AWAIT ORDERS TO MOVE

Battery C Impatient to be Away to the Front at the Earliest Moment.

THE BOYS GET DELICIOUS ICE CREAM.

Sent to Them by the Red Cross Ladies—Dick Tompkins Got Depending Orders—Other Notes on Encamping.

It is not known at Fort Douglas when Battery C will make a move toward the front, but as orders may come at any moment the boys are on the qui vive. Only for their transportation are now awaiting them.

ICE CREAM AND CAKE.

The element the Red Cross ladies now as a set of ice cream, cake, to the tune of thirty. C at Fort Douglas. The dispatch of the boys was a repeat of enjoyable from some of the boys to the effect that they thought some philanthropic individual might give them a taste of some of the delicacies for which Salt Lake is renowned in private life. We sound for the simple in the Red Cross society and it then made a call upon presumably in Epworth some time ago, which they distributed consequently the evening this article was written. Ice cream, cake, and fruit, with the fixings, was served to the boys. It was a treat the boys made a great marks, but it was enjoyed and the soldier boys were delighted with it. The only delicacy which could be wished for "food dreams, smoke and cool drinks and another."

TOUGH ON THE CAVALRY.

The Utah cavalry troop which has been transferred at Camp Merritt for some time, and which expected to soon be shipped off to the Philippines, have been ordered to the Presidio. The boys are considerably very gloomy, because this move indicates an indefinite stay in the country.

Here is the official order:

In compliance with the war department's instructions of this date, the Fifth troop, Utah cavalry, United States volunteers, is relieved from duty with the Philippine expedition, and the commanding officer of the troop will report to the commanding officer of the department of California for instructions.

MORE EXPLAINS.

The following letter from Rice N. Owen of Provo, who has been thought of running away from Battery C at Fort Douglas, was written from Provo in explanation of his hitherto mysterious action:

Saturday, the 4th inst., I presented a written petition to my wife and family. Wife and school him to enlist on an a volunteer because, after more deliberation, I concluded it would be wise for me to go.

"At first he doubted whether he could enlist, but I showed him that considering the circumstances more fully and he would do so. He said I would have to pay my own transportation back as they could not afford it.

"He also said I ought to subject to which I agreed. I left home Saturday night, and it is the contrary. By that I thought I was serious enough to spend the night. Thursday I was not aware that I had broken any rules as I had not signed any, or broken any oath as I had not taken any.

"When it comes to 'doing roughing' with volunteers who have no idea of what it means, it is a different matter. I think that sounds very lofty. They should receive that in mind. I believe in so much a soldier and a gentleman as to a capitale.

"I do not think it right or polite to blackball a citizen in the newspapers who he has not broken any rules or regulations in the service.

INTERESTING BULLETIN.

The Fire Prevention Call has been circulating around among the Utah boys, as will be seen from a perusal of the following from that paper:

The First troop of Utah cavalry has a couple of men that are somewhat out of the ordinary, of things that belong lack. One is an old scout of revolutionary patriot that was firmly in the saddle through the entire war of the war of 1812. Through subsequent Indian troubles, and finally in the recent war with Spain he was one of the original scouts to now carrying it to Manila with him.

The other back piece of the troop is a comedy and crooked over the program of a Mrs. Prescott, who, in the Indian war, was shot and left for dead by the Indians. He was trying to warm himself before an open charcoal fire when he was shot. Mrs. Prescott stuff officers kept off the cold with it during the Rebel rebellion. Some years later he went through the excitement of Lower Fort in Canada, and it has since found its recorded way to one of the members of the Utah and is being made to the Fort to be delivered at several old social handicaps during the time of previous social gatherings.

Indian School Boys Escape.

Manassa Smythe of Salt Lake and Joseph Heath of Ogden made their escape from the State Industrial school at Ogden yesterday. The boys were the regulation uniform, and as the officers escaped unknown to the officers, they are likely to be apprehended very soon.
