replied the plans for the manufactures building, but not as they stand now. When the plans were shown the commission it was evident that two open courts inside the building were to be reserved for exposition purposes. What has become of that space now? In consideration of a rebate of $100,000 the directory has planned to place a leather building in one of those courts, and a comfort and dreadfully ugly goes in the other. These buildings have no business there and ought to be taken out. The manufacturers' building architecturally is the greatest of all on the grounds. Unfortunately it is a farce. I want the thing corrected before it goes any further, and when the commissions meeting I shall take the proper steps.

A Crown Comes to Grief.

BRIDGEWATER, Mass., August 23.—Harper Brothers' circus, billed for two performances at Thompsonville, Saturday, came to grief in the evening. The performers struck about 8 o'clock for cash wages. It was announced that there would be no performance, and the money be refunded. The crowd became excited. They cut the guy ropes, set the tent on fire, smashed the seats and wagons, cut up the harness, and great pieces were torn out of the tent. In all about $200 damage was done. H. N. Harper, manager, attempted to refund the money, but when the crowd became aware of the most the money and came now, where he was arrested later in the night for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Storm plays Havoc with Crops.

ST. LOUIS, August 23.—Dispatches from several points in Missouri indicate that the storm which did so much damage at Atchison, Kansas, and Kansas City, Missouri, played havoc with grain, corn and standing corn, as well as doing immense damage to houses, barns and outhouses at other points. At Huntville the streets were submerged in places deep enough to swim a horse. Not a bridge remains across the stream that runs through the town. Bonne Terre reports that 1100 feet of track of the Mississippi River and Bonne Terre railway was washed away.

A Paying Gold Mine.

CARSON, Nev., August 22.—William Zirn opened his mine at Fine Nut for inspection today. E. S. Dougherty, superintendent of the Carson water-works, returned today, and says the mine is all Zirn claimed for it. Zirn was offered $1000 for permission to work the mine twenty-four hours. In four hours Zirn took out $1000. Dougherty with a pan obtained crumbs of gold and decomposed quartz. Since the inspection of Zirn's mine the price of ground in the vicinity has advanced.

Must be Built Without Delay.

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 22.—The State board of railroad commissioners have addressed a letter to the manager of the Union Pacific Railroad informing him that the entire line of the Kansas Central Railroad must be built without delay with new steel track and if the order is not complied with at once the matter would be turned over to the attorney-general and steps taken to revoke the road's charter. Several fatalities caused by the defective tracks have resulted in this order being issued. The officials say they cannot afford to lay new tracks, as the road is not paying expenses.

COLORADO, Tex., August 22.—At 2 p. m. yesterday the thermometer registered 100 in the shade. About midnight a terrible north wind began to blow. At daylight this morning a cold rain set in. At 11 o'clock the thermometer registered 65, a fall of 41 degrees in twenty-four hours.

The Brussels Congress.

BRUSSELS, August 22.—The Socialist congress closed today. A resolution declaring the absolute equality of the sexes, and demanding the repeal of all special legislation for women, was adopted. It was also decided that on Monday an eight-hour demonstration shall be held as before.

Sherman Miss Speaks Wisely.

CHICAGO, August 22.—Gen. Miles, in an interview about the scheme to place the State troops under orders of the secretary of War, said: "I do not believe in the consolidation of the troops and the forming of them into practically a standing army of 100,000 men and placing them under the control of whoever may be secretary of war. Such a measure, in my judgment, would be ill-advised and dangerous."

The French in England.

PORTSMOUTH, August 22. — The visiting Frenchmen and their entertainers passed a comparatively quiet day. Members of the French naval officers witnessed a military review by the duke of Connaught and inspected the dockyards and various other places of interest, while others visited Leamington. The evening the French and English naval officers, the Duke of Connaught and M. Waddington, the French ambassador, were present at a banquet given by the mayor. The customary toasts were responded to.

Was Scared and Shot.

MEMPHIS, August 23.—Last night a band of armed negroes entered Henry Joel's store, took what money he had about him, then tell him to open his safe. He was frightened he could not remember the combination, and the negroes fatally shot him. The murderers escaped.

The Santa Fe Pushing Forward to San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 23.—The Chronicle says the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road is trying to effect an entrance into San Francisco. The purchase of water front land at Antioch and the survey from Santa Cruz to Fulton are cited as evidence. The Santa Fe has a plan, it says, to reach the city through two routes. One of the lines will come up the San Joaquin valley through Fresno, Lathrop, Walnut Grove, Antioch, and thence to Oakland, in connection with the San Mateo Electric road from this city. The other line will run up the San Joaquin valley to Antioch, where it will connect with a steamer line.

Spanish Treaties With European Governments.

SARAGOSSA, August 23.—Referring to the Spanish reciprocity treaty, General Foster said today that the official publication made at Madrid contains the announcement that all Spanish treaties with European governments will come to have force after the first of July next. This makes it clear that neither England, Canada nor any of the British possessions will enjoy any of the benefits of the arrangement as to Cuba, after that date.

THAT SLUGGER.

It Appears the Captain Murdered the Fireman.

NEW YORK, August 24.—Two firemen of the Oceanic, who were eyewitnesses of the shooting of Fireman Dager, or as they say his name was Blum, today told the story of the occurrence. There are only three firemen left who saw the shooting. He went to the forecastle and sat down. Chief Engineer Bolton came to him and asked him if he would not go to work. Blum replied he was sick and could not work. Chief Bolton told him he could go to the hospital. Blum said he did not want to go to the hospital, but when he felt better he would work again.

Later the captain came to see Blum. The latter was sitting with his elbow on the table, his head resting in his hand. The captain asked him the reason he did not want to go to the hospital.

Blum answered: "As soon as I feel better I will go to work again."

"Well," said Captain Baker, "you must go to the hospital."

Blum spoke up "I won't go to the hospital. I will go to work as soon as I feel better."

As soon as Blum finished his sentence, Captain Baker whipped out a revolver and, pointing it at Blum, said: "In the name of the king," and fired.

After the first shot struck him Blum cried: "Lord God, you hit me!"

The captain said: "You need not lack so loudly. It only hurt one shot."

Chief Engineer Bell and the doctor of the ship took Blum to the hospital. The shooting occurred about Sunday night in the forecastle.

Found Floating in the River.

ST. PAUL, August 23.—On Friday night the body of a well dressed man was found floating in the river near the city. This afternoon the remains were identified as those of George Osborne, superintendent of the Milwaukee Company's elevators at Minneapolis, who mysteriously disappeared a week ago. Two bullet wounds were found in the pockets of his coat and it is thought that he subdued. It is also hinted that he had money on his throughout wheat during although there are no grounds for believing that he did not have his business affairs in perfect order.

Death of Chester D. Hubbard.

WHEELING, W. Va., August 23.—Hon. Chester D. Hubbard died here today. He was a member in 1861 of the Virginia Secession Convention, and voted against secession. He was a member of the National Convention which nominated Lincoln in 1860, and from 1865 to 1867 represented this district in Congress.

A Cloudburst Over Pottsville.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., August 23.—A partial cloudburst broke over Pottsville this afternoon, and the water poured in torrents for an hour. The thunder and lightning were frightful. Cellars were unable to carry off all the water. Some barns and gardens of the Avenue were flooded. Fully six families were driven to the upper stories of their homes, and their cellars and kitchens were filled with water and mud. The railroad and coal streets were turned into rivers three and four feet deep, and raging torrents carried all sorts of debris down the streets. Mr. Bell's 300 fill river. Cars on the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads were moved by the flood, and a passenger train on each road was held at Mt. Chalt by the washing down of coal onto the tracks. The sta tail and other large buildings were flooded, and the fire engines were used to prevent carrying out relices. The damage is estimated at over $100,000. Reports from Minersville, St. Clair, Port Carbon, Schuylkill, Haven, Girardville and Mahoney Plane tell the same story of devastation and damage by rain and flood.

Robbed.

CHICAGO, August 23.—One of the leaders of the desperadoes of this city, Zoe Crane, was robbed of $600 worth of jewelry at an early hour this morning. She aroused from sleep and saw a man by her bed. He had a knife and threatened to kill her unless she gave him her jewelry. She handed it out from under the pillow, and he backed out of the room. She jumped up and secured a revolver, and fired three shots at him before he got out of the door, but he managed to escape, although leaving a trail of blood on the steps. The woman thinks the burglar is a colored man who formerly worked for the house.

Attacking a Bishop.

BUCHAREST, August 23.—The inhabitants of Parvoli, invested in Bishop Gorbeous for trying to prevent the marriage of a female, made a serious attack on him today. They pulled his beard out, beat him till he became senseless, tied a rope around his ankles and dragged him on his back through the streets, intending to hang him, but as he did not revive consciousness, they finally left him for dead. The troops have arrested the ringleaders.

Lynchers Disappointed.

LIMA, O., August 23.—The people of Columbus were out en masse last night to meet the unthinkable train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad, in which it was expected that James Roberts, arrested for the Columbus grove murder and robbery, would be a passenger. Threats of lynching were freely made, but Roberts did not arrive. The prisoner's father says he will prove an alibi for his son.

A Young Frenchman's Battle Against a Trust.

PARIS, August 23.—The agitation of young Lamarr, an educated lad of 19, who is pushing the interest of wine growers in the champagne districts, is the outcome of the endeavors on the part of the large wine companies to monopolize the sale of the small vineyards with the object of localizing and stamping out the phylloxera. The small vineyard owners scarcely oppose the project, which they suppose is aimed to reduce the yeomanry of the district to mere factory hands. There is no doubt there is some grounds for their suspicion, but at the same time there is no doubt that the phylloxera has made its appearance and is likely to spread rapidly.

Lamarr has secured an enormous influence to back him, but it is almost impossible for the movement to be at the head of to succeed as champagne requires such a large amount of capital for successful production.

A part from the invasion of the phylloxera, the French vintage justifies the gloomy predictions made in regard to the present crop of grapes. Up to the present the only vineyards which promise well are those of the Bordeaux regions. In the Loodes department the vineyards have been ravaged by mildew and by black rot, three courses of sulphates having failed to arrest the progress of the diseases. Throughout the department of Hornult the negligence of the grape cultivators has allowed the mildew to seriously prejudice the present harvest, and no second gathering is probable.

The Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, August 23.—The weekly weather crop bulletin says in part:

Oregon—Harvesting delayed by rain. Excellent wheat yield reported. Fruit packing heavy. Hop fire during considerable damage.

California—Hop picking progressing; yield better than anticipated. Wheat and barley harvest. Fruit crop large and excellent. Raisin crop in southern California large.

Severe Weather at Sea.

LONDON, August 23.—The steamer "Loch Lomond," from Montreal August 7th, with her hold stowed with Dundee, experienced hurricane during the voyage. The weather encountered was so severe that the men having to attend to the cattle on deck were unable to approach them for two days. Seventy-seven head of cattle were lost, and scarcely one head escaped injury. There was a disheartening sense as the vessel was discharging her cargo, a number of butchers being busily engaged for several hours in killing the cattle, both aboard the steamer and on the quay.

The British steamer "Dalemyer," which had on board a consignment of powder, was completely shattered by an explosion. She was towed at Vigo, where she was turned. The crew were saved.

The Work of an Insane Man.

CLEVELAND, O., August 23.—Charles King, a well-mannered patient at the insane asylum, secured permission to visit his mother at Cleveville today. While she was preparing a meal he shot her through the body. Killing her instantly. He also tried to kill an aged Mrs. Davenport.
