CONSTITUTIONAL DAY CELEBRATION

Judge Parker Discusses Question Of Increased Power for Federal Government.

CRITICIZES THE PRESIDENT.

Unable to Understand His Theory of Protecting and Defending the Constitution.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 17.—Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, former Democratic candidate for president, and Samuel W. McCall, member of Congress from Massachusetts, made the principal addresses at the constitutional day celebration of the Jamestown exposition today. The ceremonies were in commemoration of the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of the adoption of the federal Constitution by the constitutional convention of 1787, over which George Washington presided. The weather was ideal and the attendance large.

Judge Parker was at his best and spoke with great force and earnestness. He said in part:

"In the view of the president, the federal government needs an increase of power—needs power which was deliberately declined by the states and the people when the national government was created.

"True, there is a way to transfer that power from the states to the federal government, if the people wish it, but it may well be said that no amount of labor would persuade many of the states to surrender their home rule powers in sufficient measure to meet the views of the president as to national necessity.

"These considerations have had weight in determining his announced purpose to obtain an increase of the federal power now, not through the action of the people, but through the action of the departments of the government. The states and the people undertook by the Constitution to fix the boundaries of each of the great departments of government, beyond which neither could pass. Upon the executive no legislative or judicial power was conferred, but he was charged to 'take care that the laws be faithfully executed,' and 'to protect and defend the Constitution.'

"By what process of reasoning the executive has reached the conclusion that for the various departments of the federal government to seize power not granted by the states and the people, is to protect and defend the Constitution, I know not. That he must have reached it by some route, his character as a man, his career as an official and the boldness of his advocacy attests. He is not attempting to acquire power by deceiving the people.

"With perfect frankness he states what he thinks ought to be done, and how he proposes it shall be done.

"With equal frankness those of us who love the Constitution and revere not alone the memory, but the wisdom of its framers, who believe that the powers were wisely distributed between the states and the federal government and deem that all past history proves it—should speak. Many of the people have not found time to study the history and the genesis of the Constitution. Hence they have no adequate conception of the perils the framers sought to avoid by keeping the powers of the several branches of government separate and distinct.

"They are, therefore, naturally inclined to be impressed with the suggestion that the Constitution did very well when it was made, but that we have outgrown it, and hence the representatives of government and not the people may as well change it at their pleasure.

"If, then, there were no immediate danger of an effective seizure of powers, we should, to protect the future, meet the assaults from the federalists with an equal vigor. They are steadily at work teaching and preaching the doctrines of their sect. So those opposed to their views should sacrifice any party feeling and interests and enter the list as an open champion of our constitutional system in its integrity. The time to do so is now. Some other year—aye, even next year—may be to late."

Mr. McCall, who followed, discussed the relations between federal and state officials and declared: "It seems not unlikely that the national government may attempt to devour the states."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Keep Your Bowels Open

It is a noticeable fact, and one which any doctor will verify that people who suffer most often from disease are the ones who have the most difficulty in keeping their bowels open. Regular bowel action is half the battle of health.

People who have a tendency to constipation must of necessity use something to help nature along. This should not be a violent and like salts or purgative waters, cathartic pills or powders, but a syrup liquid that will oil the intestines and membranes that it comes in contact with. Children, women and weak people generally should never be given a strong physic, as it weakens the system. And it is futile for the strongest person because the effect is simply for that day, and then the reaction sets in and you are worse off than before.

What is needed is a prompt but gentle laxative such like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. People have been taking it for sixteen years and it is being better liked by more people every year. The reason is that it fills a want. It is unlike anything else. Results are so sure in constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, liver troubles, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, weak stomach, bloated stomach and such ills that a cure of any of these ailments is absolutely guaranteed. A bottle costs but 50 cents or $1 and is worth a hundred times that to any sufferer.

Wise mothers keep it constantly in the house for emergencies, because it is needed at some time or other by every member of the family. Dr. Luella Underhill, the medical superintendent of the Working Women's Home of Chicago has sent her charges in perfect health by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin whenever a stomach complaint was brought to her attention. No other laxative is used in the Home. Buy a bottle yourself today and watch the prompt and permanent results.

FREE TEST Those wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying can have a free sample bottle sent to their home by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do all we claim, and is only open to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of dyspepsia, liver or bowel disease. Constipation is the most effective laxative for children, women and old folks. A guaranteed, permanent home cure. THE PUBLIC VERDICT: "The Laxative So Good and Sure as DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN." This product plays prominent part in Pure Food and Drugs Law, Sec. 10, D. C.

San Francisco, Sept. 17.—A fire which started this morning in the saloon of March & Richmond, on Vanness avenue, between Bush and Pine streets, destroyed the saloon, the Chinese bazar of the Wah Sing Long company, a vacant store house and communicated to the walls of the Bush street police station. The total loss is about $45,000, that on the bazar, which was insured for $10,000 being $35,000. The three members of the Chinese firm owning the bazar, were asleep at the time and narrowly escaped with their lives.

NINETEEN DEATHS FROM BUBONIC PLAGUE.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 17.—The board of health reports 31 cases of bubonic plague to date, 19 deaths and 19 cases under observation, practically all of which will be verified.

Health Officer Gunn reported that of 72 rats bateriologically examined within the last 48 hours, only five showed symptoms of plague and only one was positively confirmed as carrying the germs.

Dr. Rupert Blue, of the marine hospital service, who has been placed in charge of the situation by the federal authorities, said that Dr. Rucker, who was sent here from the Jamestown exposition, reported to him for assignment today. He has had extensive experience in the treatment of plague and cholera. Doctors Creel and Vigel, who reached Seattle last Saturday from the Philippines, will arrive in San Francisco tomorrow and report to Dr. Blue.

The assumption of charge by Dr. Blue was marked today by the employment of 100 men to do disinfection work.

NEBRASKA ELECTION CANVASS.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17.—Members of the state canvassing board met today to declare the result of the state primary of two weeks ago. The canvass was not completed because of the absence of official returns from two counties. Enough figures were available to show there will be no change from results heretofore announced. The only contest will be on the question of allowing the names of three candidates for district judge at Omaha to go on the official ballot.

Director General Barr and President Tucker Cannot Agree.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 17.—In a letter addressed to the commander of the directors which arranged a settlement of the differences existing some weeks ago between himself and president Harry S. George Tucker, of the Jamestown exposition, James W. Barr requests to be relieved of his duties as director general. Continued conflict between Mr. Tucker and Mr. Barr over the social features of the exposition caused Mr. Barr's action. He claims he cannot continue in his position and maintain his self respect.

LUDWIG SZCZYGIEL CONVICTED OF MURDER.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 17.—Ludwig Szczygiel, the Roman Catholic priest from Chicago who has been on trial for the murder of Andrew and Stephen Starzynski, brothers, was convicted of murder in the second degree by a jury which returned a verdict shortly before 9 o'clock tonight.

The fate of the prisoner was given to the jury late this afternoon, following a bitter argument by counsel.

To protect himself from the supreme penalty of the law, the priest unburdened his past life, frankly confessing his many shortcomings, especially his drunkenness. During his testimony he admitted that Vincenz Prow, his housekeeper, who was in the house when the double murder was committed, had accompanied him to this city from Chicago. It developed that the housekeeper occupied the same room with one of the Starzynski brothers. Following which admission Dist. Atty. Goehring remarked, "There you have the motive."

The priest said he supposed it was correct that he had killed the brothers, but that it was done in self-defense, and that he was drunk at the time.

GREAT PROFITS OF STANDARD OIL CO.

In Seven Years, from 1899 to 1906, They Aggregated Enormous Sum of $490,315,934.

THE STATEMENT IS OFFICIAL.

Made by Asst. Comptroller Fay of Company in Hearing of Federal Suit Against It.

New York, Sept. 17.—Profits aggregating $490,315,934 were made by the Standard Oil company in the seven years from 1899 to 1906. Testimony to this effect was given by Asst. Comptroller Fay of the company, in the federal hearing here today. In the same period the company's great assets increased from $200,000,623 to $371,664,531. This is the first time the company's earnings have been made public.

A list of the securities owned by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey presented today shows that the corporation owns 980,000 shares of the stock of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, which company was recently sentenced by Judge Landis in Chicago to pay a fine of $29,240,000.

In addition to stating that in the period of seven years referred to, the company's total profits aggregated $490,315,934, Mr. Fay said that dividends to the amount of $308,359,400 were paid in those years. His statement also disclosed that the capital stock of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey was $96,998,612 in 1899, and $98,338,382 in 1906.

Testimony was heard today in the federal suit against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

When today's hearing was called before former Judge Franklin Ferris, E. C. Benedict of the former owners of the Manhattan Oil company, testified as to the sale of the concern, which passed into the hands of the Standard Oil company. Charles M. Pratt, a director and secretary of the Standard company, stated that his knowledge of the holdings of the company in other companies was only general. He was asked to produce statements showing the officers and directors and the capitalizations of all companies in which the Standard holds stock interest.

Mr. Kellogg questioned the witness about the C. M. Pratt investment company, the stock of which was shown to be held by the Standard company. He said the Pratt company represented the stock of the Waters-Pierce company of Texas, which he was holding for the Standard Oil company. Mr. Kellogg developed the information that the C. M. Pratt Investment company came into existence at the time the Waters-Pierce Oil company was having difficulties with the state of Texas.

Mr. Kellogg asked if it was not a fact that the Standard company and its subsidiary companies were governed by committees. Mr. Pratt said he did not think so, though in the early days of the trusteeship of the company, it was likely that the company was controlled by committees.

Mr. Kellogg asked what records were kept by the trustees showing the manner of liquidation in the period between 1892 and 1902.

Mr. Pratt, as one of the liquidating trustees of the Standard Oil trust, said there were books kept, but he could not recall in whose possession they might be found.

"Don't you know whether those books are to be found in the comptroller's office or the secretary's office?" asked Mr. Kellogg.

"I really don't know," answered the witness.

"Don't you know anything about the organization of the Standard Oil company?" pursued Mr. Kellogg.

"No, sir, I do not," was Mr. Pratt's answer.

Mr. Kellogg asked the witness if it was not a fact that at the time the Standard Oil trust was liquidated, that there were 970,700 outstanding trustees' certificates, which had been issued for the stocks of the subsidiary companies, and that in 1892, when the Standard Oil trust was dissolved, the Standard Oil company of New Jersey exchanged its stock for the certificates of the trust, share for share.

"I think so," replied Mr. Pratt.

Mr. Kellogg asked John G. Milburn, chief counsel for the defendants, to produce all liquidating certificates issued by the liquidating trustees, which had been turned in to the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. Mr. Kellogg also asked for all assignments of legal title given by those who received the stock of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES.

The following is the list of capital stock, etc., of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and of securities of other companies held by the Standard Oil company, produced by Mr. Kellogg. The lists were furnished by officials of the company in response to subpoenas.

MUST FURNISH BOND.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—The Standard Oil company of Indiana, in order to obtain a stay of execution against its property to satisfy the fine of $29,240,000 recently imposed by Judge Landis, must furnish bonds to the amount of $8,000,000. This was determined today by Judge Grosscup in the United States circuit court, much to the chagrin of the attorneys on both sides.

The counsel for the oil company had contended strenuously for a bond of not more than $1,000,000, while the attorneys for the government had demanded that the bond be as high as the fine imposed by Judge Landis.

Judge Grosscup ordered that two bonds must be filed and approved by the court before the supercedeas shall issue one for $4,000,000, covering the property of the company at Whiting, Ind., the other for $2,000,000 to cover the property of the company elsewhere.

Weak Hearts

Upon the heart action depends not only health, but life. Over-work, worry, great mental effort, sickness, or any unusual strain upon the nervous system, affects the heart, by increasing its labors. In this hustling age it is not surprising that one person in four has a weak heart. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens the heart nerves and muscles and restores healthy activity.

"I wrote the Miles Medical Co., asking advice as I was suffering with heart trouble and had been for two years. I had pain in my heart, back and left side, and had not been able to draw a deep breath for two years. Any little exertion would cause palpitation, and I could not lie on my left side, without suffering. They advised Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine, which I took with the result that I am in better health than I ever was before, having gained 14 pounds since I commenced taking it. I took about thirteen bottles of the two medicines and haven't been troubled one bit with my heart since. I recommend it to every one suffering as I did."

PRATAS ISLAND.

Japan Claims Right to Occupy It as No-Man's-Land.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 17.—According to mail advices from Tokio, Japan claims to occupy Pratas Island which was recently taken possession of on behalf of Japan on the ground that as it lies between the twentieth and twenty-first parallels, it was no man's land. A Japanese paper just received says:

"When Japan took possession of Formosa, she extended her dominion to the twenty-first parallel of latitude and when America took possession of the Philippines, she extended her dominion to the twentieth parallel, thus the space between the twentieth and the twenty-first parallels became a no man's land and the island of Pratas is in north latitude 20.43.

with its delicate machinery, the female organism requires adjusting and regulating, when it becomes irregular and runs out of time.

For a regulator and adjustor, use Wine of Cardui. When your womanly organs run irregularly, it will regulate them; when they are out of place or out of order, it will do all that medicine can do, and more than many other medicines ever do, in restoring normal, healthful conditions to those parts.

Mrs. Minnie Bockman, of Odell, Ill., writes an interesting letter about her case, of which the following is an abstract: "I was sick for over two years, with female trouble. One of my organs was so far up, out of place, that it gave me palpitation of the heart, and at period time, I nearly smothered to death. I suffered an awful lot, and doctored all the time, but the doctor couldn't reach the disease. Finally he said he couldn't do me any good, so I sent my husband right away for a bottle of Wine of Cardui. After taking one bottle, I felt better, and after taking two, I was well. I wish all women who suffer, as I did, from female trouble, could only find out how much good Cardui would do them."
