DESERET EVENING NEWS.

SATURDAY, - September 30, 1893.

FRAGMENTS.

THE registration lists close tonight.

CRIMINAL trials will be the order of each day next week in Judge Zane's court.

THE City Council held no meeting last night and in consequence $200 was saved to the taxpayers.

LOCAL attorneys are having a busy season, with the two divisions of the Third district court running every day.

THE two branches of the Third district court have not locked on the score of variety lately, as the reports elsewhere in these columns will show.

CHEERFUL faces have been seen in dark corners within the Dooly building lately. A number of their owners was killed by a mine a short time ago, and young Armstrong, tried, charged with murder in the second degree. Consequently a good mood is warmingly deserted for the time.

Teachers' Meeting.

The second meeting of the Salt Lake county convened in the University building at 10:30 a. m. today, Supt. D. R. Allen in the chair. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read, President D.R. Allen introduced Prof. Stewart, who spoke to the teachers on the subject of Pedagogical Psychology. His address was listened to with great interest. The meeting adjourned till October 14th, at 10:30 a. m. JAMES HANSBROUGH, Secretary.

Almost Electrocuted.

Charles Singer and Edward Hart, employes of the Pleasant Valley Coal company were the victims of a terrible experience last night, and one that came near costing them their lives.

During the storm yesterday afternoon two electric wires became crossed and finally burned in two and fell on the coal company's scales. Singer endeavored to remove them by means of a whip lash. As one of the wires was drawn towards him Hart seized it and received a shock that knocked him down. Singer sought to rescue Hart by throwing his rubber coat about the wire and pulling it away. Unfortunately the coat was wet and he fell to the ground unconscious. Both men were carried into a saloon where they were subsequently attended by Dr. Marshall. Today the men are all right again, though will long have cause to remember their narrow escape from instant death.

Concert and Ball.

A concert and ball will be given at Cliff's hall on Wednesday, Oct. 4. The entertainment is arranged by a few ladies and gentlemen of this city for a charitable purpose. Anderson, editor of Idaho, and others. Prices will be distributed to the "flatest" and "cleanest," and "fullest," etc., according to the best judgment of a committee selected for the purpose.

MELANGE.

The Rev. Mr. Utter is now the chaplain of the penitentiary. A few Sundays ago he preached to the convicts and commiserated them because they could not go, like his city congregation, when the sermon did not suit them. But that wasn't quite as bad as the "break" of Rev. Mr. Mabry who opened his discourse to the prisoners one Sunday in an abstracted manner and by sheer force of habit remarked: "I am glad to see so many new faces here today."

By the way, where is Mr. Mabry "at" just now? Neither he nor his large consignments of contributions to the starving multitudes in Salt Lake City have yet arrived from Iowa. Or is it possible that the sombre picture drawn by the Methodist divine of the hopeless condition of affairs here, was calculated only for personal application?

"Oh that mine enemy would write a book!" It isn't positively a book that J. C. Cowlin wrote, but only an article fronting the Unions' and Independents' nominations for recorder, yet here is Hon. W. H. Dickson who believes that Judge Powers perpetrated the letter, while O. W. denies the soft impeachment. Still nobody seems to believe that Cowlin himself wrote it, though it isn't beneath a letter after all. Sorts is greatness!

The Very Hon. T. M. Allen is home and in the newspapers with an interview regarding the silver question. We are informed that "he put in some good licks for the white metal" while in Washington. The gentleman is too modest by half. Although the Associated Press ignored to record his "good licks"—the Associate Press is prejudiced against the West, you know—that it did not even wire C. C. O'Donnell's letter to the President—there can be little doubt but that to Allen's good licks due the entire change in the silver situation. It is joy in camp inner so soon.

This is the time of equinoctial disturbances, in the weather as well as in politics, but it will not last long. Doubtless the storm clouds and the Liberal party will subside, and we shall have a calm and tranquility once more, upon the day!

Complaints, it is said, were lodged with the postoffice inspector when he recently visited Postmaster Neff's domain of mail management on his part. It was claimed, for one thing, that some letters remain undelivered back in other city this city, some outstanding some of the addresses are directed to well known people whose residences are properly given in the city directory. Another thing complained of was that undelivered letters are not written out in a bold hand, so one who runs may read, but that the clerks are cut out of the newspapers and pasted up in the dark lobby where nobody not armed with a magnifying glass can decipher them. And there were sundry other grievances bodied. Whether they are all justified in fact, or merely inspired by political animus, deponent saveth not.

Salt Lake City is noted for several things she has not got, among which the bank failures are of late the most conspicuous. Just now when the secret scandal is hanging himself everywhere, his absence from this city is quite noticeable. It is not always best to be too up-to. Some folks think we are too slow, but it suits us all right.

This is Ireland's day at the World's Fair. So far as the weather is concerned it might be St. Patrick's day in the morning.

Whether the Arcadians of Austria passed through Salt Lake yesterday or not is a mooted question. Some of our people who were sure, that is certain, and they evidenced themselves with all the fanatical that is characteristic of them. The sensation belongs to the Imperial Hapsburg family which is famous for the exclusiveness and its stupidity. In all the seven centuries of their reign the Hapsburgs have produced only one prodigious monarch, and he, the all the good, died young. The unfortunate King who is said to have been within an inch yesterday was sent abroad to learn good manners, but he does not seem to be an apt pupil. It is not probable that he will ever become respectable, but if he does it will be due to the accident that the crown prince of Austria, the rightful heir to the throne, committed suicide for a disgraceful and unnatural crime. Come to think of it, those Imperial and royal prodigals have little to be proud of, as each the price comes before the fall. Amen.

About to Come Out.

The following penitentiary prisoners will be released next month: C. M. Marpin, Third district, sentenced to two years for grand larceny; will be released October 11. J. A. Dawson, Third district, two years for burglary; released October 12. Thomas Todd, First district, five years for manslaughter; released October 20. Thomas Atwood, Kanosh, Third district, six months; released October 8. Elizabeth Nelson, sodomy, Third district, one month; released October 16. Susan Tullidge, Third district, sodomy, one month; released October 21.

AN UNKIND HUSBAND.

Mrs. Millie Dugan Obtains a Divorce from John J. Dugan for Neglect and Cruelty.

Judge Baroth began his morning's work in the second division of the Third district court by hearing the divorce suit of Millie Dugan vs John J. Dugan.

The plaintiff was represented by Attorney M. M. Knight, the defendant allowed the case to go by default.

The parties intermarried on February 18th, 1890, in this city, and there are two children—Edna, aged two years and six months and Isaac Leon, aged eleven months. On the witness stand Mrs. Dugan stated that her husband had neglected to provide for her since since the marriage. He had been per non cruelty. At the time of the birth of the younger child, about July 19th, 1891, while plaintiff was very ill and confined to her bed, he abused himself on the three consecutive days and nights and failed to provide her with attendance, food or medicine, and but for the kindness and charity of friends she would have died. In the latter part of January, of the present year, at their home in Granite county, he used such vulgar, abusive and profane language towards her, falsely charged her with being unfaithful to him, and struck her severely with his fist. Again on May 29th, he repeated these acts, striking her with his fists on the head and in the side, and knocking her to the floor. He was struck her in the mouth with a heavy shoe, badly cutting and bruising her lips. Mrs. Dugan also informed the court that he went around to her at her day, consequent upon the defendant's violent behavior. Though a delicate woman, she had all along borne his brutality to the end that he would reform. Defendant was a man of dissolute habits and not a proper person to have the care of the children, for whose custody she herself asks.

The court granted the decree, allowed $50 per month alimony, $50 attorney's fee, and issued an order enjoining the defendant from further interference with his divorced wife.
