the crowd was directed against the crowd that the sightseers, not only from France, but elsewhere, are resolved to force the world, to take serious notice of their existence and their doctrines. It is very likely that the methods that they are pursuing will effect this end, but it is the general opinion that if they succeed in their object it will be so much the worse for them.

THE FIRST BOMBS.

so told in these dispatches last night had it that three bombs were thrown through the grating in front of the restaurant. This statement is supported by a prisoner who says that he saw persons throw what appeared to be bombs across the pavement, and that the roar of the explosion immediately followed. The restaurant was wrecked so that also the shop of Madame Noirmant, which was second hand goods next door. A few minutes after the explosion, a man on the Boulevard Magenta shouted "Well done, long live the republique." He was at once arrested, but denied that he had raised the cry. Nothing could be proven against him and in a few hours he was released.

The report that M. Very had died from the effects of his injuries were incorrect. It is said at the hospital today that if he survives he will recover if possible. His wife and daughter Jeannie were badly burned about their face, but it is thought that their condition is serious, though they are suffering a great deal from the shock.

Paul Hammond, a printer, who was in the restaurant at the time of the explosion, is in various parts of his body. His condition is critical. Another printer named Gaston Roger was severely injured. The other injured persons are progressing toward recovery.

Edward, the waiter in M. Very's restaurant, who

HAS BEEN ARRESTED BY THE POLICE

of the habit of Havachol of dining there, received an anonymous letter yesterday in which it was said: "If Havachol is condemned to death, remember that at the same hour you will be attacked by the engines of our vengeance."

A representative of the Associated Press had an interview with Lebrun today.

He said that at about 8 o'clock last night a very considerable number of persons were seen in their restaurant. They engaged him in conversation and asked whether in view of the part he had taken in the trial of Havachol, he was not afraid that the friends of the Anarchists would not seek vengeance on him. Lebrun replied curtly and then turned the conversation to another subject.

HE REGARDED THE MATTER LIGHTLY

until after the explosion. Then he related several significant incidents that had occurred. After dining the women separated from the remainder first, one of the men paid the bill of the party and then went toward the door which he held open. One of the men who had been seated under a table beside the counter while the third man finished a match and lighted a cigarette. After lighting the cigarette he threw the match under the table apparently to avoid the sulphurous vapor emitted after the cigarette was lighted, both hastily joined their companions who was still at the door, and all quickly departed down the Rue Benoey. Soon afterward the explosion occurred. The account of the explosion was occasioned in this manner does not agree with the result of the inquiry that has been made by the municipal engineers. The engineers believe that a dynamite bomb was placed at the threshold of the restaurant which had a double door.

One section, which generally is open during business hours of the outer door, was covered with iron plate. The bomb appears to have been deposited about four inches from this plate inside the restaurant. The violently of the force situated over the restaurant declares that half an hour before the explosion, two men dressed as peasants and carrying a bag between them, applied to her for rooms. She did not like their looks and refused to accommodate them.

A dynamite cartridge was found last night under the staircase of a house in Rue d'Hauteville. The contents of a number of small bottles found in the lodgings of anarchists have been analyzed. They were found to contain six kilograms of dynamite and one kilogram of melinite.

Rasenhol's Trial Begun.

PARIS, April 26.—The trial of the anarchist Havachol, Charles Achille Ricard, Jacques Peulin and Chamoyre, is a little girl Rosalie Rouhert, began today.

The Ohio River Flood.

BRAWNSTOWN, Ill., April 26.—The Ohio river is cultivating the best high at this point and is still rising. The bottom lands are all flooded, many acres of fine corn lands being under water. Planting will be very late.

Attorney General Wood Goes to Fort Wayne.

GRAND, Mo., April 26.—Attorney General Wood passed through Grand yesterday on his way to Fort Wayne to attend court there tomorrow. It is believed now that the men who interposed the rails at Chrystler, which killed Deputy Sheriff Williams will all be indicted, as the attorney general is going to be with the grand jury and see that indictments are found against the offenders of the law.

The Third Party Standard Bearer.

CHICAGO, April 26.—An Indianapolis capitalist states that T. E. Johnson has been sent to interview Judge Gresham to see if he will accept the people's party nomination for the presidency. The dispatch also quoted a statement from the party organ, the Chronicle, to the effect that Judge Gresham had written letters to individual members of the party, tearing a favorable construction as to his willingness to accept the Third Party standard bearer. When shown the dispatch, Judge Gresham stated that he had not seen nor heard of Mr. Johnson, and that he had written any such letters as those attributed to him.

A Large Number of Divorce Cases on the Docket.

GREENCASTLE, Indiana, April 26.—The present term of the circuit court here which has just begun, is notable for the large number of divorce cases on the docket. There are twenty-one cases docketed, in twelve of which the wife is the complainant. This is the largest number on a single docket in the State.

Williams Actor Dead.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A special to Sensing Hall from Paris states that William Astor died last night at Hotel Liverpool. The name was itself future. Mr. Astor was the father of Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton and she was greatly worried over the Barrows-Fox-Millard scandal in which she was involved.

Probate Court.

Estate of James Robbins, deceased; hearing on petition for release from surety on bond of James M. Robbins, executor, came on regularly. Order made extending time for new surety extended to May 10, and if not settled by that time, letters to be revoked. Continued to May 10.

Estate and guardianship of John Gibson et al., minors; continued to May 28.

THE FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

So little suffices for the Russian peasant that a sum equivalent to $5 in cash will sustain life for a month. But when it becomes a question of a million lives for which the government must care, the matter becomes a very serious one. If the present season be continued for a period of 10 months, the cost rises to $7,000,000. As has been shown in the case of Russia, the famine is not confined to the Volga, nor to Samara, nor to Saratoff, but is felt in the Ukraine, leaving one-third wholly dependent upon private benevolence, and taking all the female peasants, even the one-third mentioned, up to the millions. The appeal to personal philanthropy has brought out the examples of generosity and devotion. The proprietary class have, as a rule, to this emergency, proved worthy of their position and responsibilities. There are single families taking care of as many as 20,000 people. The women especially have come forward with a compassion and self-sacrifice which commands admiration. If it were not invidious or indelicate, many cases might be cited of cousins or heirs of gentle birth who have left their homes, braved the dangers of disease, faced the handicapped in unprecedented and trying life, and proved works and ministrations of healing to the hungry and ministering to the sick. With which that has been deplorable, there have been also in the case of the famine exhibitions of true nobility. One other thing ought in fairness to be said. The Emperor has been published as indifferent. It is only just to remark that this particular kind of indifference for town manifested not merely in a vigorous direction of the relief operations, but in operations of relief, even to the summary dismissal of inefficient agents, but in gifts from his private purse, which, if the belief of St. Petersburg reporters be correct, amounts to 15 or 20 times all the contributions of all the world outside of Russia.—North American Review.

The Oldest Trophy-lyre Ever Found.

From the Chicago Herald.

The most remarkable of all the antediluvian human skeletons as yet unearthed there just discovered near Mentone may be said to be. Just east of and above the health resort of Mentone there diverges through a fissure in the western cell of the tempest in French soil, the eastern in Italian soil. Near the latter there are a dozen human skeletons, in one of which the entrance to a cave was discovered a few weeks ago. The cave was filled with black earth, of a kind not known at any place in the neighborhood.

A few feet beneath the surface three skeletons were found lying close together, one male and two female. They are almost perfect, but few bones being injured or lost. The male skeleton, without the head, which was broken in falling out, measures eight feet, which would be, with the head, upward of nine feet. The female skeletons are seven feet long—one foot less than the male. The neck of the male has a chain of teeth about it.

Another chain made of very small stones was found, along with different stone weapons and beds. The stones are set out or ground in any way, but are found in nature. These people are believed to have lived a long time ago, first time found seven and nine years ago in caves of the same range of mountains, and which were inflated to have lived 12,000 to 14,000 years ago.

The Thousand Years Old.

Perhaps the oldest known specimens of recorded language in the world today are the inscriptions on the clay cones and brick stamps found at Niffer by Babylonian Exploration Expedition of the University of Pennsylvania, which has recently returned. The brick stamps, which are of a yellow clay, about four by five inches, and an inch in thickness, bear the name and titles of King Ur-Engur and his son Nin-Dada, who lived about 2500 B.C., and were taken from the mound which covers the site of ancient Nippur, with its famous temple of Bel. The cones, which were found many other objects of interest, such as clay tablets containing contracts, lists of goods, temple income, art fragments and images and a plan of the temple tables. These throw much light on the history of the people, as opposed to that of the kings, and the world of the expedition carries Babylonian records back a thousand years to a time of which practically nothing has hitherto been known. The antiquities found are now in the University Museum.
