held in Chicago on the 15th: After dwelling upon the magnitude the liquor traffic has attained in America and the resulting evils, the address emphasizes the disastrous effects on working classes, refers to the crimes accruing from the operation of prohibition laws, and says: This widespread violation of one set of wholesome laws breeds a general contempt for all law and opens a hospitable door to those modern allies of the saloon system— Communism and Anarchy. The saloon power in the United States uses a corruption fund to carry the elections by the purchase of votes, to obstruct the cause of justice by tampering with juries and to punish with defeat public servants who incur its displeasure. The address declares that the saloon ought to be put out of existence, and that until destroyed the saloon should be crippled by every restraint and disability which the local public sentiment will enforce and made to relmburse as much as possible of the public loss it causes. The address believes this policy the proper one to pursus. The address insists that the Republican party has been called to this work.
