MINING, BUSINESS AND STOCKS.

CONNECTION MADE AT THE COLUMBUS CON.

Upraise From 100 Level in Ore to Tunnel Level—Future of the Stock On the Exchange.

Connection was made last night between the upraise from the 100 level of the Columbus Con. and the tunnel level, and for the whole distance between the two levels a large body of high grade ore has been added to the reserve of the mine, which is now growing so rapidly that it begins to look like old times for this Cottonwood producer. That additional good news will be released in the near future, when the drifts now being run on the 300 and 400 levels get under the same ore body, the management has no doubt. The ore opened up above the 100 level carries good values in silver, though copper predominates.

In addition to determining the continuance of this same ore chute between the two levels, this development work is important in that it enables the company to extract its ore economically. All that the company has to do now is to drop the ore to the 100 level and wheel it to the shaft near by, where a good hoist is installed. Manager Jacobson figures that this connection will do away with the work of 16 men. The ore in this new ore body is said to run $40 or better.

The future of Columbus stock on the exchange is a matter of much speculation just now. Its sensational rise last week from less than 80 cents to $1.70 has already bit a number of brokers very hard, and there is some difficulty in filling orders. One broker said this morning that he had several thousand shares of cash stock coming to him but those who had sold it were asking for more time. One broker sought the intervention of the secretary of the exchange this morning to compel another brokerage firm to deliver Columbus Con. stock which he had purchased. The firm made delivery of the stock before all of the members of the exchange, and thereafter the stock was traded in down to $1.32½, though a firmer tone was exhibited at the close.

Just what the stock will do in the future is a matter of speculation. There are those who confidently assert that the worst is over and lower prices will prevail soon, or at least the stock will not go any higher. They say that plenty of stock is available here, and more will be coming from the east, which will ease the market and bring about normal conditions. Others take a more pessimistic view of the matter and say that the present lull will be followed by another soaring advance in a week or two, as soon as the attempt is made to fill the great number of "shorts" which are known to be out.

A man who is not a member of the exchange said this morning that he has bought nearly 20,000 shares between 70 cents and a dollar, and he has not received a share of his purchases yet, and several thousand shares are said to have been cash, the balance being futures. What will happen when the filling of his order begins, in addition to the large number of other orders, which have been sold as 30-day and 60-day futures, can be easily imagined, unless more stock is available than is evidently on hand now. One broker said there is plenty of stock, and the worst is over, but those who have gloomy forebodings of the future assert that this cannot be so or it would not be necessary to seek the assistance of the exchange, as was done this morning, to have orders for the stock filled.

It is intimated in high places, that more stock has been shorted than is available, obtainable at these prices and that during the next two or three weeks one of the worst "squeezes" in the history of the Salt Lake exchange is likely to occur. As to how much truth there is in these reports time alone will tell.

PRICES FIRMER TODAY.

Colorado Was Active at Better Prices But Columbus Con. Weakened.

Some improvement in prices was recorded this morning on the mining exchange. Slight advances were general all along the line with the exception of Columbus Con., which, in spite of the statements that a day of reckoning for the "shorts" was at hand, sold as low as $1.40 at the morning call, and later on the open board fell back to $1.32¼, with a recovery to $1.37½ at the close. Opinions conflict as to the future course of the stock, though the feeling is quite general that Columbus will cause more trouble for the brokers in the near future.

Colorado was active this morning at better prices, sales being made as high as 88. Iron Blossom recorded a sale as high as 60. Lower Mammoth stiffened up to 43½ at the opening but failed to maintain its position, selling as low as 42 at the close. Sioux was also in better trim today, as was Uncle Sam. The former sold at 45 and the latter was traded in at 46.

Mason Valley came out at a bid of $1.90 and Prince Con. released a small lot at $1.15. Grand Central showed greater activity this morning and the stock moved up to $2.25. Provo and South Columbus Con. were both wanted at the same price, 8 cents a share. Daly Judge made a sale of 100 shares at $5.

OVATION TO SAMUEL NEWHOUSE.

Hon. Samuel Newhouse stepped into the new Mining Exchange building this afternoon just as the call was on, having just arrived from the east. Proceedings were interrupted long enough to give him a cordial reception. Mr. Newhouse was quite overcome by the demonstration and made a brief talk thanking the members for the reception and telling them of the wave of prosperity which he had seen in the east, and which he said was working westward. The incident occupied only a few moments, and the busy call went on again.

ORE FIND IN NEBO DISTRICT.

(Special to The News.)

John S. Blain of Spring City, secretary of the Mineral Home Mining company, operating in the Nebo district, has received good news from the men laboring there. The report is that they have struck ore in the Russell claim. The ore is an iron carbonate and carries with it values similar to the ore found in the Eva property, which joins the Mineral Home property on the north.

BULLION CANYON STRIKE.

Large Body of Ore Encountered in Shaft Now Down 150 Feet.

According to reports from Bullion canyon, Iron county, a very important discovery of ore has been made in the shaft which is being sunk there with the view of determining the value of the ore bodies at depth. It is stated that the shaft which is now down 150 feet has encountered ore all the way during the last 50 feet, and it has widened until at that depth it covers the bottom of the shaft. The importance of the disclosure will not be fully determined until the company begins drifting on the vein, which will probably not be done until another 50 feet of sinking has been done. The management is said to be feeling jubilant over the developments, believing that the mother lode has been encountered, and that it is only a question of development before they will have a dividend payer.

TWO FEET OF RICH ORE.

Nevada National Mining Company Strikes it in Paulsen Canyon.

Two feet of $50 ore don't sound very big on paper. That is what the Nevada National company has on its Paulsen canyon property—two feet of $50 ore in place. By that we mean the lowest average assay of the ledge is in the neighborhood of $50—to be exact, $47.20 per ton. This was from the fairest possible sample of the ledge, which has been opened for a distance of about 40 feet by an incline shaft. Other samples from the ledge have returned assay values of from $80 to $170 per ton, which show that the vein has rich spots and may be expected to do better than $50 per ton. High grade has been found in this Paulsen canyon ledge, too. Superintendent Nels Paulsen has some of the finest specimens of free gold to be found anywhere. Paulsen canyon may rival even the famous Round Mountain district as a producer of high grade.—Goldfield Tribune.

THE COPPER COMBINE.

Boston Reports State That Amalgamated Will Not be Included.

We understand from one who has attended the recent copper conferences in New York that the copper consolidation now in process of formation will not include the Amalgamated Copper company, says the Boston Financial News.

The plan which is now being worked out is said to be the formation of a holding company along the lines of the Amalgamated, and although the new company will not include the Amalgamated, the two will work in harmony.

Amalgamated will not be included for two reasons, first, because it is quite impossible to consolidate a holding company with operating companies, and, second, because it is the object of the organizers to avoid any semblance of a copper metal monopoly.

Our informant tells us that the consolidation is as far from culmination today as it was at the beginning of negotiations several months ago—so far as an agreement is concerned, but he states, on the other hand, that a point has been reached where they are debating the worth of the various properties which are to be included and on this point there has been much heated discussion.

As we stated previously only mines will be included which are known to have value and realizing this all mine owners who are willing to go into the combine have been pushing their productions to the limit in order to obtain the best terms possible in the exchange of stocks. This is a subject which has created a lot of discussion in the conferences. Incidentally this policy of producers in pushing production to the limit in the face of low prices for the metal accounts for the steady expansion in the production of copper as reported by the Copper Producers' Association each month.

AT THE OHIO COPPER CO.'S MILL.

Manager Colin Mackintosh said everything was in readiness at the mine for starting the Ohio Copper company's mill last night. It was the intention to start the machinery moving last night and after running a few hours without any load, so as to limber up the machinery, Mr. Mackintosh expected the mill would start crushing ore today. As to whether this had been done or not he had not heard this morning, as the telephone line was out of order. The bins at the mill are all full of ore and everything is ready for crushing. The trains have been hauling ore since Sunday. It has been found that the company will be able to haul 18 trains daily from the mine to the mill, with ease. It takes about 25 minutes to make the run, or about one hour for the round trip.

COPPER PRICES ADVANCING.

(Special to The News.)

Boston, Mass., Nov. 23.—The price of copper is now practically 13⅜ cents a pound owing to the fact that the United Metals Selling company is declining to sell electrolytic copper at 13⅜ a pound. The buying of copper continues brisk. Sales for the present month are expected to reach 150,000,000 pounds.

CONCENTRATES.

The only sale of unlisted stocks this morning was McDonald Ely which sold at 36.

C. H. Monroe has returned from Nevada where he went on a successful mining trip.

The great body of sand carbonate ore found recently in the Red Warrior mine in Beaver county is now reported to be 50 feet wide.

Salt Lake seems descending upon Ely by piecemeal and by wholesale. Every night brings a trainload of people from the neighboring city, all on business bent, and all on booming Ely intent.—White Pine News.

President M. E. King of the Silver Island Coalition Mines company, who has returned from the mine, says the property is improving right along. The last car of ore netted the company approximately $65 per ton.

J. Hilpert, manager of the Golden Lion property in Big Cottonwood district states that a good body of ore has been tapped in the tunnel, assays from which run as high as $130 in gold, with 10 per cent copper and some silver. The management intends sinking on the ore.

Grant Snyder came up from Beaver county last night, after visiting the Beaver Carbonate property with a party of Boston capitalists. He says the mine is looking good, and the big body of sulphide ore on the 700 level affords a milling proposition of splendid possibilities. On the way back the party came via Tintic.

PRICE CHANGES SMALL AND MIXED

New York, Nov. 23.—Opening dealings in stocks today were small in most cases, but there were large transactions in Reading at an advance of ⅜. Utah Copper rose 1¼. The price changes in the general list were small and mixed. The show of strength made by a few stocks was taken advantage of to press sales, under which prices fell violently to below yesterday's close. Pressure was particularly severe against the copper stocks and Reading. There was a demonstration of strength in the Gould stocks which lifted Texas & Pacific 1 and Wabash preferred 1⅝. In the heavy liquidation which broke out again at 11 o'clock Amalgamated Copper slumped 1½, Reading 2⅝, American Smelting and Anaconda 2¼, and many prominent stocks a point or more.

The rally ran to a point in Reading and Amalgamated Copper, 1½ in Anaconda, 1⅝ in Utah Copper. Stocks were unloaded again and Union Pacific sold below 200. Colorado Fuel and International Harvester fell 2 points.

The feverish and violent fluctuations discouraged efforts to trade and the dealings became dull.

Bonds were easy.

The report of an extra division on Central Railroad of New Jersey caused an active buying movement in Reading which soon made up its previous loss. The movement in this stock strengthened the whole market again, and some of the copper stocks rallied a point or more from their low prices. Railroad stocks were not very responsive and were quiet. American Snuff dropped 9½ and American Car 2 points.

An attack on Reading drove it down to near the low point, the price falling 2 below yesterday's close. The rest of the list was only slightly affected, and when the Pacific and Wabash preferred were marked up the whole list hardened. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, St. Paul and other western stocks sold fractionally over last night and Wabash preferred 3⅝. Reading also scored a pretty full recovery, but broke rapidly again at 2 o'clock.

The market closed firm. Closing from uncovered shorts kept the market quite steady although Reading was irregular. Southern Pacific and Western Union rose 1 and Consolidated Gas 2.

PRODUCE.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Predictions of decreased shipments of wheat from Russia and reports of delay to harvesting in Argentina owing to wet weather prompted considerable buying of wheat during early trading today which resulted in material strength. Pit trading and commission houses in general were buying while selling was scattered. Prices opened unchanged to ⅛ higher with December at 1.09¼ to 1.09⅜. May opened at 1.06⅜ to 1.06½. Within a short time the price of December option had been bid up to 1.09⅝@¾ and May to 1.06⅞. Strength of wheat held the corn market firm early in the session, despite improved weather conditions for the movement. The December delivery opened ⅛ higher at 60⅛ and advanced to 60⅜@½.

Buying of oats by cash interests had a strengthening effect on the oats market at the start. The December option opened ⅛ higher at 39 and sold up to 39@⅛.

Provisions developed considerable strength following a steady tone at the start. Demand for pork was quite urgent and that product showed the greatest gains. Prices at the opening were unchanged to 2½@5 higher.

Wheat—The market weakened in the final hour on selling based to some extent on a cablegram to a local concern which claimed that weather in Argentina was favorable for harvesting. December sold off to 1.08⅝@¾ and May to 1.05⅞. The close was easy with December off ⅝@½ at 1.08⅝@¾. May was ⅛ lower at 1.06.

NEWSBOY THUG CAPTURED.

Frank Smith, Who Assaulted Fred W. Foulger, Landed at Caliente, Nev.

Frank Smith, one of the newsboys representing the Denver Post, who "jumped" a $500 bond after being arraigned in the police court on the charge of assaulting Fred W. Foulger, a window dresser, employed at Walker's store about a week ago, has been captured by officers representing the bondsmen in Caliente, Nev. Smith will be brought back to Salt Lake City to stand trial for the assault. Young Foulger, his victim, has been removed from the Groves L. D. S. hospital to his mother's home at 1020 Jefferson avenue, and it is understood he will soon be well enough to testify against his assailant. Simon Leman, the other newsboy thug, who participated in the assault, is still missing, but the police are close upon his trail and hope to land him right away.

DOG FIGHT IN MAIN STREET.

The Result Nearly Brought Men to Blows This Morning.

A one sided dog-fight, a near man-fight, an exhibition of bulldog tenacity and also of man's brutality, were features of effervescent life on Main street shortly before noon today.

A husky bulldog, apparently good natured, was trotting along Main street just north of Second South, when a mangy canine described as "just dog," rushed at the bulldog with the evident purpose of chewing him up. The cur was spoiling for a fight, and the bulldog appeared willing, but the owner of the latter held his animal back until the cur dog had made three attacks and then he turned his pet loose. The next minute the air was pierced with howls of pain. The bulldog got a neck hold on his tormentor and like the average bulldog held on.

In a few seconds there were two or three hundred men and boys surrounding the dogs. The bull was kicked on the head, in the ribs and beaten with canes and umbrellas, but he had started out for vengeance and was determined to get it. Finally, the cur dog's life was saved by a plucky boy who seized the bulldog by the caudal appendage and dragged him off.

This was followed by a near man-fight. A member of the crowd got the bulldog by the collar and announced his intention of taking the poor animal to the gutter and there kick the life out of him. He started to carry out his brutal purpose when a young man quietly seized the brutal fellow and calmly told him if he harmed the dog he would decorate the pavement with pieces of the would-be dog murderer. The latter looked like fight for a few seconds, but only for a few seconds, because the young man made it quite apparent he would carry out his threat. Then the man who wanted to kill the dog slunk away. A policeman appeared on the scene after the trouble was all over with and seemed quite annoyed because he had missed the fight.
