THE UTAH ELECTION LAW.

THE New York Herald is again stirred up on the "Mormon" question. Its issue of the 22nd inst. contains correspondence from Washington on this subject covering nearly two columns of close print. Of course many misrepresentations are embodied in the letter, for no one hostile to the people and interests of this Territory ever confines himself to the truth when attacking either.

The first point in which the Herald's correspondent manifests his animus is in reference to our election law, which he says "was adopted by the Mormon Legislature as a means of espionage, coercion and oppression." He goes on to state that "An opposition vote cast upon rebellion against the Low-Assented, punishable with religious, social, commercial and political ostracism. The rebellious spirit who gives his suffrage to any others than those nominated by the assumed divine authority of the Mormon Church is sure to be discovered through the marked ballot which he has placed in the box. Following such discovery, if the voter is in business of any kind or is in the employ of a saint, comes the loss of trade or dismissal from service, as the case may be, as well as excommunication from the Church, social ostracism and delivery over to the "buffetings of Satan," which is understood by all Mormons to imply outlawry.

Of course the people of this Territory know that this is simply Gentile, woven by the adventurers who have been working for special legislation which may aid them in grasping that power over the affairs of Utah which they can never obtain by legitimate means and a pure ballot box. A careful examination of our election law will show that no such principle, as alleged actuated the legislators who framed it. And neither the New York Herald, its correspondent nor the unprincipled persons who have him his information, can produce an authentic case of an individual who has been injured by the majority for voting in any way that suited him.

As a proof of the desire of the Legislature to prevent any improper examination of the votes, read the following, which can be found on page 86 of the Compiled Laws of Utah:

"It shall be unlawful for any judge or clerk of election, probate judge, clerk of a county, assessor, selectman, or other person to examine any ballot offered or cast at the polls, or found in any ballot-box for any other purpose than to ascertain what candidate has been elected, and any person violating the provisions of this section, upon conviction thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars."

Now we maintain that there is no evidence in existence to prove that the object of establishing the system of marked ballot was for anything else than to preserve the purity of elections, and to ascertain, in case of a contest, beyond any doubt which candidate received the greatest number of legal votes. Those who still advocate the retention of this system are actuated by the same motives. Practically, Utah has now a "secret ballot." All this talk about intimidation and excommunication is the baldest kind of falsehood. Who knows how any man votes unless he chooses to speak about it himself? Who has been injured in person or property through voting in opposition to the People's Ticket? There is no more influence used against a Mormon radical political enemy by the majority in Utah, than is not used, as is brought to bear against Republicans by Democrats and vice versa, particularly if the individual is a renegade from his party. There is as much freedom in this Territory to vote or not vote, to oppose or be in harmony with the masses, as exists in any part of the Union. If there is any undue pressure here on political matters it is brought to bear by the very persons who are now clamoring for a Congressional change in the law. If any person who has been associated with them dares to depart in thought from their programme, he is slandered, vilified, libelled by an infamous press and hounded until he is glad to make peace with his persecutors or leave the Territory, and if he be in office the wires are immediately worked for his removal.

Changes in our election law have been proposed by our legislators at the present session of the Assembly. This is their child, but concession to the minority, not because there is anything vicious in the existing system. We would favor a change if any real benefits could be derived therefrom. But it would be far better to "let well alone" than to adopt any measure that would "let down the bars" for corruption and intrigue. The registration system, which is costly and cumbersome, does not prevent ballot stuffing in New York. Why should it work better here than there? If there is any mode by which a strictly secret ballot can be secured without leaving a loophole for illegal voting, we think that no one, not even those who believe in open voting, would offer any objection to its adoption.

In our present system there is only one point that seems to us open to a valid objection. That is in the custody and condition of the poll lists and ballots after the canvass is made, until the time limited for the notice of contest, and their final disposition. They are now left in the care of the County Clerk. There is a bare possibility of his exposing them to the scrutiny of others, or of his own comparison of the names and numbers on the poll list and the corresponding ballots, with a view to finding out how certain persons have voted, although this is guarded by the section of the law which we have quoted above.

But to cover this objection an amendment might be made, requiring the poll lists and ballots to be sealed up after the canvass, in the presence of those who have watched the counting—the law already providing for the attendance of each candidate or his representative—and the re-opening, after the time limited for notice of contest has expired, in the presence of the same witnesses, also the destruction of the lists and ballots in their presence if no contest has been legally commenced. By this plan the secrecy of the vote will be maintained from the beginning to the end, and while the means of determining the actual vote in case of a contest will be preserved, there will be no opportunity left, if those present at the canvass securely seal up the returns, for any individual to violate the law by any examination to find out how, or for whom, or by whom any vote was cast.

Every voter should be free to cast his ballot for the candidates of his choice. No undue pressure should be brought to bear upon any citizen to compel him to vote or prevent him from voting as his judgment dictates. But people joined together voluntarily to effect a common object have duties to each other which are entitled to general consideration. And while no one should be injured in consequence of his breaking loose from his associates and joining with those who oppose them, it cannot be expected that the dissenter will receive as much cordial friendship, countenance and support from his former fellow-partizans as those who remain in accord with them. Toleration in its fullest sense is a tenet of the "Mormon" faith; but no member of any sect, party or society who has "gone over to the enemy," can reasonably expect the same sympathy and fellowship as those who remain true and faithful. If any difference except this is made between "Mormon" and apostate, unless the latter brings trouble upon himself by illegal and forcible methods of intruding his dissent upon others, we know nothing about it. But we do know that such representations are made on this point in the New York Herald are manufactured for political effect and have no foundation in truth.

We must defer consideration of other points in the correspondence referred to until another time.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 22.—Howe, from the committee on library, reported favorably on the House joint resolution accepting Carpenter's painting of Lincoln and his cabinet.

After some debate, the resolution was agreed to, yeas 43, nays 7.

During the morning hour, Beck called up the resolution declaring it inexpedient to maintain or impose taxes at this time for the purpose of providing for $37,196,045.04 asked for by the Secretary of the Treasury for a sinking fund, and spoke in favor of passing the resolution.

Upon the conclusion of Beck's remarks, the resolution was laid over, and consideration resumed of the unfinished business, being the silver bill.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 22.—Durham reported a bill making appropriations for detecting trespass on the public lands; referred.

Stephens introduced a bill to make importers use the metric system of weights and measures; referred.

EASTERN.

The Shipping.

NEW YORK, 22.—The Tribune says 51 ships, 79 brigs, 236 barks, and 193 schooners are now lying at New York and vicinity.

The Silver Bill.

The Republican papers generally concede that the silver bill is bound to pass.

The Times calls upon the republican party to stand firm against the measure.

Theatrical.

Boucicault's "Dead Secret," produced at the Fifth Avenue Theatre last night, was not very favorably received by the critics.

Alfred Dampier in the "Lion's Mill," was warmly received at the Broadway, last night, and is praised by the critics as an artist, but the play is not well liked.

Another Mexican Raid.

CHICAGO, 22.—The News' Laredo special, via Brownsville, says: A party of Mexicans, mostly from Texas, under command of Col. E. Selinas, an adherent of Lerdo, attacked the towns of Landeta, Savinas, and Hidalgo, in the state of Tamaulipas, on the 22nd inst., killed the principal men of the towns and forced them to pay $6,000. The cavalry started in pursuit from different points upon which the revolutionists separated, and it is said they crossed into Texas below Laredo. It is said the raid was planned at Laredo.

Silver.

Silver bars, 118½ greenbacks, 118½ gold; silver coin 1 @ 2 discount; Gold closed, 3¼; Money easy, 5; Governments feverish; Stocks weak, lower; Western Union, 77; Quicksilver 15½; Pacific, 22½; Mariposa, ½; Wells, Fargo, 83½; New York Central, 105½; Erie 8½; Panama 118; Union Pacific, 68; Union Pacific bonds 104½; Central Pacific 105½.

What Secy. Sherman Thinks of the Silver Bill.

CHICAGO, 22.—The Times' Washington special says: Secretary Sherman, in an interview, says that he recognizes the fact that the silver bill will become law. He believes there is a clear two-thirds for it in each branch of Congress. He saw no reason for a belief or hope that it could be defeated. He thought an amendment might be put in, but that not much difference could be made. He thought the people in New York did not fully understand the strength of the silver movement in Congress. Up to to-day the correspondents of the New York papers have insisted that the bill could not command a two-thirds vote. He was not, therefore, surprised at the course of the gold market. Besides, the remonetization of silver will not effect gold or greenbacks at once. All the silver that can be coined for several months would be used for the payment of duties, and the people in general will not see much of it until some time after the passage of the bill. He said, as the supply of silver increased, gold would entirely disappear, and then greenbacks will gradually depreciate. The silver people will be greatly disappointed with the immediate effects of the remonetization of silver, and that the greenback men, who are at the bottom of the silver movement, will be the only ones strengthened. He believes the sale of bonds of the popular loan will continue.

The Crooked Whiskey Cases.

A quiet fight is going on between the government and the attorneys for the whisky men, who have the moral support of District Attorney Bangs. It is quite probable that the latter will be removed for his inefficiency as prosecutor in these cases, and for his sympathy and recommendations extended to them in their efforts to get pardons and immunity from civil prosecution.

A Swindle.

BOSTON, 22.—Benjamin E. Bates, late treasurer of the Lewiston, Maine, mills, it is found, upon examination of the books, diverted to his own use, $200,000, borrowed for the corporation, giving his own obligations therefor.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Destruction of Property by Floods.

LONDON, 22.—A special from Pesth says: There is no immediate danger of an inundation here now, but the island below Pesth is flooded, and twenty villages are submerged and probably completely ruined. It is impossible to send aid, because the river is obstructed by ice, and a heavy snow storm blocks the roads.

The Supplementary Vote.

The vote of the supplementary estimate has become purely a party question and the liberals will contest it as such and accept the result of division as decisive.

Lord Derby on the Occupation of Constantinople.

Lord Derby, last night, in opposing Strathenden's resolution that opposition to any occupation of Constantinople would not be a breach of neutrality, strongly intimated his personal conviction that the temporary occupation of Constantinople by the Russians would furnish no ground for British interference.

The Peace Commissioners.

Advices from Constantinople to 7.30 last night, says there is no news from the peace plenipotentiaries.

Eastern War News

The concentration of the Russians at Adrianople continues.

Scouts have arrived at Choolu, seventy miles from Constantinople.

Suleiman Pasha is at Boulair.

Mehemit Ali is at Constantinople.

There are 10 British iron clads at Besika Bay.

The Egyptian garrison has evacuated Bazardjik and retreated to Varna.

The Turkish Government is having difficulty to maintain order in the capital. Among the tens of thousands of refugees from Roumelia are many armed Circassians. These have already plundered Suleh Bostgas, Chorlu, Rodosto, and other towns, and are now flocking into Constantinople laden with booty. Government wishes to disarm them and send them into Asia, but it is doubtful whether they will be able to do so.

There is appalling misery from Bosphorus to the Gulf of Salonica. The whole coast is crowded with terrified Mohamedans seeking transportation across the Straits. Hundreds are perishing from cold, hunger and exhaustion, and no succor is possible until the panic and confusion in the capital has abated.

Advices from Athens, up to last night, say that order has been re-established, but the exasperation of the people is increasing. Their disposition is very warlike. Many volunteers are crossing the frontier.

Bullion Withdrawn.

Bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance, today, is £150,000.

TURKEY.

Armistice Signed and Turkish Defeat, etc.

BELGRADE, 22.—After four days' battle the Turks have been defeated near Rotscharink by 40,000 Servians. The hospitals have been ordered to prepare accommodations for 3,000 wounded.

It is stated that Prince Battenberg, son of Alexander of Hesse, will be appointed Regent of Bulgaria.

A correspondent, besieged in Erzeroum, writes under date Jan. 15, that typhus fever is raging here, and 250 die daily. There are 10,000 sick and wounded in the hospitals.

GREECE.

Organizing for Civil War.

ATHENS, 22.—It is said that Grivas, ex-minister, is organizing a revolution or civil war, and it is feared there may be much blood shed. The chamber passed an almost unanimous vote approving of the repressive measures of the government.

Bro. Thomas Thomas bore his testimony in support of the truth of the latter-day work, and also alluded to the early settlement of Brigham City.

President O. G. Snow addressed the meeting on the nature of the work in which the Latter-day Saints are engaged in, and the priceless value of a knowledge of its important truths.

Counselor E. A. Box said, so far as the Latter-day Saints free themselves from every evil habit, God will bless them with wisdom and understanding, and a rich measure of His Holy Spirit.

Short addresses were also delivered by Bishops G. W. Ward, Thos. Harper and A. Nichols.

The report of Brigham City Female Relief Society was read, showing that up to Dec. 31st 1877, it had disbursed for emigration and other charitable purposes $2,643.47. Funds on hand at that date, in cash, wheat, interest in store, etc., $2,487.73. The statistical and financial reports from all the Relief Societies in the Stake were read by the clerk.

Apostle F. D. Richards expressed his pleasure at hearing the reports made by the Bishops, and at the statistical and financial reports of the Stake and Relief Societies, which had been read; also his joy to witness the results of the union existing amongst the Saints in the Stake, which has created so many institutions of home industry; exhorted to future faithfulness in this direction; alluded to the destruction of the woolen factory, and the prompt action of the Saints in already being at work putting up a more noble structure. He called upon the Seventies to put themselves in readiness to perform missions to the nations; read from the Doctrine and Covenants on the duties of the High Priests as presiding officers in the Church, and made some remarks thereon.

The General Authorities of the Church, and the officers of the Stake were presented and sustained.

Singing and prayer.

The Sacrament was administered.

Apostle F. D. Richards, after reading from the Doctrine and Covenants, on the order of the priesthood, delivered a very instructive discourse on the ordination, rule and duties of the Holy Priesthood, the blessings, powers and government of the patriarchal order, which order had existed upon the earth from the days of Adam until the days of Nimrod, the great hunter, who made an innovation in that order of government by force and conquest, and brought people under his dominion; this was the beginning of Babylon with its monarchial and despotic governments.

Pres. O. G. Snow and Counselor S. Smith made a few remarks.

Twenty home missionaries were appointed and sustained.

Conference adjourned for three months.
