GRAND ARMY REPORT

Total Membership of Nearly Four Hundred Thousand.

FINANCES IN A GOOD CONDITION.

The Annual Address by General Walker, the Commander-in-Chief.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 3.—In his address against I. N. Walker, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. said:

"The total membership of the Grand Army of the Republic is 365,400, of which 348,810 are in good standing and still are carried on the suspended roll. Of the non-payment of dues, a decrease in this list during the past year of 1,613. The gain by muster during the year was 15,607. The total loss during the year was 11,576, of which number 1,825 was by death; a decrease of 18 from last year. While we take no sentiment the great business depression of the year, the lack of employment and the fact that so many veterans are dependent upon the earnings of this order's goods, our membership has held its own remarkably well.

"The report of the quartermaster general shows our finances to be in a good condition and that there has been a reduction of expenses."

The report of A. J. Burbank, quartermaster general, shows receipts $99,816, expenditures, $19,779, leaving a balance of $79,795, the assets are $81,111, investments $48,000.

In reporting the rapid growth of fraternal feeling between the North and South Walker said: "The unpleasant memories of the late war will soon be so completely effaced as to leave the angry passions of our English ancestors in the great civil conflict known as the War of Roses."

A FOR ADDRESS PRESENT.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 3.—There was a big ovation in the Auditorium today when Mayor Doran made a formal address of welcome on behalf of the city to the G. A. R. Post departments. Among the commanders-in-chief present were Isaac Jenkins, of Ohio, Wilson, John S. Palmer, Joan S. Kountz, and John Phelps. After the usual hard and dead-in executive session the opening public session was gone through with, committees appointed and the reports of officers presented.

BRYAN IN MICHIGAN.

He Explains What He Expects to Learn on Tuesday Next.

ADRIAN, Mich., Sept. 3.—Candidate Bryan left Toledo at 8 o'clock this morning and arrived here at 8:50. Two thousand people were awaiting him. He was escorted to a flat car by L.E. Salisbury, who introduced him as "the Black Eagle of Nebraska." Bryan said later in the campaign he expected to visit Michigan in person, because he expected Michigan's electoral vote and he wanted to become acquainted with the people who were to help carry it for the ticket in the electoral college. Bryan urged the citizens to take activity in accordance with their local conventions, recognizing the unpleasantness of outrage. Said he: "I expect to raise the voice of many Democrats who believe a gold standard is necessary to the country's welfare, but in a home here the Democrats who want a gold standard to prevail until foreign nations come to our relief, I think I am entitled to the support of every citizen of every party who believe that Americans are able to work out their own salvation."

Bankers Advocate the Gold Standard.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 3.—The Michigan Bankers' association decided most of the second day of their annual meeting to continue business, reports of committees, etc. Mr. Hulse of Detroit read a paper on Bankers and Bank Curtailing in which he moved bankers be expectorated to applicants for checkouts and also for passing on the treatment of employes who fill posts of responsibility. At the afternoon session "Gold Standard vs Silver Standard" was discussed. All the speakers advocated the gold standard. Papers of concern to banking and financial interests generally were read.

A FAMOUS MURDER CASE.

Strong Evidence Against the Defendants by a Liberated Convict.

ELDORADO, Kan., Sept. 3.—The famous Frisco murder case, which has been in the courts for several years is on for the last term again. The defendants are J. W. Morgan, Theodore Cox, Mark Sellers, J. S. Osborn and Frank Mockbee, enlistment of men or has disappeared in Elk and Chautauqua counties. Although several people have been tried for the murder of John Frisco, who was a rich cattleman, none have been convicted of the crime. Strong evidence, it is said, will be produced against the defendants in the present case by John New, who has been pardoned from the Kansas penitentiary on the promise that he turns state evidence. John Frisco was murdered several years ago soon after he had induced a herd of Texas fever cattle into Kansas. It has always been believed that his murder was instigated by engineering settlements whose interests had been jeopardized by the infected cattle.

BRYAN AT TOLEDO.

He Speaks to Thirty Thousand People.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 3.—Mr. Bryan was introduced by Judge Lemuel. He said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—As I look over this vast audience, which is measured by the acre rather than by the head, I am sorry to regret that the silver cause is dying out. (Great applause and laughter.) It is to what people do when the silver sentiment is so strong, when they ought to be getting to the whole the sentiment begins to increase?

"We are meeting a great national campaign. Two nominations have been made, the issues have been laid down and the voters are choosing their sides upon this question. In former campaigns we have been able to measure the vote of each party with some degree of accuracy. In ordinary times the platform adopted by the party represents the sentiment of the party, generally speaking, and the sum or of changes from one side to another was so few that we knew the size of the tide upheaval in politics. Men who used to wait to have the party managers tell them what ought to be done are telling the party managers what they ought to do. (Great applause.) Men who in ordinary times made such opinion to fit into the party creeds are the year making their creeds to conform to their convictions. (Applause.)

"I want for a few minutes to impress upon you the importance of the part you have taken in the conduct of the government of the United States. Do you believe in the restoration of bimetallism? (Cries of "Yes, sir.") If you do then you are entitled to a gold standard. (Cries of "Yes, yes.") Between a good standard and bimetallism, whether that bimetallism be independent or international (Cries of "Independent") there is an impassable gulf. Those who believe in a gold standard cannot politically affiliate with those who believe in bimetallism, and those who believe in bimetallism cannot for one hour remain in political association with those who would prefer a gold standard upon the human race.

"The United States is the greatest nation, in my judgment, in the structure of the world. We are the greatest as the oppressed everywhere and ought to be the chief in every movement that has for its object the betterment of the condition of those who surround mankind. (Applause.) Upon the action of the United States may depend the action of other nations upon this question. The influences which are at work here for the destruction of silver as standard money exposed at this election. Gold is the money of this nation is not deliberately upon the side of gold as the only primary money, you must remember that these same influences will be at work throughout the Western nations, and nation after nation will be driven from the use of silver as standard money to the use of gold alone, and the demand for gold will keep in the demand for gold will keep to increase the purchasing power of an ounce of gold, and every time the purchasing power of an ounce of gold shall rise, the prices of the products of human labor will fall. (Applause.) Because a dear dollar is simply another definition to the Kansas. It has always been charged that his murder was instigated by engineering settlements whose interests had been jeopardized by the infected cattle.

PROCEEDINGS TODAY

The Democrats at Indianapolis Adopt a Platform.

CANDIDATES FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Waltersen's Name Withdrawn—Palmer and Bragg Presented—Vice President Cleveland Declined.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3.—The delegates assembled slowly today, but despite the rain, ticket holders were eager to secure entrance. It was conceded that Bickner's nomination for Vice President was a certainty and speculation concerned the selection of a candidate for President. Cleveland's telegram to the chairman of the New York delegation, declining to permit the use of his name, was accepted by the convention as final. The fact that Senator Palmer had declined, for personal reasons, to allow his name to be used, was not generally known.

After talking with him, Curtis of New Jersey said:

"I believe Palmer will be the nominee. He declined to permit the use of his name, because he is embarrassed by saying that if nominated against his wishes, his declination will not be irrevocable."

Senator Chairman Caffery appeared on the stage at exactly 11 o'clock, the hour to which the convention adjourned. When General Buckner of Kentucky entered, the convention rose, giving him three cheers. Then the crowd caught sight of the waving head of Col. Breckinridge, and the cheering was renewed. "Silver strips" came from all parts of the hall. The galleries rose on chairs to catch a glimpse of the leader from the Bluegrass state. The hall chairs came down crashing to earth.

Col. Breckinridge bowed profoundly in acknowledgment of the compliment paid him. Several times the cheers and shouts for the Kentuckian were renewed. Each time the noises were louder and more continuous.

By the time the hall was crowded. Fully 4,000 people were in the hall.

At 11:30 Chairman Caffery called the convention to order. Caffery learned the convention that the committee on resolution was not ready to report and begged patient indulgence for a few minutes.

He had hardly finished his sentence before a thousand voices shouted for Breckinridge. Many delegates jumped on the chairs and yelled. At last Breckinridge arose. He seemed to hesitate, but was pushed along toward the stage, three thousand voices shouting, "Speech!" Finally he spoke:

"I thank you for the honor given me. I am responsible and enthusiastic.

"He declared the speeches the night before marked a crucial period in the Democratic history. The keeping of the platform was a great and enthusiastic.

Wilson he said it was charged the convention was here to elect McKinley, and added that the free silver Democrats had taken the control of their hands, the delegates and galleries rose. He pointed out the effect in Maryland, West Virginia, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky and the other states of the attempt of the silver Democrats to control the meetings of true Democracy. Those who had already passed out of Democracy's control, he said. Silver Democrats had already given the ticket to Republican rule. "The platform adopted at Chicago is not our platform," he said; "the nominees are not ours."

He referred to Bryan as "a young man who was seeking to be a leader of the world." Bryan's leadership, he said, were for those unfortunate in life, who are poor and have not been prosperous. Bryan, he said, pointed out the beauty and said his followers to use the ballot as a weapon to equalize that which made life unequal.

"I protest," he said, "this is not Democracy; the Democratic theory is not that the government would support the people, but that the people should support the government."

He denied that the convention was here to announce a declaration of principles and should take sic. It was here, he said, to place before the people a ticket in contrast with that named at Chicago. It mattered not to him who was nominated. He referred to Senator Palmer, as a noble soldier and statesman, who was now anxious to lay aside the armor, principles and ideals of his life. It was here, by a counter demonstration as he mentioned General Bragg, as the "commander of the Iron Brigade."

Bragg was surrounded with an eloquent peroration on the duty of patriots to honor and country.

After the demonstration had subsided, Mr. Wilson, of Ohio, offered a resolution expressing the deep loss Democracy felt in the death of the Massachusetts ex-governor, William Russell, and the great loss to the cause of economy which followed over the Chicago convention, which had taken place in the national Democratic convention. The resolution was adopted by a rising vote.

Dr. Everett of Massachusetts responded feelingly in behalf of Massachusetts, the Democrats of Kentucky read the following telegram:

"Hon. George Davies, Chairman of the Kentucky Delegation:

Give us an unequivocal Democratic platform and an old time Democrat and all will be well. W. H. LINDSAY."

Savage said there was no more chance of Bryan carrying Kentucky than of the Lord sending the archangelic teachings of the Chicago convention.

John Dewitt Farmer of New York declared that although New York Democrats were strong partisans, they did not believe that party loyalty required a man to be a weaker man in and out where he was going. Some York Democrats were equally opposed to the opinions Republicanism found in the Republican camp and to the vagary Republicans drawn for in a Democracy.

THE PLATFORM

The platform agreed upon by the committee declares for a single gold standard with such subsidiary coinage as is necessary without disturbing the parity. It does not mention international agreement and makes no reference to the income tax. The tariff plank is substantially the same as the tariff plank in the Chicago and money platform. There is no minority report.

BULLETINS.

Carroll of Kentucky takes the platform and nominates Waltersen's name for the Presidency.

Kilbourne of Michigan presented the name of Gen. Palmer. The mention of Palmer causes a great demonstration throughout the hall. About two-thirds of the delegates are on their feet cheering for Palmer.

Jones of Harrison, Wis., takes the platform in present the name of Gen. Bragg.

HE WANTS TO LEARN.

The Leader of the Liberal Party in Germany Arrives in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Herald this morning says:

Dr. Theodore Barth, leader of the liberal party in the German Reichstag, arrived in New York yesterday on the steamer Havel. He came to study the political situation in this country and to watch the campaign, which has a peculiar interest for him, as he is one of the leading European advocates of gold monometallism.

"I came some to meddle with your politics," he said. "But to watch the most interesting presidential campaign I ever learn. The most interest in Europe in the American situation and the desire of all to see a result which will bring prosperity to the United States, for trade relations are so close that prosperity for you means prosperity for us. I regard the currency question as the vital one to a country's prosperity. International bimetallism has long been discussed in Europe, but it will never come to pass, I believe. England and Germany will never consent to abandon the gold standard and without them the other powers will be helpless.

"I regard the attempt at bimetallism by any single nation as absolutely impracticable, and I doubt if at the great commercial nations together would succeed.

"I do not believe that free silver coinage would benefit the agricultural classes as the free silver people claim at the time of Mr. Bryan's election and the passage at any one mileage low at least four months would elapse, and during that time you would have a panic which would ruin your agricultural interests. Mortgages would be foreclosed, issue called in and great suffering would result. Of course this is only my opinion. I am eager to hear the arguments of the other side."

Judge Hilton Will Pay.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Herald this morning says: The creditors of Hilton, Hughes & Co., need no longer lose sleep. Judge Charles N. Bedford announced that he will pay to the last cent the debts of the firm.

Cleveland at a late hour last night sent the answer:

FOR THE BENEFIT OF CUBANS.

Captain Dargin Looking for a Suitable Steamship.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Captain D. G. Dargin, of New Orleans, has been in the city a week attempting to purchase a boat of from 200 to 300 tonnage, which he can transport to New Orleans either via Illinois River or the St. Lawrence. He is said to be acting in Ellinoetering for the benefit of the Cuban junta in Louisville because its president, John H. Stockton, is a silver man. The charge is repeated in this city with emphasis and further revelation are coming which forecast a national scandal. Not only did Secretary Carlisle turn the funds removed to the First National Bank of Tampa because of Mr. Stockton's attitude on the silver question, but the transfer of the funds is asserted, with the knowledge and approval of President Cleveland. Moreover, it is part and parcel of a conspiracy to throw the votes of Florida to McKinley. The principals in the scheme to defeat the election of Bryan electors in Florida are Healy Mr. Flagler, the Cuban junta and a heavy owner of Florida real estate, hotels and railroads, and Henry B. Plant, head of the Southern Express company, owner of the Plant line of steamers and head of the Plant railway system.

These two men control Florida's representatives in Congress. Cooper is an attorney for Flagler, and Sparkman is an attorney for Plant. Together with the numerous Federal officials in Florida they have been working to secure the defeat of Senator Call in order that a gold senator may be selected. Both the current steps in their progress was to issue a daily paper in Jacksonville—the Florida Citizen—in order to break down the Florida Times-Union, a paper friendly to Senator Call. Simultaneously the Times-Union still held out, the Flagler-Plant combine changed their policy, and finally secured control of the Times-Union a few weeks ago. This is not generally known, but it is a fact.

Heretofore both the Citizen and the Times-Union are supporting Bryan and Sewall. The support is of a POLITICAL MATTERS.

Judge Burton Says Illinois Will Give Silver 50,000 Majority.

INDIANA ALSO FOR WHITE METAL.

Three Hundred Indianapolis Silverites Well Attend the Big Ogden Demonstration Tonight.

Judge John W. Burton returned home this morning from a two weeks' visit to Illinois. As a result he is in high glee over the prospects for silver in the Prairie or Sucker state. To a News man he said: "The political feeling in Illinois is most intense. In Utah it is very mild as compared with what it is East. Groups of men can be seen earnestly, even vehemently discussing the money question everywhere. One noticeable feature is that the silver men are more better posted on the great issue than are their opponents. They have been reading for two or three years, while the gold men are just beginning to get their information. In the southern counties of Illinois Democrats are flocking to Bryan in great droves. I talked the situation over carefully with several members of the state committee and from what they told me I know I can safely say that Illinois will give Bryan, Sewall and silver at least 50,000 majority in November. There is absolutely no doubt about it at all. The talk that the German vote is all going to gold is the biggest kind of a mistake. I known counties in Illinois, ninety per cent of whose population is German and seventy-five per cent of whose votes will be for free silver.

"But what about Cook County—how will that go?" asked the News man.

"It goes," came a bit of difference; it will be cited by free silver vote. The silver men of Illinois have figured that out all right. Indiana, too, is all right for silver just as sure as anything can be. It will give Bryan a good majority. In Illinois there is the greatest expectancy among the masses to hear Bryan, who is scheduled to make twenty speeches there. He will, figuratively speaking, set the whole state on fire. The demand for him is simply insatiable."

RUSY SILVER REPUBLICANS.

Three Hundred Of Them to Go From Salt Lake to Ogden tonight—Speeches and Oratory.

From the committee in charge it was learned this afternoon that not less than 300 hustling, enthusiastic silver Republicans would go up to Ogden to attend the big demonstration tonight. They will be accompanied by Held's band which has been parading the streets today and will leave the Rio Grande Western depot at 7 o'clock on a special train and make a run of about a mile a minute. The crowd will be augmented by delegations from the south and at stations between here and the Junction city, where the outpouring is sure to be on a very jubilant scale. The speeches are more are going to be of the mostatiring kind, and in anticipation of the thousands who will flock to hear arrangements for overflow meetings have been made by the Ogden committee.
