BEATEN AND ROBBED.

A Frenchman From Idaho Severely Handled and Relieved of His Money.

A Frenchman named Joseph Vacher arrived in this city from Idaho a few days ago. He had been following the occupation of a sheepherder in that State for some time and when he came here he had considerable ready money in his possession. He registered at the Knight House and last night as on other occasions he intended to "take in the sights of the city." During his ramble he met a man from Idaho with whom he had formerly had a brief acquaintance but whose name he did not remember. The two now had several drinks together. About midnight Vacher claims that that they sauntered along East South Temple street for a distance of several blocks when suddenly his friend turned from a side and struck him three terrific blows on the head and then relieved him of his watch and chain and $65. He says that when he recovered consciousness his assailant had disappeared—where he knew not. When Vacher turned up at the police station his face and head were covered with blood and he presented a pitiable spectacle.

Losses by Fire.

The losses by the Knight Candy Kitchen fire on West First South street, on Saturday night, are reported as follows: On stock and fixtures, $1500; insured in the Home Fire of Utah for $1100; German American, $2000; Hamburg, $2000; Weste & Fortmyer, Dessert Bakery, loss $600; insured for $2000 in the German American. The Salt Lake Equitable Company had a general merchandise stock valued at $10,000; claimed to be nearly a total loss mostly from smoke. The insurance on the following companies: Phoenix, $7000; Underwriters, $2500; Phoenix National, $2000; New Hampshire Insurance Company, $2000; Atlas, $2000; Reading $1500; North America, $2000; Hamburg, $2000; Home, $1000; Charter Oak, $2000; American, $1000; Hartford, $1000; Wester, $1000. The loss on the building is $7000, insured for $10,000 in the Western.

Pools.

A dispute arising out of the late horse racing in this city was tried in Justice Rolfe's court yesterday afternoon. The parties to the suit were F. J. Dennis and Frank O'Reilly, the latter being a local sport owner. The complaint alleges that on one of the days of the late meeting the plaintiff purchased a pool ticket on one of the horses and turned it over to the defendant. The horse won but the defendant refused to pay the plaintiff the money, claiming that he was entitled to obtain it himself from the bookmaker, whose business was transacted and settlement had with him. Justice Rolfe overruled the contention and gave judgment for the amount claimed, and costs.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

The Golden Rule.

There is a little rule to be learned called the golden rule, and it has been repeated many a school, and I thought everyone children would be interested in it.

The little children and gifts are only lent to them for awhile, but they are the gifts intended for.

After long years I look up their minds to find the first thing that we do to find a true sign of success, with some kind of sound coming from the center of it. Then I look and look for the sound all around the circle, to see the force being transmitted, which they have broken from the beginning of time, and which those who have gone before have left the firmament of a small hole. One little is left open for a time.

Then I look for the Christmas to hold the bride of one to be made to make their marriage. The ground and then the further work, and all around the tower be there will a sign to be a fulfillment of the prophecy, and now and great to all of those that is to be was. The little across the space with the bond of love now that he can find, and the little to be the young people to be a great, [illegible] and so often in the Sacred Year to labor down away and bringing back peace.

This home, which is there for long and great time, is for high, is very large for two little souls. Indeed the home is ample enough to accommodate a family of twelve. The position is so large to be proper for such a sanctuary as the long and wide longer. It is said that the pagan is the Israel nearly three centuries of time, and that they were Saints there. And now you and which is know into the Divine worship is desired. The top of the bond is high, and is so wide that high and broad and the tower is generally red. In size it is about twice of a cubic—Edith Zack, was in New York Mail and Express.

Color of the Mount Emporon.

Mr Sculler Lane-Poole has finished his "Catalogue of the Coins of the Mount Emporon of Hindoostan in the British Museum," from the notable of Rome to the establishment of a British century by the East India company in 1858. It contains descriptions of over 1,000 coins, chiefly gold and silver, two of which are representations of the emperor Alexander. The condition of his coins is good, and the date is a certain of Hindoostan dates in the museum.
