OBITUARY NOTE.

STEPHEN ECATUS ARMSTRONG.

ARDMY, Monroe county, Mich., Jan. 20, 1896.—The friends and friends of this locality have had occasion of late to mourn the loss at a young man whose integrity to principles of truth and whose manly course of life brought upon him the esteem of all who acquired a true insight into his character. Stephen Decatur Armstrong, son of John L. and Cleopatra J. Armstrong, was born Jan. 17, 1872, near Ardmy, Monroe county, Mich. While he was still in early boyhood his reflective and religious disposition gave evidence that the position of salvation would constitute one of his main studies, and that until he could become assured that his course was approved of heaven, his mind would remain somewhat disturbed. The Bible became his companion, and while working among the cotton and the corn, he contemplated very seriously and soberly the subject. Like many other youths of similar cast of mind, he found it beyond his power to fully harmonize the teachings of Christ with the teachings of modern divines. His religious ideas, however, responded to the doctrines set forth by our Elders, and on the 23rd of September, 1894, he was baptized by Alonzo Somerhalf, of Huntington, Emery county, and confirmed on the same date by Walter Mitchell, of Parowan, Iron county. The young man at once desired to remove to Utah, and to accomplish this, during the last year he put forth extra efforts to acquire means sufficient to take him thither. He succeeded in making the preparation just as he was seized by tuberculosis, which soon wasted his body and checked his aspirations. For some days immediately preceding his death, he was unusually serene. He rehearsed the leading events of his life, testified to the divinity of the cause he had joined, and declared that he was called to work in the world of spirits. The Elders of the North Alabama conference desire to express their sympathy through the columns of your paper to the bereaved relatives and friends.

BIRD MURPHY,
President of Conference.

SARAH E. RIDNEY.

Died at Nephi, January 19th, 1896, Sarah Pinchforth Kienke, of heart failure and general debility; born at Brighouse, Yorkshire, England, June 18th, 1822; emigrated to Nauvoo in the year 1845; with the Saints was driven into Iowa, where her mother died from exposure, leaving her to care of her brother, Samuel Pinchforth. She crossed the Plains in one of the Pioneer companies in 1847 (in the fall) and removed to Nephi in the year 1852; married to John Kienke in 1855. She endured all the privations of settling a new country and leaves a husband, two sons and two daughters. She has been an earnest laborer ever since the first organization of the Relief Society as an officer, and was always kind and benevolent to the poor.

Funeral services were held in the tabernacle, the speakers being Elders C. Sperry, L. A. Dalley, J. G. Higbee and Bishop Parker. Many good words of praise were spoken of her. L. A. D.

FANNY BABLE WOOD.

Died in Farmington, Davis county, Utah, at 6:45 p. m., January 22, 1896, of heart trouble, after an illness of one week, Fanny Bable, wife of John Wood. She was born October 8, 1815, at Fawley, Sussex, England; married April 21, 1840, and with her husband was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in 1842.

The family emigrated to Utah in 1852, settling in Farmington, where they have since lived.

Her husband, who is nearly 85 years old, having been born March 14, 1811, still survives her, but is very feeble. For nine years he has been an invalid, the last three years being almost totally blind.

She has watched over her husband with untiring devotion, and during her last hours was more solicitous for his comfort than her own needs. As a wife, mother and neighbor she was a model worthy of imitation. Her business qualities were exceptionally good and her financial ability and economy were practically exemplified by surprising her husband on their wedding day with a handsome bank account standing to her credit, the savings of most of the proceeds of several years of service.

About twenty-four hours before her death she gave directions in regard to the disposition of her remains, the conducting of the funeral services, etc.

They were the parents of nine children, six of whom, four daughters and two sons, are still living, the other three dying at an early age. They had forty-nine grandchildren, only four of whom have passed away. Thirty great-grandchildren, nine in number, are all living.

They have been successfully engaged in merchandising during their married life except the first ten years after their arrival in Utah, which were passed in regular farm life.

Father Wood was a true Latter-day Saint in the fullest sense of the word and has gone to meet the highest reward which a pure, blameless life can secure. —(Com.)
