THE "GARDEN" CITY

Visited by the Territorial Law Makers, Yesterday.

INSANE ASYLUM APPROPRIATION.

The Solons Were Given a Splendid Welcome by Provo's Citizens.

As announced in yesterday's News, the run of the Legislators to the Territorial Insane Asylum at Provo was made yesterday.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the special train of three fine cars furnished by the Rio Grande Western, with Conductor Weir and Engineer Tenny in charge, left the depot with the following members of the Legislature on board:

Councilors—King, Peters, Graves, Glendinning, Haynes, Morrell, Sergeant-at-Arms Crockston and Engrossing Clerk Haversomp.

Representatives—Seegmiller, Colton, Perry, Lawrence, Tuttle, Adams, Allen, Arnett, Snow, Olson, J. D. Irvine, Montgomery, Stake, Sargent, Chaplain Matthewson.

There were also Governor Thomas, Territorial Treasurer Roberts, ex-Judge Sharteff, Dr. Pike, representatives of the News, Herald and Tribune, and several ladies.

The run to Provo was made in an hour and twenty minutes, ten minutes better than the schedule time.

As the train steamed into Provo the members of the different committees appointed Thursday last with instructions to see that the visitors were royally treated were there to meet the party, as well as the board of directors of the asylum, city officials, bands, drum corps and citizens, with over twenty sleighs and vehicles ready to carry them up to the asylum, a mile and a quarter distant. The ride, in spite of the sharp air and piercing wind, was an enjoyable one and in a short time the legislators were within the walls of the asylum—as guests.

At 12 o'clock the party were shown into the new chapel and called to order by Doctor Pike, who introduced Judge Sutherland, president of the board of directors. That gentleman in a short speech of welcome thanked the visitors for their presence, saying that the institution needed no description from him as all could see for themselves and form their own opinions. Some of the citizens of Provo were desirous of laying the corner stone of the future capital and therefore would not say more.

Dr. Pike followed with a few remarks in which he said that it was impossible to take the visiting body through the entire building without exciting the patients, and that owing to cramped condition of the institution it had been necessary to put 113 patients where were really accommodations for only seventy. The excitement would prove injurious to them in their crowded state. He then read the list of the different materials that had gone into the construction of the building: Six hundred yards of cement concrete, 410 cords of stone, 3,000,000 brick, 12,000 yards of sand, 13,000 bushels of lime, 220 tons of iron and steel, 450,000 feet of lumber, 40 tons of cement, 1 mile of glass, 12 tons of nails, 1 ton of galvanized and sheet iron, 1 ton of bolts, 8 tons of cast iron, 4 miles of pipe for steam fitting and plumbing, 15 miles of wire for electric lighting, 1100 incandescent lights, 1100 square feet of heating surface in the steam-heating department. When finished the institution can accommodate something over 400 patients. The board asks the Legislature for an appropriation of $112,000 to complete and furnish the recent addition, beautify the grounds, build necessary outhouses, purchase meadow and hay lands, and provide for the maintenance of the asylum for the next two years.

This amount was neither too large nor too small, but just what is needed to make the institution what it should be.

Governor Thomas was next called upon. His two years' service had taught him much concerning the needs of the institution. Insanity is a dreadful disease—the most deplorable of human ailments—and he considered it the duty of the present Legislature to do all in its power for these unfortunate creatures, and, if possible, reclaim the reason of the patients and relieve them from their misery.

President King of the Council said that it was only a few years since the Legislature saw the necessity of establishing an insane asylum. A short but eloquent account of the organization of the institution was given. Although the last Legislature gave a munificent sum—and the result was to be seen around them in the new and commodious quarters which would in a short time be ready for occupancy—yet the building was inadequate. While the board of directors had labored under great disadvantages and had accomplished much, they only asked for enough money to furnish the building and provide for the comforts of the unfortunates crowded together in the south wing.

Speaker Seegmiller of the House, spoke of the need of providing for those whose reason had been dethroned and related an incident which came under his notice of a maniac from St. George, whose reason had been restored to him in this institution. What the last Legislature had done met with his hearty approval.

Hon. H. W. Lawrence was proud of the asylum and it stood today where patients could come and be treated. He had often seen the necessity for an institution of this kind and would do all in his power to foster the Provo asylum.

Councilor Glendenning was next called upon but politely declined, saying that he had arranged with his brother Councilor Haynes to do the talking that day, as he was down for an oration at the Ogden Reform School on the morrow.

Councilor Haynes remarked that the gentleman from Salt Lake was suffering from an aberration of the mind, that it was a good stroke of policy in bringing him to the asylum and suggested to Dr. Pike the advisability of keeping an eye on his future movements.

Representative Arnett thought it the duty of every citizen to care for the demented.

Representative Perry of Summit County took the floor. He regarded the question of appropriation as not how much money to vote, but how much does the institution need and must have. He was ready to let the Agricultural College and Deseret University have what was left after the asylum had been cared for, and was ready to vote even $200,000 for the latter. His sympathies were touched by the condition of the inmates in the building.

After the speech-making the visitors were escorted to the rear of the chapel, where a bountiful lunch had been prepared, and were straightway invited to "storm the fort." Misses Clara Dusenberry, Florence Pike and Tettie Haynes saw that the party were well supplied with gastronomical ammunition and when the siege was raised the table looked as though an army of Texas grasshoppers had marched over the place.

The visiting party were then taken through the principal rooms of the building.

The latter is of brick with stone trimmings and made up of a central structure with north and south wings, the north wing being the new fireproof one. The entire cost, when completed, will be about $250,000, and is the most pretentious of the Territorial buildings. About 400 patients can be accommodated. The front of the central part will be used for offices and rooms for the doctors and their assistants and spare bedrooms.

In the rear of the center are the kitchens, bakery, pantry, storerooms, engine and boiler rooms and laundries. There are three sixty-horse power boilers and three dynamos for incandescent lighting. Upstairs is the chapel, which will seat 400 persons. The wings are 162x40 feet, with ells 108 feet deep at the ends of the wings, and the stairways are slate and iron. The north or new wing is absolutely fire-proof, as Architect Kletting says. In the rear of the chapel are apartments for the laundresses and their assistants. In each wing are seventy-five cells on each floor, not counting closets and bathrooms, dining rooms, etc. The wings are three stories high, the ells having four. The women are confined on the second floor, leaving the upper floors for the men. The steam heating is very complete. Air is forced over immense radiators by fans and blown at a temperature of 150 degrees from the heating-room all over the building, the current entering part way up the walls, while the vitiated air is drawn out through registers in the washboards of the different rooms. The honorable members ventured into the hot-air chamber and quickly climbed out again from the heat. A special apparatus receives the condensed water from the radiators and forces the hot water back into the boilers, and the exhaust steam from the engines is forced into the radiators and thus made to heat the house. Every feature of the immense structure seems designed with a view to economy and usefulness.

After a satisfactory inspection of the building the legislators were driven to the Brigham Young Academy, where 500 students were assembled in the chapel. Short speeches were here made by President King, Governor Thomas, Speaker Seegmiller and Representative Haynes.

The lawmakers were well pleased with what they saw. The new Academy building was pronounced a fine affair. The building is 130x117 feet, with three stories, has thirty-one rooms, including six class rooms and the 75x72 feet chapel, and larger commodious halls. The cost of the building, lands, etc., will be $90,000.

The party were then taken to the Roberts' Hotel, where an elegant banquet had been prepared with the compliments of the chamber of commerce. About forty people sat down to dinner, with Governor Thomas and President King at the heads of the tables.

An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Booth, to which the Governor replied with a few well chosen remarks. While the guests were eating they were favored with music from the Opera House orchestra and several selections from Provo's noted glee club.

Superintendent Wilson made a statement of the condition of the local public school system, and urged that the proposed school legislation be passed without delay. Representative Perry and S. S. Jones followed in a happy vein.

Resolutions of thanks were passed to the Rio Grande Western, Dr. Pike, Mayor Booth for the city of Provo, and to all who had contributed to make it pleasant for the party.

The returning train, which left the Garden City at 5 p.m., made the homeward run in one hour and ten minutes.

Today the legislators are visiting the Reform School at Ogden.

The Best Authorities,

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof. Gross, and others, agree that catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effectually and permanently cures catarrh. Thousands praise it.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, jaundice, biliousness, sick headaches, constipation and all troubles of the digestive organs.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

I am an old man and have been a constant sufferer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease.—Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Att'y, Washington, D. C.

For Eight years I have suffered from catarrh, which affected my eyes and hearing; have employed many physicians without relief. I am now on my second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and feel confident of a complete cure.—Mary C. Thompson, Cerro Gordo, Ill.
