The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place; and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by Druggists.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton, of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expectorating all the time. The Remedy cured me, and I want all of my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do them good." Sold by Druggists.

Treat Your Wife

[illegible]

MRS. CLARK'S FUNERAL.

Members of the First Presidency and Others Speak Words of Consolation.

The funeral services over the remains of Sister Emma M. Clark, wife of Hon. John Clark, was held at the family residence yesterday afternoon, Nov. 3rd, and was conducted by Bishop George Romney. The musical part of the exercises was beautifully rendered by a quartet—Brothers H. G. Whitney, Thomas Ashworth, Wm. G. Patrick and John D. Spencer.

The opening prayer was offered by Elder John Nicholson.

Bishop Robert T. Burton, an old friend of the family, was the first speaker of the occasion. He spoke of the womanly and Saint-like virtues of the deceased and expressed his confidence concerning the glorious character of her future.

President Joseph F. Smith spoke words of consolation, comfort and instruction to the bereaved husband and family.

At this point by special request of the family, Sister Lena Reyner sang with exquisite taste and pathos "Come to Me." It had been the delight of Sister Clark, during her long illness, to listen to the sweet singing of this young lady, who had paid her numerous visits to give her that gratification.

President George Q. Cannon spoke of the comforting assurance and knowledge of the future life derived from revealed religion, and of the perpetuation there of the endearing associations formed here under the authority and law of God and applied his remarks to conditions associated with the departure of Sister Clark.

President Woodruff's remarks related chiefly to the functions and active condition of the spirits of the righteous dead during the interim between death and the resurrection and their glorious reward when their redemption should be made complete. He also related some views of the future world which he had personally experienced.

Bishop Romney made some appropriate concluding remarks in reference to the faithfulness of the deceased.

The closing prayer was offered by Elder Angus M. Cannon.

The gathering of sympathizing relatives and friends was very large, a number being unable to gain admission to the spacious building.

At the cemetery the quartet sang "Rest," and the dedicatory prayer was offered by Elder Robert Patrick.

For a Consideration of $25,000.

A deed conveying lot 7 and 42 feet by 20 rods in lot 6, block 96, plat A, Salt Lake City survey, fronting on First North street between First and Second West, has been filed for record with the county recorder. The deed was executed by Elias Morris, president, and W. B. Dougall, secretary of the Latter-day Saints' College of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, in pursuance of a resolution adopted by the board of trustees, June 6, 1896, and the consideration paid by the grantees, the Salt Lake Literary and Scientific association, is set forth in the deed as being $25,000.

Missionary's Farewell.

Elder J. Frank Chamberlin was tendered a farewell reception by the people of the Fifteenth ward last night, at the ward meeting house. Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a fair turnout and the program rendered was thoroughly enjoyed. Among the numbers was a duet by Mrs. J. F. Griggs and J. W. Ashton, solos by Miss Marie Jenkins (of Denver) and John James, recitation by Master Shirley Jones and a solo on the flute by Prof. Olsen. Bishop Morris made a few remarks, invoking the blessings of the Almighty to fall upon Elder Chamberlin in his missionary labors.

RESCUED BY HUNTERS.

A Young Man Taken from Icy Waters in a Mine Shaft.

Robert Coons and Charles Chalmers, two young Sacramentans, saved a fellow hunter from death a few days ago, says the Chronicle of San Francisco.

The two young men were deer hunting and had pitched camp on the Rubicon, in El Dorado county. Late one night as they were about to retire, they heard cries from the opposite side of the canyon. At first they thought it was a panther, but as the sound grew louder and more pitiful they made up their minds it was a human being. Taking their guns they crossed the canyon, and, guided by the sound, they came to an old mining shaft, out of which the sound seemed to issue. They called down and received an answering cry. They found that the unfortunate man was in icy water with only his head projecting, and was supporting himself by bracing his shoulders against one side and his feet against the other. It was about six feet to the surface of the water. Coons and Chalmers saw that the man was nearly exhausted and must be rescued at once, as his strength was fast failing.

Coons and Chalmers did not have any rope to lower into the shaft, so they undertook a very perilous plan for rescuing the man. Chalmers permitted himself to be lowered into the shaft head first, Coons holding him by the heels. Stretching out his arms he finally found the hands of the stranger, and then cried to Coons to "haul away!"

Coons tugged and pulled, and at last succeeded in bringing the two men to the surface of the shaft.

The stranger explained that his camp was near by, but his partner, owing to the direction of the wind, had not heard his friend's cries for help. The man had been in the shaft for about two hours, and was just about to drop from exhaustion when the rescuers arrived. His legs were literally paralyzed. His rescuers, however, succeeded after a time in reviving him. The shaft had twenty-four feet of icy water in it.

How an Ostrich Runs.

Louisville Commercial: Considerable misconception prevails as to the manner in which the ostrich runs. It seems to be still generally held that when running it spreads its wings and, aided by them, skims lightly over the ground. This is not correct. When a bird really settles itself to run it holds its head lower than usual and a little forward, with a deep bend in the neck. [illegible]
