Longfellow and his family will spend the summer in Europe.

There are 157 wholesale and 1,328 retail liquor dealers in Cincinnati.

The Kuklux Klan have sent a "warning" to Col. Eaton, editor of the Memphis Post.

It is said of an Irish comedian that he wears brogue at one end and brogans at the other.

D'Arcy McGee's brain weighed only half an ounce less than Cuvier's, the largest on record.

An editor out west has been elected town constable, and now arrests the attention of his readers.

The Dairy Association at West Rupert, Vt., manufactured 40,000 pounds of cheese in one week recently.

If you let trouble sit upon your soul like a hen upon her nest, you may expect the hatching of a large brood.

The copyright of Cherry's well-known ballad "Shells of the Ocean," sold in London recently for $285.

A young Indian girl, perfectly wild, was recently purchased in Terre del Fuego, for a bag of biscuits.

John Bright said lately: "If I visited the United States, the excitement and the labor would simply be my death."

Rev. Dr. Chapin says that a man living amid the activities of the nineteenth century is a condensed Methuselah.

One of the English religious papers is making a rail by troops of correspondents, on the wearing of moustaches by Methodist ministers.

At the present day, the standing armies of the world are larger than they have been since the great wars of the first Napoleon.

The western skating rinks are to be kept open all summer, parlor skates on a smooth floor compensating for the veritable steel and ice.

Berlin is much astonished at the performance of a man who plays on sixteen drums with forty-eight drumsticks. His performances closely resemble those of a Chinese knife-thrower.

A grand-niece of Benedict Arnold is said to be now employed as a lady clerk in one of the Executive Departments at Washington.

The bright clouds, moulded by the fingers of the winds, blossom in the sunshine, petals of the flower-cup of heaven.

A young thief, who was charged with picking pockets, demurred to the indictment, saying that he had never picked pockets, but had always taken them just as they came.

It is not in the power of a good man to refuse making another happy, when he has both ability and opportunity.

We are told that a contented man is happy, and we might have been told at the same time that a mud turtle could fly if he had wings.

The telegraphic systems of Belgium, which are managed by the State, have now been established 16 years, and the cost of their establishment has been entirely covered by the surplus receipts.

There are in Congress, House and Senate, thirteen Major-Generals, fifteen Brigadier-Generals, and six Colonels, besides eleven volunteer officers of a lower grade.

If we search out our own faults and correct them effectively, we shall have quite sufficient to occupy our attention without sitting in self-elected judgment upon the errors of those around us.

A Washington correspondent is convinced by careful observation, that, in lobbying a scheme through Congress, female beauty is far more potent than brains or bank notes.

Greeley is in favor of having Nye, of Nevada, appointed Secretary of the Treasury, assigning as a reason, that "Nye can borrow more money, and pay back less, than any man in the United States."

Two fossils of the extinct Irish elk—one with antlers of the unprecedentedly great span of 13 feet 2 inches—which had been stowed away for some sixteen years in a Philadelphia commission house, has just been secured for Yale College.

Mottled Soap is made with refuse kitchen stuff boiled with weak alkaline lye (soap lye) rendered caustic by quicklime, and to which common salt is afterwards added. The mottled appearance is given by watering the nearly finished soap with a strong lye of crude soda by means of a watering-can with a rose spout.

A student who was declaiming vigorously, and, as he doubtless believed, eloquently, on "The Language of Man," burst forth with, "the indispensable contributions of the inferior members of the animal kingdom to our noble language, and"—But here his tutor stopped him, and satirically requested an explanation of the "indispensable contributions" referred to. Whereupon the student, replied, "They may be found, sir, in such words as dog-matism, cat-ecism, cro-nology, pus-illanimous, ductility, hen-pecked, oz-yen, cow-slip, pig-meat, ase-teroid, and rat-ification."

There is a famous inventor of fashions in Paris named "Verdi." "When this truly great man is composing," says a correspondent, "he reclines on a sofa, and one of the young ladies of the establishment plays 'Verdi' to him; he composes chiefly in the evening, and says that the rays of the setting sun glid his conceptions. Like every great genius, he is very modest, and thinks the very weakest fee of himself. Last week he told the Duchess de — that he could give her a dress, but he could not supply style."
