FRAGMENTS.

ARBOR DAY tomorrow. The banks will all be closed.

THERE was no sitting of the Third District court today.

THE Evening NEWS of tomorrow will contain an elaborate and interesting article on ancient and modern Temples.

PRESIDENT ABRAM M. CANNON, who has been suffering severely from sciatica for some time past, is much improved today.

MARRIAGE licenses have been issued to Alvin V. Taylor and Blanche Powers, Marcus H. Cartwright and Alice McHenry.

THE Democratic central committee will meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow. At 1 o'clock the Democratic Territorial central society will meet.

IT is expected that the session of the Supreme court of the Territory, which is an adjournment from the January term, will not last longer than today, or tomorrow.

THE land contest case of James R. Judd vs. G. O. Chase, is being heard in the land office. Plaintiff seeks to obtain the title to a timber culture entry near Farmington.

THE county prisoner whose arm was badly fractured in the county yesterday, has been removed to the hospital and is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

MESSRS. NEVE & CHILD, the furniture dealers, are determined not to be outdone by any others in their line in the low prices which they quote or the quality of their goods. See their advertisement.

THE four judges of the Territorial Supreme court were engaged the whole of the morning, in the ante-room of the Territorial library, getting ready opinions to be delivered at the present session of court.

THE Salt Lake county teachers will meet in the deaf mute building at 11 a.m. tomorrow (Saturday). An interesting programme has been prepared for the occasion and a full attendance is expected.

THE Union Pacific special train which left Logan for Provo this morning carrying delegates to the Republican Territorial Convention, consisted of five passenger coaches elaborately draped with the national colors.

THE original display in the window of Barnes, Lewis & Co. is attracting considerable attention, while some are endeavoring to decipher the rebus. The interpretation will be given by the artist, Charlie Barber, on the inside.

MR. A. O. SMOOT, JR., of Provo, and Mr. Vermilye, of Great Falls, Montana, are reported as having purchased the exclusive rights to the Keeley cure for drunkenness, for the State of Montana. The institute for that State will be located at Great Falls.

THE show window of the new boot and shoe store of Z. C. M. I. contains a fine display of home-made goods in that line. They compare favorably with eastern imported articles in appearance, while their durability is ahead. The factory turnsout 400 pairs daily.

"THE EARTH TREMBLED" is the title of a most interesting novel, by the popular writer, Edward P. Roe. The story has its beginning in the South, at the inception of the civil war and is thrilling throughout. It can be obtained at the Utah Book and Stationery store on Main street.

THE Stake officers of the Y. L. M. I. A. are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Susan Smith, opposite the west gate of the Temple block, immediately after the close of the afternoon services in the Tabernacle, Sunday, April 3. A full attendance is desired. Elmina S. Taylor, President.

THE sale of tickets for the Home Dramatic performance of "Esmeralda" and the entire Conference season opens at the Theatre tomorrow morning. A pleasant feature of "Esmeralda" is to be the studio scene, in which a large number of paintings, loaned by local artists, will be exhibited.

A TELEGRAM has been received by Officer Armstrong from Vancouver Island, inquiring as to the whereabouts of William Hunden, the semi-demented Weissman who was recently arrested at his own instigation. Hunden, it will be remembered, predicted his own demise, which, he alleged, would take place within twenty-four hours after he gave himself up. The necessary means to supply the unfortunate man's immediate wants have been sent by friends.

MRS. LOUISE BOYDEN and her pupils will give their next recital on Saturday, April 2nd, at 8 p. m., at the Fourteenth ward meeting house. In addition to the usual number of recitations there will be Delsarte Mental Attitudes by class No. 4. Mrs. Boyden will give two numbers herself. There will be a violin solo by Prof. Olsen, and Prof. Uvedale will give selections on piano and also a vocal solo. In consideration of extra expenses on this occasion there will be a small admission fee.

Priesthood Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Priesthood of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene in the Assembly Hall tomorrow (Saturday) at 11 a.m. A full attendance of the brethren is desired.

Supreme Court.

It was 2:30 this afternoon when the judges of the Territorial Supreme Court took their seats on the bench. Present, Chief Justice Zane and Associate Justices Anderson, Blackburn, and Miner. There was a large attendance of members of the bar. The minutes of the last session of Court were read by Clerk Baese and approved.

NEW U. S. COMMISSIONERS.

Attorney Dudley, of Provo, Utah county, and John E. Henderson, of Terrace, Box Elder county, were appointed to act as U. S. commissioners.

A RESIGNATION.

The resignation of Wm. H. Snelling, of Logan, as U. S. Commissioner, was accepted.

IN FAVOR OF HARDY.

In the case of the People ex rel., vs. L. G. Hardy, respondent, which involved the question of the county collectorship, Judge Miner rendered the opinion of the court, which was an appeal from the Third District Court. The judgment of the lower court was affirmed with costs.

The court was still rendering opinions when the NEWS report closed.

AN ESCAPED MANIAC.

He is Recaptured with $250 in His Possession.

Sheriff Belnap of Ogden received word on Sunday that John Staker of Wilson had escaped from the insane asylum at Provo. Yesterday he heard of his whereabouts, and in company with three deputies he went out to Wilson during the afternoon. He learned that he was at his home armed for resistance. Finding the door open they entered. They found a Winchester rifle under the bed and a shotgun in some other place. While looking hunting through the room they heard a slight movement above and concluded that Staker was hidden in the loft. The sheriff told him that it was better for him to give up without any trouble, as the officers could starve him out if necessary. He was told that if he wanted his liberty he could come down and secure bail. This had the desired effect and he at once replied that if they would permit him to seek a bond he would yield. This was promised him and with the aid of a table and some chairs he got down from the loft. He had a bucket of water and some food up there evidently prepared for a siege. He had also left a cocked pistol up in the loft, though this was not learned until he told it himself on reaching town. On getting into Ogden he was placed in the county jail over night, as it was too late to hunt up any sureties for his bond last evening.

One strange feature about it is that when arrested he had with him a buckskin bag containing $250 in gold. Whether he had taken it from home or from some of his own hiding places is not known.

Previous to the arrest the people in Wilson were very much excited, as in past years he has terrorized the community when in an insane spell.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

A Little Child Killed and Two Persons Wounded by a Winchester.

A correspondent from Deming, New Mexico, writes to Elder Lorenzo D. Young, of this city as follows: I have just visited your son, John R., this morning. He is cheerful and feeling as well and as hopeful as could be expected, and says it will be all right. To explain the situation briefly: Last Friday morning as Brother John R., Brother Wm. M. Black, and family, were traveling by this place from the south, all feeling happy and well, a Winchester rifle tied to the bows of the hind wagon, (Bro. Black driving) was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through Brother John R.'s left shoulder, back of the joint, breaking the bone, then ranging through the fleshy part of the thigh of his little boy (about six years old); afterwards passing through the head of his daughter's child, lying at its mother's breast, (Mrs. Howard D. Roberts) killing it instantly, and bruising its mother's breast near the nipple but not breaking the skin. The ball, having spent its force, fell at her feet. All considered, we think it providential that she was not injured more seriously, nor the others of the family in the wagon, and we acknowledge the hand of the Lord in this.

Brother John R. wished me to break this sad news to you. We buried the child yesterday afternoon, and Mrs. H. D. Clark will go by rail and meet her husband at Gallup station tomorrow. Brother John R. and the little boy wounded will get the best care and medical treatment in reach, and we are hopeful of the best results, as the season is quite favorable for the healing of their wounds.

The colonies in Mexico are growing and there is a prospect for renewal of operations on the railroad going south from this point.

Hoping you are well, and with kindest regards, I am your brother,

Yours very truly,

(Signed) A. F. MACDONALD.

DEMING, New Mexico, March 27, 1892.

THE PROVO CONVENTION.

The Territorial Republican Delegates Hold Their First Meeting.

PROVO, Utah, April 1.—Special to the DESERET NEWS.—An imposing parade was made today by the delegates to the Territorial convention, accompanied by the Ogden band and Provo drum corps. The Opera House was beautifully decorated with flowers, bunting and flags, and the members were nearly all present. At 1 2 o'clock Judge C. W. Bennett called attention, he being the chairman of the Republican Territorial committee, and made a stirring speech in which he characterized this as the most important convention ever held in Utah, and was proud to note that they had received national recognition.

J. D. Hammond of Logan was made temporary chairman, and H. S. Pyne of Provo, secretary, A. B. Buckler, sergeant-at-arms. After the appointment of committees on credentials and permanent organization and order of business, adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock.

The special bearing the Weber and Cache county delegates arrived at 10:30 with 350 persons on board.

Change of Management.

The announcement of another change of management at the Hot Springs, whereby Mr. McMillen is succeeded by Mr. Fred V. Fowler of Omaha, will be a surprising piece of news to most of the people of Ogden. Such, however, is the case, for Mr. Fowler arrived yesterday from Omaha and went out to the Springs to make arrangements with Mr. McMillen to make the change, which occurred today.

Narrow Escape.

Levi Axtell, of the water department, had a narrow escape yesterday. The wet weather carried a landslide which had broken the flume at Sealland, near Parley's canyon, and Mr. Axtell went to measure it to ascertain the extent of the damage. He had just completed his task when another heavy slide of rocks and earth carried away sixteen more feet. Had he been five minutes longer the deadly would have crushed him.

AN OLD STORY.

They "Never Met Before," But the Court Thought Otherwise—Other Cases.

John Kavanaugh, a fairly well dressed, light complexioned man of not more than twenty-five years of age, was before Justice Tiee this morning on a charge of petit larceny. He tried hard to make it appear that the charge against him was nothing more than a case of "old dog Tray being found in bad company," and in this he barely failed. He related his story in a calm and well woven manner, none of the evidences of a crook characterized his actions, nor were there any discernable traces of a thief upon his countenance, at least not to the ordinary physiognomist. The court was puzzled, and after it had occupied his attention long after the hour of the noon adjournment, he signified his willingness to have it continued.

It seems that the accused entered a First South street mercantile establishment a couple of days ago and engaged the clerk in conversation while "Jumbo" Kelly — who has recently been released from the Territorial penitentiary — appropriated a number of articles which were afterwards found on his person when arrested by the police. Kelly entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to thirty-five days in the city jail. Kavanaugh testified that he had never met Kelly until he was arrested and that then it was only accidental. Kelly swore to the same thing, though they were seen together several times prior to the commission of the alleged offense.

Kavanaugh was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment.

Mrs. Cumming, an old time offender, was arrested by the officers last night on a charge of drunkenness and disturbing the peace. She is now in jail waiting on pending arraignment.

Charles Say and John Meeks, a brace of disreputable character, have been ordered to depart for other fields.

Gussie Hayes was convicted of maintaining a brothel on Franklin avenue and was fined $25.

Abe Meakin is charged with committing that nightly infraction of the law, of driving a hack without the necessary side lights.

Court Items.

Before Judge Anderson yesterday afternoon, F. B. Gifford, the ticket broker, was tried on a charge of altering the date on a railway ticket. It seems that the defendant, some time ago, sold a ticket on which the date had been changed, rendering it worthless. The evidence for the prosecution failed to establish the defendant's guilt, however, and the jury acquitted him.

John Williams, charged with breaking into a house and stealing a quantity of linen, was acquitted.

Grant Chrisholm, charged with fornication, entered a plea of guilty, and sentence was set for April 19.

A decree of foreclosure has been granted in the case of A. Jeremy vs. B. W. Driggs et al.

In the case of the People vs. John Hesson et al, the witnesses for the defense have been ordered subpoenaed at the expense of the people.

In the case of H. Pembroke vs. A. C. Reese et al., B. F. Cummings, Jr., has been directed to produce the bill of sale.

Ample Train Services.

The Union Pacific will run six trains each way between Ogden and Salt Lake during Conference. The Cap Stone flyer leaves Ogden at 8:30 a. m. and arrives at Salt Lake at 9:30 a. m., making the run through in one hour without stops. Returning this train leaves Salt Lake at 8 p. m. and arrives at Ogden 9:15 p. m., and will make stops at all intermediate points.

They will also have another train leaving Ogden at 8:30 a.m., arriving at Salt Lake at 9:45 a.m. This train will stop at all intermediate points. The Union Pacific are apparently doing everything possible for arranging sufficient train service to take care of the Conference travel.

Students' Society.

The regular session of the Students' Society of the Latter-day Saints' College will be held at No. 335 west, First North, this evening (Friday), beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The following interesting and instructive programme will be rendered:

1. Invocation.
2. Lecture, "The Philosophy of [illegible]" ... Elder G. W. Naylor.
3. Duet, "[illegible]" ... [illegible] and Mrs C. [illegible].
4. Closing song by the school.

The public are invited.

J. J. WALTON, Chairman.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

The Burning of the "Golden Rule."

CINCINNATI, April 1.—So far only one person is positively known to have lost his life through the burning of the steamer "Golden Rule" last night, Nellie Maloney. The following persons are believed to be dead: Frank T. Riley, second mate; Mrs. O'Leary, cook; Warner, Billy madison, Mack Fewan, stevedores. It is rumored that from six to fifteen roustabouts perished in the "Golden Rule's" hold. One who escaped says there was none there when he left. The probability is that the total number of perished is seven or eight.

A Member of the Confederate Congress Dead.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1.—George N. Lester, attorney general of Georgia, is dead. He was a member of the confederate congress.

Only Meagre Information.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 1.—There is only the most meagre information in regard to last night's storm in Kansas and Nebraska. The telegraph wires are down all over the storm-swept territory. No intelligence is obtainable from it and points beyond.

Both Dropped Dead.

MONROE, La., April 1.—A double murder occurred in Morehouse parish. A white man, E. P. Necessarby, accused James Baker, colored, of stealing geese. A quarrel ensued, both opened fire at once and both dropped dead.

A Chief Justice Found Dead.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Charles S. Drake, the late Chief Justice of the United States court of claims, was found dead in his bed this morning.

The High Science of Breadmaking.

Mr. Edward Atkinson, statesman, author, philosopher and prolific statistician, varies his ... to set ... to ... with breadmaking. He the ... of his Aladdin oven, costing twenty-... dollars, he makes a bread which he claims to be of the best quality for ... cents the pound. He makes it by his own method, and it is composed of half ... and half flour, either brown or white. He provides a luncheon every day in his "cooking laboratory" for his twenty employees. Cooking laboratory is high science for kitchen.

Mr. Atkinson has found out that it is not wise to knead bread with the hands for various reasons, and in this the glass world will agree with him, so he uses a machine kneader. He has a scientific bread raiser which maintains a steady moist heat of 80 degs., and he claims the dough into this in order that it may receive just the right heat for "promoting the growth of the yeast plant and through that diffusing the carbonic acid in the mass." Tell your girl that next time you want her to mix a batch of bread.

The mental and scientific processes of mind and matter that need to called into operation in breadmaking, both in the right and wrong way, are partly set forth below:

Are There Lucky People?

It is said of the Vanderbilts that they have made not only their own fortunes, but that of everybody who has stuck to them. A recent writer says of the Rothschilds that they are believers in luck, and that they dismiss an unlucky employe and promote the one they think is lucky.

At any rate, this much is certainly true, that the successful and rising man is the one to attach your fortunes to. Join him and share his prosperity. Whether there is really any such thing as luck mankind have been trying to find out ever since the world began, and they are as much in the dark as ever. It is quite true on general principles that the person who has pluck and perseverance is tolerably sure to win in the long run if he lives long enough. But some win so much sooner than others and so much more easily that it is hard to believe there is not a fate in such matters.

The man who, however honorable and industrious, has made a failure of everything he has undertaken, will not be a good person to join one's fortunes with. But each a man might, if possible, to "catch on" to a person who is successful in all he undertakes. There is such a thing, too, as living down ill fortune, and the man who has been called "unlucky" for years may at last by a sudden stroke attain prosperity which remains with him the rest of his life.

The centers established by the University Settlement society in Great Britain and America are called by their founders "social experiment stations." In these stations college men, and in similar stations college women, live and meet the most unsacred for classes in community and endeavor to help them. The stations are always located in the midst of the tenement house districts. Here the most cultivated classes meet on equal terms the most uncultivated. The university settlers establish reading rooms and classes for instruction. In some cases gymnasiums have been established. It is needless to say that bathrooms ought to be and will be. The young people who live for a time in these settlements will know from actual observation what it means to be very poor and ignorant.

A German scientific writer has been analyzing the action of intermittent geysers. He tells us that far down in earth down in the region of internal heat, are caverns filled with water. The internal fires heat the water till the steam thrown off becomes, with the pressure that is above it, hotter than 212 degs. and is converted into superheated steam. Leading up to the earth's surface is a natural standpipe full of water, pressing upon that in the cavern. The superheated steam, striving to escape, forces the water in the standpipe upward and hurls it out upon the earth's surface. When the steam is released the disturbance subsides till the water in the cavern is again heated so that the steam overcomes the pressure of water in the standpipe. If foreign bodies are thrown into the boiling water the disturbance is more violent. Eruptions may be caused by throwing stones and clods into the basin of the geyser. This action, the German professor reasons, is analogous to that which occasionally takes place in steam boilers.
